INDIAN GOVT. OUTLAWS PRIVATE ARMIES

U.S. Rejects Protest On Naval Visit

Russia Objects To U.S. Warships In Italian Ports

Advance Permission Had Been Given for the Visit

Washington, Feb. 2 — (AP) — The United States rejected outright today Russia's protest against the visit of American warships to Italian ports.

A State Department note said that the Italian government granted advance permission for each such visit. It said that the calls were "in strict accord with the comity of nations."

"It is customary for sovereign states to grant the privileges of visits to naval vessels and personnel of friendly foreign powers," the note added.

Russia charged in a note delivered Wednesday by Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin that the presence of American warships in Italian ports violated the new peace treaty with Italy which required withdrawal of all Allied armed forces by last Dec. 15.

The State Department meanwhile delayed a reply to an earlier Moscow protest against restoring an American built air field at Meliaha in Italy's former North African colony of Libya. Russia in a note delivered Jan. 21 charged this likewise violated the Italian treaty.

The warships visiting Italian ports are part of the United States Mediterranean fleet and include the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Midway.

Probes Scare Out 'Nervous' Dollars

Ottawa, Feb. 2. (CP)—A Revenue Department official, a twinkle in his eye, said the treasury has benefited to the tune of more than $2,000,000 since the department started putting special investigators on the track of large-scale tax evasions a year ago. And he suggested that the ramifications of the reaction of business probably had meant a lot more money that was scared in.

The official said fines had brought in $327,000 and another $1,675,000 had been collected in "hidden" or "forgotten" back taxes, the returns usually accompanied by letters which say a mistake has just been discovered or a lowly bookkeeper had made a miscalculation.

The unknown quantity comes in the "nervous" dollars that are "frightened" out of hiding by the heavy penalties imposed for tax evasion. The officials said that "each time a large-scale prosecution with its severe penalties gets into the headlines, there is a rush of voluntary declarations at our tax offices."

The department does not prosecute in the case of these declarations but accepts payment of the delinquent taxes without questioning the motive. The returns and sometimes the firm's books are scrutinized, however.

He was created a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in the King's birthday list of June, 1943, "in recognition of his service as chairman of the National War Finance Committee."

He was chairman of the Wartime National War Finance Committee until the end of 1943. On retirement he was made honorary chairman of this committee.

Hangs by Feet To Rescue Girl Dangling in Car

Cleveland, Feb. 2 — (AP) — Hercules Latimer, 40-year-old army veteran, hung by his feet and pulled a girl to safety yesterday from an automobile which dangled by one wheel 50 feet above tracks of a suburban railway. The driver of the car, in which Miss Rosemary K. O'Malley, 21, was a passenger, swerved to avoid another car at an intersection. The machine ripped thru a steep fence guarding the drop to the tracks and, with only a rear wheel caught by a post, hung downward. Miss O'Malley was pinned in the front seat. Several persons held Latimer by his feet while he made the rescue.

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 2 — (CP)— John Braund of Sydney, who claims he can cure cancer, today rejected an offer of $64,000 by E. J. Hallstrom, wealthy Sydney philanthropist, to set up a cancer clinic.

In rejecting the offer, Braund said arrangements have been made for him to work in Melbourne.

Meantime, he continues to treat an unending stream of cancer sufferers who are making his modest little home at Beverly Hills, Sydney, a place of pilgrimage.

As a result of the widespread publicity given to Braund's claims the New South Wales government decided to establish a panel of doctors and three laymen to check his treatment.

Braund at first welcomed the idea but yesterday he refused to entertain the government plan.

The Sydney Daily Mirror today used its first page to denounce Braund and issued a $16,000 challenge to him to perform his cure on a patient suffering from malignant cancer before a panel of doctors from the B.M.A.

The Mirror says: "Editorial representatives . . already have interviewed Mr. Braund and it is apparent that the old gentleman is suffering from halucinations. He no more has the ability to cure cancer than the Hottentots from the jungle of Africa."

SEIZURE OF COPY OF MANUSCRIPT CALLED TRESPASS

Defence Counsel Writes Letter to Mounties

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP) — Joseph Sedgwick, K.C., said today that R.C.M.P. seizure of a copy of the "Babies for Export" manuscript from the offices of New Liberty Magazine "constituted a trespass."

Mr. Sedgwick, counsel for Jack Kent Cooke, New Liberty publisher, and Harold Dingman, the magazine's Ottawa editor, made the "trespass" charge in a letter to the senior R.C.M.P. officer here.

The text of the letter was released to the press by Wallace Reyburn, managing editor of the publication.

R.C.M.P. Cpl. J. J. Molyneux, who came here from Alberta to serve warrants charging Mr. Cooke and Mr. Dingman with conspiracy to commit a defamatory libel, obtained the original of the story during a search of the magazine office Saturday.

Mr. Sedgwick said the copy was taken later the same day in a separate search. He said his information is that "certain editorial notes and comments" were attached to the copy.

Part of Letter.

Mr. Sedgwick's letter to the senior R.C.M.P. officer in Toronto to read in part:

"On behalf of my clients, I desire to protest against the action of your officers in taking this second manuscript on the ground, firstly, that the (search) warrant refers only to 'a manuscript' and also that the warrant makes no reference at all to documents containing editorial comment, etc.

"In my view, the action of your officers in seizing and taking this second document and its attachments constituted a trespass and I desire you to know that my clients will hold your officers and those authorizing them, responsible."

Cpl. Molyneux could not be reached and R.C.M.P. officials in Ottawa said they had no comment on the seizure of the second manuscript.

In Edmonton, Mr. Cooke, who with Mr. Dingman and Dr. Charlotte Whitton, of Ottawa, a welfare authority, has been committed for trial on the conspiracy charges, said he had nothing to say about the seizure.

The "Babies for Export" article, which New Liberty officials said was based on a report by Dr. Whitton, was written by Mr. Dingman and published in a De-

GREEKS USE AIR SUPPORT AGAINST GUERRILLAS

Athens, Feb. 2 (AP) — Press reports from Ioannina said today Greek army units used air support in crossing a river to attack guerrillas in northwestern Greece. The river was the Kalamas in the northwestern most Epirus near Philiates. The dispatches said the guerrillas suffered heavily from air force machine-gunning.

Canada's Olympic Hockey Team Plasters Poland 15-0; Squad Now Second

St. Moritz, Feb. 2 (CP)—Canada's Olympic hockey team dropped the goal-a-period habit today and plastered Poland by a 15-0 count to move into a second-place tie in the hockey tournament here.

With goaltender Murray Dowey of Toronto keeping his cage clear of pucks for the second straight day—only one goal has been scored against the Canadians in three contests—the Dominion's R.C.A.F. Flyers took an offensive role from the start to record their third straight victory.

Canada now tied for second place with Switzerland behind Czechoslavakia, had been held to three goals a game in winning her first two games, 3-1 against Sweden last Friday and 3-0 against Britain Sunday.

Czechoslovakia defeated Britain 11-4 in another fourth-round match today to remain two points ahead of Canada, which has a game in hand over the strong Czech squad.

Canada, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland are the only undefeated teams among the nine countries participating in the 36-game tournament, which the International Committee says has no Olympic status.

Wally Halder and Schroeder, who scored a goal apiece in each of Canada's two previous triumphs, were prominent again today as the Flyers scored five goals in the first period, six in the second and four in the third.

Schroeder counted twice in the first period and had a single in the second. Halder's harvest for the first two periods was two goals and three assists.

Other Canadian marksmen in the first two periods were Ab Renaud (2), Louis Lecompte, Orval Gravelle, Patsy Guzzo and George Mara.

2 Women Workers Trampled to Death In Shanghai Riot

Shanghai, Feb. 2 — (AP)—Two women workers were trampled to death and a third was killed in a three-storey fall today in rioting punctuated by gunfire between 500 policemen and strikers among 7,000 cotton mill workers.

More than 60 workers were injured, many seriously. A dozen policemen were hurt.

Police, using tanks and riot cars, brought about surrender of the strikers who had barricaded themselves in the big Sung Sing cotton mill. More than 300 workers were arrested. The strikers began their sitdown four days ago to enforce demands for a new year bonus of two months' pay.

Officers fired into the rambling three-storey building after seven policemen had been seized and held as hostages.

The strikers then dropped pieces of iron machinery and stones on the policemen, 10 of whom were injured. Two officers were shot.

Strike spokesmen said about half of the 7,000 laborers opposed the sitdown and several were seriously hurt attempting to leave the building.

Timber Collapses Miner Killed, Four Injured

Breadmore, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP) —One miner was fatally injured and four others hurt, one seriously, in the collapse of a "blasting" set and bracing timber at the 2,150-foot level of the Leitic gold mine, six miles west of here last night.

Angus Burton, 36, a shaftsman, was injured about the head and chest and died four hours later.

The blasting set on which the men were working fell approximately 35 feet to the floor of the mine.

Mine manager George McKay said today an inquest has been ordered and an investigation by the Department of Mines is also expected.

Actual cause of the accident is not known, he added.

13 WEEKEND FIRES COST TWO LIVES, $600,000 DAMAGE

Orangeville H.S. Razed Sunday Night

(By The Canadian Press)

Thirteen weekend fires in Ontario cost the lives of two children and caused property damage estimated today at more than $600,000.

The heavy fire loss for the opening of February followed a bad fire record in January when 17 lives were lost.

The two killed this weekend were Michael, six months old, and Gerald, two, children of Mrs. Gerald Donovan who saved a third child and suffered severe burns when her home two miles south of London was swept by fire Saturday.

Officials estimated it would take $325,000 to replace the high school at Orangeville, 55 miles northwest of Toronto, a two-storey building razed by fire Sunday night. Sparks from a defective chimney were blamed.

Loss was estimated at $100,000 when fire at Mattawa destroyed the town hall, police station, fire department building, a taxi stand and the Canadian Pacific Railway waiting room. Local fire equipment was trapped in the building and citizens and volunteer firemen used garden hoses and formed a bucket brigade until help arrived from North Bay.

At Belleville Saturday fire destroyed the two-storey Chamber of Commerce building and the adjacent Brewer's Warehouse with loss of $100,000.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hayes and their seven children were made homeless when fire destroyed their one-room dwelling at Kirkland Lake.

Calgary, Feb. 2 —(CP)— Women won a major victory over their male rivals here during the weekend as Alberta Indian bucks voted to abolish the age-old "male domination" of Indian reservations — a domination that has been the envy of males the world over.

At a pow-wow in Calgary Saturday the Council of the Indian Association of Alberta — representing all the tribes in the province and comprised of men only—voted to give squaws an equal voice in tribal affairs.

Twenty-five chieftains of tribes from the Lesser Slave Lake region in the northern section of the province to the United States border, forwarded a resolution to the joint Senate - Commons committee at Ottawa asking that the Indian Act be amended to give squaws the right to vote for chiefs and councillors and to take part in the determination and administration of tribal affairs.

There have been no reports of agitation among the squaws in Alberta for a voice in tribal affairs and the chiefs quickly pointed out that no women were present at the meeting.

Nehru Accepts Restoration Of Peace As Issue

Gandhi's Ashes Will Be Scattered on Ganges River

By G. MILTON KELLY

New Delhi, Feb. 2 —(AP)— Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru staked the survival of his government today on the issue of restoring peace, for which Mohandas K. Gandhi was killed.

In swift implementation of Nehru's stand, the home ministry issued a communique abolishing private armies and "any organization preaching violence or communal hatred."

Gandhi's ashes were prepared for committal to the Ganges, a river his Hindu followers consider sacred. His body was cremated on a huge sandal-wood pyre by the waters of the Jumna River Saturday after his youngest son, by Hindu rite, had lit the fire. Gandhi, 78, was assassinated en route to a prayer meeting. His assailant was held incommunicado.

Crowds in Bombay, angered by Gandhi's death, tried to burn the house of a member of the Militant Maha Sabha (Greater Hindu Organization). They attempted to stop traffic and close shops. They kept all but a few workers from their jobs.

Marked for Assassination

Home Minister Sardar Vallabhai Patel said he, Nehru and Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, the education minister, all had been marked for assassination because they advocated peace with the Moslems, as did Gandhi. The gang accused of plotting the deaths was hunted.

The home ministry said India and the Princely State of Hyderabad, ruled by Moslems, had agreed to work in close harmony to settle problems which were assuming serious proportions. Small border riots had broken out.

"If we don't do that we are not worth being in this government; certainly not of being his (Mohandas K. Gandhi's) followers or even saying words of praise for his great soul," Nehru said.

"I have a sense of utter shame as an individual and as the head of the government that we should have failed to protect the greatest treasure we possess."

On the banks of the Jumna, meanwhile the ashes of the assassinated Gandhi were reverently collected and prepared for scattering on waters sacred to orthodox Hinduism.

Officials of the Indian Union hunted for a gang accused of plotting to send three high officials of the Dominion to their deaths with Gandhi.

Nehru, who had just returned from the services beside the Jumna, had to pause at times as he spoke to the assembly at a memorial service for Gandhi. He was barely able to control his tears and sobbing.

"Gandhiji's assassination is not the isolated act of a madman", he told the hushed assembly, which is jointly the constitution-writing and legislative branch of the new Indian government. Gandhiji is the affectionate, diminutive form of the name.

"It is the result of a certain atmosphere of violence and hatred that has prevailed in the country for many months and years, especially the past few months.

"If we are to serve the cause that Gandhiji put before us we have to face this atmosphere, combat it, struggle against it and root out this evil of hatred and violence from the country and from our individual selves.

"I assure you on behalf of the government of India that we will spare no means, no effort to do that. If we don't do that we are not worth being in this government. . . ."

Declaring again his personal shame for failure to save Gandhi's life, the Prime Minister, who was one of the slain man's closest associates, declared:

"It is a shame to me as an Indian that an Indian raised a hand against him. It is a shame to me as a Hindu that a Hindu should have done it to the greatest Indian of the day and the greatest Hindu of the age."

Tweed Group Seeks New Vote On Beverage Room

An application for a second vote on whether a beverage room for the sale of beer will be permitted for the village of Tweed is being heard before Judge J. A. Anderson at the county buildings today.

Application for the new vote on the beverage room question is being made by Ed. J. Courneyea, hotel proprietor of Tweed. The application is being made on the grounds of certain irregularities in balloting and in the counting of ballots during the local option vote held in Tweed last autumn.

When Tweed voters went to the polls last fall they defeated the beverage room issue by a small majority of five or six votes.

Two witnesses were called during the morning session, including John Meraw, scrutineer, who told of seeing torn ballots, and Mr. Courneyea who testified that he had been on the voters' list at the time of the local option vote and that the result of the balloting on the beverage room question had been against his vote.

The local law firm of Robb and Park is presenting the case for Mr. Courneyea, while Mr. B. R. Collins is acting for the "drys." The case is continuing this afternoon.

20 Per Cent Of Mail Receptacles In City Not Safe

Owing to the number of thefts from mail boxes which have occurred throughout Canada during recent months, the post office department has recently completed a survey of the city to ascertain the condition of mail receptacles used by the business houses and householders as regards providing safety for the contents from the time the articles are placed in the boxes until they are taken out by the owners.

The survey in this city shows that in many instances no mail boxes or letter slots are provided and approximately 20 per cent of the remaining homes and business places are using receptacles which are not considered "safe".

As result the department is sending a personal letter to each of these business places or householders requesting that the necessary repairs be made to ensure that no articles can be removed from their mail boxes.

Letter carriers will later be required to submit to the department at Ottawa the names of all who do not comply with the request.

The request form which Tuesday morning will go out to householders enumerates the many conditions which make letter boxes unsafe and outlines the requirements of the most desirable mail receptacle.

C. of C. Clock Ticks Merrily On in Blaze

The old adage that nothing stops the passage of time was proved to be true as the result of the Chamber of Commerce building fire on Saturday.

All day Saturday firemen poured tons of water into the building in an effort to check the progress of flames. Today after below zero temperature had prevailed since the fire and after flames and water had completely wrecked the Chamber of Commerce office a mantle clock resting on a fireplace mantle was still merrily ticking away, the glass in its face not even broken.

Firemen were hoisting fire and water damaged furniture from the shambles of what was once the beautifully decorated and furnished office when the sound of the mantle clock gong astounded them.

Forty eight hours after the building had been wrecked by flames the clock was still running in its shattered position above the office fireplace.

Madoc Family Escapes From Burning Home When Aroused by Girl's Cries

Madoc, Ont., (Special). —Wakened by cries of one of their children, who had smelled smoke, the family of Earl Armstrong, consisting of his wife and two children, escaped from their home here in their night attire a short time before the house was completely destroyed by fire, early Sunday morning.

The large home is a complete loss. Nothing was saved from the flames, even the Armstrong's personal effects being destroyed with the exception of the scanty night clothing in which they were garbed.

The house is the former home of Mr. Eric Cross. It is believed the fire started in the basement.

The temperature hovered about the 33 below zero mark and the village fire apparatus was rendered helpless by the extreme cold. Hoselines froze almost immediately, and fire-fighters and neighbors stood helplessly by while the flames rapidly demolished the residence. Within an hour, the home and its contents were reduced to a smoking smouldering mass.

The blaze might have had more serious consequences had not one of the Armstrong children, who had not been feeling well, and was unable to sleep at the time, first detected the odor of smoke. She quickly awakened her parents and her small brother, and the family quickly covering their night attire with coats, rushed outside in the sub-zero weather. Loss was estimated at $10,000.

Owner Undecided On Plans For Restoring Building

Question of re-building the Chamber of Commerce building which was gutted by fire Saturday morning is undecided by the owner Mr. Jamieson Bone who stated today that he would consider the matter for two or three months before taking action.

The central part of the interior of the building which housed several offices is completely gutted with the roof having caved in. Damage to the building was estimated by the owner as being in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Expresses Appreciation

Fire Chief William Lynch today expressed his appreciation to Mayor D. L. Storey and to members of the City Council who co-operated with the fire department by supplying dry clothes for firemen who had gotten soaked in the below-zero temperature. Coffee and refreshments were also served to firemen, many of whom were on duty at the fire for nearly twelve hours.

The police department also came in for words of appreciation by the fire chief who expressed his thanks for their co-operation. Employees of the public utilities department also gave a hand at the fire and from noon on under the direction of firemen assisted in handling hose.

Seven Hose Lines

Seven lines of hose were run to the fire according to Fire Chief Lynch who stated that one line had been kept in reserve in case of another fire breaking out in a different part of the city.

Origin of the blaze which gutted one of the best business blocks in the city was still a mystery today. Fire Chief Lynch stated, however, that the first blaze seen by firemen was through a north window on the second storey. When firemen arrived on the scene the structure was so full of smoke the building could not be entered.

Tenants of the various offices in the building were on hand this morning and were seen searching through the gutted offices in an effort to determine if records and files could be salvaged.

Some Cabinets Intact

In some case filing cabinets seemed to be intact with records still readable, although water-soaked. In other instances cabinets had been blown open by the force of the water and the contents destroyed either by fire or by water.

Although the main building was practically gutted by fire, firemen were successful in saving the warehouse department of the local Brewers' Warehouse. Stock was kept in a one-storey brick building extending to the east and firemen succeeded in cutting off the flames and in saving a refrigeration plant and stock in this portion of the building.

Ted Reid Suffers Severed Artery In Car Accident

Bancroft, Feb. 2 (Special)—The timely and efficient first-aid action of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Painter, Maynooth hotel proprietors, probably saved the life of Ted Reid, Cross Lake who was seriously injured in a motor accident north of the community near midnight Saturday.

With a six inch gash in his throat which severed an artery, Reid was rushed from the scene of the accident to the Painter hotel where the proprietors gave him first aid treatment before he was taken to the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital. Dr. S. S. Lumb, who attended the injured man there, stated that the efficient work of the Painters, was mainly responsible for Reid being alive today.

The accident occurred when Arthur Brodoski, with Reid as a passenger, was driving north of Maynooth when they came upon a car owned by W. J. David which had been pushed down a hill in an effort to get it started.

Brodoski was unable to check the speed of his vehicle in time and it crashed into the David car. The force of the impact hurled Reid partially through the windshield —of the jeep inflicting the large gash in his throat.

A few minutes after the accident, another car driven by Joseph Foster, of Lake St. Peter swerved around the wrecked jeep and it crashed into the damaged David car.

Police investigated the accident and later Brodoski was charged with a breach of the Highways Traffic Act.

Price of eggs dropped five cents per dozen on the local produce market Saturday morning as farmers quoted 45 cents for firsts. Mediums were available at 43 cents while pullets held at the usual price of 40 cents the dozen.

Only a few farmers braved the below zero temperature to stand on the outside market and these were limited to covered vans, owners of which offered apples and vegetables. Best grade Spys, Delicious and McIntosh sold at from $3 to $3.25 per bushel, while cookers were $2 and up.

A few potatoes sold at $2.75 per bag. Two vendors offered pork by the quarter at 32 and 35 cents the pound for fronts and hinds, respectively.

SEIZURE OF COPY

cember issue of the magazine. It was the article which led to the conspiracy charges.

Mr. Sedgwick's letter said that Cpl. Molyneux, accompanied by three other R.C.M.P. officers made the search after presenting a warrant "to search for and, if found, to seize three telegrams specified in the warrant and (the manuscript.)"

Thoroughly Comb Office

"Under the presumed authority of this warrant, the officers thoroughly combed the offices of the magazine, spending a few hours in the process. My information is that they failed to find the three telegrams set out in the warrant but that they did find what seemed to them to be a manuscript of the article and that they took with them.

"I stayed until their search had concluded and was then informed by Cpl. Molyneux that the manuscript to which I have referred was the only document which they intended to seize and take.

"They left the offices but returned later in the afternoon when I was not there and then seized and took a second manuscript, apparently of the same article, to which, as my information is, were attached certain editorial notes and comments."

Mr. Reyburn last night described the search by Cpl. Molyneux and the other officers.

"He came back later and told us he wanted the carbon copy and the attached notes," Mr. Reyburn said. "Mr. Sedgwick had said before he could not take it and I went to telephone Mr. Sedgwick again. While I was phoning, he took the copy and left the office."

Assistant editor Frank Hamilton and Art Director Gene Aliman followed the R.C.M.P. man to the street and Mr. Hamilton told him he had no right to take the copy. He was told the warrant had been changed.

Three Allowed To Reserve Pleas, Court Adjourns

By LORNE BRUCE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton, Feb. 2—(CP)—Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd today allowed three Ontario residents to reserve their pleas on charges of conspiring to publish defamatory libel against Alberta Child Welfare Administration officials, and adjourned the trial until April 5.

Mr. Justice Shepherd, sitting in Alberta Supreme Court, granted the defence the right to reserve its plea after the Crown had urged that immediate pleas be obtained from Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of New Liberty Magazine, writer Harold Dingman and Dr. Charlotte Whitton, welfare authority.

The Crown did not argue against postponement of the trial, which involves the question of press freedom, but contended that various appeals may delay indefinitely the opening of the actual trial.

Urge Question Of Union With Canada Go to Nfld. People

St. John's Nfld., Feb. 2 (CP)—A postscript memorandum signed by the minority in the national convention who supported confederation with Canada has been forwarded to the Commonwealth office in London urging that the question of the union with Canada be submitted to the Newfoundland people, it was learned here today.

The convention, which began sittings 17 months ago to consider and recommend future forms of government for Newfoundland, was dissolved Friday after voting 29-16 against confederation.

Hamilton Doctor Instantly Killed

Hamilton, Feb. 2. (CP)—Dr. Douglas C. McIlwraith, 69, was killed instantly at 9.40 this morning when his car was struck by a T.H. and B. gas-electric coach on Leyland Street in W. Hamilton. With his passing, Hamilton has lost a brilliant physician and obstetrician, a leader in Canadian Masonic activities and a man of great charm and many personal attributes.

Dr. McIlwraith was almost across the tracks when his car was struck at the rear, thrown about 30 feet and almost completely wrecked.

The locomotive, the regular coach to Waterford, had left the terminal ten minutes prior to the crash. The crew was engineer, George Wright, Welland; conductor, Edward Barlow, Westdale and baggageman, Laverne Cripps, Wellandport.

A witness of the accident was Stanley Stroud of Hamilton, who with the assistance of Pat Rooney of Hamilton turned off the ignition of the racing engine, and lifted the doctor out of the car.

Dr. McIlwraith retained an extensive practice in the city. After graduating from the University of Toronto in 1901 as an M.B., silver medallist, he became house surgeon at Hamilton General Hospital until 1902, when he entered general practice in Binbrook. In 1908, he was appointed associate coroner of Wentworth County and held his office until his death.

Ground Hogs and Bears Are Probably As Confused as We Are About the Signs

Sit down and relax. Give the coal dealer the high chin and the cool shoulder; dig out the seed catalogues, and start looking over the fishing tackle. For if legend is true, Old Man Winter has received a rude jolt to any plans he may have had for continuance of the cold frosty weather if the early part of the day is any criterion.

Today is Candlemas Day. Or in the vernacular of John Q Public, Ground-hog Day if you are an American and "Bear" Day if you call Canada your home.

For this day is the day when the bear, or the groundhog, or both if you will, is supposed to venture out to see if his shadow is visible. If it is, he is said to scuttle back for six weeks further hibernation — if not, then the elusive maiden with the diaphanous garments, symbolic of Spring, is around the corner.

Sullen Morning Skies

And with sullen, grey skies obliterating any efforts of Old Sol at shadow-making this morning, it looks as though winter, if you are superstitious and believe in ancient legend, has had his fling, for this season at least.

According to a northern county resident in the city today, the same weather conditions were apparent back in the districts that are the native habitat of the bear. "In fact," he grinned, "one bruin did come out, got as far south as Crowe Lake, couldn't find any sunshine and scuttled back to his lair for further sleep."

Candlemas Day, the feast of the purification of the Virgin Mary is celebrated by Roman Catholics on February 2nd. The festival gets its name from the fact that on that day there is a procession of candles, and these candles which are required in divine service for the ensuing year, are consecrated.

Compared With Roman Festival

The festival is also observed by the Church of England and by the Armenian Church. It has been compared with the Roman Festival held in honor of Februa, mother of Mars when candles were burned. Possibly the old custom was utilized by the Church was turned into a Christian ceremony.

In Scotland, Candlemas Day is the first of the quarterly terms when interest, taxes, rent must be paid. The state of the weather at this time is said to determine that of the year. An old Scottish adage says:

"If Candlemas is fair and clear,
There'll be twa winters in the year."

P. S.: The above was written early this morning. At 12:15 this afternoon the sun broke through the clouds, but by that time all self-respecting bears or ground hogs had gone back to their winter nests, or where ever they stay. Of course, the odd non-union animals may have poked their snouts above ground after lunch time, but according to Hoyle, the game is over at high noon, and anything that happens after that is purely accidental.

Military Museum, First in Canada, Planned for Church St. Armouries

Probably the first of its kind in Canada, which will perpetuate the memory of militia regiments of this district from the earliest days, a military museum will be established in the Church Street Armouries, if tentative plans of the Regimental Association of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment materialize.

This was decided at a meeting of the Association held here with Lieut.-Col. A.A. Kennedy, M.C., of Owen Sound, president of the association in the chair. Members were present from Kingston, Picton, Wellington, Toronto and other points of the immediate district.

It is planned to gather documents, weapons, uniforms, etc., which represent militia regiments of this district since their inception and place them in the Armouries as an historical tribute to the gallant men of the district who have kept its military record on a par with the best in the Dominion.

Re-union Discussed

Among other business conducted by the Association was the discussion of plans for the 1948 regimental re-union. Efforts will be made to have the Trenton Air Station as the locale of the get-together this year. Capt. Fred Burtt, Trenton will head a committee named for this purpose.

Lieut. Col. Reg. Abrams, Kingston was apointed chairman of a committee which will investigate the possibilities of securing canteen funds for purpose of assisting in financing the regimental scholarship.

Regimental Sergeant Major Angus Duffy was named chairman of a committee of the regimental association which will look into the matter of the museum.

Heading a committee to look after the interests of the Scholarship Fund was George Spencer, principal of Trenton High School. This committee will investigate the eligibility of a number of sons and daughters of members of the regiment who were killed in action. Lieut. Col. E.V. Yates, Deloro, heads a committee which will "keep an eye" on the regimental activities.

Among officers present at the meeting were Lieut. Col. William A. Davern, representing Prince Edward County; Captain "Dude" Dafoe, Madoc; Captain Hyslop, Kingston; Lieut. Ed. Davis, Trenton and others numbering about thirty.

Chamber of Commerce Fire

Citizens of Belleville and district will regret the destruction by fire of the Chamber of Commerce Building for it was one of the most important and finest structures in the city's business district where it had for three generations or more been a business landmark. The fire loss is heavy and one of the severest blows which fire has struck at this city. The building which was extensive and located in the downtown business area was an important factor in the life of the city in these days especially, when space is so much required as development of the city proceeds. As the building housed a large number of offices its accommodation will be greatly missed.

Firemen in this fire had on their hands one of the hardest fights on record. For hours before dawn they fought tirelessly in the sub-zero weather, their clothing encased in ice. Their success in preventing the spread of the flames to adjacent property was possible through their efforts.

Orville Wright

Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, lived many years after his great feat in 1903 when he first flew a heavier-than-air machine. Few men there are who live long enough to witness such developments as have taken place in their lifetimes as a result of the initiative and skill and foresight of Orville and of his brother Wilbur, who died many years ago. Orville lived for forty-four years afterwards to see that which had been in his days as a boy but a dream become one of the greatest agencies affecting the progress of the world.

Less than a generation and a half passed since the Kittyhawk was flown to make the first flight of all time. The fact is that the means of conveyance and transportation had developed across the ages and the time was ripe for such an invention as the plane. But if the Wrights had not experimented and Orville had not been able to make the flight in 1903, years might have elapsed before the plane was hit upon and discovered as the means of a new method of transportation. So the immortality of the Wrights is assured for the world is taking more and more interest in the development of the plane in all its forms. Orville Wright achieved one of those immortal deeds that made him famous forever. On the foundation of his achievement and his brother's those who came after could develop towards what we today call modern aviation.

But not even Orville Wright could have foreseen the success of such an invention. He stated that he never expected that it would play so great a role in history as in the two world wars. The brothers gave the inventive genius of themselves and of other men the means of something new in life as to change the whole phase of progress of the world. Just as people today cannot foresee the full extent of the future of flying, so the Wrights could not have dreamed of such progress as has already been made.

The lives of the Wrights must forever be of great incentive to youth and to experiment and mechanical science. Aviation as it has developed has brought along at a terrific pace other sciences for aviation has developed their importance. It must have seemed to Orville Wright that all history had been waiting for this one development on which to build a greater world by speeding up the tempo of life and business.

Wilbur, the elder brother, who died in 1912, saw little of what his brother Orville was privileged to see, the great structure of flying in the world. His comparatively early death sealed his eyes from seeing the amazing progress of invention in regard to transportation which his work and that of Orville had started on the way.

Chile Shows Spunk

The spunk displayed by little Chile in defiance of giant Russia must be admired by a western world which walks cautiously for fear of offending Moscow.

Something similar to what Chile is doing to straighten out an affair of the heart might be employed by the other nations to effect settlements in the muddled affairs that affect millions, comments the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

When Alvaro Cruz Ocampo, son of Chile's former minister to Russia, was in Moscow on a diplomatic passport he married a Russian girl. When the mission left the authorities refused to give a visa to the young Mrs. Ocampo.

Shortly thereafter, on the charge that political disorders in the country were being stirred up by Moscow's direction, Chile broke diplomatic relations. The Russian minister and part of his staff were permitted to depart. But 25 other Russian diplomats were detained. They are still detained. They will be detained, announced Chile, until Mrs. Ocampo reaches Santiago and her husband.

Moscow will undoubtedly see the point. Chile does not wish to be unreasonable about it. The case, Chile intimated, can be taken to the International Court of Justice at The Hague. The idea of appealing to the United Nations Assembly was abandoned because two previous cases of like nature produced no result.

Chile is on firm ground because the Soviet custom of retaining the Russian wives of foreigners is against The Hague convention of 1899 and 1907. Aside from that it is a barbaric custom in line with most Muscovite actions. Only direct methods can compel the Russians to conform to civilized practices.

Give Production a Chance

It still remains quite true, of course, that the way to beat inflation is by production. But production must be given a chance to catch up with buying power, remarks Montreal Gazette. In other words, inflation must be attacked at both ends. The great rise that has already taken place in production has not had the effect it should have had, because the money (and the buying demand) has kept on swelling. Unless Government handouts, wage increases and "easy money" are all brought under control, advancing production will remain in more or less hopeless pursuit of runaway money.

Production can do a wonderful job. But the Government must give production a chance to catch up. Unless this is done, production will go running after buying power in the same way that wages are running after prices. The Canadian economy will then have become a two-ring circus, each presenting acts of perpetual motion.

Weather's Attraction

Doubtless the average cave man, emerging of a morning from his ancestral hole in the ground, greeted his next-cave neighbor with an affable "Well, do you think it's going to snow some more?" And doubtless one of the members of the last surviving pair of human beings on this planet, meeting his opposite number, will say to him: "I don't like the look of those clouds over there."

There is something eternal in weather talk. Changes of fashion, so destructive to numberless other things, have never impaired its seemingly perennial vogue; in every age and clime and season it has exerted on men and women an irresistible fascination. In all probability, Eve said to Adam, on a day destined to be fateful in their careers and painfully disruptive to their domestic arrangements: "Come on, my love, it's grand weather for eating apples!" says New York Times.

WITHOUT SIGHT AND HANDS

The Australian Department of Information is making a film of the life of a 31-year-old Australian returned soldier who lost his sight and both his hands in the war and now works successfully as a carpenter. He is John Seufert. He has tools designed to his specifications which are attached to the stumps of his arms, and he carries on his trade in a backyard workshop built with money provided b ythe Repatriation Commission. The film of Seufert's daily life will be for world distribution and will be recorded in seven languages.

A FEW LINES TO MOLOTOV

From what I hear, it seems to me
Life cannot very pleasant be
For all, except the ruling few
Who tell the people what to do.
Though Mr. Molotov may say
Harsh things about the U.S.A.,
Our way of life I'd not replace
With what the Russians have to face.

They have no right to what they earn;
No choice of books from which to learn;
No comforts for their children small;
Poor food and often none at all;
Six in a room designed for one;
By day and night they're spied upon.
And should they say they like it not,
They're taken to the wall and shot.

No, Mr. Molotov! You may Pretend you like the Russian way,
But you can have it! You are fed;
You never hungry go to bed.
You never suffer from the cold.
You wear the finest raiment sold.
The choicest meats are yours to carve,
While millions of your people starve.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Who invented the bowie knife?

The bowie knife, which became the favorite hunting and fighting knife in the Southwest about the time Texas won her independence from Mexico in 1836, appears to have been invented by Rezin P. Bowie and popularized by his brother, Colonel James Bowie.

This Bowie family moved from Burke County in eastern Georgia and settled in what is now Avoyelles Parish, Louisiana, in 1803 the year of the Louisiana Purchase. There were five sons in the family — David, Rezin P., John J., Stephen, and James, all of whose names occur in the records of the Southwest.

According to William Kennedy's "Texas" (1840), Rezin Bowie, in response to inquiries from newspapermen, in 1838 — two years after Colonel James Bowies' death in the Alamo — published a statement about the origin of the bowie knife. Rezin Bowie said the original Bowie knife was made by him on his Louisiana plantation and used by him for many years merely as a hunting knife.

The blade of this knife was 9½ inches long and 1½ inches wide and was straight with a single edge. Knives of similar design were already used by the Mexicans and Rezin and Bowie may have gotten his general idea from them. James Bowie had been shot by "an individual with whom he was at variance", and Rezin gave him the knife to defend himself in the event a second attempt was made "by the same person to take his life." Some time afterwards this knife "was resorted to by Colonel James Bowie in a chance medley or rough fight between himself and certain other individuals to whom he was then inimical, and the knife was used only as a defensive weapon."

About 1828, at the age of 29, James Bowie went to Texas, became a Mexican citizen, married a daughter of the Mexican vice governor at San Antonio and within a few years acquired considerable wealth. He fought with distinction in the Texac forces against the Mexicans and won eternal fame by being among the men killed when Santa Anna stormed the Alamo on March 6, 1836, and put the entire garrison to death.

That Colonel Bowie had a bowie knife with him when he died is confirmed by "Col. Crockett's Exploits and Adventures in Texas" (1836), which is supposed to have been written by David Crockett.

After Colonel Bowie's heroic death all sorts of stories sprang up to explain his "invention" of the famous knife that bears his surname. The essence of them is that Colonel Bowie, after being hurt when his hand slipped from the hilt to the blade of his knife in a hand-to-hand fight, asked a blacksmith to make a knife after a pattern he whittled out of a cigar-box lid and that the blacksmith made the first bowie knife out of an old file. The time and the place of the incident and the name of the blacksmith vary considerably in the stories. There may be some truth in the various versions, for Bowie, who travelled much and fought often, no doubt had occasion to have knives made by local smiths in different places at different times.

The bowie knife evolved into the standard combination hunting and fighting knife in the Southwest. English cutlers began to make them for export and by 1840 many of the finest bowies used in Texas were made at Sheffield and Birmingham, England.

At a special meeting of the Women's Christian Association, held last evening, I was requested to ask you if you would be good enough to publish this expression of our very deep appreciation for the many kindnesses and splendid assistance rendered on the occasion of the tragic fire which destroyed the Belleville Home for the Aged last Saturday evening; Mrs. Gerow for opening her house to the residents of the Home; Mr. Whitfield and the other neighbors who rendered valuable assistance to both the firemen and the residents of the Home; the Fire Department for their brave and splendid work; the Kiwanis for their generous offer of the house at Ameliasburg; the various people who offered temporary homes to our old people until more permanent arrangements can be made; the County Home for their kindly shelter; and the many citizens who have taken or sent gifts of clothing and other good things to the victims of the fire who are temporarily in the Hospital or in the County Home. The kindly interest and sympathy shown have been most heartening.

Yours very truly,

Another dwelling fire, at Simcoe, forced Mr. and Mrs. Gustavh Derich and their five children out into the cold. The family came to Canada from Belgium last spring.

The Spicer Bakery at Otterville, near Woodstock, was damaged by an oven explosion Sunday. At Kleinburg damage was estimated at $15,000 in destruction of a 60-foot barn with 10 head of cattle, farm equipment, more than 150 tons of hay and 20 tons of coal. More than 100 horses were rescued.

An over-heated elevator motor caused a $1,500 blaze in the Deer Park Manor apartments in Toronto Sunday.

Damages were approximately $50,000 in fire which damaged the H. B. Wright Ltd. restaurant at Brockville Saturday night after a coal gas explosion in the basement. Patrons and employees escaped without injury.

Local Landmark

The barn of Murray McFarlane, 12 miles southwest of London, was destroyed Sunday with damages of $25,000. A frozen water system hampered efforts to fight the blaze. The barn, one of the largest in southwestern Ontario, was a local landmark.

While Port Colborne firemen were en route to a fire in the roof of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin's house Sunday a second alarm was sounded. Half the firemen were despatched to fight a fire which gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Ellsworth at the opposite end of the community.

Damage was estimated at $20,000 in a fire which gutted the plant of National Floral Manufacturing Company at Waterford, six miles north of Simcoe, Sunday night. Cause of the fire was not determined.

NEHRU

Earlier, at the services beside the Jumna, a throng of 5,000 watched quietly as the ashes were sifted carefully. One object sifted out was handed to Nehru. Witnesses speculated that it might have been one of the bullets which struck Gandhi down Friday night, but there was no explanation from anyone in position to know.

Later a close adviser to the Gandhi family said the object was not a bullet. He said it might be the charred remains of a steel pin someone had thrown into the fire.

Gandhi's bones were picked from the ashes during the service and put into an urn. The ashes were poured, by hand and with a garden shoved and clay coops, into sacks.

The remains were left to be picked up by miliary lorry and hauled away to await final disposition. The flowers around Gandhi's funeral pyre were carried off to be cast into the Jumna.

Socialists marched through New Delhi shouting slogans against the militant Hindu Maha Sabha, the organization some blamed for Gandhi's death. Many carried staves and clubs. They were orderly.

Hindu was set against Hindu by Gandhi's assassination. Unofficial estimates were that at least 50 had been slain in rioting since the pistol killing of the 68-year-old patriot.

Home Minister Sardar Vallabhai Patel told correspondents last night that he, Nehru and Education Minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad had been marked for murder by a group decrying leniency toward Moslems.

Ashes Gathered

The Mahatma's ashes were gathered up this morning in reverent funeral rites in the burning ground where he was cremated Saturday.

Leaders of the ceremony said all ashes and unburned bones would be taken later to Birla House, where Gandhi died, and kept there in pots to be scattered Feb. 13 in the Ganges. Both the Ganges and the Jumna are holy to Hindus.

Gentle fingers separated the bones from the ashes and dipped the unburned fragments in the red earthen and brass pots. In these pots were water and the milk of the cow, held to be sacred. Hindus believe the water purifies and the milk nourishes the departed spirit even in Heaven.

Gandhi's son, Ramdas, performed the rites with the help of a pandit (learned man) and others.

Mobs Form in City

The ashes lay in an oval mound on a brick platform. Incense sticks thrust into the edges send smoke toward a cloudy sky.

Mobs formed in this city today when reports of the assassination plot spread. Rifle fire was heard. Mobs attacked members of the militant Hindu Mahasabha (great Hindu organization) during the weekend. Gandhi's accused assassin was reported by police to belong to the party.

Patel, India's chief law enforcement officer and so-called "iron man" of Nehru's Congress Party, told correspondents that conspiracy was under investigation and arrests were being made. He urged the people not to take the law into their own hands.

Patel would not say whether Gandhi's death had resulted from the plot. But another high government official indicated the Home Minister knew it had.

Marked to be Liquidated

"There is ample evidence that we were marked to be liquidated" Patel said, "because a certain group believed we were making too many concessions to Pakistan and Moslems generally."

India and Pakistan were created British Dominions in a split of the Indian sub-continent last Aug. 15. Gandhi hadl fasted and pleaded in an effort to allay Hindu-Sikh-Moslem strife that followed.

The Hindu Mahasabha criticized him publicly for that. The organization seeks an India with a legal code rooted in ancient Hindu religious laws.

Patel did not mention the Mahasabha. He would not comment on the case of Narayan Vinayak Godse, 25, of Poona, held for investigation of murder in the Gandhi assassination.

Bombay police arrested G. V. Deshphande, Mahasabha secretary, and several other members of the party for investigation of unspecified accusations.

The National Call, New Delhi newspaper, said Godse had admitted belonging to a terrorist gang working in Delhi, Bombay, the East Punjab and West Bengal.

DR. J. J. ROBERTSON

Dr. Robertson was a devoted physician — a clever and careful surgeon; he merited and was given freely the confidence of his patients. Not alone with the healing arts of medical science did he minister to them, but he gave of himself and his sympathetic, friendly and understanding nature inspired courage and hope within those under his care. In this city and throughout Central Ontario there are many persons to whom his death will bring sincere feelings of regret and they will recall gratefully the benefits they received at his hands. "To Heal the Sick" was his work in life and he served well.

Dr. Robertson was a member of St. Michael's Church.

Surviving to mourn his loss are one daughter, Mrs. D (Catherine) Ross, Chatterton, Ontario; one son; Mr. John L. Robertson of the 1st. concession of Ameliasburg township, Prince Edward County; one sister, Mrs. A. Bernard Collins, Trent Road, Sidney township; one brother, Mr. F. O. Robertson, Campbellford. His wife, the former Henrietta McDowell, Kingston, died on March 28th., 1920; a daughter, Elda Hume, died in 1940, and a brother, Angus W. Robertson of Montreal, died in Florida on Oct. 22nd. last.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

WHAT EVER BECAME OF CASTOR OIL?

A famous American author whose books are published in many languages says he has suffered nearly all his life from frequent headaches and he has tried everything on earth that he could think of or that doctors could suggest, but the only thing that did any good was to fast for a day or two—although he has never been a heavy eater. Some time ago he read in my column that many headache sufferers had been helped by taking sub-laxative doses of castor oil regularly once or twice a day for a few months—that is, from five to twenty drops every day or as much as one may tolerate without excessive laxation.

"I had refused all my life to use any laxative" says the author, "but I decided to try your suggestion." (It was not my suggestion, but one I gleaned from one of the medical journals and passed along to my readers.) "I have never taken as much as a half teaspoonful but I have taken several drops every day for the past year, and it is certainly a fact that my headaches have been greatly reduced in number and that I get over them much more quickly. Anyhow, I am in your debt and am glad to acknowledge it."

Doses of a few drops of castor oil may be taken in capsule. It is rarely necessary to take more than ten or fifteen drops a day, preferably after food, and on the other hand there is no advantage in taking enough to keep the bowels loose. In any case it is important to use only fresh castor oil—if it is old and at all rancid it's just too bad.

This is one of several remedies for ordinary headache or for periodic sick headache (migraine) suggested in the pamphlet Why Have Headache?—ask for it in writing (not with clipping) and inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address.

I have no explanation for the effect of sub-laxative doses of castor oil on recurring headache. For all I know the experience reported by the author and other sufferers may be coincidental. But there it is, folks—I mention it because, if it does no good it will do no harm to try, that is, if the calcium feeding described in the pamphlet fails to correct the trouble.

I am happy to say that I have never approved the practice of dosing infants with castor oil. This quaint practice of the Saireygamps and the ignorant midwives of the last century has fastened on millions of children the constipation habit. In the Brady Baby Book (for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope) I appeal to the kindness, the gentleness and the intelligence of young parents today to guard the helpless newborn from that first dose of castor oil and I assure them that any baby will thrive better without castor oil than is possible if the natural automatic control of the digestive machinery is upset at the very outset by such an irritant.

Now, don't ask what you should give the baby, then, if the baby is—for the answer to that is nothing—just give the baby a break. Feed the baby natural food, and leave the regulation of the bowel to the same automatic or unconscious nerve control as that which regulates the heartbeat and the breathing. This is pretty simple, but nevertheless beyond the comprehension of fifty million Yankee Wiseacres who support the nostrum business.

Literature

Have you any literature on pin worms? Are they catching? We can't seem to get rid of them and I am a wreck over it.

(Mrs. A. M.)

Answer—Send twenty - five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for booklet Unbidden Guests. It deals with worms, lice, bedbugs, cockroaches, flies, fleas, spiders etc.

"SINGING STARS" HAVE SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL CAREERS

By JACK MCNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

What happens to those talented young girls who win prizes on the popular Sunday afternoon radio program, "Singing Stars of Tomorrow," when tomorrow really comes? Do they just slip back into nameless obscurity or do they turn out to be singing stars after all?

The program in its first four years brought to the CBC's Trans-Canada Network the voices of more than 175 girls, all under 26 years of age. They were the pick of hundreds auditioned from coast to coast by teams of experts which included such well-known musicians as Harry Adaskin and Rex Battle.

The girls selected—many of them were already noted for concert or radio work—received an all-expenses-paid round trip to Toronto for their broadcast, and the three top singers of the season, picked by a nation-wide panel of judges, won $1,000, $500 and $250 in scholarship prizes.

It doesn't require much sleuthing to discover that the success of the girls who waltzed off with these delectable little sums was no flash in the pan. Past winners are not only stacking up as career musicians, but some of them are working their way to stardom in highly competitive musical circles south of the border.

Take Clare Gagnier, for instance, who won the first series in 1943-44. She has appeared as guest with symphony orchestras and on the Northern Electric radio hour, toured Canada, made recordings, and now, at the age of 22, is studying in New York under contract to the Metropolitan Opera.

Pierette Alarie, semi-finalist the same year, hasn't been collecting cobwebs either. This vivacious coloratura soprano—who, like Clare, was born in Montreal—earns close to $500 a week, although she's only 24. It is already two years since she made her debut at the Met, singing the role of a page in Verdi's "The Masked Ball."

Toronto's Evelyn Gould, who won the second series while still in her teens with Rossini's exquisite and challenging aria, "Una voce, poca fa," is also studying in New York and commutes to Toronto weekly by plane to star in the Sunday program "Music for Canadians."

Simone Flibotte, native of the Quebec town of St. Pie de Bagot, came third in the second series and won first prize in the spring of '46 when she was 23. This Montreal-trained mezzo-soprano has since represented Canada at a Chamber Music Guild concert at Washington, sung in the 1946 Victory Festival under Sir Ernest MacMillan at Ottawa and filled many concert and radio engagements.

The lyric soprano voice of 21-year-old Jose Forgues (why do these Montrealers keep copping the prizes anyway?) was judged the best in the series concluded last spring. Jose, who sings in French, English, Italian and German, now is with New York's City Centre Opera Company.

"Singing Stars of Tomorrow," sponsored by York Knitting Mills Limited, has this year admitted men for the first time as contestants, and raised the prize money to $1,750, distributed in five scholarships. There's every reason to expect this program, now in its fifth season will produce more distinguished alumni in the future.

Labor Troubles Invade War-Torn South Sea Isles

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Auckland, N.Z., Jan. —(CP)—Troops who served in the Pacific theatre during the war made a thorough job of debunking the fable that all South Sea islands are tropical paradises filled with lovely girls like Dorothy Lamour. The war itself has left many of the islands even less idyllic than before.

The Solomons, where the Japanese advance was finally checked and which saw some of the most bitter fighting of the war, have been disturbed by the formation of a native secret society known as the Marching Rule. This has been translated by some politically-minded enthusiasts as the Marxian law, but it has in reality nothing whatever to do with Marx.

Basically it seems to have obscure nationlist objects, aiming at native rule of the islands, but its immediate objective has been the securing of higher rates of pay on plantations, arising from the liberal wages paid by American forces for labor. The Marching Rule demanded $38 a month instead of the $6.50 plus rations paid on plantations.

Planters became uneasy as labor became more and more scarce and word filtered through from the interior that the Marching Rule had set up its own courts. Several larger gatherings of natives were held including one of 7,000 natives at Malaita. Eventually several of the leaders of the Marching Rule were arrested without violence, although visits by several warships at the same time may have had an influence. For the present, overt action has died down but labor remains scarce.

Labor troubles have been disturbing another South Pacific group—the Cook Islands which form an integral part of New Zealand. Trade unionism has recently been introduced to the group from New Zealand and visits have been made by several union officials. Strikes have occurred in several of the islands, chiefly on the waterfront.

Chaining Alleged

A clash between members of two rival organizations at Manihiki led to an allegation by H. Barnes, president of the New Zealand Waterside Workers Union, which supports one of the were arrested and taken in chains to the courthouse.

New Zealand Prime Minister Peter Fraser declared that the facts as stated by Barnes were distorted. He said members of one organization improperly attempted to control engagement of waterfront labor, leading to a fight with other workers. The acting resident agent, with police help, arrested 14 of the assailants. One was handcuffed to a post, one was tied with twine to a post and 12 were squatted on the courthouse verandah in the care of a police helper. No one was chained.

The situation remains tense in the Cook Islands with rival organizations striving for labor control and it is likely that the New Zealand government will have to make a detailed investigation of the situation shortly.

In yet another island group, the Crown colony of Fiji, a difficult situation has been created by the increased demands of the Indian community. Indians control most of the business and industry of the colony, although the largest undertakings are still European-owned. The native Fijians remain for the most part small village agriculturists and their leaders are fighting against the inroads of the Indians—who came to the islands years ago as indentured labores—into all lucrative callings and also into official posts.

Nurse Heads North To Open Hospital

Regina, —(CP)—Life in the barren wastelands of northern Sastatchewan where winter temperatures drop to 60 below zero faces Myrtle Pierce, a provincial public health nurse scheduled to open a three-bed outpost hospital at Stony Rapids, near the esastern end of Lake Athabaska.

She said in an interview before leaving that the hospital was part of the provincial health department's program to extend public health service into the north and would provide hospital services for the scattered Indian trappers and fishermen of the region.

"Resistance to disease is low among the people of these regions," she said, partially because of inadequate diet. She expected maternity cases would form the bulk of her work but child-immunization and baby clinics would be part of the services.

For last year in charge of an outpost hospital at Cumberland House, 100 miles west of The Pas, Man., Miss Pierce welcomed her return to the north because "there is a great need for this type of nursing. There is a great deal of satisfaction in serving a community where your services are needed."

Seriously-ill patients will be evacuated from Stony Rapids by canoe during the summer but after the freeze-up must be flown the 350 miles to Prince Albert by government aircraft.

Miss Pierce's newly-built hospital is equipped with electricty and a water system. The maternity ward has the same bed capacity as the adult wards — three bassinets.

MOUNTAIN TRAIL THRILLS HIKERS IN NEW ZEALAND

By J.C.GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Christchurch.N.Z.,—(CP)— AFter being closed for more than seven years "the finest walk in the world", as it has been termed by many visitors to New Zealand, is open again for tourists. This is the Milford Track to the wild, almost uninhabited fiord country in the far southwest corner of New Zealand.

New Zealand's fiords, which rival those of Norway, were known and visited by Captain Cook and other early navigators long before European settlement commenced in New Zealand, but so fantastically broken is the country that it was not until 1388 that a practicable overland route to Milford Sound was discovered.

Later the government built a fine modern hotel at the head of Milford Sound and constructed a walking track to it from Lake Te Anau, the nearest point with access to civilization on the other side of the mountain chain which runs down the island.

The journey from Lake Te Anau to Milford Sound takes the average walker three days in easy stages and huts have been built to accommodate travellers overnight on the way.

Wonder follows wonder along the track in bewildering succession. The route winds through series of huge chasms carved from solid rock by pre-historic glaciers. It climbs over mountain passes and along ridges with sheer precipices falling on either side. It plunges into a veritable fairyland of forest, ferns and hanging mosses. Beautiful little lakes, rushing torrents and the roar and thunder of waterfalls and distant avalanches from great snow peaks add to the delights of the trip.

Giant Cataract

Deep in the forest cup whose walls are sheer mountainsides the travellers look up at the Sutherland Falls which plunge 1,904 feet from a glacier-fed lake amid the mountain peaks. The cataract, one of the highest in the world, plunges direct from the alphine regions to the luxuriant, sub-tropical fern forest.

Finally the traveller comes out onto the wild grandeur of Milford Sound, a deep, narrow seaway winding many miles inland between the gigantic precipices of mountain peaks which rise almost sheer from the ocean, their lower slopes heavily clad in forest and their tops gleaming with snow.

During the war the track, which is about 33 miles long, was not maintained. Avalanches on the mountain stretches and trees in the valleys blocked it in several places, but these have now been cleared and staffs installed at the stopping places.

The popularity of the track has increased still further through the provision of an alternative return route involving only a short walk. A tunnel is being driven through the Homer Saddle in the mountain barrier to the Sounds.

Meantime transport is available from Milford Sound to the tunnel and from the other side of the saddle along a magnificent new scenic route which traverses the Eglinton and Hollyford Valleys through the forest and mountain regions to the main highway system. When through access is available all the way to Milford Sound it is claimed that this will be for motorists what the Milford Track is to trampers.

DURBAN KEY PORT IN SOUTH AFRICA DEFENCE PROGRAM

Durban, South Africa, —(CP)—When the headquarters of the South African Naval Forces is Salisbury Island this year, the work of making Durban the most heavily-defended port on the South African coast will begin.

Increased security measures will also be introduced, and this may result in certain restrictions on small craft approaching Salisbury Island. The island is situated in Durban Bay.

One of the schemes to increase the safety and efficiency of Durban as both a naval and commercial port involves costly alterations to the entry of the port, which at the moment is considered a dangerous bottleneck in the event of an emergency. This will mean a further widening of the entrance to the harbor and the dredging of millions of tons of sand.

The South African Navy is to be expanded with an increase in personnel and ships. One or two submarines may be received from the British Admiralty. British crews will probably man these submarines, based at the pens of Salisbury Island, until South Africans are sufficiently trained to take the mover.

To Be Used By British

It is understood that Durban will also be used extensively for British Warships while on manoeuvers between Simonstown, Salddanha Bay and Mombasa, where millions of pounds are being spent on the developement of the harbor for naval purposes.

Recently transport minister F.C. Sturrock inspected the accommodation on Salisbury Island. He said Salisbury Island had been equipped specially as a naval base, and it was completely up to date in that respect. Its strategic position was excellent in the case of war with the Far East.

Moreover, it was a great deal more convenient to the railways administration to have all the S.A.N.F. establishments in one place, rather than to have them scattered in different parts of the harbor.

The railway administration, he said, would still control the wharves and waterfront of Salisbury Island, leaving the interior and the buildings to the S.A.N.F. In the event of a war, the island would come under naval control.

Durban shipping authorities consider that the moving of the S.A.N.F. to Durban means that the South African Navy will be entirely responsible for the defence of the port. It will work in close co-operation with the South African Air Force.

Britain Acquires Control of Huge Transport System

By JAMES MCCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. —(CP)—Britain's railways, canals, long-distance road haulage services, the London Passenger Transport, and hotels steamships and other assets owned by these concerns passed Jan. 1 into the hands of the British Transport Commission, appointed by the Transport Minister.

More than £1,000,000 ($4,000,000) will be payable to private owners as compensation, mainly in the form of government stock.

Road haulage concerns which operate beyond a limit of 25 miles. Nearly 200,000 licence-holders operating 450,000 vehicles are affected.

Road passenger services in which about 4,800 operators use 53,000 buses and coaches.

In addition, B.T.C. will keep docks and harbor operations under review, Where deemed expedient, these services will be acquired by the national service.

For Efficient Service

B.T.C., under the Transport Nationalization Bill passed last summer in the face of strong conservative opposition must exercise its powers "to provide, secure, or promote the provision of an efficient, adequate, economical and properly integrated system of public inland transport and port facilities within Great Britain and to extend and improve that system."

B.T.C., headed by Sir Cyril Hurcomb former director of war transport, will be helped by five executive groups composed of officials skilled in certain branches of transport and associated service. The executives will have first responsibility for railways London Transport, docks and inland waterways and hotels. The commission will assure co-ordination between the various executives to run the whole transport system as a single unit.

Sir. Eustace Missenden former Southern Railway general manager, who started work as a boy sweeping out a village station will head the executive for British railways with 600,000 railwaymen under his direction.

B.T.C. will have wide powers to improve transport services. It may issue stock to borrow money for capital purposes up to £250,000,000 and in addition raise not more than £250,000,000 in temporary loans.

Opponents of the plan say they agree co-ordination of transport services is necessary but there is no necessity for a monopoly freed from spur of competition and unable to give transport "consumer" a guarantee of efficient service.

In the age of nationalization the transport "consumer" has been defined by anti-labor wits as the man who chews the date off his over poor service.

Farmer "Firebugs" War on Crocodiles

Sydney, Australia, — (CP) — Farmers of north Queensland dread bushfires but they are deliberately setting fire to everything that burns along the banks of rivers running through their properties.

These "firebug" farmers have learned from a resident of Innisfail who travelled in the wake of a bad fire which had raged through the swamp lands adjacent to the Johnstone River that it had scorched thousands of crocodile eggs.

The farmers see this as a means of checking the growing menace of the crocodile to their stock.

Every year crocodiles take a heavy toll of stock that water in the northern coastal rivers. They are not man-eaters although a few fatalities have been reported in recent years.

Pictured above testing the curvature of a lens is Elsie Welbourn, one of the skilled lens inspectors in the Belleville plant of American Optical Company Canada Limited. Employed by AO for the past six years, Elsie utilizes expert knowledge born of experience to make certain AO lenses are accurately curved and free of defects.

Widely prescribed for the correction of visual deficiencies, AO ophthalmic lenses are superior for several reasons. First, they are the end result of many years of research and development. Then, too, the finest of raw materials go into their manufacture. Further, their quality is maintained by the most modern of grinding and polishing techniques coupled with skilled inspection during the various manufacturing steps.

These are the reasons why the demand for AO lenses has rapidly increased — why it is necessary to expand our manufacturing facilities by building a new plant.

A member of the AO Service and Social Club, Elsie is deeply interested in the company and its progress. Her two sisters, Margaret and Helen, are also employed by AO as well as two cousins, Phillistine and Geraldine Gilbey.

Teachers Hear Miss Olive Elson, Region Director

Miss Olive Elson, director of Region 4 of the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario addressed the Thurlow-Tyendinaga unit of the Association at a special dinner meeting held Saturday evening at the Old Tavern Bar-B-Q. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Cora Dier, president of the unit, while appreciation was expressed by Mrs. Wanda Sine.

Miss Elson gave a broad outline of the Ontario Teachers' Federation, pointing out that each member is a part of a number of influential and effective organizations striving to better the conditions of the teacher and to further the interests of education and culture.

She pointed out that each teacher should realize and appreciate what membership in her professional organization means to her. She referred to the booklet prepared by the statue committee "We Look at Ourselves".

Must Uphold Ethics

The importance of committee work and study in the organization was stressed with reference to the duties of each committee convener. The teachers were reminded that it was the duty of every teacher to observe and uphold with honor and dignity the code of ethics.

Miss Elson drew attention to several projects making special mention of the "Goodwill Project" which has been in progress for some months and is meeting with approval from many quarters. This project on December 15th sent a cheque for $100 to each of the 23 public school exchange teachers from Great Britain, also boxes of clothing and food are being sent to Great Britain. In February all Ontario teachers will have the opportunity of assisting the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through the U. N. E. S. C. O. to obtain an objective of two million dollars and goods and services to aid education in war-ravaged countries.

To Hold Birthday Party

Next Easter the Federation will be 30 years old and it is planned to celebrate this occasion with a birthday party to be held at the time of the annual Easter tea during the Association convention in Toronto. All Federation members in Toronto at that time were urged to attend this tea.

In conclusion Miss Elson displayed a large map of Ontario showing the region into which the province is divided for Federation purposes. The huge amount of work and the large area covered by Region 4 was easily discerned on this map.

Following the dinner a sing-song was led by Miss Verna Fox with Mrs. Harry Harrison at the piano. Miss Margaret Hillis, President of the Belleville Association sang "Life's Lovely Things", written by Blanche Kerr Usher, a teacher in Northumberland. Miss Hillis was accompanied by Mrs. Jack Parrott.

Inspector R. H. Macklem addressed the meeting briefly paying tribute to the principles of Federation and complimenting the teachers on their professional magazine "The Courier".

Congregational Meetings

KING ST. UNITED CHURCH

Trenton. —Gratifying reports covering a year of progress both spiritually and materially were presented at the annual congregational meeting of King Street United Church. The meeting followed a bountiful supper served by the ladies of the church with the minister, Rev. J. D. Martin, presiding, and Mr. E. L. Fraser serving as clerk.

The congregation raised over $12,000 for all purposes, and contributed $2,200 for home and foreign mission work through the Maintenance and Missionary Fund.

The contribution of both branches of the W.M.S. for missions, exclusive of the M. & M. was $740.

The discharge of a note for $1,400 during the year wiped out all indebtedness of the congregation. It was part of the cost of extensive interior improvements made to the church in 1946, including complete renovation.

The session statistical report showed 36 baptisms, 29 marriages, and 20 burials. Twenty-nine were admitted into full church membership. Number of members on the roll is 589.

The Women's Association raised a total of $1,685, and reported a comfortable balance on hand.

The reports from the Sunday School and other organizations within the congregational framework indicated progress, and were very encouraging.

The Rev. J. D. Martin expressed his sincere appreciation of continued congregational support, and to the various organizations for the fine work they had accomplished during the year. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Rev. Mr. Martin for his faithful and effective ministry during the year.

STIRLING AND FRANKFORD

Frankford—The annual vestry meeting of Trinity Church, Frankford, was held in the church hall, Wednesday, Jan. 21st at eight o'clock p.m. Rev. C. C. Brazill presided. Reports from different organizations showed that the financial returns were very satisfactory.

The Ladies' Guild are planning extension of the church hall, as soon as conditions permit, and a fund for that purpose has substantially increased. A new organization, the Chi Rho Fellowship, was organized during the autumn, which is open to all members of the church and promises to be a real help in the parish. A.Y.P.A. and Sunday School have been well maintained during the year.

In June the Venerable J. H. H. Coleman, former rector of the parish, visited Trinity Church and was the preacher on the completion of extensive work on the church namely, redecoration and rewiring, besides the installation of new electric lamps. The church is very beautiful now in a color scheme of deep peach blended with shades suitable to ecclesiastical lettering of the chancel and sanctuary. During the year Mr. Hugh Miller contributed the gift of an oil burning furnace to Trinity Church in memory of his parents. The A.Y.P.A. donated new curtains for the altar, and Mrs. F. Simmons presented a chalice and paten, in memory of her husband, the late Canon Simmons D.D.

Wardens for the ensuing year are Albert Caskey and Gerald Johnson. Mr. Reginald Simmons is treasurer, and Mr. Hugh Miller and Mr. W. McLaren are lay delegates to synod.

The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Church, Stirling, was held on Monday, Jan. 26th in the parish hall, with the rector presiding. Financial report showed that 1947 was one of the most successful in the annals of the church. Several removals were recorded during the year, and some gains too. Attendance at the services was well maintained.

Mrs. H. H. Alger, organist and Sunday School teacher for 40 years, tendered her resignation, which was regretfully accepted. Mrs. Harry Morrow is the present organist.

The vestry decided that a new heating system, capable of heating the church, hall and chapel be installed at the earliest possible date; the work to be done by the C. I. Hatton Hardware, Stirling, costing approximately $3,500.00. The chapel is now being redecorated.

There are no outstanding debts. The wardens are Glen Morrow, and Lorne Ash. Treasurer, A. H. Collings, and F. Houchin and Mr. Collings are lay delegates to the Synod.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Trenton. (Special.) — At the annual vestry meeting of St. George's Anglican Church, held in Canterbury Hall, with the rector, Rev. A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., in the chair, Mr. F. W. Sherbert was appointed vestry clerk, and reports were heard from the rector, church wardens, the cemetery board, and the various church organizations.

In his report the rector, while telling the meeting that church attendance on the whole, was better than last year, urged all members to show more interest in the services of the church. He also said that while all parishes reported the same situation, Trenton had more than its share of "nominal" Anglicans who rarely attended the church, but continually call upon the rector for the ministrations of the church. The rector voiced personal appreciation for the faithful work of the guilds who raised over $1,450 for church purposes, and the various branches of the Woman's Auxiliary who had done so much to uphold the Missionary work of the church. He spoke, also, of the flourishing condition of the Sunday School, which has the highest enrolment that has been evident for some years.

The financial statement, presented by the wardens, showed total receipts from all sources of over $9,500 with some $1,700 going to the missionary work of the church. Considerable expense was incurred during the year which included the re-roofing of the Canterbury Hall and the increasing of insurance on all church buildings to $62,000.

The report also showed that 404 services of all kinds had been held in the Parish with a total attendance of 14,710 and that while 13 families had left the Parish, some 37 new families had been added.

Baptisms for year numbered 49 and last Sunday a class of 40 Confirmation candidates had been presented to the Bishop of the Diocese.

The rector thanked the retiring Warden, Mr. M. C. Waldorf, for his faithful services and co-operation during his term of office, and invited Mr. W. W. Davenport to be the rector's Warden for 1948.

After various nominations had been made, Mr. Stan Hall was elected to the position of People's Warden. Those chosen to represent the Parish at the Synod of the Diocese of Ontario were as follows: Messrs. G. G. Goodsell, W. H. Heaney, W. A. Reid, R. M. Armstrong, G. K. Flynn and M. C. Waldorf. Messrs. F. W. Sherbert and R. L. Taylor were appointed auditors, and the following were elected to the Executive Council of the Parish, Messrs. F. W. Sherbert, H. L. Hall, Geo. Ross, A. Cook and H. Thompson. Mrs. W. B. Crow will represent the Woman's Auxiliary on the executive and a further nomination will be made to represent the parochial guild.

Following votes of appreciation on behalf of the rector, wardens, the auditor, executive members and officers of the parish organizations, the meeting closed with prayer by the rector.

The First Aid cabinets in the six schools are to be replenished. Mrs. Burford Peck read several cards from ill and bereaved members, who had been remembered during the month. Mrs. Elmer Young took charge of a very interesting program on Home Economics. The roll call was answered with a household hint. Mrs. Young defined Home Economics. She divided it into several phases such as food, clothing, furnishing a home and buying. Mrs. Van Cleaf read an article on "Changes in Food Customs". Mrs. Redner gave a reading entitled "When is a Bargain a Bargain?" Mrs. Spencer read an article entitled "Fill Your Room 'With Sun Glow". Mrs. Young told several ways to combat rising prices such as, buy in quantity or bulk, for example pepper; make a list of groceries you need and follow your list; roast meat in a slow oven to prevent shrinkage; cook potatoes in their jackets; use more canned vegetables and less fresh vegetables; use vegetable juices; heat lemons and oranges before squeezing the juice; use left over bread in puddings. She closed her talk by pointing out that home making requires study and training the same as any profession. Each member gave a current event of the month. Mrs. Young led the members in two games and a contest, which proved very amusing.

The president closed the meeting. The hostess and social committee served delicious refreshments.

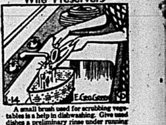
Wife Preservers



A small brush used for scrubbing vegetables is a help in dishwashing. Give used dishes a preliminary rinse under running water with a stiff vegetable brush; washing waste food particles into a sink strainer. This is easier and faster than scraping, and the dishes are soaked, easy to wash, and dishwater stays much cleaner.

Thanks a lot . . .

It is not an easy matter, these winter mornings, to get your supply of milk to your door as promptly as you would like it. Heavy roads and uncleared paths, tend to slow down the service. You can help your milkman to give you the service that he strives for if you remember to keep the path to your milkbox open for him.

The milkman is part of a chain of organization that battles snowdrifts and ice-covered roads to bring the milk from farm to pasteurizing and bottling plants and then through the streets to your door. And his is a heavy, weary task as he struggles through the rutted snow carrying your supply of milk.

The men of the milk distribution services, and your dairy, take pride in the privilege of serving you and will be grateful for your help in speeding delivery.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge will never reach the state of monotony to which so many other card games are subject. No matter how accurate may be a system of bidding, unexpected distribution injects uncertainty.

Unusual deals in a rubber bridge game are mostly viewed from only a few angles. Where all tables play the same hands you learn of a variety of acts performed by different players.

NORTH
♠ None
♥ K 5
♦ K J 9 4 3
♣ K 10 8 6 4 3

WEST
♠ J 9 6 4 3
♥ Q 9 6
♦ None
♣ A J 9 7 5

EAST
♠ A K Q 8 7 2
♥ 8 7 3
♦ 8 7
♣ Q 2

SOUTH
♠ 10 5
♥ A J 10 4 2
♦ A 10 8 6 5 2
♣ None

As you can see there is no defence that can prevent south and north from making seven diamonds. Even if not vulnerable this grand slam pays them 1440 under duplicate scoring.

East and west could save points by bidding seven spades despite the defeat they will take. Even if vulnerable and doubled, a loss of four tricks would cost them only 1100.

Going down to the tune of 1100 may sound like a lot of defeat But if the opponents can make 1440, the loss of 1100 saves 340.

East	South	West	North
1 S	2 D	4 S	5 D
Pass	Pass	5 S	6 D
Pass	Pass	6 S	Pass
Pass	Dbl	All Pass

At the small slam contract in spades, east was defeated three tricks. This was a pay of 800 to the north-south pair. North and south are thus a net loser of 640 points.

This is something that worries many beginners. They wonder why some players are overjoyed when permitted to play a hand at which they will be defeated. Such is life in a bridge game.

Stirling Defeats Marmora For Second Loss 5-3

Marmora — (Special) — Marmora Hockey team had their second defeat of the season on Friday evening when Stirling won from them at Madoc by the score of 5-3. The game started at a fast pace and for the first half of the initial period showed promise of a clean fight. Five minutes passed before the first whistle was sounded. Before the period ended and in the other periods, numerous penalties were handed out, and in the second period a fight halted the play for several minutes. In the third period play was halted twice for injuries to Desjardins and Aquino. The latter's stellar play in the nets was largely responsible for his team's victory. The Marmora boys were a little below par and seemed to find it difficult to combine in their play as they have in their former games. A good crowd witnessed the game.

The teams:

Stirling: goal, Aquino; defence, Utman, Armstrong; Centre, D. Bastedo; wings, B. Bastedo, Stapley; alternates, Morton, Cook, Muffett, Desjardins.

Marmora: goal, Koski; defence, G. Leonard, E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Goodchild, K. Trumble; alternates, E. Trumble, Loveless, McInroy, Doyle, Forestell, Brooks.

Referee: B. Bowen, Stirling.
Linesman: T. Cousins, Deloro.

Summary:

1st. Period

Stirling — Desjardins (Muffett) 5.40
Marmora — K. Trumble ... 9.14

Penalties—E. Leonard, Stapley, Cousins (2), Morton.

2nd. Period

Stirling — Stapley (B. Bastedo) 15.48

3rd. Period

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 2 — (AP) — After long negotiations, Barry Fitzgerald is finally set for the "Story of Seabiscuit."

The deal was off because the Irish actor wanted $250,000 for the chore and Warners couldn't see it that way. A compromise figure was reached and the picture rolls in the spring, with David Butler as director. Although human principals will be portrayed. Fitzgerald's part resembles trainer Tom Smith and Otto Kruger's role parallels owner C. S. Howard.

Seabiscuit himself will be portrayed by three horses, all of which he sired. Sea Sovereign will do the closeups and Fair Truckle the racing sequences. One of the champion's latest colts will work in the early scenes.

For the Record

Ethel Barrymore, who is currently drawing a reported $25,000 for two days work in "Moonrise," reports she has almost completed her memoirs. It's more her life story than a history of the acting clan, although she'll probably correct some of the impressions of her brother Jack, as written in "Good Night, Sweet Prince."

William Bendix received congratulations from Babe Ruth when it was announced that Bill will star in the Bambino's biography. The ball-player was Bill's youthful idol.

Claims Dept.

Joan Leslie hopes for a decision this month in her lengthy litigation with Warner Brothers. She claims the drawn-out suit has prevented her from working at any other studio besides Eagle-Lion. WB argues that she belongs to them . . .

Jane Wyman presented Ronald Reagan with a gold ring for their eighth anniversary and the big question is what's keeping them apart? . . . . Ann Sothern writes from Sun Valley that she is in bed suffering from skiing bruises.

Natives Gamble For Wives, Pigs

Their husbands are becoming more and more addicted to a card game called "lucky" where a wife or pig is often the stake on the turn of a single card, according to and island missionary now on six months' furlough in Sydney.

The missionary, Rev. R.S. Browne, said that the natives have developed a desire for all the benefits of western civilization and privileges without a corresponding sense or responsibility.

Mr. Browne escaped from New Britain during the Japanese occupation and went back to the island in September, 1945.

He told reporters on his return to Sydney that gambling and drinking and the sudden acquisition of new freedom among the natives are creating a disturbing situation.

Drink was introduced by the Japanese who encouraged the natives to take part in sake parties, and later the Allied soldiers taught them to gamble as well as drink.

Today they have too much money, a false sense of values, and they refuse to work.

According to Mr. Browne, "lucky" is played by from two to six natives using a pack of cards and it is doubtful if any European could understand it.

Russia Protests Mission in Iran, U.S. Flights

By BARTON D. PATTIE

London, Feb. 2—(AP)—Russia has filed two more complaints against the United States, the Moscow radio reported today. That makes four in less than a week.

The latest protests concern the flights of American bombers over Russian shipping in Japanese waters and the activities of the American military mission in Iran.

The bomber flights, the radio said, infringed upon the freedom of merchant shipping, while the activities of the United States military mission in Iran are called threats to the Russian frontier. The Russians want both activities stopped, the broadcast said.

The first two protests, announced last week, complained about the projected reopening of Mellaha airfield in North Africa and about the presence of United States warships in Italian ports. The Russians said both those things were violations of the Italian peace treaty.

(Washington dispatches last night said those protests would be rejected sometime this week.)

Now the Russian ministry of foreign affairs has demanded that American bombers stop flying over and inspecting Russian shipping in the Yellow Sea and the Sea of Japan.

The protest note said the bombers circled low and sometimes dived on Russian ships.

The broadcast, quoting a Tass News Agency dispatch, said Russia sent a note to Walter B. Smith, United States ambassador, last Friday demanding that the necessary instructions be issued to stop the actions, which produced "legitimate resentment on the part of crews and passengers of Soviet steamers."

Russian Allegations

Saturday, a later Moscow broadcast said, Russian Ambassador Ivank Sadchikov handed to the Iranian government in Tehran a note asserting that activities of the American military mission in Iran constitute a threat to the Russian frontier, which adjoins Iran to the north.

The note, according to a Pravda dispatch from Tehran, said American officers were directing the erection of fortifications along the border and that American advisers were directing the building of airfields there.

The dispatch declared that tours by American advisers of border districts, "ostensively" for the purpose of inspecting Iranian army units, were "in actual fact . . . for the purpose of making photographs and making a military study of the Soviet-Iranian frontier."

Comely Spinsters Prepare Shindig As Bachelor Trap

By JAQUES FRANCOUER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal, — (CP) — Yes, men, you better be ready to say "yes" or buy a dress because the girls here intend to make this leap year one to remember.

Come this Feb. 29 and Montreal will see the most elaborate and lavish Sadie Hawkins celebration ever staged in these parts.

"Montreal's most eligible spinsters" —a group of 60 French Canadian girls prominent in the social and business world—held a "secret" meeting and laid plans to "trap their men" at an all-night do on Feb. 29.

Somehow the menfolk had an in at the meeting and we now can tell you what the girls are planning.

They want to rent one of Montreal's largest and most exclusive clubs. They will stock the premises with refreshments and food and hope to have an all-woman orchestra to supply the musical background for their man-hunting.

The girls want to make it plain that they are hosts—and boss—and that the men will have no say in the proceedings that day.

The guest will have to leave their cars at home and wait for for the little lady to come and get them.

Girl's Field Day

"This is going to be our own field day for a change," tall brunette Cecile Ayotte, a 25-year-old successful real estate agent who originated the idea of the party, said.

Cecile, who manages several apartment blocks and sells everything from invasion barges to country hotels was the one who called the "conseil de guerre" at which the ladies mapped out their plans.

Even in its preliminary stage the party is already the talk of the town and numerous demands from youthful spinsters anxious to join the group have been turned down.

This Sadie Hawkins do is in an offspring of an annual "Bowtie cocktail" at which Montreal's self styled "15 most eligible bachelors" hold a gigantic open-house at a local hotel on New Year's Eve and day. The 15, who include a youthful alderman, invite about 400 persons to drop in and have a cocktail—anytime on New Year's Eve or day.

The guests at this annual New year's festival usually include Mayor Houde, a couple of cabinet ministers and other leading personalities as well as scores young women.

This annual "bowtie cocktail" is restricted to bachelors aged from 20 to 35 and every year new hosts are enrolled to replace those who got married, since the last New Year's Day.

This year, Miss Ayotte and her friends decided that this being a leap year, they should hold their own bachelor party, this time the women being the hosts on Sadie Hawkins Day.

BUTTER GRADINGS UP

Auckland, N.Z. — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Cullen announced that butter gradings for export for the five months ended Dec. 31, 1947, were 79,000 tons, up 9,200 tons from the previous year. November meat exports—22,500 tons — were more than double those of November, 1946.

Gadget Makers Keep Patent Office Busy

Toronto, —(CP)— Proof that Canadians are gadget minded is found in the number of applications for patents for everything from cockroach traps to a baby-bottle feeding support.

A total of 17,000-odd patent applicatons were filed in Canada during 1947, the largest number of any year since the opening of the patent office in 1869.

Henry Tully of Winnipeg invented the cockroach trap which has a poison bait container for attachment to a wall. Joseph Ayotte of La Sarre, Que., dreamed up the cow-tail-holding gadget that keeps bossy's switcher in place. Jacob Barron of Calgary came through with a coin-wrapping machine while Alphonse Guilmaine of St. Joseph Que., invented a contraption to feed junior while mama washes the dishes.

Then there's a combination cigaret-holder and ash tray, a two-wheeled golf bag carrier for tired golfer, an automatic egg boiler, a tailless airplane and hundreds of other articles.

Detroit Holds N.H.L. Lead Splitting Points With Leafs; Canadiens Gain Fourth Place Tie

By HARRY ECCLES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

While Detroit Red Wings, Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers remained 1-2-3 in the National Hockey League today, the Montreal Canadiens had jumped into a tie with Boston Bruins for fourth place.

The Canadiens, showing stronger form in the last few games than they had from the start of the season, were back in the thick of contention for a playoff spot.

All six teams played two games each over the weekend. Toronto Maple Leafs beat Detroit 3-2 Saturday night to tie the Wings for the lead, but the Wings came back with a 3-0 shutout over the Leafs at Detroit Sunday to regain their two-point edge.

New York Rangers beat Montreal 4-2 Saturday and then were held to a 2-2 tie by the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night at New York. The Rangers in third place are five full games back of Toronto.

The Leafs - Wings struggle at Toronto Saturday was notable in that no penalties were given against Toronto in the entire session. Coach Clarence Day said he thought this is the first time such a thing has happened. Only three penalties were given the Wings.

Scores in 20 Seconds

Bill Ezinicki scored for Toronto in the first 20 seconds but Ted Lindsay got that one back. Captain Sid Abel put Detroit ahead but Vic Lynn tied it up again in the second period. It was Howie Meeker who fired the winner after 12 minutes of the last period, getting the puck from Lynn and Ted Kennedy after a scramble.

Sugar Jim Henry in the New York Ranger goal starred as Rangers beat Canadiens in another Saturday game. He made 28 saves against 22 for Bill Durnan in the Montreal net. Elmer Lach opened the scoring for Canadiens and he and Maurice Richard assisted on their second goal scored by Bobby Fillion. Ranger goal - scorers were Tony Leswick, Don Raleigh, Ed Kullman and Phil Watson.

Gaye Stewart, traded from Toronto some months back, had two goals and two assists for the Hawks in their victory over Boston Saturday. Roy Conacher and Gus Bodnar, another ex-Leaf, also shared two goals apiece. Bud Poile got the other Chicago goal. Wally Wilson, Don Gallinger, Clare Martin and Pete Babando were the Boston scorers. The game was marked by a fight between Babando and Metro Prystai after the final bell, with most of the players joining in, and four policemen aided officials in restoring peace — after Babando was escorted off by referee Geo. Gravel and two cops.

Record Crowd Present

A record for Detroit hockey crowds, 15,578 fans, saw the leaders clash at the Olympia Sunday. It was a bruising struggle in which 17 penalties were called, 9 against the Leafs. Detroit recorded their sixth shut-out of the season but both goalies kicked out the same number of shots—19.

Three others however went through Turk Broda in the Toronto nets as the Wings attacked heavily for their victory. Ted Lindsay, Jim Conacher and Gordon Howe were the goal-scorers, one in each period, and the Leafs complained bitterly about the last one. Vic Lynn in fact earned a 10-minute misconduct for protesting too vigorously.

Veteran Elmer Lach scored all three goals as the Canadiens shut out Boston last night. It was the fourth shut-out of the season for goalie Bill Durnan.

The Bruins, who saw Canadiens climb into a tie with them, also lost centre Milt Schmidt for perhaps the balance of the season. Schmidt was slashed by Murph Chamberlain and as he limped past the penalty box where Chamberlain had arrived with a penalty, Schmidt threw a hard punch at the Montreal right winger. All the players rushed to the fight and when it was straightened out Schmidt was given a 10-minute misconduct, but he was also helped off the ice, perhaps for the last time this season.

Lach's goals came in each period.

The Rangers always have their troubles with the Black Hawks, and Sunday's game at New York was no exception. Bud Poile and Billy Mosienko scored with Harry Watson sandwiching one in between to give Hawks a 2-1 first period lead. The second period was scoreless, but Rangers earned the tie on Buddy O'Connor's goal in the last period. O'Connor, league's top point-getter, earned an assist on Watson's earlier goal.

Bancroft Ties Barry's Bay In Close Game 1-1

Bancroft (Special) — On a fast sheet of ice and before a good crowd of fans, in spite of the cold weather, the Barry's Bay Lumberjacks and the Bancroft Rockets battled to a 1-1 tie here Thursday night. With the temperature hovering around the 10-below zero mark the boys of both teams turned on the heat and provided a rugged and exciting game. The pace was fast throughout, goalies were called upon for a few hard saves, and the defencemen were repeatedly called upon to stop numerous attacks of the forwards.

The visiting Lumberjacks took the lead in the first period when Billings was left uncovered in front of the Bancroft net after being set in the clear on passes from Cybulski and Coulas.

The Rockets retaliated with a single counter in the second session when they coasted in on the visiting team and made no mistake. The third period was scoreless. Play was rugged but not rough. Each team sent two men to the sin-bin for minor infractions. Final score Barry's Bay 1, Bancroft 1.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

The Queen's Junior "B" hockey team has withdrawn from group competition, according to word received here by manager Bill Cook of the Rockets squad. Reason given was injuries, etc. The students proved to be the weak team of the three-squad set-up absorbing double figure defeats by both the Kingston Vics and the local Rockets.

• • •

Their withdrawal leaves the Vics and Rockets to fight it out for the group title and the right to go into the junior "B" playdowns. According to arrangements made between the managements of the two teams, they will play a best three-of-five game series for the title starting here next Saturday night. The next two games will be played in Kingston next week and the fourth back here if necessary. Game starts here Saturday evening at 9 o'clock.

• • •

The Merchants Midgets are looking for a large crowd here on Wednesday night when they make their home-town debut against the Trenton Midgets in the second game of their goals-to-count series. Tickets are said to be selling well and the kidlets anticipate a generous turnout of local fandom to watch them perform.

• • •

Sam Goodman has donated a handsome sports shirt valued at $10.50 to the kinds and it will be drawn for as a door prize on Wednesday night. Wilbur Fox, of Walker's Hardware presented the younkers with a dozen new hockey sticks the other day, which was greatly appreciated by President Newt. Wilbur and his Merchants team management.

• • •

The Belleville Rockets will face a severe test albeit an exhibition affair on Wednesday night when they trek to Gananoque to take on the fast-travelling junior team of the Thousand Islands gateway town. The Gans are reputed to be one of the best junior aggregations in the district, having defeated the Kingston Vics in an early season joust. They are regarded as tops in the Rideau loop.

• • •

For the first time in a decade the championship play for Ontario badminton stars will be held in Western Ontario. The title events will be staged at the Kitchener Granite Club on Feb. 12, 13 and 14 and a near-record entry is expected.

• • •

Members of the Ontario clubs who reside in the province or within 20 miles of its border are eligible to compete. Entries in the usual five events, men's and women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

• • •

Quebec and United States players, in a limited number, may be expected to compete.

• • •

Early indications are that top players from Windsor to Ottawa will be on hand and that all of last year's winners will be available to defend their titles.

• • •

Strong contingents from the Toronto clubs will offer strong bids for the crown but they will meet robust competition from Western Ontario where the shuttle game is undergoing an amazing revival after the wartime layoff.

Finals in the tournament will be played on the night of Feb 14

• • •

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association is feeling pretty perky these days, with another record for entries set this season Last season, the O.M.H.A. (remember four years ago when they had 78 entries) registered 240 teams, including the affiliated W.O.A.A. teams. This season, there are 245 teams listed in the O.M.H.A. and the Western affiliation has not yet been completed. It is likely, however, that Tory Gregg's fine association will again affiliate with its 38 teams, bringing the teams seeking O.M.H.A. provincial honors up to an amazing total of 283 teams.

• • •

Hot from their sparkling win over the Peterborough Hockey Club here on Friday, the Belleville ANAFS safari to Omemee tonight where they meet the same squad in a scheduled Senior "B" game. The Reds have shown that they can play the kind of hockey that can win games, especially against the loop-leading Petes and they'll be all out to repeat the Friday night win. However, they have yet to lick those pesky Petes on Omemee ice, and the battle should be one for the books.

• • •

The Reds are now tied with the Kingston Saints for third place but have a game in hand over the Dinel-Hayes squad. Todate they have won 3 and lost five with the Kingston squad racking up three victories as against three defeats. It will be a race from here in to the wire for the two teams.

Seems as though they're having referee trouble in the Trent Valley League, too. That bug seems to be ubiquitious. Bill Shannon, Marmora, officiating at the Marmora - Lakefield game the other night took so much abuse from the fans that he left the game in disgust. He explained his action to the Peterborough scribe who pens it thusly:

• • •

"Bill Shannon of Marmora phones to explain why he left the Marmora - Lakefield game in Lakefield last Wednesday in Lakefield. He says Lakefield officials strongly protested a Marmora goal, claiming a player was in the crease. Bill says he did not think so, and also the creases were poorly marked. He ruled it a goal and took quite a panning as the period ended. To cap it all, he states someone in the gallery spit on him as he skated off. "I thought that was too much, and I quit," he said; "perhaps I'm not thick-skinned enough to be a referee but I don't feel the abuse a referee gets on all sides is worth it, so I'm through." Apparently constant criticism got him. In any case, we do think that officials, players and fans often are much too tough on these arbiters who are out there calling them as they see them. After all, hockey is just a game."

The Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Buddy O'Connor earned a goal and an assist for his weekend efforts to retain a safe margin at the top of the National Hockey League scoring parade, but it was Elmer Lach of Montreal who stole the spotlight. The Habitant centre garnered four markers and one assist to edge into second place with 40 points, four less than O'Connor. Bud Poile of Chicago continued his hot pace to garner three points and move into a third place tie with Toronto's Max Bentley for third spot.

Providence Reds Making Runaway Race in League

Providence Reds are making a runaway race of the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League over the weekend, chalking up two victories to give them a 14-point lead over the second place New Haven Ramblers who were idle.

In Springfield Saturday, the Reds turned aside Indians 6 - 3 while they dumped Washington 7-5 at home on Sunday.

Meanwhile Pittsburgh Hornets kept ahead of the pack in the Western Division, downing the second-place Buffalo Bisons 7-5 in their only outing. Bisons came back to defeat Indianapolis 4-2 and stay four points behind the Wasps.

Cleveland's red-hot Barons swept a home-and-home series with St. Louis Flyers to move closer to Buffalo. They won at home 11-4 and in St. Louis 4-1.

In the only other games player, Indianapolis downed Hershey 4-2 and Philadelphia edged Washington 8-6.

Ab Collings and Art Michaluk led the Providence attack against Springfield, potting a pair of goals each. Whitey Prokop and Johnny Chad scored the other Providence goals. Bill Summerhill, Hayden and Paul Courteau tallied for Springfield.

It was Carl Liscombe's turn to take the spotlight against Washington as the league-leading scorer rapped in three goals. Chad picked up two while other Red goal-getters were Harry Taylor and Prokop. Herb Lovett, with three and Joe Ciuman and Don Slater, with one each, were the Lion scorers.

Convincing Victory

Les Costello with three goals paced Pittsburgh to a convincing victory over Buffalo. Fleming Mackell picked up two while one each went to Johnny Hamilton and Pete Langelle. Joe Bell, Doug Lewis and Paul Mundrick, with two, were the Buffalo scorers.

Against Indianapolis, Buffalo skated off with a 4-2 triumph thanks to the three-goal effort of Murdo McKay. Joe Bell was the only other Bison player able to find the mark. Jerry Couture and Ed Nicholson bulged the twine for Caps.

Cleveland must have St. Louis' number for they came up with their fourth and fifth victories over Flyers in as many games. Pete Leswick was the star on Saturday with three goals while Johnny Holota picked up two. The other scorers were Ab Demarco, Roy Kelly, Julie Sawchuk, Fred Thurier, Jack Lavoie and Bob Solinger. Paul Gladu led the Flyers' attack with a brace of tallies while Eddie Olson and Joe Lund scored one each.

Timely Goals

Last night, Thurier, Holota, Hy Buller and Bob Carse came thru with timely goals after Bill McComb had given St. Louis on early lead. This goal proved to be St. Louis' last of the game.

Enio Sclisizzi, Nels Podolsky, Barry Sullivan and Couture came through with one goal each to lead Indianapolis in their victory over Hershey. Frank Mario and Joe Schertzl scored for Bears.

At Philadelphia, Rockets' big three, Phil Hergesheimer, Mike Narduzzi and Wally Stefaniw, rammed in two goals each to down Washington 8-6. Alex Motter and Augie Herchenratter scored the other Rocket goals. Frank Porteus picked up two for Lions while one each went to John Carr-Harris, Mike Shultz, Joe Ciuman and Don Porteus.

Two Norwegians Break 1500-Metre Skating Record

St. Moritz, Feb. 2 —(AP)—Two Norwegians broke the 1,500-metre (metric mile) speed skating record in the fifth winter Olympics today.

Sverre Farstad streaked over the sunbathed ice of Olympic stadium in 2 minutes, 17.6 seconds.

The old record of 2:19.2 was set by Charles Mathison of Norway in 1936.

The weather was snappy and ice conditions excellent for the event. Contestants run against the clock in pairs.

Oshawa Generals In Top Position Of Junior A Race

(By The Canadian Press)

It's a bad time to sink into a slump and Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound Mercurys who previously have been able to handle other strong clubs had better take note.

Weakened by the loss of Johnny McCormack to professional ranks the second-place Toronto Marlboros, nevertheless notched a decisive 4-1 victory over Owen Sound in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture at Owen Sound Saturday night. The loss left Mercurys in a fourth-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

The cellar-dwelling Brantford Redmen were "Bauer" meat at Waterloo. Ray, Don and Bobby Bauer tallied six goals among them to lead the Dutchmen as they swamped Brantford 14-5 in the weekend's other senior tilt.

In the junior loop Oshawa Generals broke their first-place tie with Windsor Spitfires and snapped Spitfires' winning streak of 14 games and a tie with their 7-3 win over Windsor at Oshawa. It was Generals' third victory against Windsor in as many tries.

The eighth-place Guelph Biltmores showed surprising scoring punch with a 9-5 win over Barrie Flyers at Galt.

It was the third-place Flyers' worst defeat so far this season but there is little chance of Guelph making the playoffs.

Galt Rockets took over fourth place, one point behind Barrie by edging the seventh-place Toronto Marlboros 5-4 in the nightcap of a junior twinbill at Toronto.

St. Catharines Teepees eked out a 2-1 decision over the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors in the opening tilt at Toronto to take sixth and last playoff spot.

Joe Primeau's Senior Dukes climbed to within two points of the league-leading Hamilton Tigers with their victory at Owen Sound. It was Marlboros' 21st win in 31 starts.

Ray Bauer Leads Attack

Freddie Smith opened the scoring with Owen Sound's only goal. Ike Hildebrand and Bob Paul gave Toronto a 2-1 lead in the first frame. Leo Curik tallied the second frame's one counter and Johnny McLellan notched Marlies' last counter in the games' final seconds.

At Waterloo it was the Dutchmen's 16th victory in 30 tries and Brantford's 28th loss in 31 starts.

Ray Bauer led the Kitchener offensive with three goals while Doug Verity and Don Bauer each tallied twice. Remaining Dutchmen counters were scored by Bobbie Bauer, Dick Behling, Dutch Hiller, Art Herchenratter, Lloyd Roubell, George Zuk and Ted Grasser. Brantford Marksmen were Hann with two goals, Wiacek, Moy and Robin Hewson.

Saturday night Oshawa led 2-1 in the first period, scored the only two goals in the second and ran in three for one in the final session. Windsor goalie Ivan Walmsley pulled a "lumley" and was penalized for slashing.

Gamble Sparks Attack

Dick Gamble sparked the Oshawa attack with three goals while George Scott tallied twice. Eric Pogue and Sandy Air scored other Oshawa counters. Windsor tallies came from Eddie Busch with two and Jimmy Uniac.

Guelph and Barrie were tied 2-2 in the first frame at Galt, Biltmores outscored Flyers 3-2 in the second and wrapped it up with a four-goal splurge in the final session.

The game was held up considerably in the second period when the fans littered the ice with paper in protest of Soney Kuntz's refereeing.

Yacker Flynn and Ron Plumb scored three goals each to lead Guelph with other counters tallied by Ed (Rocket) Bolan, Glen Sonmor and Tatter McClellan. Big Gun for Barrie was Paul Meger with two goals. Ray Garlepy, Gerry Reid and Bruno Favero scored other Barrie counters.

In Toronto's Rockets-Marlboros tilt Norm Webster with three goals and Harry Pidhirny with two were Galt Snipers. Toronto goal-getters were Ray Timgren, Bob Hassard, Bill McLaughlin and Cantley Speers.

George Krahulec scored the winning goal for St. Catharines against St. Michael's. Fred Hildebrand tallied Teepees' other goal. The one St. Mike's goal was scored by Gord Hannigan.

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP) — The suggestion that in modern big-league hockey the goal keeper is "like an appendix, a useless survival from a period when he had some function," was made last week by J. V. McAree, veteran editorial page columnist of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The redoubtable McAree is a pigeon fancier of note, and admits he knows less about hockey than about many other things. But he felt impelled to make the declaration that although the goalie may have a function in hockey, "he is an eye-sore. Hockey players in flight are as pleasant to the eye and as thrilling as ballet dancers. The goal keeper is never in flight. He performs his most important duties when looking like a man in a diving suit performing the Russian Kazotsky."

This aesthetic criticism passed without incident, but when Mr. McAree suggested that the goalie's place could easily be taken by a target which would ring a bell when a goal was scored on it; that was a different matter.

This reporter has seen several National Hockey League games at Toronto this winter in which the goalie was just about the most important and effective man on the ice. Knowing what the reaction would be from present-day goalies or hockey players or managers, for that matter, we got hold of Roy Worters, who made N.H.L. All-Star team as the goal-keeper for New York Americans in 1931-32 and again in 1933-34.

Worters who hung up his pads in 1937 and now is a scout for Toronto Maple Leafs, politely intimated that anyone suggesting a target instead of a goalie was off his rocker.

Worter instanced the last two games that Chicago Black Hawks played in Toronto. Toronto won 6-4 on Dec. 10 and Toronto won again 2-1 on Jan. 24.

"Without Turk Broda in the nets Toronto would have lost both those games, easy," said Worters.

"How can anyone say goalies are useless?"

And the idea of a target instead of a goalie — phoole!

What would happen, Worters pointed out, would be sort of living statue tableaux with teams assigning one or two men to covet firing spots, with long shots from all over the rink at the target.

At that, the targets probably wouldn't suffer any more than the flesh and blood goalies do today.

Gilbert Dobbs Knocks Second Off Own Mile Record

New York, Feb. 2 — (CP)—If Gilbert Dodds, the Boston Athletic Association's high - geared miler, continues the record-shattering pace he has cut out for himself at the age of 29, the United States may have a chance against the Swedes in the Olympic 1,500 metres this year after all.

It's been 40 years since an American captured the so - scalled metric mile in Olympic competition, the last to turn the trick being Mel Sheppard when he won both the 800 and 1,500 metre runs in the 1908 games.

Sheppard's double triumph was scored in London, which again will be host to the Olympics this year.

Dodds showed 15,000 fans in Madison Square Garden Saturday night that he is in for his greatest year by winning the Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games in 4:05:3, the fastest competitive time for the distance ever run by an American.

Although it was only his second start this season, galloping Gilbert wiped out his own world indoor record of 4:06.4 set in 1944, and tied the American outdoor record established by Gunder Haegg of Sweden at Harvard in 1943.

Dodds won by 70 yards to hang up his 25th straight indoor victory and 20th at the distance since his last defeat in 1943.

Because of its resemblance to silver, platinum was named from the Spanish word for silver, "plata."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Feb. 2 — (AP) — Mel Ott, looking about five years younger than he did at the end of the 1947 baseball season, was reviewing the Giants' prospects for a squadron of baseball writers . . . "I often have thought what might have happened to our club if Whitey Lockman had not been hurt," he mused . . . Lockman, you know, was the flashy young outfielder who broke a leg during a spring exhibition and couldn't play all season. He still limps but says he feels no pain and will be okay after a winter's rest . . . "Lockman was playing centre field and Clint Hartung left," Ott went on. "They seemed to have a line drawn somewhere in left centre. Whitey would take everything over to it and Hartung was catching everything that came his way . . . Bobby Thompson was playing second base and looking better every day at a post which, as he said, 'The only time I ever saw it was running-by it.' . . . We might have been right up in the pennant race with that combination." . . . Well, Lockman busted a gam, Thompson became a darn good centre fielder and Hartung, who couldn't catch flies in a big league park, turned into a pretty good pitcher . . . What it proves, this department doesn't know.

George Sauer, chosen to head the Navy's new football enterprise (that's a gag, fan), commented a master-piece of understatement when he admitted being "a bit apprehensive" about Navy's schedule . . . Army's Earl Blaik recently pointed out that the midshipmen and cadets "have no right to play the best football teams in the country every Saturday" on top of their strenuous academic schedules.

FINDS WALLET INTACT IN RESTAURANT RUINS

Niagara Falls, Jan. 31 (AP)—After losing his restaurant, apartment and all his furnishings in a fire, Jack Nokes found his wallet intact among the ruins. Mrs. Nokes also recovered her purse under the mattress in the bedroom.

Canadians Flyers Defeat Britain At St. Moritz

St. Moritz, Feb. 2. (CP)— The opening phase of the men's figure skating championships heads the fourth day program of the fifth Winter Olympics today.

The men will stage the difficult compulsory figures with the more crowd-pleasing free skating events not scheduled until Wednesday.

The women's compulsory figures, originally scheduled for today, were postponed until Tuesday. It was understood that Canada, with only one judge here in Melville Rogers of Ottawa, complained to the International Skating Union that the Dominion could not be represented by a judge in both events if held on the same day.

Rogers will be the Canadian judge for both the men's and women's singles and for the pairs under the revised schedule announced by H.J. Clarke, president of the U.S.U. last night.

In the Women's Division, beautiful Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa World and European titlist is a prime favorite. Marilyn Ruth Take and Suzanne Morrow, both from Toronto, also will compete.

Other events today are the downhill skiing for both men and women, 1,500-metre (metric mile) speed skaters and three non-Olympic hockey games.

Frank Stack and Gordon Audley of Winnipeg and Ab Hardy of Edmonton will carry Canada's colors in the speed skating.

On the hockey program the Canadians will shoot for their third straight victory against Poland.

Remain Undefeated

Yesterday the R.C.A.F. Flyers, Dominion representatives, defeated Britain 3-0 to remain undefeated and moved into a thirdplace tie with the United States team, two points behind Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. The Canadians have a game in hand, having drawn a second-round bye.

Meanwhile, the bickering continued as to whether hockey should or should not be recognized as an Olympic event.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said in an interview that the country that wins the hockey tournament probably will be "recognized by the World Olympic Champions despite what the International Olympic Committee says."

Observers who have followed the four-month controversy which raged around participation of an Amateur Hockey Association team interpreted the I.O.C.'s decision —to ban hockey from the Olympics —as a personal victory for Avery Brundage, president of the United States Olympic Committee.

On other fronts, meanwhile, Reidar Liaklev of Norway—the Scandinavian countries have dominated most events to date—won the 5,000-metre speedskating championship to move his country into unofficial second place points. Sweden had 32 and third-place Finland 21. Canada is 10th with one quarter of a point.

Liaklev's time was 8:29.4.

The lone American triumph was scored in the hockey games. The Amateur Hockey Association squad showed under Italy's sextet, 31-1 to record its second victory in three starts.

Kansas City Pla-Mors Lose First in 10 Starts

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City Pla-Mors lost their first game in 10 starts last night and also missed a chance to tie St. Paul Saints for second place in the United States Hockey League's Northern Division.

Saturday Kansas City tied Tulsa, 2-2; Minneapolis and Fort Worth were even-up at 5-5, and the Omaha-St. Paul score was 3-3. All were overtime games, with no scoring in the extra period.

In the other Saturday tilt Dallas plunked in three final-period goals for 4-2 triumph over Houston.

WEEKEND STARS

(By The Canadian Press)

Gaye Stewart, Chicago, who rapped home two counters and set up two others as Hawks whipped Boston 7-4 Saturday.

Buddy O'Connor, New York, whose third-period tally earned Rangers a 2-2 deadlock with Hawks Sunday.

Harry Lumley, Detroit, netminder who chalked up his sixth shutout of the season when Wings hammered Toronto 3-0 Sunday.

TRAINEES FOR JEWISH DEFENCE ARMY START AT EARLY AGE

Looking forward to the time when they will have a section of this globe which they can call their own, the people of the Jewish state are training their youth for their defence army, the Haganah. Young high school students, girls and boys are undergoing intensive training, under expert supervision, to protect their homeland, come what may. Since the partition plan was approved by the United Nations, hundreds of Jews and Arabs have lost their lives in bitter skirmishes in Palestine, and when the British finally clear out, the Jews will be, more or less, on their own, hence the importance of the defence army. Pictured above at left is a close-up of a high school girl, attired in some sort of military garb. This is the type of girl who is now training for the Jewish defence army. Haganah high school boys, top photo at right, are followed by high school girls as they go for a long march which is part of their training for the Jewish defence army. They, too, are attired in uniforms. Photo below shows youthful Tel Aviv high school girls walking across tight ropes. This also constitutes part of their training for the Haganah.

Native Sons Of Owen Sound Given Presents

(By The Canadian Press)

An Owen Sound delegation, headed by Mayor Ed Sargent, took time between periods of the visiting Toronto Maple Leafs' 3-2 triumph over Detroit Red Wings Saturday night to make presentations to three of Owen Sound's native sons participating in the game—Detroit goalie Harry Lumley, Toronto coach C. H. (Happy) Day and Referee Melville (Butch) Keeling.

Lumley was presented with a set of golf clubs, Hap Day, an oil painting and Butch Keeling a set of silver service.

Danny Webb, brisk little Montreal boxer, who has agreed to lay his Canadian lightweight title on the line in a Feb. 9 bout with Toronto's Arthur King, has been guaranteed a flat $3,500 and privilege of 25 per cent of the gate, Toronto Promoter Frank Tunney said Saturday.

Jack (Porky) Griffin, 17-year-old junior skier and Canadian Olympic team spare, scored a neat victory over 200 competitors at Mont Tremblant, Que., yesterday, flashing down the two-mile trail in three minutes 37.1 seconds to win the Taschereau downhill classic for the fourth consecutive year.

Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, announced yesterday that the veteran Toe Blake out of National Hockey League competition since Jan. 10, with a broken ankle, will go to Houston, Texas, to coach the United States, Hockey League team there.

Queen's University defeated Ottawa Carleton College 6-2 in an intermediate intercollegiate hockey fixture at Kingston, Saturday night.

Assumption College, of Windsor, using a fast, weaving attack, defeated University of Toronto 52-41 in a Senior Intercollegiate Exhibition basketball tilt at Toronto Saturday night.

By shooting the best round of golf in his career, Stewart (Skip) Alexander, Mid Pinee, N.C., blazed past some of the biggest names in golf yesterday to vault from a seventh place tie to win top money in the $10,000 Tucson Open.

Clint Stephens of Baltimore and Bobby Williams, of Buffalo, yesterday defeated Grant Henry of Toronto and Harry Keating of Niagara Falls, 16-18, 18-16, 17-15 in the sixth Buffalo Athletic Club Invitation Badminton tournament.

Two Brantford competitors Murray Davidson and Norma Hardy, took their share of honors at the annual North Toronto Kiwanis speed skating carnival Saturday. Murray won the championship in the under-12 group and Norma was a close second in the under-10 class.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 6.

came into a small town and Kil Sweeney's car drew up to its one hotel. "We'll get dinner here and drive on to Carryville—in the moonlight," he said, pulling the brake.

A momentary flash of amused indignation lit Velma's brown eyes. Moonlight indeed! But get to Carryville she must!

She walked into the hotel's dining room beside the panther-like grace of Kil Sweeney. His holding back her chair was an elaborate gesture as she sat down at the small table for two. She glanced up just in time to see the puzzled expression of Tom Orville's face from across the room. A pretty girl and an older man were dining with him.

Tod nodded and smiled. Velma cooly turned to Kil Sweeney and began an animated conversation.

"There!" she thought. "That should put the conceited Mr. Tom Orville in his place!"

But it took her the remainder of the trip to convince Kil Sweeney that he hadn't taken her by storm.

A little before midnight, Marie Clark greeted Velma warmly, but thanked Kil Sweeney somewhat reluctantly for bringing her guest Velma, understanding perfectly, smiled ironically to herself. She had succeeded in keeping the man at friendly distance—possibly more than few women could boast. So she thanked him prettily, but with secret relief when he left her at the door of the large white stucco house.

They went upstairs to a black and oyster guest suite.

"Oh, how charming!" exclaimed Velma. "I'm wild about these cheerful colors—the simplicity of line of this modern furniture. I begged father in vain to do over our town house. I wanted chromium, glass, gayly painted things." Her eyes suddenly filled with tears.

"I know, dear—it must have been a severe shock to lose such a parent. Your father was a wonderful man . . your mother worshiped him. I want you to mingle with the young people here and try to forget."

Velma hastily dried her eyes, tried to smile her appreciation as they sat together on the white, torquoise fringed chaise-longue.

"I—I didn't mean to give way like that—but you knew my mother, so you seem very close to me Mrs. Clark."

"Call me Marie, dear. It will seem like having your dear mother with me again—you resemble her so much."

"That's what father thought. It makes me very happy—to be like my lovely mother."

"Of course it does, dear. How she would have worshiped you now—all grown up, and so beautiful" she sighed, began twisting the dime—sized diamond on her finger. But do explain—how did you happen to be with Kil Sweeney tonight?"

"I wandered away from the bus at a filling station stop, and the driver went on without me. Mr. Sweeney was getting gas, heard me talking to the attendant, and offered me a ride. He was very courteous."

"He told me about her," promptly responded Velma.

"Oh, he did? I thought he might have misrepresented himself. Kil stretches the truth sometimes, and his chivalry, where pretty women are concerned, is town gossip."

Velma flushed. "You needn't be concerned over me, Marie I've met his type before. Father talked frankly to me about many things. If I suffer over my indiscretions, it will be my own fault, because I've been forewarned."

Marie Clark looked relieved. She kissed Velma fondly, "You're a dear child," she said rising. "I should have known any daughter of Dora Wilkins was capable of taking care of herself. You must go to bed now. Get up in the morning when you like. Maude, my twenty-year-old daughter, loves sports. Louise, who's just eighteen, is strictly feminine. It never grows dull with such contrasting temperaments in the family. The girls will love you. But rest if you wish tomorrow— do anything you feel like doing."

Velma awoke around nine in the morning, feeling refreshed and eager to give this modernistic house close inspection. She jumped out of bed, went to a window, and pulled aside the white velvet draperies. A vista of long sloping green lawn, dotted with flowering shrubs, and old oak maple and hickory trees opened up before her. "What a beautifully planned place!" she exclaimed enthusiastically. "I'm going to love it here!"

She dressed hurriedly and went downstairs. She appraised the artistic drawing-room, music room, and library, liking everything about them. She finally wandered into a circular glass breakfast room decorated in robin's-egg blue and canary yellow. A butler seated her at the table in a yellow leather chair.

A girl dashed into the room. She was pretty in a colorless fashion. Her platium hair was meticulously waved, her dark brows were plucked to knife-like edge, her cold gray eyes met Velma's questioning glance with assumed sophistication.

She advanced and hed out a slim tanned hand. "I suppose you're Velma Wilkins. Glad you're here. I'm Louise, younger daughter of the house, the family's particular pest. Hope we'll be congenial."

Velma smiled a friendly acceptance of this greeting as she took Louise's hand. "We're bound to be friends, aren't we? I've already fallen in love with your mother, your home . . ."

"It's tops, isn't it?" Louise's slim frame sank into the opposite chair; she lighted a cigarette. "But of course I get awfully fed up on it. I had a struggle convincing mother she'd like the modern set-up—but she gave in finally. Jerry and I worked on her a long time."

"Jerry, the boy friend, I presume," said Velma, amused.

Louise made a grimace, took up the morning paper. "Hardly!" Her little painted mouth drew into a better line. "He's married to Irene and how! She's the possessive type, if you know what I mean."

Velma responded with a vague "Yes" while thinking a great deal about this Louise. She'd seen so many little debutantes who thought they could play around without getting scorched. Aloud, she said pointedly, "Some men need—the possessive treatment."

"You know doubt had experience with different types of men —when you were the Wilkins heiress," she reported cuttingly.

Velma, remembering how Tom Orville had recently ignored her on the bus trip, drew down her upper lip. Was Louise insinuating that, no longer being the heiress, she would be overlooked by all men? People seemed determined not to allow her to forget that she had taken a social tumble. In fact, they seemed to derive a lot of satisfaction out of it. She'd have to learn to take it grinning.

"That's true," she returned, dropping two lumps of sugar into her coffee." I fancy I'll no longer be troubled by fortune-hunters."

Louise barely concealed a sniff and had very little more to say to her mother's guest. Upon finishing her breakfast, she did offer grudging. "I'll be glad to take you to the Country Club this afternoon—if it wouldn't bore you."

"Thank you—I'm not going out now you know," said the disturbed Velma.

If this girl were a sample of her sister, it was not to be too overwhelmingly cheerful in the Clark home.

After breakfast Velma went for a stroll about the Clark flower garden. All varieties of early June blooms were coloring the beds. A riot of roses flung their perfume across winding paths in a formal garden of their own. Black and white iron chairs and benches were inviting placed on the terraces beneath the cool green of overhanging boughs.

Hello, Miss Wilkins, I'm Maude Clark!"

Velma's startled glance met the plain-looking elder daughter of Marie Clark. You're Maude? Please call me Velma, won't you?"

The two girls shook hands. Maude certainly had no allure. Her nose was crooked, her lips were two thick, Velma hoped her disposition offset all this.

"Okay, Velma. I've a screamingly funny thing to tell you. Janet Sweeny made me answer my phone at the unearthly hour of eight this morning. She tried to pump me about 'that blonde house guest'. She said Gil met you somewhere, brought you here in his car, and—she's dying to meet you." Maude's laugh held several shades of meaning.

For an instant, Velma scarcely knew how to reply. Then she said carefully, "That was—rather ludicrous, wasn't it?"

"Janet thinks that all woman try to make Gil—and," Maude added significantly, "she's not far wrong."

If Maude Clark had deliberately planned to make her feel ill at ease, she had succeeded admirably so far, thought Velma, making her way alone back to the house. She was convinced she would have little in common with either of the girls. If she had come to visit them as the socially important Velma Wilkins, doubtless they would have hung on her every word.

"The disgusting little climbers!" she thought savagely.

Velma soon began to be concerned about her future. She had no money at all now. She had nothing but a generous wardrobe, which made her look like a girl with an enormous bank account, if one had not read the newspaper accounts of her father's financial ruin.

She wondered what she could do. Her brain raced futiley after money-making ideas. She could be a movie extra in Hollywood, until her gowns became too old-fashioned. But it took the funds to reach Hollywood and perhaps wait a long time for an opening. she might try modeling gowns. Modistes used to say she certainly knew how to wear clothes. But they were enticing the daughter of an internationally known financier into exorbitant spending.

She distrusted nearly every one now. She had discovered just how sincere tradespeople, friends and acquaintances had ever been with her. She was having to read just her own opinion about Velma Wilkins, also. She had come to little or no conclusion about this new Velma. The old one had been, accordingly to press and contact, beautiful, brilliant irrestistible. It began to appear that without the Wilkins fortune her very personality had undergone a metamorphosis. It was strange; it was often almost terrifying.

Lausanne, Switzerland (Reuters) — Students between 17 and 18 years of age from 25 countries including Britain and the United States, have enrolled for the next course at the famous Hotel School here.

They will spend the next three years in an intensive course which deals with every branch of hotel keeping.

Altogether 124 foreigners and 62 Swiss are enrolled. The foreigners are divided as follows: British 31, American 10, South African 4, Irish 5, Cypriot 4, Indian 1, Egyptian 2, Hungarian 15, Czechoslovak 14, French 10, Norwegian 4, Swedish 4, Palestinian 3, Austrian 2, Italian 2, Luxembourg 2, Dutch 2, Belgian 2, Danish 2, Icelandic 1, German 1, Algerian 1, Portuguese 1 and Yugoslav 1.

The students are divided up into three sections—cooking, waiting and service, and secretarial —and each section looks after the appropriate needs of the others.

The course in each of these sections lasts five months in the school, with six months' paid apprenticeship in a first-class hotel afterwards.

Thirty-nine student-cooks, — working under three expert chefs, prepare the meals which 54 waiters, under three maitres d'hotel serve to 91 young receptionists, secretaries and accountants, who in turn look after the administration of the school.

All-Round Training.

The waiters' and secretarial courses are the most varied. Each student waiter must know enough of three or four languages for his work and is trained in wines, in running a bar, in laying a table, and in handling all the complicated table accessories of a first-class restaurant, in running a service pantry and in waiting with the maximum of suavity.

He attends weekly lectures on psychology and technique of salesmanship, on the composition of menus, on the organization of restaurants, on the drawing up of bills, and on professional hygiene.

The secretarial course includes lectures on accounting, commercial hotel technique, arithmetic, law, tourist publicity, tourist geography, correspondence, hotel furniture, managership and psychology.

Welcoming the students for the next three-year course, the director of the school, Georges Duttweiler, told them: "If I am asked the reason for the good conduct of our students, I say that it results chiefly from the fact that the largest numerical group is of Anglo-Saxon origin. This is a compliment that I gladly pay to the Anglo-Saxon system of education."

Canadian, U.S. Airmen Join To Bring Relief

Goose Bay, Labrador, Feb. 2—(CP) — Canadian and United States airmen — flying out of this jointly-operated air outpost — Saturday joined to bring relief to the 136 inhabitants of the partially-burned-out fishing settlement of Mokkovik, Labrador.

Food, clothing and medical supplies were dropped by parachute from two Douglas transports — one an R.C.A.F. plane and the other a United States air transport command ship. Other supplies were flown in by a single-engined, ski - equipped R.C.A.F. Norsman to the hamlet devastated by fire last Tuesday.

News of the fire at this village in the wastelands of Labrador in which nearly all of the community's food, clothing and medical supplies were burned did not reach Goose Bay until 10 a.m. Saturday in a radio message from Cape Harrison, a United States base in Labrador. There was no loss of life.

To get word out of the isolated location a dog sled driver travelled 65 miles over rough terrain to Cape Harrison. The settlement's only short-wave radio was destroyed in the fire.

Rev. George Harp, in charge of the Moravian Mission said that two large buildings, the schoolhouse, missionary homes, a stores warehouse and a church were destroyed. Also destroyed were 160 sacks of flour, 40 sacks of sugar and valuable medical supplies, including penicillin.

The clergyman said he lost $500 in cash and all his and Mrs. Harp's personal belongings.

"We are destitute," he told us. "We have no food, very little clothing and no medical supplies."

His immediate worry was how enough food and clothing could be brought to the village to meet the needs of the people. The last ship arrived there in September 1947, and ice conditions will prevent the arrival of another until summer.

He was told that both the R.C.A.F. and Air Transport Command at Goose Bay would continue to provide the settlement with needed supplies.

Stack and Hardy, Speed Skaters, Retire From Track

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 2 (CP) — Two of Canada's Olympic speed-skating team—Frank Stack, of Winnipeg and Ab. Hardy of Edmonton —announced today their retirement from active competition.

"I've had enough," said Stack after finishing 27th. in the 1,500-metre event today. "Let the younger fellows take over from here."

Hardy, 38, placed 29th. in the 1,500 metres and also said he is "finished."

Stack, a greying, 42-year-old Winnipeg product whose flashing skates have placed Canada in the speed-skating world's bigtime for years, said he will coach two other members of Canada's Olympic team—Craig MacKay of Saskatoon and Gordon Audley, of Winnipeg. Audley was 35th. in the 1,500 metres and MacKay, who likes longer distances, did not start.

"I've been in the games 28 years and that's too long," Stack said in an interview in the Olympic stadium dressing room. "Who wants to watch an old guy like myself going around the track?"

Holds Two World's Records.

But the old timer who holds two indoor world records—the 5-mile and the 500-metre—and who placed sixth in the 500-metre Olympic event last week can still show his heels to the youngsters. He led the Canadian Olympic team in the 500 and 1,500-metre events here. (A metre is a fraction more than a yard.)

Married and with three children, Hardy plans to devote most of his time to the contracting business and to teaching speed skating in his native Edmonton.

Stack's performances on the ice would almost fill a book. From his first championship tournament when only 14, he has brought high honors to the Dominion.

He won the northwest indoor and outdoor championships 28 years ago and since then has skated in various parts of the world. He won two international titles in 1934, placed third in the Lake Placid, N.Y., Olympics in 1932, and cleaned up on practically every American and Canadian title worth taking.

His five-mile indoor record of 50:42 set in 1931 and his 500-metre indoor world time of 46 seconds flat, set a year later, still have to be beaten.

ANNOYING BUT NOT DISCOURAGING

Camille Gutt (left), director of the international monetary fund, is shown at a news conference in Washington, in which he said that he is "not discouraged" by France's devaluation of the franc. He declared, however, that the French action "is an annoying event." Gutt told the newsmen that he was confident that "international rules and standards will not go overboard" as a result of the French move.

Wooden Coaches Must be Placed At Rear of Trains

Ottawa, Feb. 2 (CP)—Close on the heels of two disastrous railway collisions, the Board of Transport Commissioners last night made public an order requiring that all wooden coaches be placed at the rear of passenger trains on Canadian railways.

A Board spokesman, recalling that the commissioners had recommended that railways dispense with wooden coaches as quickly as possible, said that until that could be done, the order was designed to prevent telescoping of wooden coaches in the event of head-on collisions.

The Board ruling also said that a car with a steel underframe would not be considered a wooden car and that no wooden mail, express or baggage car occupied by any person should be placed between the locomotive and steel equipment or between other steel units in the make-up of any Canadian passenger train.

The order made no mention of recent Canadian railway wrecks but it was a follow-up to Board investigations of the Labor Day wreck at Dugald, Man., in which 31 died when a holiday special, made up mainly of wooden coaches, smashed into a standing trans-continental train. The wooden coaches of the special caught fire. In a similar wreck near Wykes in northern Quebec Jan. 14, nine died when one train smashed into the rear of another, piling a steel coach on the rear of train on top of a wooden coach ahead of it.

There was no immediate comment from railway officials but it was conceded that the Board order would have a considerable effect on the makeup of Canadian trains. At present most passenger trains are made up with coaches, some of which are wooden, ahead, followed by tourist and standard sleeping cars and with steel parlor or chair cars on the rear of the train.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was looking at the headlines on his way to the sporting page, and ma said, Almost everybody I know has a cold, touch wood. I dont see how the medical profession can be so proud of its great strides as long as they dont know what to do about the common cold. Small pox is a thing of the passed and people aren't even afraid of newmonia any more, but it seems the little common sniffeling cold is more widespread than ever, she said.

The meek shall inherit the erth, pop said, and ma said, It seems all the best authorities agree there's only one sure precaution, and that's to go to bed at the ferst sines of a tickling rasping throat.

Giving me a idea, and this morning at breakfist I said, Hay, ma, G, pop, I kind of think I feel something funny in my throat.

What do you mean, funny? ma said, and pop said, Maybe it's his eppiglottis, I always thawt that werd had a sort of funny sound.

It's like a small tickle, I said, and ma said, Goodness, do you meen a rasping tickle?

Well, maybe, I said. I thawt maybe I better go back and stay in bed all day to keep it from being a real cold. I could just stay there reeding and keeping warm, I said, and ma said, What do you think, William?

If it's a 2 day tickle, I'm in favor of bed, pop said. So if he complains of it tomorrow morning dont let him get up, he said, and I said, but G wizzickers, pop, tomorrow is Satturday.

I'm not serprised, it genrelly is, after Friday, pop said.

Proving he probaby knew my tickle had something to do with school and being the sad end of the subject.

Substance Used Injected Into Blood Stream

Sydney, Australia, Feb 2 (Reuters) — A vital substance which is injected into the blood stream "riduculously cheap and simple" —was said by a cancer specialist here yesterday to be the secret of John Braund, a non-medical Sydney spetuagenerian, who claims to be able to cure cancer have aroused world-wide interest

The specialist, who has studied Braund's treatment, said that the substance is injected into the blood stream near the growth and that there is nothing in Braund's methods contrary to orthodox medical opinion.

Maintaining that the malignant growths have their sources in the blood stream, Braund's methods were said by the specialist to aim at purifying the blood and promoting correct circulation as a preliminary to treatment.

The specialist said that the substance injected in or near the site of the growth appeared to be attracted to the cancer cells. It destroyed them, but left healthy tissues unharmed

When cancer cells were killed, the specialist added, they seemed to shrivel and were ejected by the healthy cells as any foreign bodies would be.

Thus malignant growths—even though internal—broke through the surface of the skin and Braund then applied powerful ointment.

About a week later, he removed the growth, then attached only by a few fibrous threads, with ordinary pliers.

Braund claims that growths so treated do not recur.

Patients declare the treatment is painless and after the removal of the growth they dress and walk away.

Victorian Invents Atomic Calculator

Victoria,—(CP)— Wallace Liddicoat, 28-year-old college student, has invented a new method of detecting radioactivity with a meter registering strength of materials and limits at which they are dangerous to humans.

Hospital radiologists and Dominion Astrophysical Observatory officials who have witnessed demonstrations of the apparatus have expressed interest.

Liddicoat believes that his device, which utilizes a vacuum tube, will enable scientists to trace more accurately such things as radioactive material in body tissues and illicit shipment of materials through the mails.

TRUMAN HANKERS AFTER BALCONY AT WHITE HOUSE

By C.R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Washington, (CP) — When President Truman wants a morning plunge he dives into the purified waters of a gleaming private pool; when Washington correspondents get inquisitive they crowd into the president's office and fire questions at him.

But it was not always that way and Truman took time off from more serious matters to tell the reporters about it the other day when they resumed queries about that controversial balcony he wants to hang on the south portico of the executive mansion.

It started when Truman denied any extensive travelling plans and someone suggested perhaps he planned a "back porch campaign" from the balcony the fine arts commissioners don't want him to put on the White House.

That wasn't a back porch, the president reminded the newspaper men. It was the front porch in reality because the south portico once was the main entrance to the White House.

It had a lawn as it has now and at the foot of it was the old Chesapeake and Ohio canal, the president said.

John Quincy Adams, when he was presdent (1825-29) used to go down to the canal every morning for a swim, the president said.

Warming to the historical subject he recalled that there was a woman reporter those days who had tried in vain to get an interview with Adams.

She Got Her Story

One morning she went down to the canal bank while the president was having his before-breakfast splash, sat on his clothes and announced she would stay there until he gave her an interview. She got her story.

Now the south portico looks over a tree-shaded, enclosed lawn, with avenues and monuments and parklands beyond stretching half a mile to the Potomac. The canal is gone. The former back door is now the front entrance facing on Pennsylvania Avenue.

The president had more to say about that balcony he is determined to build on the south portico as a place to cool off in private during the heat of summer.

Everybody protests when a suggestion is made to change anything in the White House, he complained. It was the same when they decided to put in a cooking range. For a long time the servants refused to use a range and went on preparing meals at an open fire-place.

It was the same again when gas lights, then electricity and later a bathroom were installed. Committees viewed with alarm these new-fangled alterations to the historic mansion now about 150 years old.

Last year the president had a rather elaborate plan to extend the executive wing and provide more office space. The commission of fine arts won that bout and the plan dropped.

But the president is determined to have this balcony hide-away which is estimated to cost $15,000 and will be virtually invisible to the general public.

Miss Canada Seeks Footlights Career

By MARILYN LAMBORN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, — (CP) — Canada's beauty queen, 19-year-old Margaret Marshall, wants wrinkles—and she hopes she can acquire them in two years.

To prove to her public that she has brains behind her peaches-and-cream complexion, honey-blonde hair and blue-grey eyes, the unaffected Toronto girl hopes she can become a full-fledged actress complete with "actors' expression"—series of lines about the eyes and mouth which result from stretching facial muscles after a few years' acting.

Miss Marshall said she was disappointed when she saw glamorous Hollywood actresses with wrinkles under their eyes and lining their foreheads. Then her dramatic teacher explained that they were trade marks of the theatre.

"I want to act, and if I have to have wrinkles, to do it, I don't mind," she said.

With the $4,000 scholarship money she won in the "Miss Toronto" and "Miss Canada" contests, and in taking third place in "the "Miss America" competition, she is delving into the art of the theatre, radio and speech. Most of her day is spent in studying at drama school in preparation for the day when she hopes to please television, radio, or movie audiences.

"People have forgotten about me being 'Miss Canada', "she said. "Now I have to prove myself as Margaret Marshall."

"My teacher tells me I've the right emotional set-up for serious roles, and in a few years might have the acting ability."

But first Miss Marshall would like to use her singing and dancing ability in a light musical comedy. When she has an opportunity she hopes to renew singing lessons.

And boy friends are "out" for "quite a while until I get started on a real career," said the former theatre usher.

"A lot of boys ask me out just so they can boast about being out with 'Miss Canada' but I'm really not interested in men — for a while."

She admits it is fun being "Miss Canada" but there are a few disadvantages. She feels she must always "look the part" when often she'd rather dress in slacks and sweater. Neither does she like being called Miss Marshall, "when my name is Margaret."

Jury Holds Fate of Pair Charged With Bell Murder

Welland, Feb. 3 (CP) — The trial of Norman Kindy, 17, and Edwin Farrington, 20, accused of murder in the shooting of 57-year-old James Bell, went to the jury at 12.25 today after a 2 1-2 charge by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly.

He told the jurors they might on the evidence, acquit the youths, find them guilty of murder or guilty of manslaughter.

He added that Kindy might also be found not guilty by reason of insanity at the time of the crime.

Bell was shot to death last Sept. 24 in his house in suburban Stamford township, where Kindy had lived for 13 years. Bell had given Farrington food and shelter a few days before the slaying.

The youths were arrested in Turley, Okla., last October 2, 8 days after Bell's body was found by a delivery man.

Mr. Justice Kelly told the jury he did not believe the evidence indicated manslaughter but it was for the jury to decide.

Ten minutes after they retired the jurors were recalled at the request of Farrington's counsel and were instructed that the absence of fingerprints on a shotgun and a rifle found in Bell's house "neither hurts or helps the accused."

Counsel for Farrington, who comes from Glendale, R.I., and for Kindy, who made his home in Stamford township near Niagara Falls and for some years lived there with Bell, completed their addresses to the jury, as did Crown Attorney T. F. Forestell.

Both defence counsel mentioned police evidence that Bell may have been a bootlegger.

W. T. McCallum of Niagara Falls, counsel for Kindy, said an autopsy showed Bell carried an old bullet scar on one knee. That suggested he was wounded by a gunman some time in the past and probably was a man with enemies.

Col. Hugh A. Rose of Welland, Farrington's counsel, said it was possible Bell had been slain by an enemy and that Kindy and Farrington had stumbled across the body. Fearing they might be suspected of the killing, they decided to put a good distance between them and Bell's home, he suggested.

The Crown concluded its case when Mr. Justice Kelly ruled inadmissible as evidence a statement police said Farrington gave them. Earlier a statement said to have been made by Kindy was ruled out.

SAY MAN KILLED WIFE, SISTER-IN-LAW AND SELF

Braintree, Mass., Feb. 2—(AP) — Police reported that Arthur Huntington, 67-year-old haberdasher, unable to care for his business because of illness, killed his wife and sister-in-law before taking his own life yesterday at his home. Police said that Arthur Huntingdon beat his wife, Alice, 63, to death in a second-floor bedroom, and then strangled his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kathryn Gallagher, 60, in another nearby bedroom before hanging himself from a rafter in the cellar.

Four-Year Term And $1,000 Fine On Dope Charge

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Max Beaver, dope peddler who allegedly tried to bribe morality squad officers who arrested him, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to a four-year prison term here today after conviction on a charge of having narcotics illegally. In the event of non-payment of fine, an additional eight months imprisonment was stipulated.

Beaver was convicted of the offence previously.

Police officers had testified to following an automobile into a lane last Sept. 5, and arresting Beaver. They said they found two parcels of drug capsules near the lamp post where Beaver had been fumbling.

The officers accused Beaver of offering as high as "10 gs" ($10,000) if they let him go.

He was carrying $11,225 in cash at the time.

Kidnap Caretaker, Then Let Him Go

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP) — The caretaker of a north-end Yonge Street apartment building told police he was abducted last night by two men who threatened him with violence if he did not disclose the hiding-place of his employer's wealth.

The man said he was sweeping snow outside the building when two men pushed him into an automobile and demanded information on the money, which they apparently believed hidden somewhere in the building. He finally convinced them he had no knowledge of the money and was released on a downtown street, police were told.

OTTAWA SKATING QUEEN IN LEAD FOR TITLE BID

Forced to Postpone Event Due to Ice

St. Moritz, Feb. 3 — (CP)—The women's figure-skating event at the fifth Winter Olympics was postponed until tomorrow after the first half of the compulsory figures had been skated today with Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa in the lead.

Softening ice made the postponement necessary.

The favored Canadian star scored 334.6 points in her first two compulsory figures. Gretchen Merrill of Boston, the five-time United States champion, was in seventh place with 311.1 points.

The second spot in the women's figure skating competition with three more school figures today, was Eva Pawlik of Austria, 8.4 points back of Miss Scott.

Compulsory figures count 60 per cent in the figure skating event. Free skating, to be staged later, counts 40 per cent.

Marilyn Ruth Take of Toronto was in eighth place.

Early indications were that the Olympic championship would be a repetition of the European championship, which Barbara Ann won at Prague last month with Eva Pawlik of Austria second.

Flyers Defeat Italy

Canada rolled up a fourth straight victory today as the R.C.A.F. Flyers skated through a woefully weak Italian team to win 21-1 in the St. Moritz hockey tournament and gain a first-place tie with Czechoslovakia.

It was a repitition of Monday's match when Canada polished off Poland 15-0. The Airmen kept the play in Polish territory and fattened their scoring averages while netminder Murray Dowey spent the greater part of the game alone in the Canadian net.

But Dowey, who previously had allowed only one goal in the tournament, struck a tough break in the search for his third shutout. Midway through the final period centre Enrico Menardi of the Italian team scooped up a loose puck behind the Canadian net and let go a blind shot which went in off Dowey's skate. Up to then Italy hadn't a decent scoring chance.

The Scoring

Every Canadian but Dowey figured in the scoring. George Mara was top man with five goals and five assists followed by Wally Halder with five and one.

Originally given only a slight chance to take the championship, the Flyers now have crushed Sweden, Britain, Poland and Italy.

But they have tough competition ahead against the Amateur Hockey Association team of the United States, highly-touted Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Today's game was a case of which player would score the next goal. They slipped around the Italian defence, pulled the goalkeeper out time after time and flipped the puck into the nets.

It was a massacre and the Canadians were only half trying.

Only two penalties were handed out, both to Laperriere — and while he was in the box the Canadians still held a decided advantage.

Swedes to Front

Norway led the unofficial team standing yesterday but when a warm sun broke over this snowy alpine playground today the Swedes went to the front with a double-barrelled triumph in the 40-kilometre (25 mile) ski relay and the 10,000-metre (6 1-4 mile) speed skating.

The Swedes annexed 20 points for a total of 59 in the unofficial standing, figured on 15-5-4-3-2-1 basis for the first six places.

Chances for Major Tax Cut This Year Do Not Appear Too Bright

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP) — A tantalizing whiff of the heady wine of tax reduction had Parliament Hill speculating today on the possibility of the government setting them up for the taxpayer in the next budget, possibly in April or May.

But despite an oblique reference to taxation easement in a Commons speech by Prime Minister Mackenzie King yesterday, the chances for major tax cuts this year did not seem too bright.

The Prime Minister, introducing his motion to set up a prices committee, was talking about the cost of living, and he said, the papers were claiming that the way to bring it down was to "make certain changes" in taxes.

But the government, he quickly added, "cannot disclose its program on this matter until the budget itself is brought down."

That was all he said, but the mention of "its program" left observers wondering whether Mr. King might not be tipping off the country that the government has something up its sleeve for the tax-paying citizen.

Budget tax changes are top secret, and any reference to them in advance would have to be very discreet. Mr. King's statement was just that.

It must be read, too, in the light of the fact that it would not be politically smart for a government head to toss out even a hint of tax reduction unless he planned to follow it up.

On the other hand, there has been no indication that the government has departed from its policy of "cyclical budgeting." That program calls for high taxation in periods of high national revenue—such as now—with this double end in view:

1. To provide a financial cushion against hard times.
2. To drain away surplus purchasing power as a weapon against inflation.

So far as can be learned, this double-edged program is still in efect. What is likely is that there will be some modifications here and there in the light of an expected heavy surplus this year. But that Finance Minister Abbott will still have an open palm extended to the taxpayers when his new budget comes down in the spring.

PROVINCIAL AIR SERVICE RAISED TO FORTY PLANES

All Planes Over 28 Will be Available for Game and Fish Patrol

Niagara Falls, Feb. 3 (CP) — Ontario Provincial air service will be increased from 28 to 40 planes this spring, Hon. Harold Scott, Lands and Forest Minister last night told the annual banquet of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters.

All of the additional planes will be available for game and fish patrol services, he said.

Mr. Scott said he favored permanent opening dates for angling seasons. He cited trout as an example.

"May first is the dealine for their protection," he said. "Following that date they are fair game. We know that their popularity is bringing a pressure which they can hardly withstand.

"Our stocking of 3,000,000 yearling speckled and some 400,000 brown, rainbow and Kamloops is the direct answer which we are directing to this species. These trout really do need the protection we give them right up to May 1, regardless of weather conditions."

On the subject of black bass, he pointed out that the male fish guards the nest and small fry and "that taken one day too early may mean the loss of the whole school of 3,000 to 5,000 fry."

It has been found that July 1 is the best average opening day for the bass. He reported that 1,700,000 and 580,000 fingerlings of large and small-mouth bass were planted in Ontario waters last year.

Cognizance is being taken of the drop in the duck population, said the minister.

"We have had talks with authorities at Ottawa on the protection of breeding areas and steps are now under consideration to bring about the desired results."

A wildlife survey of the province has been started "with the survey consisting of a biologist, forester, geographer and chief of party."

Timmons Sent To Ont. Hospital

St. Catharines, Feb. 3—(CP)—Frank J. Timmons, 72, who was charged with murder in the fatal beating of his 42-year-old daughter, Helen, last Jan. 11, has been committed to the Ontario Mental Hospital at Hamilton, it was announced Monday.

Miss Timmons was killed and her 82-year-old mother was seriously wounded in the family's house here. The husband and father was arrested shortly after he told a neighbor that he thought he had killed his daughter and had either injured or killed his wife.

Police were told Mrs. Timmons had been bed-ridden for several years and that her daughter, the couple's only child, had been caring for her. Mr. Timmons gave up work last fall after a heart attack and relatives said he had told them he was "worrying."

Pine Camp, N.Y., Feb. 3 (AP)—Five hundred American paratroopers, conditioned against cold weather, were poised today for a mass jump against an imaginary enemy invading the United States from Canada.

Eighteen C-82 "flying boxcars" were on the ready line at Wheelersack airfield to carry the white-clad paratroopers participating in "exercise snowdrop" over their drop zone. Clear skies with a minimum temperature of 10 degrees above zero were forecast for the jump.

The paratroopers, acclimatized to cold weather by three months training in temperatures ranging as low as 30 degrees below zero, were given the job of spearheading an attack against the make-believe enemy. They supposedly were part of a task force numbering 100,000 men.

The drop zone was a bleak, wind-swept field about five miles north of the village of Carthage, N.Y. Snow in the area was at least three feet deep.

The manoeuvre, which ends late Thursday, will consist of three phases. These are the airborne assault, a cross-country march on skiis and snowshoes to to a bivouac area and an attack by the entire combat team. Several British, Canadian and other observers were along.

COST OF LIVING DEBATE BLOSSOMS IN THE COMMONS

16-Man Committee Will be Appointed

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP) — The Commons continued today a full-dress debate on the country's No. 1 problem — the rising cost of living—as a prelude to the formation of a special 16-man committee to investigate cases of hoarding and profiteering.

The debate, sparked by bitter political wrangling, opened yesterday after Prime Minister Mackenzie King moved a resolution which would give the proposed committee power to probe the causes of the recent rise in living costs and delve into reports that goods have been withheld from the market and abnormal prices charged.

Opening the discussion, Mr. King hinted that the government's plans to lower these costs may include tax reductions in the next budget, which may be brought down in late April or early may. The 1947-48 budget was introduced last April 29.

The debate drew from John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader an amendment enlarging the committee's field of investigation and a charge that the government was seeking to "side-step" the issue and place on others the blame he said it should itself assume for the mishandling of controls.

SHANGHAI UNREST WILL BE WORSE OFFICIALS SAY

Are Rushing Plans for Swift Evacuation of Nationals in Emergency

Shanghai, Feb. 3 — (AP) — American and other foreign officials, predicting that Shanghai's social unrest will worsen, today rushed plans for the swift evacuation of their Nationals in an emergency.

Shanghai police were ordered, "Shoot to kill," if the last week's rioting flares anew.

Three women were killed and 110 persons, including 40 policemen, were injured yesterday in a pitched battle involving a portion of 7,000 sitdown strikers at a cotton mill. Three hundred workers were arrested.

Within the week, university students and thousands of cabaret girls rioted separately. Mayor K. C. Wu was roughed up, but not injured, when he intervened in the student strike to prevent bloodshed.

Mrs. Mary Kett Held by Police For Car Theft

St. Thomas, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Mrs. Mary Kett, 20, of Toronto, was brought here by Provincial Police last night, charged with car theft. She was arrested Jan. 27 with her 20-year-old husband, William, at Richmond Hill, Ont., in a stolen Belleville car.

Two other occupants of the auto Donald Kett, 25, brother of William, and Edward Moore, 26, escaped, but were later arrested near Morpeth, Ont. Moore is charged by Riverside police with armed robbery and attempted murder of a druggist. The Kett brothers are being held at Leamington, charged with a $2,000 clothing store theft at nearby Wheatley.

Ascot, Berkshire, England, Feb. 3 (Reuters)—Thieves struck again last night at Sunningdale Park, known as "millionaires' land" and made off with £20,000 ($80,000) worth of jewelry belonging to a relative of the late Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen, British tobacco magnate.

Last October gems worth £20,000 were stolen from the Duchess of Windsor while she was staying at nearby Ednam House.

The jewels stolen last night were taken from a bedroom early in the evening. There was no indication of how the thieves had entered.

Sir Hugo, who died last September, was president of the British-American Tobacco Company. A daughter, now Mrs. W. G. Buchanan, is at present in Canada.

U.S. Ready to Talk Over Treaty For Austria

Washington, Feb. 3 — (AP) — The United States aimed a counter-punch today in the war of words with Russia. It charged Communist-dominated Romania with violating its new peace treaty.

State Secretary Marshall gave notice at the same time, however, that the United States is ready to discuss again the Soviet proposal for a peace treaty for Austria.

Marshall proposed that deputies of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Council reconvene Feb. 20 in London to take up the Russian demands. These include a 50-year concession on most of Austria's oil output and a lump sum payment of $200,000,000 in reparations.

The American protest to Romania charged that country with denying "human rights" and 'fundamental freedoms' by crushing opposition to the Communists — all in violation of the peace treaty which went into effect last December.

The United States political representative in Bucharest, Rudolph E. Schoenfled, delivered the protest, as did the British diplomat.

Diplomatic officials said Schoenfeld's instructions included a reference to the arrest and trial of Juliu Maniu, opposition leader who was sentenced to life imprisonment last November.

Moscow Paper Derides Canadian Report Red Planes Seen in Arctic

London, Feb. 3. (CP)— The Soviet Monitor today quoted an article from the Russian Army newspaper, Red Star, which described as a "provocative invention" a report that aircraft with Russian identification marks had been seen over Cambridge Gulf in the Canadian Arctic.

The article began with a derisive comment on the flying saucers said to have been seen in many places in North America last Summer. Then it added:

"The fantastic story of 'cones' or 'flying saucers' directed from Soviet territory is already left behind by the 'Canadian Press' Agency which hastened to surprise its countrymen with a new provocative invention.

"A certain Dumas who returned from Cambridge Gulf, sensationally reported that in September he saw in that area two four-engined aircraft with Russian identification marks. How did Soviet aircraft find their way to Cambridge Gulf, where they did come from and where were they flying to?

"As is known, the slanderers did not take pains to give proof. However, in order to give their lies at least the appearance of truth, they usually supply lavishly various details. This very fact exposes the liars of the 'Canadian Press'.

"It has been ascertained that according to the Dumas the air-aircraft he saw were similar to American Superfortresses.

Winnipeg (CP) — Red Star's allegation today, picked up by London's Russian Monitor, that The Canadian Press had circulated a "provocative invention" doubtless was a reference to a Winnipeg story last Dec. 18 quoting a Toronto steeplejack.

Peter Dumas, who had been working on a tower at Cambridge Bay from Aug. 19 to Dec. 8, brought back a report that he had seen two four-motor planes bearing Russian markings flying over Cambridge Bay, 1,400 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

R.C.A.F. headquarters in Ottawa, commenting on Dumas' report, said at the time nothing was known of the planes' alleged appearance. Neither had the Russian embassy information to offer

Observers Predict General Attack On Palestine Jews

Truckloads Armed Arabs Are Moving Into Damascus

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

Damascus, Feb. 3. (AP) — Truckloads of armed Arabs rolling into Damascus led many observers to believe today that a general attack on Palestine Jews may be approaching.

Some believe such an attack has been set for Feb. 15.

He expects to move his headquarters to Palestine "soon", and to assume personal direction of operations.

"We are organizing slowly and thoroughly for an all-out fight," he said. "When we strike it will be with confidence of complete victory."

Ahmed Sharabati, Syrian Defence Minister, said in a interview Jan. 13 that a "direct frontal attack against Jewish forces can be expected." He said such an offensive, to sweep Zionism from Palestine, would be launched this month.

An Arab "People's Army" would make the attack, fighting against the partition of Palestine approved Nov. 29 by the United Nations.

At least four truck convoys of cheering, rifle-bearing Arabs arrived in Damascus last night. Observers estimated the convoys carried about 1,000 men. A Syrian army officer said they had been trained in several Syrian camps.

Foreign military observers looked on the army as one composed of "smart, tough and mature fighting men". Some of the volunteers were believed to be former soldiers.

Toronto Man Gets 10 Years For Attempted Murder

Toronto, Feb. 3. (CP)—Max Sholtack, 47, was sentenced today to ten years for attempted murder in the hammer assault last October 28, on Mrs. Rose Koffman, attractive 33-year-old dress-shop proprietress he had known for 12 years.

Mrs. Koffman, who suffered 14 skull fractures in the attack, testified yesterday that Sholtack beat her over the head after entering her east-end store and trying to kiss her.

She quoted him as saying "You're going where Ettie (his dead wife) went."

Mennonite DP's Will Settle In Paraguay

Geneva, Feb. 3 (Reuters) The first of 2,400 Mennonite displaced persons in Germany will leave Bremerhaven on Feb. 6 to settle in the wild Chaco area, of Paraguay.

Cornelius Klassen, member of the executive of the Mennonite Central Committee of the United States and Canada, recently visited Geneva to arrange the passage for these religious refugees with the preparatory commission of the United Nations International Refugee Organization.

Already 8,300 Mennonites — members of a 400-year-old Dutch religious sect who migrated to Russia — have been settled in this area of Paraguay, formerly inhabited only by Indians.

In the deserted brush land 300 miles from the nearest town they have built five settlements to grow cotton and raise cattle.

P.C.I.R.O. is paying for the movement of 1,600 of the present group of 2,400 Mennonite emigrants. Funds for the remainder will be provided by the Mennonite church.

Says He Slept Under Lincoln's Bed in Museum

On him were found pistols of .31 and .36 calibre—made around 1846. Anderson told this story:

He visited the museum in the afternoon and hid under Lincoln's bed. After everyone had gone home, he went to the gun room and smashed one of the cases, removing the pistols.

Anderson was held without charge.

A. F. of L. Turns Thumbs Down On Henry Wallace

Miami, Fla., Feb. 3 — (AP) — The American Federation of Labor turned thumbs down on Henry A. Wallace for president today and indicated it might pick Burton Wheeler, one-time isolationist senator, to lead its new political campaign. The A. F. L. executive council opposed Wallace's third party candidacy for president on the ground that he was an "apologist" for the Communist party.

Damage to files and records in the veterinary department office of the Department of Agriculture which was swept by fire Saturday morning when the Chamber of Commerce building burned, will cause delay in the shipment of cattle to the United States.

Test records of cattle purchased by dealers for export across the border were among the files of the department veterinary office and shipment of cattle will be held up until the records are replaced.

"Cattle exporters who had cattle ready for shipment to the United States already are getting anxious," stated Dr. F. Younghusband, "but there is just nothing we can do about it until the records are either found or replaced."

Temporary offices for the veterinary department will be located in weights and measures department office, along with that of the fruit department which was also situated in the Chamber of Commerce building. Today employees of the two departments were endeavoring to dry out water-soaked records and filing cabinets which had been salvaged from the gutted building.

Famished Owl Killed While Feasting on Cat

Things are getting tough in bird life and the animal kingdom. It's getting so that a self-respecting cat can't go abroad at night, unless some predatory bird, due no doubt to the meat shortage, takes an unwelcome crack at him.

Take the case of the two cats owned by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Clarke, of Salmon Point, Prince Edward County.

Tom and Minny went out as usual for their nightly meandering among the miniature snow-dunes of their district. Came breakfast time and a sad-faced Minnie returned alone. Tom was nowhere in sight.

And it wasn't until later in the day that the mystery of the missing cat was solved. Clarke was unloading ice near the ice igloo when he discovered Tom. He was as dead as a door nail, and perched on his recumbent form was one of the largest owls Clarke had ever seen.

The owl blinked in the afternoon sunlight, but failed to see Clarke as he "sneaked" up behind him. Came a quick grab and the man had the Hoot by the feet. Then a flash of feathers and a sharp beak, and Clarke looked down at a pair of torn mittens.

Later after the demise of the bird, it was discovered to have an exceptionally large wing-spread, and was in a famished condition. Which no doubt accounts for its sudden yen for fricasseed feline.

541,307 Pounds Cheese Produced At Cloverdale

One of the largest cheese factories in the Bay of Quinte district, the Cloverdale Cheese and Butter Company at Wellington, processed 6,223,927 pounds of milk during the 1947 season, according to the annual report. Cheese made totalled 541,307. There were 17,118 pounds of butter manufactured.

Total receipts for the year were $159,255.53 made up of $137,215.06 from sales of cheese; $8,211.55 from butter sales and $13,373.81 from bonuses.

Expenditures included $131,067.43 in payments to patrons; $8,641 for milk drawing; $330 for cheese drawing; $11,091 for cheese making and $6,704 miscellaneous accounts.

Average price received per lb. cheese was 25.5 cents while farmers received an average of $2.11 per cwt. for their milk. Average cost of milk drawing was $1.38 per 1,000 lbs. Average yield was one lb. cheese to 11.5 lbs. milk.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd was returned as president for 1948, while Cora Tice was re-elected as secretary-treasurer. Lester Wyatt was re-hired as cheesemaker.

Irregularities in Balloting And Polling Booth Procedure Charged in Motion Before Court

Irregularities in balloting and in polling booth procedure during the local option vote held at Tweed village last November 12, are charged in a motion being heard here before County Judge J. A. Anderson.

Application is being made on behalf of the "wets" interests for a second vote on the beverage room question which was defeated. After Monday's session proceedings were adjourned until Friday, Feb. 13th., to permit the applicant to bring in additional witnesses.

As result of the local option vote residents voted in favor of a liquor store and a beer warehouse but failed by only six votes to get the necessary majority for the beverage room.

Claimed irregularities in polling booth procedure with officials omitting to tear off counter foils and charges that voters failed to receive all three ballots they were entitled to vote on were heard during the proceedings.

Only Given Two Ballots

Three witnesses called by the applicant testified that they had received only two ballots instead of three. One witness, Mrs. Elizabeth Brushie, said she realized she should have had three ballots but refrained from questioning the poll clerk because of nervousness. Another witness, Archie A. Godfrey, claimed he did not know he was entitled to vote on three questions.

"Do you take the Tweed News?" he was asked by B. R. Collins in cross examination. "I do," was the reply, but I never read it."

Thomas McIlroy, scrutineer for the affirmative side, told the court that Deputy Returning Officer Davis had failed to remove foils bearing numbers and initials from ballots before they were placed in the ballot box.

Arthur Treble, also a scrutineer, said the ballots had been folded lengthwise, the counter foils then being torn off.

Some Parts Torn is Claim

The witness stated that to the best of his knowledge Mr. Godfrey had received his three ballots. Mr. Godfrey earlier had said he received only two ballots when he went to vote.

Mr. Treble went on to say that when the votes were counted the answer part of some ballots had been torn off. He explained that the ballots had been folded lengthwise before the returning officer tore off the counter foils.

Joseph Fobert, scrutineer for the "wets" said that he had seen T. C. Graham in the polling booth "four or five" times. On one occasion he had seen Mr. Graham assist an elderly lady behind the voting screen. Mr. Graham had come away from behind the screen at the request of the returning officer.

J. Gaborie, poll clerk, also explained how ballots had been folded lengthwise before having counter foils torn off. Later when ballots were counted the answer part in some instances had been completely torn off and the ballots were necessarily rejected.

Situated in Kitchen

Mr. Harold Long, "wets" scrutineer at No. 1 poll told of the polling booth being situated in the kitchen of, a private residence. Before the ballots had been completely counted and placed in their proper envelopes, people other than officials had come into the room. However, he had been satisfied as to the accuracy of the count.

As counsel for the "wets" Malcolm Robb stated he intended to call 3 additional witnesses but these were presently in other parts of the province. The hearing was then adjourned until Feb. 13.

Dental Group Takes Course In Orthodontia

The thirteenth time in dental history and the first time held in Canada, the special course in Biologic Fundamentals of Orthodontics and the Philosophy and Application of Twin-Wire System, was attended by forty dentists from the United States and Canada over a period of two weeks at the University of Montreal.

Dr. Jack Marshall of this city was one of the seven Canadians who attended the course. Others came from Montreal, Ottawa, Oshawa, Calgary, Winnipeg and Niagara Falls. United States dentists came from such faraway places as Tampa, Florida, and Denver, Colorado.

The orthodontics course was under the supervision of Dr. Joseph J. Johnson, of Louisville, Kentucky, while Dr Leuman M. Waugh, New York City, former head of the Orthodontics Division of Columbia University presided over the second phase of instruction.

Such leading American dentists as Drs. Henry Barber, Jr.; Jos. D. Eby; Clare K. Madden and Franklin A. Squires assisted.

At the conclusion of the course Dr. Philip E. Blackaday, head of the Dental Division of the W. D. Kellogg Foundation was invested with a Doctor's Degree, the highest honor the university can bestow, while Drs. Johnson and Waugh received Master's Degrees.

Dr. Marshall who returned from Montreal on Saturday, spoke in the highest terms of the modern dental facilities available at the University of Montreal.

Fresh Cabbage Eagerly Bought

The time has come, the housewife said,
To talk of other things,
Like pork and bread and prices, too,
And cabbages, not kings.

The above paraphrasing of a well-known poem seemed appropriate yesterday when local grocery stores surprised a cabbage-hungry populace with a shipment of the hitherto-scarce vegetable.

Prices were quoted at two pounds for fifteen cents, and many a dining table was graced last night, with what one wag once dubbed "rabbit food." It appeared in slaw, salad, and boiled.

The humble cabbage was as popular as pay-checks yesterday afternoon and a young army of housewives proudly walked home with one tucked under their arms or in shopping bags.

A few days ago, the vegetable was quoted at sixteen cents per pound—if you could buy one. Now, it appears, after a brief sojourn hob-nobbing with vegetable society, the lowly cabbage has once more been demoted to its former sphere with the carrot and the turnip.

Men's Club Hears Talk on Need For More Tolerance

The Men's Club of Tabernacle United Church met on Monday in the recreation room for their monthly meeting with the President Evan Barlow in the chair, and a good turnout of members. Painting and decorating the church kitchen was discussed with L. Wannamaker being appointed to report what was required at the next meeting.

It was also decided that the March meeting would be Ladies' Night, when the film "The Queen of the Future", would be shown.

Unfortunately at the last moment word was received the guest speaker, was unable to be present, so Rev. F. Harback filled in with a very interesting impromptu talk on understanding of the Jewish race.

"While there are some Jewish practices the Gentiles object to," the speaker stated, "if we look at ourselves we will find we do the same thing. There are good and bad in us all. The persecution the Jews underwent at the various concentration camps in Germany would be hard to describe either by picture or words. Some of their cleverest scientists were Jews, and were tortured and destroyed by the Germans.

"The need of understanding and Christian Brotherhood was more necessary today than at any time in the history of the world. Let us do our part", the speaker said.

The President thanked Mr. Harback for his very interesting talk and for accepting to speak at such short notice.

Thanks were also expressed to Mrs. Judge and her group of the Woman's Association, for the splendid dinner provided.

An invitation was received and accepted from Mrs. Judge's group to attend a social evening on Feb. 17th.

Television Long Past Experimental StageSaysSpeaker

Chief electronics engineer with the Stewart-Warner-Alemite, Mr. Paul Brand, was guest speaker at the Kinsmen dinner meeting Monday night held at Kiwanis Centre. Mr. Brand spoke on television and the possibilities of its early introduction into Canada.

Television was long past the experimental stage and had been proven as practical although limited as to range and in addition had thus far proven expensive. Despite limitations and expense, however, the speaker expected early development of television in Canada where cities were not too greatly separated by distance.

Television had been well developed in Great Britain before the war, according to Mr. Brand. Experiments in three dimensional television had proven successful while theatres had been geared for television reception of sports events.

Because of great distances and a large rural population the speaker pointed out that television in Canada would be a boon to residents who remained at home in the evenings. Directional broadcasting would make television possible between such cities as Ottawa, Montreal, Belleville and Toronto.

Won't Hurt Theatres

Contrary to a former opinion television sets in the home will not ruin the theatre business despite the fact many of the best films will be televised. People will always want to get away from home and take the evening off.

Present day television sets are troubled with noise interference which appears on the screen as snow blotting out the picture while there are also "shadow images" due to reflection. These troubles will be gradually overcome, it was predicted.

"Television in Canada is definitely not just around the corner," Mr. Brand concluded, but it is practical and when it comes will open up new fields in this country. The new technicians, musicians and other personnel needed will not hurt Canada one bit."

Wally Berry introduced the speaker stating he had been born in England and following wide experience in the electronics field had devised equipment used in airforce training during the war. He had come to Canada following the war, recently accepting the position as chief electronics engineer at Stewart-Warner-Alemite.

HydroCommission Will Hold Parley On City Hydrants

A round table conference between the manager of the Utilities, Fire Department and Department of Public Works with respect to the use of hydrants in the city was authorized at a meeting of the Public Utilities Commission on Monday afternoon. It was the opinion of the members that the hydrants should be in first class condition at all times and the conference will decide on those, who are permitted to open and close these hydrants, with the exception of the Fire Department members. The Manager, O. H. Scott, showed by the Municipal Act, that it was a serious offence to tamper in any way with hydrants.

The discussion was brought about when certain statements had been made that hydrants were frozen or tight, Mr. Scott queried the Fire Chief and his letter was read at the meeting which stated that at one fire three hydrants were used and it required two men to open one but that the pressure was excellent and the pumper was not used. At another fire, the chief stated, three hydrants were used and it required three men, two or three minutes to open them. At all fires the pressure was good, the letter stated.

"Was there any freezing?" asked the chairman M. P. Duff.

"None", said the manager.

"They are apt to be tight in this cold weather," said Mr. Wotten.

"That is correct", said the manager.

"Would greasing be a help because three men on a hydrant crank creates a terrific pressure," stated Mayor Storey.

Mr. Duff stated, "It was not good business to open the hydrant valve unless absolutely necessary as it allows water to gather in the chamber and the hydrant is more liable to freeze".

"How are the hydrants tested?" asked a member.

"We drop a lead down to test for freezing", said the manager. "We are doing everything possible to keep the hydrants in excellent working order because they are vital to the Fire Department and it is a dangerous thing to touch these hydrants.

Because of the objection of a resident on Pinnacle Street with respect to the placing of transformers in front of the residence, it was proposed that same would be moved as soon as arrangements could be made. The Chamber of Commerce will be informed that the Ontario Hydro Commission has no authority to compensate the gas users, when the plant is closed. The Commission went on record of supplying water on the property north of the Northern Electric plant but only under the Local Improvement Act. An Iron Fireman will be purchased for the Public Utilities building as at the present time, gas is being used for heating and this will be closed off at the end of March.

Mayor Storey inquired of the manager, when the street lighting on the main business streets would be started and Mr. Scott stated that the cable, conduit, lighting units and six transformers were in the city but that the standards and miscellaneous equipment was to be delivered. He expressed the opinion that the system would be started early in the year and well on the way to completion by Fall.

Wrought Iron Gates Will Be Presented

Wrought iron gates, the gift of the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand as a permanent memorial to the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, are to be erected at Trenton Air Station, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons last week.

Mr. King explained that it was at first thought that the most fitting gift for the purpose would be an avenue of English oak trees terminated at either end by pavilions of native trees from Australia and New Zealand. The oak trees were planted at the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton but it was felt on reconsideration that wooden pavilions would not be entirely suitable owing to their inevitable impermanence.

It was suggested in the light of further discussions with R.C.A.F. authorities that a preferable alternative would be a gift of wrought iron gates for the entrance to the air station at Trenton where they would be in line with the oak trees which are already growing alongside the main highway.

The suggestion was approved by the respective governments and a set of gates has been designed in consultation with air force authorities in Canada and the Royal Fine Arts Commission in the United Kingdom.

The gates are to be manufactured in the United Kingdom.

Two Schools Burn At Cobalt And North Cobalt

Cobalt, Feb. 3 (CP) — Fire early today destroyed the 28-year-old brick public school in suburban North Cobalt, 24 hours after the community's one-storey high school was demolished by flames.

The public school blaze was discovered by Mrs. H. Culhane, who lives nearby, but before she was able to arouse neighbors and turn in an alarm, the fire had made great headway. With no water supply in the village, residents could take no action but throw snow on embers falling on adjoining houses. Yesterday's fire gutted the high school, a building valued at $20,000. cause of the fires has not been determined.

ACCUSED OF JABBING PIN IN BABY'S SKULL

Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 3 — (AP)— Mrs. Helen Harper, 26, of Milroy, Pa., is held in the jail after state police charged her with attempting to take the life of her 10-day-old son by jabbing a safety pin into his head. Police said the young mother told them she pushed the pin into the baby's skull while feeding him Sunday in hospital. The child was not seriously hurt.

OTTAWA SKATING

Norway, which has dominated past winter Olympics and which won the first three speed-skating races in this one to assume an early lead, fell back to second with 48 1-2. Canada has one-quarter point.

Sweden's new Olympic champions are:

Ake Seyffarth, who circled the Olympic Stadium on the hard morning ice in 17:26.3 to capture the gruelling 10,000 metre (6 1-4 mile) speed-skating marathon. Carig MacKay of Saskatoon was well back, timed in 20:15.5.

The ski quartet of Nils Oestensson, Nils Tapp, Gunnar Erikkosn and Martin Lindstrom, who set an Olympic record in winning the 40 kilometre ski relay in 2:32.8.

The Americans withdrew from the skiing relay because two of their men — Correy Engen of Huntsville, Utah, and Wendell Broomhall of Rumford, Maine—were tired after the 18-kilometre race Saturday.

The United States' Amateur Hockey Association team defeated Sweden 5-2 today to remain in the running for the championship in the disputed ice hockey tournament played in conjunction with the fifth Winter Olympic games.

It was the Americans' third victory in four starts and it kept them on the heels of the leaders, unbeaten Canada, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Bat Disturbs Church Service

"Bats in the Belfry" a more or less common figurative expression was practically a reality in a Peterborough church on Sunday, according to a story in the Peterborough paper.

It seems the Rev. C. G. Boyd, minister of St. Paul's Church in that city, was addressing his congregation on the significance of the words "Thy Kingdom Come." As is usual during sermons, strong overhead lights were turned off thus illuminating the speaker and the pulpit in the otherwise dimly-lighted church.

Many times he returned to the theme of the sin inherent in man and then with measured solemnity, he said. "The devil appears in many forms."

As the minister finished uttering these theological words, he was forced to duck as a bat suddenly flew within ten inches of his head and passed into the darkened interior of the building.

The startled congregation finally settled down and listened to the remainder of the sermon.

17 Zero Days During January

The month of January will long be remembered as one really tough on the coal bin it was revealed by the monthly weather statistics report released today by officials at the local water filtration plant.

During the month there were 17 days on which the mercury dropped to zero or less while the lowest reading was a chilly 23 below zero. The mean temperature for the month was but 11 degrees with a high reading of 37. This compares with a high of 46 in January 1947. Low point one year ago was 14 below with a mean temperature of 21.5.

There was only one-tenth of an inch of rain last month with 39.3 inches of snow making a total precipitation of 4.03 inches. One year ago there was 1.9 inches of rain and 40.3 inches of snow for a total precipitation of 5.93 inches.

Degree days — the number of points the living room temperature had to be raised to reach 70 degrees — totalled 1674 for the month as compared with 1345 for January 1947.

Judge Finds Terriers Have Right to Bark At Pedestrians

He dismissed a complaint charging two men with harboring vicious and dangerous dogs.

The complainant had charged that the dogs would bark and follow him for two blocks when he passed the owners' homes.

Health Week

Canada is in the midst of Health Week. Its goal is to lead the world in health and its motto, "the first wealth is health."

Never was there a time when the advanced nations are so health-conscious because science has indicated very clearly in what way the health of individual and of the country can be improved. How much the sumtotal of the health of all the people is worth is a question which cannot be answered definitely but health counts greatly in the destiny of a race.

Some of the facts being brought to the public notice this week are very striking. For instance in the twenty years between 1926-1945, Canada lost 344,795 babies, more than half the population of the city of Toronto in 1921. A study of maternal, infant and neo-natal mortality contains this statement, "It is a fact that as many children die in the first year of life as during the next 30 added together." The loss in the twenty years noted above is more than the total school enrolment of Canada's five largest cities, Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Hamilton in 1944.

What this loss means if figured in material value alone is contained in a statement in the report of the Committee on Health Insurancec to the Special Advisory Committee of the House of Commons Social Security Committee made several years ago, "Conservation of this human wastage should be one of the main planks in our Canadian policy. Much can be accomplished by an extended national program of education in pre-natal, intra-natal and post-natal care and by placing within the reach of every Canadian mother every facility to enable her to produce a well-born and well-cared for Canadian child."

It is estimated on high authority that babies have an imputed capital value of more than $6,000 on the average. On that basis it may be estimated that this imputed capital wastage in Canadian babies during 1926-1945 exceeded the astounding sum of two billion dollars.

These infant deaths constituting so great a loss to the nation are but one of the many matters which are being brought to the attention of the public at this time in meetings.

Candlemas Day Passes

With January, a month marked this winter with many days of temperature under zero, past, and February having come, the spell which the cold season of the year brings, is starting to decline. Six weeks and a little later from now will be the first of spring and while there may be rough weather and snow or milder weather at times, the trend is definitely towards the crack-up of winter's control. Whatever the weather, if it be rough and stormy or less rigorous, it is written in the law of the seasons that spring must come.

One of the unfailing signs is the gradual increase in the amount of daylight through the earlier rising and later setting of the sun. Since winter's lowest on December 21st when the sun was at its low of strength, it has made steady progress. The days now are measurably longer than in the month of the Christmas festivities.

Candlemas Day has come and gone and if the adage is true any bear or groundhog in this section must have been out to see his shadow, though in other places there was lack of sunshine. However there are nearly seven weeks yet to the time of spring's awakening. In that period the days will steadily grow at dawn and at eventide. While the winter may be violent or not unruly during February and while March may come in like a lion or a lamb the stage is being set for the revival of spring. The season of Lent draws near and before its end spring will have officially arrived.

February is one of the waiting months, resembling November. While the weather has attracted poets, it is not the weather of February that appeals to them, rather it is the beauty of March in many years and the upsurge of nature in April with the spring months of April and May finding expression in their poems.

Conveyor Belt Cafes

Inventiveness of Britons has often been remarked. Now comes an invention which may radically affect the routine of cafeterias. A British engineer has invented a conveyor belt which is claimed to save time and overcome the main drawbacks of the usual cafeteria, such as queueing.

The conveyor belt cafeteria consists essentially of three synchronized conveyor belts travelling at equal speed and in the same direction and representing a table and the floor between. Movements are so co-ordinated that the only sensation of movement the diner can acquire is by comparing his position with some fixed object. The diners sitting on air-cushioned seats are moved from soup to dessert in 20 minutes, the time fixed as the average for people to eat a three-course meal. After five minutes when the soup is finished, the seat has moved to the point where the main course is served and ten minutes later to the dessert and coffee section. Underneath each seat on the belt is a compartment for hats, coats and parcels.

Help Feed Children of World

Britain will be putting her ships at the disposal of the United Nations this year to assist the big program of relief for the children of the world. The people of 38 nations are being asked to give one day's income to the international fund. This will finance food, clothing and medical supplies for millions of needy children all over the globe. Each country will use the money it raises to contribute the most appropriate aid within its power to this vast humanitarian plan. In Britain's case, ships will be made available for transporting the supplies from other countries.

Interview

We see by our news columns that the reporters have been interviewing Maurice Lachance, aged five, who travelled alone from London to Ottawa, crossing the Atlantic on the good ship Aquitania. The interview went like this:

"How did you find the ocean?"

"Rough."

"Who looked after you at sea, the captain?"

"No; a lady."

Simple, direct answers; no evasion, no unnecessary words, no stumbling about for the right word, no "inside information" from the very highest quarters which unfortunately mustn't be printed, no opinions, no theories, but straight facts — subjects like young Maurice are the interviewer's delight.

Here was a person straight from Britain who hadn't any views on the Labor Government, on food rationing, on the Marshall Plan, on the state of Germany, on the Soviet question, or even on the royal marriage. Though the reporters stood by in eager expectancy he offered no sure cure for the world's ills, advanced no economic theories, neither deplored nor viewed with alarm. He answered two questions in four words and went home to bed. Many adults in similar circumstances have used far more words to say less. — Ottawa Journal.

ADVICE TO MOTORISTS

Not all winter automobile accidents happen while driving. Some of them happen while getting started. Records show that carbon monoxide is a deadly killer. Yet some people persist in warming up their cars in a closed garage. Don't take a chance with this killer that gives no warning! Never let the motor run in a closed place. And be sure the exhaust system does not allow carbon monoxide gas to leak into the car.

They say that everyone of us believes in his heart, or would like to have others believe, that he is something which he is not. —Thackeray.

And I chuckle when I hear her tell the price of this and that,
And scold because the butcher sent her chops with too much fat.

It's amazing how our daughters learn so quickly what to do;
How they manage household duties which we never thought they knew!
Now she puts away the dishes, all in order on the shelf.
As her mother used to do it, she gets every meal herself.

Oh, I chuckle when I see her in an apron pink or blue,
Doing everything precisely as her mother used to do.
And it pleases me to watch her, though
I wonder can it be
That the two of them had secrets which they never told to me?

By Order of the Local Fuel Controller.

At Oshawa last night an intermediate O. H. A. match took place between the speedy Belleville team and Oshawa. The Bradley Arena was filled with hockey enthusiasts and they saw a good game. The result was victory for Oshawa, the score being 10 to 7. The teams are now a tie for group honors. The following composed the teams: Belleville, — Hulin, Green, Hagerman, Whalen, Symons and Whalen. Oshawa, — Childs Roenig, Blanchard, Etherington and Jackson. Referee, Vair.

The recent snow storm has had a demoralizing effect on business in the city and it will be some time before things are improved owing to the condition of the country roads, which are in many places impassable. Up to noon today no stages had arrived here and in some cases it will be impossible for them to arrive before some time tomorrow. A number of the county councillors are snow bound here. The heavy fall of snow combined with the cold snap caused the water in the river to rise to an unusual height and numerous furnaces in buildings on Front Street are out. Yesterday there were 18 inches of water in the basement of the city hall.

A movement is on foot to reduce the number of tavern and liquor shop licenses in the city.

The bear saw his shadow yesterday, so you may settle down and be content to exist through six more weeks of winter.

The first Belleville party for the Klondike left today and many citizens were at the station to see them off and wish them luck. They were given a great send off when the train pulled out. There were fully 400 people present. The party is composed of the following: Joseph D. Clarke, S. S. Moore, Victor Wensley, J. C. Keith and E. Sprague. They will be joined at the coast by two experienced men. They propose to form themselves into a company for the purpose of trading, transportation and mining with Joseph D. Clarke as manager and they will establish a trading post at some favorable location. As an evidence of the conference their fellow citizens have in their success, they have already been offered all the capital they may require in the event of finding a profitable field for investment. They will take in food supplies for two years so that they may be practically independent of the outside world, in case they decide to stay that long. They have also complete medical supplies and have a number of large fine well trained dogs and sleds which they will use in transporting their supplies. The members of the party are all robust men and their many friends have no apprehension for them. Every citizen will wish them good luck and a safe return to their homes.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Who were the Molly Maguires?

The original Molly Maguires were members of a secret society organized about 1843 among the tenant farmers in Ireland to prevent evictions of tenants from the land by maltreating the agents of the absentee landlords and terrorizing the officers sent to serve writs.

"Molly Maguire" is a common name for women in Ireland and it figures in an old popular song; there members of the secret society, young men for the most part, were so nicknamed because they sometimes disguised themselves by dressing as women.

The name was borrowed by a similar secret society organized about 1854 by Irish-Americans in the hard-coal region of eastern Pennsylvania. Apparently the American Molly Maguires had no direct connection with the Molly Maguires of Ireland, but they became even more notorious for outrages and acts of violence.

They seemed to be moved by a dual motive — to impress labor conditions and to avenge themselves on individuals whom they disliked. English, German and Welsh miners, mine superintendents, foremen and bosses, and certain members of the police force, seemed to be the special objects of their enmity. The list of murders, criminal assaults and other crimes they committed would fill a volume.

The organization continued to grow in strength and lawlessness until after the Civil War, when its activities resulted in a general strike and a veritable reign of terror. When a member of the Molly Maguires wanted any person run out of the district or killed he would make a formal complaint to the "body master" of his local branch, whereupon the organization imported members from a distant branch to carry out the order. Thus the crimes were always committed by strangers in the district.

After many unsuccessful attempts had been made to ferret out the guilty men Franklin B. Gowen, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, sent James McParlan, a representative of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, to the anthracite districts to worm his way into the inner ring of the society. McParlan began in 1873 and by prolonged and patient intrigues succeeded in getting the confidence of the Molly Maguires to the extent that he was elected secretary of one of the most criminal of the local groups. He revealed the operations of the organization and the evidence he obtained led to the arrest, conviction and imprisonment or execution of many members during the years 1876 and 1877. The result was that the Molly Maguires were disbanded.

REFUSED ADMITTANCE

Oshawa, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Aged Oshawa residents are being refused admission to the Ontario County Home because of overcrowding. City council here voted to appoint a commissioner and committee to consult with the Ontario county council.

COST OF LIVING

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, challenged the government to put the question to the people by calling immediate by-elections in the three vacant federal constituencies of Ontario, Yale, B.C., and Vancouver Centre, and pledged his party to stand or fall on the verdict of those contests.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, agreed that the administration was seeking to "evade" its responsibilities and suggested the committee investigate the effects of the rising cost of living on specified groups, such as pensioners and student veterans.

The three opposition leaders joined in urging that the committee be given power to recommend action to parliament.

Mr. Bracken's amendment would direct the committee to study the effect of present government policies in lessening agricultural production, the advisability of continuing present controls over farm products when there are no controls over costs of production and the advisability of reverting to subsidies on essential commodities.

Other speakers included Joseph A. Bradette (L-Cochrane), Karl Homuth (PC-Waterloo South), T.L. Church (P.C.-Toronto Broadview) and Stanley Knowles, (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre.)

Mr. King indicated the committee will be given the power to make recommendations at a later stage but said that for the moment that power was being withheld because it would only breed political controversy when the committee came to the point of deciding what should or should not be recommended.

Fact-Finding in Nature

The committee would be fact-finding in nature and not policy-making. Once the facts were available, prosecutions could be started in the courts under existing legislation. Its powers would be broad enough to enable it to call "individuals from many parts of the country to answer for the situation in which they may be involved."

Indicating the possibility of tax reductions, he told the Chamber some parts of the government's program for the lowering of living costs could not be disclosed at this time, and added:

"It has been stated in the press that the proper way to bring down the cost of living is to make certain changes in the tax schedules and the like. As members well know, the government cannot disclose its program on this matter until the budget itself is brought down."

While there may be individuals "here and there" who were hoarding and keeping prices "at an unnaturally high level," there was "not necessarily" a combine in existence supporting them.

Must Have Publicity

At the same time, Mr. King reiterated his belief that publicity based on facts would be more effective than penalties.

Mr. Bracken charged that the rising cost of living was directly traceable to government policies which had allowed credit to expand twice as fast as goods became available. The government had "deliberately and designedly" contributed to the situation.

He suggested the government lower living costs by reducing the burden of "hidden" taxes, which he said had poured $1,000,000,000 into the federal treasury each year. Through these taxes, the government itself was 'more mean and more greedy' than any individual profiteer.

He predicted the report of the committee might suffer the fate of other committee reports by being shelved.

Mr. Coldwell said the facts did not bear out the government's contention that Canada had suffered less from inflation than any other country. No one could say that those living in fixed incomes, such as pensioners, and those whose means came from investments, could buy as much now as they could a few years ago.

He agreed with much that was in Mr. Bracken's amendment but did not believe that the problem could be solved by taking steps to decrease the country's purchasing power. The most effective means would be the return to price control and to increased production.

Would Cut Costs

Charging that the government was "trying to evade its responsibilities" in the prices situation, Mr. Low expressed belief the removal of indirect taxes alone would cut living costs by 20 to 40 per cent since they tended to pyramid taxes.

His party stood for controls but its theory was that control should be by inducement rather than by compulsion. This type of control could be developed through subsidies and price discounts.

He urged the government to broaden the committee's terms of reference.

Mr. Bradette expressed belief the day had gone when there would not be some form of government control and said the debate made it apparent that the opposition parties were saying they did not want to co-operate with the government in its efforts to stem the soaring price structure.

Mr. Homuth said the government had the power to deal with profiteers but had failed to use it and charged that the committee, of which he was to be a member, was being established for one purpose only—to "whitewash" the government and "take away the responsibility that is theirs."

Took Part for Reason

Karl Homuth (PC-Waterloo South) said Mr. St. Laurent in taking part in the debate had done so for one of two reasons—to defend the government or to make a bid for the Liberal leadership by showing he was alive to the situation.

'You're not funny," interjected a Liberal member.

"Well, it's the funniest thing I've heard in a long time," returned Mr. Homuth.

He said Mr. St. Laurent's speech was the first admission by a minister of the Crown that the government had bought Canada's current prosperity by sending goods overseas on credit.

The government had power to prosecute profiteers but did not use it.

Labor Minister Mitchell had said outside the House that there was profiteering. If there was, it was his duty to report it and have a prosecution launched.

He argued that the committee should have the power to make recommendations to the House. Otherwise, the committee's report would mean nothing.

Only One Purpose

"This committee is set up for one purpose," Mr. Homuth said, "and that purpose is to whitewash the government — to take away the responsibility that is theirs."

He said Prime Minister King was a "subtle politician." In 1935, he blamed the depression on Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. Now, it was trying to blame the situation on world-wide conditions."

As to profiteering, he said, the government was "the biggest profiteer there is." Its taxes were piling a weight of costs on the people.

In the work of the committee, he said, the Progressive Conservatives were going to "fight for the things the committee should do" — to make recommendations to the House.

"They are not going to be able to dodge responsibility because they have set up a committee," he said. The blame would be placed where it rested — with the government.

AN AURA IS NO HALO

An aura in the medical sense is neither a light breeze nor a subtle emanation arising from nor a distinctive atmosphere surrounding a person, although Mark the arbiter of the bowling green asseverates there is some such aroma surrounding my scientifically planned triple wick shots. In medical language an aura is the peculiar sensation of feeling that warns you of an impending epilepoic seizure, migraine attack or, well, that is enough to give an idea.

In most but not all cases of epilepsy some such premanition of the seizure occurs either a moment before or long enough before the attack to permit the patient or attendants or friends to prepare for it, and the aura may be merely some peculiar change of expression, or some odd gesture or action or equally odd suspension of normal action, or just a peculiar sensation which the patient finds difficult to describe but recognizes as warning of an impending seizure, or in some cases it may be purely psychic—such as a sudden recollection or the instantaneous review of a lifetime or a waking nightmare.

In migraine (periodic sick headache) the warning or aura is perhaps not so marked a feature as it is in epilepsy, but most sufferers have premonitory symptoms when an attack impends. Most frequently the aura of migraine is an appearance of bright spots before the eyes, colored rings, luminous zigzags at one side of the field of vision, hemiopia (absence of visual power in one-half of retina), dimness of vision, cloudy vision of photophobia (extreme sensitiveness to or dread of light). In some cases the aura of migraine is some disturbance of taste, hearing or of feeling in the arm opposite to the side of the headache. In some cases the aura is purely psychic—mental confusion, depression, vague stupor, loss of memory or the peculiar recurrence of some vivid memory.

By delving in a formidable collection of medical tomes I might find out just what authority said it, but at the moment I can remember only what he said, namely, that migraine is the sensory equivalent of the motor neurosis, epilepsy.

Migraine is hereditary. It may be transmitted by transformation, alternating with such other neuroses (nervous diseases(or psychoses (mental diseases) as hysteria, epilepsy, alcoholism, insanity.

I'm sorry if these facts offend anybody. To the best of my knowledge every family tree has more or less epilepsy, migraine, neurasthenia, alcoholism, insanity, cancer, tuberculosis and/or criminalism in roots or branches, so why be so touchy about it?

Neurosis, says Webster, is a functional nervous disorder without demonstrable physical lesion. That applies to migraine, epilepsy, neurasthenia (if you choose to be a sti——— a neurasthenic) and, in a general way to mental disorder as well.

I have no remedy to offer persons with epilepsy—the best advice I can give them is that they write National Association to Control Epilepsy, Inc., 22 E. 67th Street, New York 21, N.Y., and ask for the pamphlet The Green Light.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Thrombo-Angiitis Obliterans

Please inform me if there is any such ailment as "Berger's disease"? If so would like to know symptoms, cause, cure.

(Mrs. R. A.)

Answer—Chapters on Berger's disease (thrombo-angiitis obliterans) in CVD booklet (about heart and artery diseases)—for the booklet send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

Growing Pains

My child, ten, complains a great deal of growing pains or that's what we suppose they are, pains in her legs especially when she feels tired at night.

(Mrs. H. J. F.)

Answer—Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet Adult Tetany and Growing Pains. Elderly people often have painful cramps in legs or feet in the night, probably from calcium deficiency.

Keep Cool

I am 17 and like to go around without a shirt, both in the house and often out in the yard even in the coldest winter weather, that is, without shirt or underwear I feel no discomfort, but my mother fears it is bad for me and that it will cause rheumatism later in life.

(G. M.)

Answer—Mothers will be mothers, George. I suppose they'll go on thinking that until the last almanac has disappeared from the earth. It will probably change mother's mind not one iota, but you might tell her that if you were my son I'd slap you on the back and tell you that's fine, if you enjoy it.

Brantford Area Feels Impact Gas Shortage

(By The Canadian Press)

The Brantford - St. Thomas area today felt the impact of the natural gas shortage which hit Southwestern Ontario two weeks ago with the advent of sub-zero weather.

There is danger of a complete failure of its system unless emergency gas supplies are received today, a spokesman for the Dominion Natural Gas Company, Brantford, said last night.

"We are practically out of supplies," he said.

Dominion supplies the Brantford - St. Thomas area and complete break-down would paralyze much of its domestic heating and cooking facilities.

As upwards of 20,000 automobile workers in the Windsor area began their second week of idleness because of shut-downs, 20 industrial leaders met with Mayor J. Reaume and Russell M. Perkins, Windsor Gas Company manager, yesterday. The meeting heard a demand from industry that Union Gas must either fulfil its contract to supply gas or surrender its franchise.

Mayor Reaume said he was tired of listening to the company's reasons for the shortage.

"I am not prepared any longer to accept the word of the company. This matter goes a lot farther than just the present crisis. It goes back to 1942. After all these years, even yet, the gas company is not able to tell us whether we will get more gas in 1949, 1952 — or ever."

At London, Alderman Robert Carswell reported on the gas control meeting at Toronto last week and said: "We are out of luck as far as getting anywhere in the argument over allotment of gas."

Meanwhile, 34 Kent county industries have been asked to stop consumption of gas, Union Gas announced yesterday.

Statements Made To Police Ruled Inadmissible

A statement made at the same time by Norman Kindy, 17, also was ruled inadmissable by Justice D. P. J. Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Farrington, whose home is in Glendale, R. I., and Kindy, of suburban Stamford Township, are charged with the rifle slaying last Sept. 24 of 57-year-old James Bell.

Contents of the statements—given to Chief Constable R. E. Worm of Stamford when the youths were brought back to Canada after being arrested in Oklahoma eight days after the murder—were not disclosed during last week's hearings.

Argument on admissibility was made by counsel with the jury excluded.

The Kindy statement was ruled out by Mr. Justice Kelly on the ground that it was taken by interrogation—question and answer—and the lad, although warned his statements might be used in evidence against him, is subnormal to the point that he would likely not appreciate the seriousness of the warning.

Mr. Justice Kelly said he rejected the Farrington statement reluctantly, even though Farrington said it contained the truth.

"I was not satisfied that the crown satisfied its onus of showing the statement was made voluntarily," said the judge. "keeping in mind the age of the accused and the fact he is a foreigner and not familiar with our law, I believe the inducement which brought about (a statement made in Oklahoma) was not removed by the warning given prior to the second statement."

Australians Resort To Summer Woolies

Sydney, Australia, —(CP)— So much natural rain has fallen around Sydney in the last three months that rain making experiments by the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research have had to be postponed indefinitely.

A fully equipped R.A.A.F. Liberator, has been standing by at Richmond airdrome near Sydney since last October waiting for a few days fine weather to take the scientists up.

Last month was the wettest December since 1920 and this month looks like being an all-time record for a wet January. More than double the average rainfall for the month has been recorded in the first half of the month.

Freakish weather has caused many to return to their woollies and light fires in homes. Snowflakes have been seen in Sydney where it never snows in the winter—let alone the summer.

The C.S.I.R. have announced that they will make artificial rain when the natural rain stops long enough for them to get to their work.

103-Year-Old Woman Does Own Housework

Beebe, Que.—(CP)—If Mrs. Emma Moir had been born one day later she would be celebrating her 26th birthday next month instead of her 104th.

Known as the grand old lady of Beebe, Mrs. Moir was born Feb. 28 and just missed being a "leap year baby" by a matter of hours. She is the oldest resident of this district on the Quebec-Vermont border although some of her neighbors across the line run her for a close second.

Still in good health and able to do her own work around the house, Mrs. Moir is an active knitter and during last year she knit more than 100 pairs of tiny souvenir mittens. Some of these she sends to friends as gifts with a bit of her own poetry attached and others are sold at the Beebe church Christmas sale.

Mrs. Etta Longeway, a former Beebe resident who now lives at nearby Derby Line, Vt., is another candidate for long-living honors. She celebrated her 99th birthday Jan. 17.

Longevity is a characteristic of her family. Her sister, Mrs. Rosella Tolman of North Bay, Vt., will be 96 next April and three brothers lived past their 90th year.

53rd Wedding Anniversary Of Mr., Mrs. C. Peterson

Allisonville — Mr. and Mrs. Carmi Peterson, lifelong residents of Christian St., celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary on Friday.

Fifty-three years ago, on January 30, 1895 the young bridegroom-elect left his home on Christian Street, with a horse and cutter, and a shovel, to make his way over snow-congested, unbroken roads to the home of his bride-to-be, a distance of about 10 miles. After strenuous shovelling he arrived in the evening and the marriage of the young people was then solemnized. Mrs. Peterson is the former Sabia Massey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Massey; Mr. Peterson is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson.

This winter Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have been joined on the farm by their daughter Mrs. Fred Maines and Mr. Maines. They also have one son Basil at home.

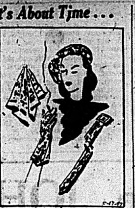
It's About Time . . .



By DOLORES BOLAND

IT'S ABOUT TIME to prove that two scarves more than double the smartness of one. Get a pair of identical scarves. Use one as is. From the other, make a pair of short gloves, or a side belt. Or use it to cover a hat frame. One of these accessories with the scarf tied at neck or waist is mighty fetching.

Picton, Feb. 3 — A telegram of congratulation was received from Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King by Mr. and Mrs. J. Hubert Bushell of Cherry Valley on the occasion of their Golden Anniversary yesterday. Due to the fact that Mrs. Bushell is recovering from an illness, the event was marked quietly. A group of friends, headed by Dr. D. S. Mr. Bushell has been treasurer of the township of Athol for many years. Mrs. Bushell is active in the work of the United Church and in the Women's Institute.

Mr. Bushell is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Bushell of Athol township. Last September they moved from their farm, where they had spent all their married life, to the village of Cherry Valley.

Their marriage took place at Wellington. They recall that the winter of 1898 was cold with lots of snow. "We have always been contented with our lot, and active," said Mrs. Bushell in advocating contentment as a way to a happy life.

Women's Activities

EVENING BRANCH CHRIST CHURCH W.A.

The Evening Branch of the W.A. of Christ Church met in the parish hall on Monday evening with the president, Miss Frances Reid, in charge and leading in the Litany and prayers.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. C. Hayes. Mrs. D. Stewart read an article from the A.Y.P.A. monthly magazine, "On Active Service", being experiences of different mission workers at Moose Factory School. This was especially interesting to the members, since Moose Factory is the school in which Miss Grace Gillard is employed.

The president asked that all members make an effort to attend the World Day of Prayer service to be held this year in the local Salvation Army citadel.

Plans were made for a rummage sale and tea.

Mrs. J. G. Sparling reviewed the study book, dealing with "White Settlers," which was very interesting.

Mrs. L. Watson and Mrs. R. Ragsdale served refreshments.

MELROSE W.I.

Mrs. Clarence Hagerman was hostess on Thursday last to the members of Melrose W.I. when regardless of inclement weather conditions, there was a good attendance.

Following opening exercises were business discussions, when it was moved that food parcels be sent to Britain, at least once a month. Each member was asked to bring used Christmas cards to the next meeting, to be reclaimed and forwarded overseas, as there has been an acute shortage, and used cards are readily accepted.

White flannelette has been purchased and a layette is to be made. Plans were completed for a card party and social evening to be held in the very near future.

The program was in charge of Mrs. A. English, convener, the topic being "Preparing Our Youth to be Healthy Citizens". Mrs. Roy Badgley spoke briefly on her trip to Toronto, when she had the honor of being chosen from the Belleville area to attend a reception for Miss Cain, an ardent Women's Institute worker in New Zealand. Mrs. Wm. McMechan gave a reading.

The president graciously expressed thanks to the hostess, and at the close of the meeting delectable refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Fashion Flashes

AMID THE FLOWERS, fuss and feathers at a recent hat show, the favorite appeared to be a dashing buccaneer hat of navy felt, the brim up sharp at one side, down on the other. It was trimmed with a wide, tucked crown-band of bright red capeskin, with long side ends of the leather, and was worn with matching red gauntlets.

SHINING SUCCESS of the evening season is soft, lovely, slipper satin. At the opera one sees satin gowns in all colors and, of course, in black and white. Favorite fabric for those dressed with deep strapless neckline or the halter strap type.

BEST BET for informal, after-dark wear is the simply fashioned suit or two-piece suit-type dress in rich fabrics such as brocaded satin, taffeta with a metallic line or with metallic dots, pure silk moire and rich faille. Copper brown satin, brocaded with a small leaf design, is used for a handsome suit. The top has a softly rolled neckline the narrow skirt is slit in back and in front.

IT'S NICE to welcome back good old polka dots, for this pattern appears in so many of the clothes designed for cruise, resort and Spring wear. A long, full cape of red woolen, detailed with a high-riding dandy collar, is lined with navy and white polka-dotted silk crepe to match the simply made dress cut on shirtwaist lines with a soft, white pique collar.

WE'RE GLAD that the low-heeled shoe is remaining firm despite the surge to the high heel to go with longer skirts. In low heels for Spring, the T-strap emerges as the outstanding pattern and is shown in open and closed toe shoes, in open or closed backs and in wedges.

OUTSTANDING for Spring will be the handbag of colorful calfskin in such shades as bright navy, light wine, ginger and green.

IT'S SIMPLY WONDERFUL how cottons become more charming and more highly styled each season. For resort wear, one house shows a frock in batik-printed cotton in bold shades on black. Over its snug, strapless bodice is worn a very brief bolero which points up the pegged-hip, tapering, long-line skirt. Good for afternoon wear, come Summer.

TIPPING OVER to the right side is the line pulled by many new hats. A good midseason number is of black satin, a pillbox with the fabric crushed, draped and softly manipulated to the right side where it is marked by a cascade of pale pink velvet moss roses.

RUFFLES are on everything this season, with the ruffled petticoat frock scoring a new success. To tie in with the ruffled line, one house is showing gloves with tiny ruffles around the thumb base and edging the waist, while other gloves have ruffles on either side, from fingertip to cuff hem.

GET READY for the biggest white coat season ever. White toppers, white full length coats, white coats for town, country and sports wear. White tweed is used for a handsome travel coat which has loose sleeves bordered with creamy lynx.

THEY TELL US in the shops that prints have been snatched right off the racks ever since they appeared in November. Looks like a huge print season, with bright florals on dark grounds receiving extra favor.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Post mortems give duplicate players their best lessons. Results at all tables are compared for each board (deal). This brings out the good and bad features discovered by the combined group.

In a deal one pair may bid and make three no-trump; another may bid and make four hearts; an opponent pair may bid and make five clubs. Or a pair in that deal may go down at some contract.

A talkfest about the hands usually follows. Somebody always asks somebody else what they did on this or that board. This also brings out what might have been done if and when and on account of.

There was this deal:

NORTH
♠None
♥K 5
♦K J 9 4 3
♣K 10 8 6 4 3

WEST
♠J 9 6 4 3
♥Q 9 6
♦None
♣A J 9 7 5

EAST
♠A K Q 8 7 2
♥8 7 3
♣Q 2

SOUTH
♥A J 10 4 2
♦A 10 8 6 5 2
♣None

South can make seven diamonds for a score of 1440. West-east can afford to overbid and be doubled for a loss. How many they go down will depend on the type of defence.

After the match a south says: "We bid and made seven diamonds." Another chuckles: "We were doubled for a score of 1630." Moans one: "We doubled seven spades for a three trick set of 800."

Pipes up another: "We doubled six spades and took four tricks." Asked how, he tells how south was inspired to lead heart jack. It wins when dummy and north duck. North king then wins a small heart.

North then made an inspired lead of a club. South ruffed and cashed heart ace for the fourth trick. All of which took a lot of guessing. But it happens, as the score sheet proves.

Next time such leading may produce a terrible result. But each such discussion educates the players. It points out the various hot possibilities in play, both standard and unexpected.

Such players do not consider it criticism when a fault in their play is compared. They welcome a chance to learn what may be done in the future. Education is progress.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 3 —(AP)— Bob Hope and Red Skelton can consider themselves warned that Greer Garson is joining their ranks. The actress is eager for a career in comedy.

It's indeed "the new Garson" that one sees at MGM these days. Now making her first comedy, "Julia Misbehaves," she is no longer as aloof as before.

Greer said she was quite happy to be playing a comedy.

"During other pictures, I would come to the studio happy as a lark," she declared. "Then I would be thrown into a scene in which my husband died or my children were killed or I failed to discover radium or a horrible accident happened before my eyes. When I went home I felt terrible."

She added that she wasn't the only one who wanted comedy:

"During much of last year — in many ways my 'black year'—I lived at my house at Pebble Beach. I spent most of my evenings at the movies. They are the real down-to-earth movie theatres, not the Hollywood kind with popcorn and previews. I got to know what kinds of pictures the people want.

"They don't want black tragedy; they like something that entertains them — like 'Perils of Pauline.'" (Greer added her support to the rising campaign for an academy nomination for Betty Hutton's rousing performance.)

Apparently MGM is seeing it her way about comedies. Her next film is slated to be "The Saintly Miss Peters," which is being written by Ken Englund. He's the writer who created vehicles for Bob Hope and Danny Kaye, so that gives you the idea.

Trappers Swamp Maynooth Under 18-3 Score

Bancroft, (Special.)—The Maynooth Redmen were no match for the league-leading Bancroft Trappers in a North Hastings Hockey League fixture last night as they went down to defeat by an 18 to 3 score. The Redmen fought gamely for one period and limited the trappers to a 4-2 lead at the end of the first session but were unable to stop the Trapper sharpshooters after that.

The Trapper line of N. Brough, E. Brough, and J. Kavanagh, still of Juvenile age clicked for 15 goals. N. Brough had a field day with seven goals and four assists while Kavanagh notched six and assisted on three. Even Flaglar and Carpenter, Trapper rear guards took up positions on the wings in the late stages of the game and combined to notch a couple of counters. Scott in the Maynooth cage was a busy boy, while 18 pucks eluded him he seemed to be stopping 180. The 15-year-old kid was sensational as he leaped, jumped, hopped, and dove into hard well-labelled shots and certainly played a marvelous game.

D. Neuman shone for Maynooth as he counted a goal and assist but it was not Maynooth's good night in spite of the fact they were trying all the time. The game was well-handled by Stewart Stringer. The win left the Trappers on top of the heap with six straight wins without a loss for 12 points with the Bancroft Rovers following a close second.

Lineups:

Maynooth—Goal, Scott; Defence Henry Neuman and Green; Forwards, D. Neuman, Fitzgerald, Buckley. Subs—Herb. Neuman, Flynn, Mayhew, Robinson, Davis.

Trappers (Bancroft) — Goal, Crawford; Defence, Flaglar and Carpenter; Forward, N. Brough, E. Brough Kavanagh. Subs—Walton, Maxwell, Whyte, Foster, Adams.

AT THE CAPITOL — George Tyne make his film debut in an important role in "A Walk in The Sun," the new 20th. Century-Fox hit produced and directed by Lewis Milestone. The film is now showing at the Capitol Theatre tonight and Wednesday. On the same program "Counter Attack," starring Larry Parks and Paul Muni.

Several Persons Close to Boxing Asked to Appear

A spokesman for New York District Attorney Frank Hogan announced that several persons closely connected with boxing have been ordered to appear Thursday before the current grand jury investigation of underworld influences of boxing in New York. At least three persons were issued supoenaes at last Friday's Madison Square Garden bouts.

Johnny Longden, former Taber, lAta., jockey has been named outstanding jockey of the year by the New York Turf Writers' Association. He rode 316 winners for the year.

Billy Graham, 142, New York, had little trouble in out-pointing Patsy Brandion, 133 1-4, Hamilton in a 10-round feature boxing bout at Brooklyn lsat night. Graham, who meets Beau Jack, former lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden Feb. 20, opened a cut over the Canadian's left eye, in the fifth, there were no knockdowns. Fitzie Pruden, 140 1-2, St. Catharines, Ont., knocked out Oscar Lewis 136 1-2, New York, in the first round of a scheduled six-round event.

Coroner's Jury Blames Company And Foreman

London, Ont., Feb. 3. (CP)— Blame for the death of two men in a cave-in of a sewer excavation here Jan. 20 was placed last night by a coroner's jury on the construction company involved and its foreman.

The foreman, Joe Formica of Toronto, died with George Blackwell of London, after tons of earth slid into the open pit. Another employee crawled through the sewer pipe to safety.

Recommending that a city by-law be passed embodying a safety clause for all future contracts involving the city, the verdict said in part: "We find the contracting firm, the Wainright Construction Company, and its foreman both negligent. The work . . . was not being handled in a reasonably safe and proper manner."

One of the 19 witnesses questioned at the 9 1-2-hour hearing, William Munro, Ontario Labor Department Inspector, said there was no cribbing, shoring or other safety device in evidence in the excavation.

J. E. Wainright, president of the construction company, testified the city had no part in the work and that operation of the job was left to the foreman, who knew the safety regulations.

Six safety officials and engineers testified the work should not have been done without some type of reinforcement.

Peterborough Hockey Club Defeats Belleville Vets 6-2 To Stiffen Senior "B" Lead

Peterborough—The Petes stiffened their grip on top spot in their O.H.A. Senior B Group last night in Omemee when they downed Belleville Vets 6-2 before some 500 fans— they avenged their recent defeat in Belleville but it was a speedy and fairly close contest all the way. Neither sides counted in the first and the Petes took a 3-1 edge to end the second, maintaining that margin in the final frame.

"Honey" Tompkins again sparked the Creighton crew to their win, being in on five goals in a neat hurry-up performance throughout. Bun Kingdon was right on his heels with four scoring points, and Red Creighton was in on two. These veterans along with goalie Ray Harding, were standouts for the victors though the whole team hustled in the fast, clean fixture. The Gerow-Williams-V. Goyer line got both Belleville counters, while MacDonald, Day and Hayes also showed up well all the way as the Vets fought from start to finish.

Play was fast and quite even in the first chukker but pretty ragged at times as they pitched and played on a speedy surface. No miracles happened so it was a scoreless stanza. Vern Goyer came close once and later Joe Blewett pulled a fast and dangerous rush, but the Cord guardians were in command all through. Belleville had an edge on play for a space but later it was hot and even with play zipping from end to end in its present day popular and disorganized manner. No one looked crooked at his fellow man and no one did penance.

The hosts forgot themselves in the second and rammed in three as the Vets retallied with one. Red Creighton counted early with a bullet shot from out near the blue line on a passout of play built up by Kingdon and Tompkins. Hayes robbed several of the homesters then in nice work as they pressed. Jack Mortimer batted another in on a hot rebound of Tompkins' torrid drive. Horton went off for boarding but returned before W. Gerow backhanded one into the hemp in close and fast aided by Williams and Vern Goyer. It stepped up again and was hot and even with Day, Barrett and Blewett in turn missing until Kingdon scored in close on a pass from Red Creighton to make it 3-1.

Better Hockey in Third

Both sides played better hockey in the third and it was still fast and fairly even. Though the Petes had a little margin from the blue line in. Murphy went away for interference and Floyd Parsons rapped home a rebound from Tompkins. Murphy returned and Montgomery came close. With Williams then being robbed, and Garvey missing a chance as play swept up and down, Kingdon added one right in with the help of Tompkins and Jopling and Burton nearly nabbed one. Gerow whisked in fast for a neat one. Vern Goyer and Williams assisting. Semark was off near the end when Tompkins tapped in another with assists going to Kingdon and Montgomery. This play was really built up by Red Creighton.

The teams—

Belleville — goal, Hayes; defence, McNaught, and Williamson; centre, V. Goyer; wings, Williams and Gerow; alternates: Barrett, Semark, McDonald, Murphy, Stewart and Day.

Petes — goal, Harding; defence Jopling and R. Creighton; centre, Kingdon; wings, Tompkins and Montgomery; alternates, Garvey, J. Creighton, Blewett, J. Mortimer, F. Parson, Burton and Horton.

Hamilton Tigers Still Leading Senior 'A' Race

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP) — A pre-playoff reshuffle of team lineups is seen as the Ontario Hockey Association's senior 'A' group faces its last 20 games on the regular schedule.

The wily Hamilton Tigers still lead the league although they are menaced by four other clubs.

Joe Primeau's Toronto Marlboros with 43 points are in second-place two points behind Tigers. Last week they lost their ace centre and the loop's top scorer Johnny McCormack who was called to their parent club, Toronto Maple Leafs, to replace the injured Syl Apps.

Punch Scherer's third - place Stratford Indians were first to break Owen Sound Mercury's upsurge in recent weeks. They are eight points behind the Bengals.

Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen, the league's self-supporting club, brought in Wilf Heller to take over coaching chores from Flash Hollett who has retired from the game because of illness. They also added Bobbie Bauer, National Hockey League All-star last season with Boston Bruins, to their lineup and look stronger than ever.

Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound Mercurys are holding down a fourth - place tie with the Flying Dutchmen, 13 points behind the league leader.

Hamilton Patricias are in the last playoff spot with 18 points and do not represent a serious threat.

Still in the league cellar, Brantford Redmen have gleaned but two wins and a tie in their 31 games.

In See-saw Battle

Oshawa Generals and Windsor Spitfires are in a see-saw battle for first place in the 10-team junior A race with Oshawa currently on top with 51 points in 31 tilts. In their three games against Windsor the Generals have notched three wins, with one fixture left on the schedule.

Fifteen points behind Oshawa in third-place, Barrie Flyers are still a rough and ready crew with much fire power.

The fourth - place Galt Rockets welcomed back their team captain Wiggie Wylie, out for a month with appendicitis, and Norm Webster, with a broken wrist, and are now at full strength for the playoffs.

St. Catharines Teepees and Toronto junior Marlboros have been juggling sixth and last playoff position between them, the Teepees at present on top with 30 points, Marlies two points behind.

Last Saturday they gave Barrie a 9-5 trimming, the Flyers' worst defeat this season. However, with only 21 points they have faint playoff hopes.

Last season Memorial Cup champions, Toronto St. Michael's Majors are practically out of the hockey scene this year. They are still in ninth - place with but five wins in their 27 starts.

Half-Way Mark Of Winter Olympic Games Reached

St. Moritz, Feb. 3 —(AP)— The fifth winter Olympic games entered the half-way mark of their 10-day run today with hockey, women's figure skating, speed skating and skiing among the events.

Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, the world's champion, is favorite in this event while American hopes rest with Gretchen Merrill, Boston, Eileen Seigh, Brooklyn and Yvonne Sherman, New York.

The exacting school figures of the women's figure skating event will be staged today and the popular free-skating phase later.

In yesterday's events, Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., kept the United States in the running for a gold medal by gaining the most points in the first half of the men's figure-skating competition —compulsory figures. The free-skating event will be held tomorrow.

Norway took over first place in the race for team honors from Sweden as Norwegian Sverre Farstad set an Olympic record in the 1,500-metre speed skating event.

The 28-year-old Farstad completed the distance in two minutes and 17.6 seconds, eclipsing the old mark of 2:19.2 set by Norseman Charles Mathisen in 1936.

Norway has garnered 44½ points to the Swedes' 39. The United States is sixth with 15¼ points. Canada has ¼ of a point.

Henri Oreiller of France copped the men's downhill two-mile ski race and Hedy Schlunegger of Switzerland took top honors in a similar event for women.

Oreiller completed the run in two minutes 45 seconds and Schlunegger in 2:28.6.

In the the unofficial hockey tournament, Czechoslovakia and Canada kept their records pure yesterday. The Czechs crushed Great Britain, 1936 champions, 11-4 and Canada swamped Poland 15-0. Sweden scored its first triumph with a 7-1 victory over Austria.

A last-period goal by Italy robbed the Canadians of their third straight shutout in the four games they have played.

The Flyers walked over the Italian contenders in the first period with 11 goals, added six in the second period and four in the third.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

The death of the late Harry Whalen removes another link with the past when Belleville baseball teams were winning provincial championships. Harry was a right-handed moundsman in those days and hurled for Ed. Thomas' Bellville Vics away back in 1917. One of his best games was played the day the 39th Battalion C. E. F. left Belleville for overseas. The team faced a Brighton nine that day and Harry hurled them to a 1-0 victory. On the squad with him were such well - known former local players such as the late Daw Whalen, a brother, Bill Green, Tommy Hunter, Jack Casey and others.

• • •

Harry later became associated with the Grand Trunks team and was their second - string pitcher. He was a member of the hurling staff when the Trunks won the O. B. A. championship in 1919. Both off and on the diamond and in the years after he hung up his spike Harry was a popular chap with all who knew him. The sports fraternity learned with sincere regret of his sudden passing.

• • •

It was the night of the game between the Trenton RCAF Flyers and the Trenton Hockey Club. A smooth player behind the Trenton team's blue - line had the spectators agog with his effective rushing and general defence work. Behind the press box sat a half dozen excited Trenton fans. Whenever the Trenton defenceman grabbed the puck and weaved his way through the Flyer squad, the sextette, parked their gum, loosened their tonsils and gave vent to roars of encouragement.

• • •

The player in question was Lou Schmidt, and he deserved all the vocal accolades his supporters flung at him. "He should be good," yelled one. "He's a brother of Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins." The reportorial ear, always open for such items cocked itself. A minute later another Trenton fan, reiterated the statement. And forthwith it came into print in this pillar.

But alas, being human, we erred, or at least we took too much for the granted. The morning mail brought a nice letlet from Lou's good lady reminding us in very gracious terms that we were mistaken when we published the fact that her husband was a brother of the famous Milt. It appears that Lou is a brother of Johnny Schmidt who played with the Bruins back in 1942, and not of Milt. "This fact," the letter stated, "as well as the name 'Schmidt,' in all probability, is the reason for Lou's being mistaken for Milt's brother." Thanks Mrs. Lou for the nice missive, and please accept our apologies.

Barbara Ann Scott Canada's darling of the silver blades is the subject of a neat piece of writing in this weeks edition of Time magazine. The writer gives intimate details of the glamorous Canadian figure-skating champion adding that "by next week if Canada's 12,500,000 prayers are answered, Barbara Ann will wear the crown of an Olympic champion." He quotes a judge as saying "Scott shows up the others when she merely skates on one foot in a straight line." The last skater to do that was brassy Sonja Henie, who in 1936 danced off Olympic ice into a $1,000,000 Hollywood contract.

• • •

"When Barbara Ann skates, she seems to float on ice, the Time article states. She turns effortlessly and unexpectly — only clever performers can manage that—and never has to push to get up momentum for an eight or a loop-change-loop. She always seems to be enjoying herself, and as a result people always enjoy watching her. She has equilibrium charm and style. A U.S. skating judge who likes to define the quality of a skater in one word (push is his word for Sonja), puzzled over for Barbara Ann a while, then described her quality as "femininity."

• • •

"She is also neat and precise and neat and precise things please her. ("I know exactly where I put my nail file," she says, "and I like to find it exactly where I left it.") This is why she prefers, as few skaters do, the required school figures to free skating. The school figures, 41 types in all, are the tedious, exacting, incredibly fundamentals of figure skating (like a vocabulary test that must be passed before being allowed to make a speech.) They count 60 per cent in championship competition.

• • •

Barbara Ann takes a perfectionist's delight in tracing threes (bunnies' ears, she calls them) and double-three-change-double-threes on the ice. Even ice —when it's smooth—delights her. "I suppose most people think of ice as cold and artificial. But to me it's warm. It isn't artificial, really — it's alive."

• • •

In a sport that attracts natural showoffs, Barbara Ann is full of inhibitions. She has a whole wardrobe of plain & fancy costumes, but only one gold-spangled one, which she refers to as her "white horse" outfit. When she wears it, she says, "I feel as if I ought to be riding in a circus."

• • •

Like Sonja Henie, Barbara Ann does not jump higher or skate more daringly than her rivals. She just does it better. In Prague two weeks ago, with her European championship at stake, whatever she tried — from difficult double Salchows to simple open Choctaws —was carefully and beautifully done. She ended her free skating with a spin, her arms at her sides, whirling faster, then slower, then faster again, then stopping suddenly. (She is the world's best spinner.) Curtsying to the judges—the youngest 50, the oldest 71 — she skated quickly to the boards.

• • •

The other girls were panting as they left the ice. The smile that had been fixd on their faces disappeared as quickly as a chorus girl's. Barbara Ann was not winded, nor was her smile switched off. It vanished slowly and was replaced by a tiny frown as she strained to read on the scoreboard what marks the judges gave her. All seven marked her between five (very good) and six (faultless). Then instead of hurrying off to her dressing room, she sat and applauded those who performed after her. All her life she has been taught to be a little lady."

• • •

If the Trenton Flyers and Trenton Hockey Club stage another game in Memorial Arena tonight in their Intermediate "A" joust like that which stemmed from their last meeting, hockey fans hereabouts shouldn't miss the show. The squads played wide-open hockey, with a minimum of penalties, and the tilt was the best "A" battle seen here up to that time. And all indications point to another such battle tonight! Both teams are at full strength, and the game should be productive of eye-pleasing hockey. Curtain at 8.30.

• • •

A typographical error in yesterday's column stated that the Kingston team had suffered three defeats against as many wins. This should have read "six defeats." Looking over the standing yesterday, it was noted hat our Reds have had 59 goals scored against them and have netted the biscuit 47 times. Pete Hockey club have a record of 34 for and 22 against; Legion 53 for and 37 against, and Kingston 33 for and 49 against. These figures of course, do not include last night's game.

• • •

Bancroft wants to enter in Intermediate "C" circles of the O.H.A. and one suggestion to the Bancroft hockey officials is that they contact W. A. Hewitt, O.H.A. secretary, Maple Leaf Gardens. He will give them all the information necessary.

Buddy O'Connor Still Leading Scoring Race

Montreal, Feb. 3. (CP)—Buddy O'Connor, New York Rangers' smooth playmaker, still holds a comfortable three-point margin atop the National Hockey League scoring list but the man who stole the spotlight during the last week was Montreal's Elmer Lach who racked up seven points in three games to edge into second place.

Official statistics released today show O'Connor with 17 goals and 27 assists for 44 points, while Lach has 22 and 19 for 41 points.

Max Bentley, crack Toronto sharpshooter went pointless during the week, and slipped to third spot with 39 points, one more than Chicago's Norman (Bud) Poile and Veteran Syl Apps of Toronto, who are deadlocked with 38 apiece.

Detroit Red Wings' star marksmen, Ted Lindsay and Rookie Jim McFadden, share sixth position with 37 points each, while Gaye Stewart of Chicago has taken over seventh spot.

In the penalty parade, Bill Barilko, Toronto's hard-hitting rearguard, had a comparatively quiet week with only one minor penalty, which boosted his season's total to 119 minutes spent in the cooler and kept the blond blocker away in front of badman race.

Goalie Harry Lumley of Detroit, who tops the circuit in shutouts with six, also has the best goals-against average among the netminders. Lumley has allowed 97 counters in 42 games for a 2.30 average. Bill Durnan of Canadiens is next best with 2.50.

Speed and Figure Skating Don't Mix Says Miss Mitchell

Winnipeg, Feb. 3 (CP)—Comely Betty Mitchell of Winnipeg, queen of North America's speed skaters for the last two years, feels that speed and figure skating don't mix.

Stretched out in an easy chair with her feet propped on a footrest, 19-year-old Betty wriggled her toes for a moment, and then ventured ... "It's either one or the other ... but not both."

That at least, is the way it worked out for dark-haired Betty. She took a whirl at figure skating a few years ago but found that it retarded her progress in the speed skating field and therefore gave it up.

"It takes such constant practice to become good at figure skating," said Betty. "It's necessary to be at it all the time and I wouldn't have had any time for speed skating."

Betty who retained her North American laurels at Alpena, Mich., last month, has been speed skating since she was 10. She swept the boards in the Alpena meet—first girl racer ever to turn the trick — winning in the 220 yards, the 440, the half-mile, three-quarter mile and mile.

It was also the first time that a girl had been able to win the title two years in succession.

Betty's chief disappointment is that there is no women's speed skating in the Olympic games although it is possible that she may represent Canada at the summer Olympics in track since she won the women's 200 metres event at the 1947 Canadaian championships.

Although an Olympic speed skating title is not within her reach, Betty has hopes that women's world speed skating championships might be held this year or next. Nor is she perturbed about the fact that in such a competition, likely to be held in Europe, she would be skating against time rather than against the field as is the procedure in North America.

Alan McFater Wins Split Decision Over E. Majury

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP) — Alan McFater of Toronto won a split decision over Ernie Majury, also of Toronto, in the main bout, 128-pound go at Massey Hall's boxing show here last night.

In the semi-final, Billy Goulding of Oshawa gained a split over smiling Russ Barko of Hamilton. Best of the preliminaries was Harvey Mathe of Toronto in his clean-cut decision over Harold Whitney, a hard-hitting Hamiltonian.

In another preliminary, Bernie Meinsinger of Kitchener showed distaste for the antics of muscular Johnny Petrovan of Toronto and belted him until the referee had to call it quits.

Results included:

Brantford Redmen Finally Win Hockey Contest

(By The Canadian Press)

It was quixotic—as pointless as counting the kernels in a bushel of wheat—but the Ontario Hockey association's last-place senior A team, Brantford Redmen, had the satisfaction of displaying a superior brand of hockey last night while trouncing Hamilton Pats 5-0.

The victory at Hamilton, only game in the O.H.A. senior and junior divisions last night, didn't even raise the Redmen's hopes of getting into the one-step-out-of-the-cellar class The Pats, present holders of that position, still are four games ahead of the Brantford team.

Moy and Hann each tallied twice for the Redmen and Denneny once. First counter in the Brantford attack was Denneny's marker in the first counter. At the 10:20 mark, Hann pounded home a long shot and Moy netted his second tally three minutes later.

Hann's second tally came with a bit of luck in the third period. When he lifted a blue-line shot, the disc struck a Pats' skate and bounced into the net.

Undisputed claim to fourth place in the O.H.A. senior division will be at stake tonight when Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen visit Owen Sound. The teams are tied for the post, 2 1-2 games out of third place.

Galt, now in fourth place in the junior ranks, will be trying to unseat Barrie for third place. Guelph tangles with the home-ice Guelph team now in eighth place.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR

New York Feb. 3 (AP) — Curt Stone, whose smashing triumph in the Milrose two-mile race last Saturday made him look like a standout among United States distance runners is strictly a manufactured runner ... in high school at Brooklyn Pa., Curt was no great shakes as an athlete. He took up running seriously at Penn State and kept at it until he became one of the top college runners ... last year, when he emerged from the army with "service legs," Stone stayed out of school for six months to get himself into condition and that paid off with a flock of national and collegiate titles ... just so he could train for the Olympics, Curt took a job as circulation manager on the daily paper at State College Pa., where he can train with Gerry Karvej and Horace Ashenfelter ... sounds like a rather grim business, but Curt maintains: "Distance runners, as a rule, are easy going fellows." Maybe he's right. They say he doesn't even get ruffled when the paper isn't delivered on time.

Horris Anderson, Lincoln, Neb. star: "In a single day of golf, Joe Loais sometimes eats as many as 20 candy bars ... he must have played a round a day before he met Jersey Joe."

The West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills is threatening to ditch the national pro tennis championships unless promoter Jack Harris will guarantee the appearance of Bobby Riggs and Jack Kramer ... Eddie Dyer argues that Branch Rickey pulled one of the greatest baseball trades on record when he got Bill Cox and Preacher Roe for Hal Gregg, Dixie Walker and Vic Lombardi. It would have been a good deal to get Cox alone for those three, Eddie says.

Calgarians Ready To Lay it on Line For Good Team

Calgary, Feb. 3. (CP)—Calgary gridiron enthusiasts took one look at revamped plans for the Calgary Stampeders—football edition—today, and confidently issued a stern warning to Regina, Winnipeg and points east—beware the Stampeders!

Stampeder officials have announced a complete new football deal for the 1948 season—a new deal that supporters are hopeful will bring Calgary the coveted Grey Cup, emblematic of Canadian grid supremacy.

The "new look" includes formation of a quarterback club; a $10,000 fund now open for contributions; abolition of last year's co-operative basis of sharing game profits with players and substitution of a field player guarantee; top-notch imports from United States gridirons; and a showier display for the fans including bands and cheer leaders.

The new club executive, headed by peppery Tom Brook, an oil company executive, is so confident of an "outstanding" season that plans for increased seating accommodation already have been drawn up.

"Stampeders will field a team this year that will compete on equal terms with Winnipeg. Regina or anything the east has to offer," President Brook said today.

"We are going all out to improve the import situation and already have some excellent material lined up in the United States.

"We will be signing players within 30 days, but final decision as to who they will be will rest with the team's coach. We expect to announce the name of the coach for the coming season shortly."

Montreal, Feb. 3 — (CP)—The greater the muddle in the Winter Olympics, the greater is the field day for the sports columnists.

There was the wild and ludicrous bickering over which hockey team should represent the United States and then there came the more serious piece of business — sabotage of the American bob sleds.

Baz (Montreal Herald) O'Meara has never pulled his punches on Avery Brundage, the U.S. Olympic head, since Brundage with much shouting played the leading role in depriving Barbara Ann Scott of her canary - colored convertible automobile. Now Baz tosses the blame for all the Olympic goings-on right in Brundage's lap.

"It isn't a pretty picture," writes Baz. "In fact it is a sad state of affairs. The whole squalid business would never have happened except for the hatred generated by the action of one man, Avery Brundage.

"Avery Umbrage, as you might call him, certainly put his American compatriots in a very hot spot . . ."

Phurious Phil

Phil Watson, the colorful 33-year-old veteran of New York Rangers is putting on a great hockey display this season teamed up with Buddy O'Connor, former Montreal Canadien. Phil, whose home is in Longueuil across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal, did a stretch with Canadiens during one of the war years when there was some difficulty over residential and border-crossing regulations, when he went back to Rangers.

Says Baz of Phil:

"Canadiens could have had Watson back in the O'Connor deal, but the management demurred because quite a few of the players were at odds with Phil after a summer softball season when he was in charge of affairs. Anyway, he was 33, and they felt if Rangers wanted to get rid of him he must be washed up. Playing without O'Connor, a deft puck-passer, has given him a new lease of life . . .

"He is quick-tempered, high strung and emotional. He subsides as quickly as he erupts. One thing about him, he is never dull . . ."

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 7.

At last, Marie Clark remonstrated with her fair young guest. "My dear," she said earnestly, "I'm sure your father would wish you to recover from the shock of his passing. We all realize how keenly you feel his loss—but I think you should be doing things—be less despondent."

But I'm not despondent Marie," protested Velma. "I'm finding this quiet existence rather pleasant—restful. I haven't been bored. You've been marvelous. Your chauffeur has taken me for the lovliest drives around Carryville, and I've wandered about your beautiful grounds and actually become acquainted with my incompetent self."

"Incompetent self? Why should you call yourself that? You're lovely to look at—you're sweet, you're—"

"But don't you see, Marie, I'm not a trained worker?"

There was exactly nothing left after the estate was settled. So—I wish I knew of a business in which I'd be a shining light." Her attempted laugh caught in her throat.

Marie Clark gently patted her shoulder. "Don't fret over it now, dear. We're sure to get a brilliant idea later on. I mean to help you. But just now I'd like to see you enjoy some of the frivolities of Carryville's younger set. Would you mind so very much if I entertained for you? A nice quiet dinner dance at the Country Club before we go to Lake Ingus, would be in keeping, I should think."

Velma, who never had experienced such an oddity as "a nice quiet dinner dance," frowned slightly. Yet it was apparent that Marie Clark would be offended if the daughter of her old friend refused to be entertained.

"I believe you're right, Marie. Probably I do need an airing. But this Lake Ingus—where is it?"

"It's a relic of my early married life. Mr. Clark was such a busy man that we built a camp at Lake Ingus—it's about two hundred miles from Carryville—so he could week-end with us. Now, it's not fashionable enough to suit the girls. They hate being dragged out there every season. But as long as I'm here, I shall go there—I love the place. The girls may invent their excuses to go to the Riviera or Newport, but I'll stay at Ingus. I hope you'll love it, too."

Velma went to stand at the library's open dormer window. She breathed deeply of the clear fresh June air. "But—I can't be your guest indefinitely, Marie."

"My dear—I won't listen to your leaving! Let's talk party and feel happy and carefree! Let's make this the best party Carryville society ever attended!"

It was not difficult now for Velma to sail into height of exuberance that Marie desired her to reach; because Marie insisted upon going to limit with this party so far as expense was concerned. Velma had had wide experience in planning unique affairs for one of the smartest younger sets in the country and, while the Clark menage carried no flamboyant swank, had no line of footmen, no members of the nobility sought its doors, it did have local social prestige, and was imitated by lesser social lights in the surroundings communities.

So Velma soon swung into the circle of excitement which hinges on the giving of a large party.

When the invitations had been mailed and all arrangements completed, Marie Clark declared, "I'm no end grateful for your help, Velma. You're a wonder at planning parties! My daughters are simply pathetic at this sort of thing. They get confused, and generally lay the whole muddle at my feet, throw up their hands, and exit. They seat divorced wives by their former husbands, and enemies alone at little tables. It's frightful!"

Velma laughed more than she had cared to for a long time, although she thoroughly dreaded meeting the friends of the Clark girls. Up till now, those she had met had been whisked away by either Louise or Maude, and she was made to feel that there was something in the air about "that girl who once had had so much and now, my dear, is decidedly on her uppers."

Tom Orville's name had not been mentioned and Velma had no opportunity to learn anything about him, although she often wondered what had become of him. She had never quite recovered from the hurt of his treatment to her. It left an empty feeling around her heart. She had even been quietly of shedding tears when she thought of their reluctant good night in that quaint little inn.

Often, at the ringing of a telephone, Velma caught herself eagerly listening. Tom Orville knew where she was staying; perhaps he would call up. But no message came. She always remembered then the pretty face of the girl beside him that night in the hotel dining room. That girl—explained everything.

Velma was in her bedroom one morning, looking over her dinner gowns and trying to decide what to wear to Marie's party when Greggs, the butler, brought in her mail. She eagerly sorted the several envelopes he laid on the table, but upon opening them was disappointed to find mostly "please remit" bills for clothes purchased with a frown.

There was a racy note from Millie Roberts, containing a detailed account of the doings of Velma's old crowd. She wrote: "Phil Dander has asked a dozen of us to go on a ten-days outing on his new yacht. Everybody is scattering to the four corners of the globe. I'm leaving for Switzerland next month, and what I won't do to that count dear Aunt Lucy is bringing from Paris. And darling, what do you think? Flanders Smith is constantly dating Virginia Dewey! I heard she said your cream-colored roadster didn't match her personality and she refused to drive it. So her father bought her two perfectly stunning cars and threw in a honey of a plane, besides. It seems queer to have the Deweys in your old home but they've done it over modern—and it's gorgeous. The crowd has taken up Virginia and she's really not half bad when you get to know her."

Velma's shaking fingers tore the note into shreds. It was—nearly an insult! Tears blurred her eyes. Money, money, money!! Was that all everybody worshiped?

Velma sat in the Country Club patio in a gayly painted iron chair heaped with gay cushions. Before her the tiny fountain under the moon with a shower of needled brilliants. Strains of a famous orchestra which by Velma's clever manipulations had been secured while on tour, floated faintly out to the perfect night.

"It is rather nice, I think," she said, with an effort. All the evening she had been very successful with the men guests. She had been dancing constantly since dinner. It was apparent, however, that the women of Carryville were inclined to be suspicious of her. Was it jealousy or the unbridled tongues of the Clark girls? Anyway, it was silly of her to mind. She probably would be giving them more to talk about if she remained much longer out here alone with Kil Sweeney. Hastily, she got to her feet.

He jumped up, grasped her elbow. "Please—Velma, dear, don't go! Partners will be after you again the minute you enter the ballroom—I won't have a chance! Right now they're gnashing their teeth, desperate to locate you."

Her laugh rippled out carelessly as she pulled away from him. "It sounds like real popularity. Come on, Kil, let's—"

"Let—me go!" she demanded angrily.

She threw back her head to escape his nearness, but his hot lips found hers. Her frantic struggling availed nothing against his strength.

"How very amazing!" suddenly exclaimed a woman, coming up behind them.

Velma was released so abruptly she nearly lost her balance.

"Janet! Why—hello, Janet?" said Kil, haltingly.

"Not many wives are privileged to witness what they suspect is happening," said Janet, her voice shaking with fury.

"This is—is impossible!" Velma said indignantly. She had to restrain her impulse to run as she hurried to the club house.

She hesitated on the veranda, trying to control herself. Kil Sweeney, placing her in that embarrassing position against her will! And she had a sneaking suspicion that he was the kind of man to kiss and tell.

Her white shoulders rose alluringly out of her coral dimity formal as she leaned heavily against a colonial pillar, breathing heavily. Now, the jealous minded Janet would think she had ample foundation for accusations against "that blonde guest from Chicago."

A man, evidently a late arrival to Marie's party, was coming across the lighted drive. There was something familiar about him. Too late, Velma realized who he was. He deliberately paused before her.

She clung to the pillar for support, her senses reeling.

"How—how do you do," she finally managed to utter.

"Not so good—after the wilful neglect of a certain beautiful young woman," he said quickly, taking a step toward her.

So he had been hurt because she had not acknowledged his nod across a hotel dining room! What could he expect after snubbing her so perfectly on that bus trip?

But now she had no control over her bisbehaving heart. She would be willing to humble her pride unmercifully if she could only keep him near her. "I'm—sorry," she said, low.

He suddenly cupped her face in his hands, forcing her to look squarely up to his hazel eyes. "Velma—why didn't you answer my note?"

"Your—note?"

The moon lit her quivering face.

"Yes—the note I left with the clerk at the inn. I've waited—and hoped—but no reply came! Apparently, you don't care to be—friends."

"Yes, yes, I do!" she said, with evident sincerity. "But I didn't receive any note! I would have replied, I would have—"

ARE YOU PAYING TOO MUCH INSURANCE

Sometimes a man, who is already carrying several kinds of insurance to protect his various interests, resents it when an insurance man comes along and suggests that he needs certain additional coverage to make his protection adequate. He usually feels that he is already struggling under a big enough load of insurance premiums and the thought of adding to the burden is repugnant to him, but it is the conditions under which we live in this modern age which have made so many lines of insurance necessary.

Our manner of life has become more complex, our labor more specialized. At the present time a man's home and its contents is often equal in value to the money he could save from earnings in ten, fifteen or twenty years. If it is destroyed by fire, it is a real disaster, unless there is insurance to more or less cover the loss.

Nowadays almost every family seems to have an automobile. Liability has attached to automobile ownership since the first car appeared on the highway, and because this liability can become such a crushing load, a man generally realizes that it is wise to insure.

With the change from an agricultural to an industrial age, we have reached a stage where our whole mode of life is geared to money. So that now it is often a major disaster for the family if anything interferes to stop that inflow of money. Some plan is needed which will provide financial protection at reasonable cost. Life, accident and sickness insurance policies are well-designed to do so.

The premium charge is simply a measure of the hazard or hazards involved. No one is under an obligation to buy most lines of insurance, but no one can escape bearing his share of the hazards, even if he carries no insurance.

Marmora

Chief Constable Wm. D. Lavender Resigns Office

Marmora — (Special) — The resignation of William D. Lavender as village constable of Marmora becomes effective on February 29th. It was on January 9th, 1940, that out of sixteen applicants he received the appointment in succession to Major Percy Gray upon the latter's enlistment in the Second World War.

As a police officer "Bill has been popular and regret at his retirement from police duties is being voiced by many residents. Applications for the position of constable, with which is associated other duties, will be closed on Monday. In the performance of his duties over the past eight years Constable Lavender has figured in some interesting cases.

Interesting Cases

The two most noticeable might be briefly mentioned. On April 3rd, 1943, in company of Provincial Constable R. S. Patterson, then stationed at Madoc, three men who were travelling in a car at eighty miles an hour, following robberies committed at Gananoque, Kingston and Napanee, were halted about a mile west of Marmora, two being arrested at the time and the third being apprehended by another police officer later.

On November 30, 1945, Constable Lavender arrested a thief hailing from Toronto, who had broken into F. M. Marrett's store in Marmora, making the arrest while the man was hiding in a well house.

The retiring officer was a member of the Kawartha Police Association for two years and when the Quinte Police Association was formed in Belleville three years ago, transferred to that body. Since coming to Marmora in May, 1936, he has lived an active public life. For the past six years he has been people's warden at St. Paul's Church and a member of Marmora Public School Board, also he been a member of the Marmora Agricultural Society.

Buys Service Station

His resignation has followed his purchase of the service station recently operated by W. J. Cantelon on No. 7 Highway at the eastern limits of the village. In addition to running the service station he will also operate a lunch counter. Five changes of residence will take effect, on Monday, W. J. Cantelon is moving to Picton, W. D. Lavender moves into the vacated residence. Misses Lena and Clara Sullivan have purchased the residence of Mr. Lavender and Doug Stocker will move from the Kelly Apartment House to the Spencer Apartments, now vacated by the Misses Sullivan. Mrs. M. Taft will move into the Kelly Apartments, and later on Mrs. M. Campbell will move into the residence vacated by Mrs. Taft.

Coin Machine Industry Boom Now Predicted

Chicago, (AP) — The resident of the National Automatic Merchandising Association believes that in five years the coin machine industry will grow to $2,000,000 proportions.

With the aid of vending machines, he said, employed women will be able to do their laundry during the lunch hour and housewives to pick up emergency groceries without leaving their apartment buildings.

By 1952 there will be 2,300,000 coin operated merchandising machines throughout the United States.

Daily sales of 10 cents a machine for penny and service devices, $1 for candy, $2.50 for carbonated beverages, and $4 for cigarets will account for a combined volume of $1,500,000,000.

Additional sales from devices such as stamp vendors, coffee, milk, ice cream, sandwiches, insurance and groceries "will bring the total sales from automatic merchandising to well over $2,000,000,000 before 1952."

He foresaw automatic merchandising in the grocery field as ultimately reaching an annual volume of $100,000,000 through installation of machines in apartment buildings.

"Most of these sales," Greene said, "would be plus sales that otherwise would not be made. Now if a housewife finds herself out of beans or rice when preparing dinner, she isn't apt to make a special trip to the grocery, but will do without it.

Impulse Sales

"Most items sold through vending machines are impulse sales that otherwise would be lost forever," and the proper location of the machine can give that impulse a profitable outlet.

Asserting that 60,000 persons would be directly employed in operation and service of the machines, Greene said "I have never heard of one single individual losing his job because he was replaced by automatic merchandising."

"Automatic merchandising will some day bring to retail distribution the same advantages the machine age has brought to manufacturing and agriculture. Until self-service was introduced into food markets comparatively little progress was made in cutting costs of retail distribution.

"A sales clerk automatically becomes a supervisor and can devote his time to demonstrative selling. This will enable the merchant to pay more for less work."

He said a machine now on the drawing board will be able to form part of the store front at night, thus achieving late-hour operation and customer convenience without high costs.

"In England (prior to the war) there were over 200,000 cigaret machine that were rolled out in front of stores after the eight o'clock closing hour of tobacco shops. And today in Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland, where the food shortage is not as extreme, a variety of merchandise is sold in this manner," he said.

MEXICAN MONEY PASSED

Hespeler, Feb. 3 — (CP)—They may look alike but they aren't worth the same, warns Chief Constable Elmer Simmen in reporting that Mexican peso notes are being passed in this district as Canadian dollar bills. The peso notes are worth about 20 cents and are similar in size and design to Canadian currency.

JOINT AND MUSCLE PAINS

May mean kidney trouble . .

A function of the kidneys is to help eliminate impurities from the system. If the kidneys grow sluggish these impurities accumulate and settle and may become a cause of pain in joints and muscles. The way to tackle the trouble is to help the kidneys. They should be toned up with De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills—the medicine made specially for this purpose. De Witt's Pills invigorate the kidneys so that they perform their natural function properly. Gorgeous Blonde Fast Vanishing From Human Race

By SHAUN MCQUILLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, —(CP)— Fair- haired men and women are dying out, says Dr. Raphael Armattoe, director of the Londonderry Research Centre for Anthropology and Race Biology. And, he adds, the last strongholds of blondes are the Dominions.

Sixty years ago, reported Armattoe, writing in the London Star, 65 per cent of all Britons were blonde. Today the figure has dropped to 25 per cent. Red-heads are also on the way out.

Even Scandinavian countries, commonly thought to be well stocked with blondes, are suffering the same fate. A recent tour of Sweden revealed no more blonde Swedes than Britons.

"The last strongholds," wrote Armattoe, "are" Australia, New Zealand and Canada. Australia has 38 per cent of blondes and Canada 42 per cent.

"Surprising blonde majority in the Dominions gives the clue to a process which. . . has been depriving the human race of its fair-haired people. It is the old problem of industry versus agriculture, or town versus country."

Disappear in Cities

Blondes tend to predominate in agricultural communities and to disappear in industrial centres. The reason, says the doctor, is survival of the fittest. "It is beyond dispute that racially and over long periods blondes are less resistant—physically—than brunettes."

"It is true that blondes are perhaps not so intelligent as brunettes; but they are more adventurous and daring. Brunettes, for all their quick intelligence, are often steady, solid people, unwilling to take risks. They make the visonaries (most clergymen are dark haired) and the poets and musicians.

"Blondes are less rational and more emotional than brunettes, yet, strangely, they are often less nervous and highly strung. Their energy and enthusiasm carry them farther sometimes than-dark-haired intelligence."

How is Britain to save blondes? By intermarrying with other countries, especially the Dominions, says Armattoe.

"I should be happy to see Australians, New Zealanders and Canadians marrying our young men and women in large numbers. In time we should see England again the type of hardy man and woman that the Scots used to breed (and perhaps still do)."

Play Softball Game On Snowshoes

Valatie, N. Y., Feb. 3—(AP)—Taking advantage of a "warm" spell — it was 15 above zero — the Val-kin Snowballs and the Fairmount Eskimos met in a softball game on snowshoes yesterday.

The final score was tied 1-1, and the infantile paralysis fund netted $100 from spectators who viewed the game from automobiles.

Val-kin came close to victory when a couple of players crossed home plate while a ball was lost in the snow, but the umpire ruled them out for passing another runner bogged in a snowbank.

Eastern Panthers Back in Maritimes

First it was announced that the eastern panther, believed extinct for the last 60 years had reappeared in the province.

Then came word that the bounty on wildcats had been raised from $5 to $10 because the vicious cats were gaining in numbers and killing off young deer who made easy prey in heavy winter snow.

Panthers were discovered in the province last year but the find was kept secret from the public because forestry officials feared impulsive trophy hunters would rush out and kill the last survivors.

There are no game laws prohibiting the killing of the eastern panther —known as "Indian devil"—but officials have appealed to hunters not to kill the animals.

"New Brunswick has a responsibility to preserve the panthers," Bruce S. Wright, director of the Northeastern Wildlife Station of the Wildlife Management Institute said.

"They are shy and harmless and have not been known to kill livestock. From a natural history standpoint it would be as great a shame to kill an eastern panther as to destroy a mastedon should one ever be found alive," he said.

Once, the eastern panther existed as far west as Minnesota and Wisconsin and north to southern Ontario and Quebec, but no reports of the animals have come from the latter provinces in the last century.

Drifting Bottle Crosses Atlantic

Paarl, South Africa. —(CP)—After drifting across the Atlantic Ocean from the Gulf of Mexico, a bottle was washed up on the South African shore, near Saldanha Bay, about 90 miles north of Cape Town.

"This bottle was thrown into the Mississippi River near New Orleans on June 22, 1947, by Ken Christensen, of 1003, 5th Avenue, Moorhead, Minnesota, U. S. A. Please communicate."

The bottle was in the sea for six months and might have travelled between 10,000 and 20,000 miles.

New Zealand Settles 4,187 Vets on Farms

Wellington, N. Z. —(CP)—New Zealand is making better progress than after the First World War in settling war veterans on the land. After 1918, 16,000 men applied for government rehabilitation assistance to put them on farms of their own. Of these 4,000 were eventually settled on farms, 5,000 received partial assistance and 7,000 did not receive any help from the government.

Already after the Second World War 4,187 veterans have been settled on farms by the government and farms have been prepared for others who will receive them as soon as they are fully trained. Another 9,000 men are still awaiting assistance and the government is trying to speed up its settlement schemes so that these men will not be delayed too long in getting farms of their own. Chief difficulty is in securing suitable land for the projects.

Veterans are settled under several different schemes. They may obtain approved freehold properties by loans of up to $21,000 with interest at two per cent for the first year and three per cent thereafter. They may receive a loan to purchase the leasehold of a property or they may be settled on single unit properties acquired by the Crown and made available on a leasehold basis. The rent of these farms is fixed on the unimproved value and is fixed at two per cent for the first year, three per cent for the next two years and four per cent thereafter.

Giant Skeletons Found

Raglan, N. Z., Feb. 3 —(CP)—Authorities were baffled today by the discovery on a lonely beach 30 miles from this North Island town of 15 giant human skeletons, buried in wooden coffins.

The skeletons are those of men all more than six feet tall, some almost seven feet.

Authorities said the remains obviously were not those of Maoris, as several had fair hair (Maoris are dark-haired) and the coffins contained decomposed scissors, knives, pipes, spades and buttons apparently of European origin.

One theory is that the bodies are those of survivors of a wreck which occurred before European settlement began in New Zealand.

Moose Jaw Couple Build Own House

Moose Jaw, Sask., — (CP) — When they couldn't get around the contractor and supply-shortage problems, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Latham began building their own two-storey home last year. They intend to finish it this year, especially since Mrs. Latham has just finished a two-year term on the Moose Jaw school board and will have more time to spend working on the house.

For several years they planned their own home and started building it themselves last year after delays resulting from shortages.

Mr. Latham had seldom touched tools before taking on the job —now he handles everything but highly-technical operations such as plumbing and furnace installations. Mrs. Latham helps him with lighter jobs, but is willing to tackle anything that comes up.

Last spring Latham and a gang of fellow packing-plant workers mixed and poured cement for the full-sized basement in one day. Inconveniences experienced during their years in rented homes have been taken into consideration in planning the six-room home and Mrs. Latham herself has looked after the insulation.

In between nailing boards, sawing wood and helping on the heavier jobs, Mrs. Latham looks after the "old place," cooking meals and doing housework for her husband, their seven-year-old daughter and her two young nieces.

4 Members Quebec Family Burn To Death

Trapped In Bed When Fire Engulfs St. Michel Home

Zero Weather Hampers Village Fire Department

St. Michel, Que., Feb. 4 (CP)—Trapped in bed when fire engulfed their home late Tuesday night, four members of one family were burned to death while a fifth was taken to hospital in Levis, 12 miles to the west of this Bellechasse County parish.

Jeannine Michaud, 17-year-old daughter of Adolphe Michaud, suffered burns to face and hands but Hotel Dieu Hospital in Levis today reported her condition not serious.

Only member of the family to escape the blazing inferno which destroyed the home was Adolphe Michaud. Charred remains of the four dead were removed from the burned - out building after local firemen battling in 20 below zero weather, had brought the fire under control.

The fire, believed to have originated in the chimney, spread quickly through the two-storey frame dwelling, trapping members of the family asleep on the second floor. Neighbors, turned in the call for the tiny parish's volunteer firefighting brigade.

The aged Mr. Michaud discovered the flames shortly after 11 p.m. and attempted to arouse the family. He was said to have succumbed to heat and smoke in his efforts to save his wife.

Frederick Bussey Hanged for Slaying Of Playford Girl

Owen Sound, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Sentence of death was carried out on Frederick Bussey, 23-year-old Regina-born youth, shortly after midnight in the hammer-slaying of 11-year-old Betty Playford here last Sept. 21.

Bussey made no final statement as he went to the gallows. He was executed at 12.05 a.m.

He had surrendered at Montreal Sept. 25 and confessed to a Montreal newspaper reporter and to police that he had been driving a stolen motorcar when he lost his way near Owen Sound. He said he asked the Playford girl to direct him and offered her a ride home.

His story was that the girl had screamed and that, fearing to attract attention, he hit her with a hammer and placed the body in a ditch. He denied that he had criminally assaulted her.

At the trial before Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly here the Crown contended it was murder resulting from a sex attack and medical evidence was that the child had been raped.

The accused's mother, Mrs. Fred Bussey, came from Regina to testify that her son had habitually "withdrawn himself into his own thoughts" while in the presence of others, and defence counsel in a plea for a ruling of insanity said Bussey had a psychopathic personality. But doctors testified that he was sane and he was convicted of murder.

Late on Monday his counsel, Louis Isaacs of Toronto, said an appeal for executive clemency had been rejected.

The hanging, the first in Owen Sound in many years and only the third in the town's history, was conducted by Sheriff Fred T Egener, and the sentence was carried out on a gallows erected in the jail here.

Judge Sentences Kindy, Farrington To Hang April 28

Welland, Feb. 4 —(CP)— A crowded courtroom heard Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly yesterday sentence Norman Kindy, 17, and Edwin Farrington, 20, to hang April 28 for the fatal shooting of James Bell, 57, last Sept. 24.

After an Ontario Supreme Court jury returned verdicts of guilty of murder, Mr. Justice Kelly said: "The jury has recommended mercy . . . the recommendation will go to the minister of justice."

Later, Col. H. A. Rose, K.C., counsel for Farrington, and W. T. McCallum, appearing for Kindy, said that an appeal against the convictions and sentences was being considered.

The body of Bell, whom defence counsel claimed had been a bootlegger and was was "probably a man with enemies," was found on the steps of his one-storey bungalow in nearby Stamford township last September 24.

Kindy lived with Bell for 13 years. Farrington, whose hometown is Glendale, R.I., was housed and fed by the dead man two days before the slaying, evidence showed.

Eight days after Bell's body was found, the pair was arrested at Turley, Okla. Search for the youths began when neighbors told police that Kindy and Farrington were seen going into nearby woods shortly before the body was found.

Bill to Curb Lords' Powers Is Postponed

London, Feb. 4 (Reuters)—The government today broke the deadlock in its dispute with the House of Lords by agreeing to an inter-party conference on the issues raised by its bill to curtail the Lords' powers to delay legislation.

The decision was described by the opposition as "a notable victory for commonsense."

Second reading of the bill was postponed indefinitely.

A crowded House had awaited the government's reply to a proposal made yesterday by opposition leader Viscount Salisbury, that the conversations should be limited to ensuring reasonable time for discussion of measures by the House of Lords and for parliamentary discussion of differences between the two Houses.

SOARING LIVING COSTS BLAMED ON GOVERNMENT

Opposition Delays Committee Formation

Ottawa, Feb. 4 (CP)—The rising cost of living, slated for study by a special parliamentary committee remained in the discussion stage in yesterday's Commons proceedings.

In a lengthening debate which brought two cabinet ministers to their feet, opposition parties delayed action on formation of the proposed committee by hammering away at what they claimed was the core of the situation—the government's responsibility for the soaring living costs.

The discussion, on Prime Minister Mackenzie King's motion to appoint the special 16-man committee to delve into the background of the price rise, was broken once when the House voted 105 to 90 to uphold speaker Gaspard Fauteux in a ruling that two opposition amendments, aimed at broadening the committee's inquiry powers, were contrary to parliamentary procedure.

Specifically, he ruled out of order a Progressive Conservative amendment, moved Monday by party leader John Bracken, and a C.C.F. sub-amendment, introduced yesterday by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), on the grounds it was against precedent to refer policy-making questions to a committee being formed solely as a fact-finding body.

Government members upheld the ruling against a solid front of opposition supporters.

U.N. Partition Com. to Send Advance Party

Lake Success, Feb. 4 —(AP)— The United Nations Palestine Partition Commission will send an advance party into the Holy Land, possibly within 10 days.

A source close to the five-power commission said the party would go to Jerusalem first to lay groundwork for the partitioning of Palestine.

The commission made the decision yesterday but did not decide on the composition or date of entry of the group. It was stipulated, however, that the party would not include any of the delegates. A U. N. official said the move from here might be started within 10 days.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate here, told the commission previously he would agree to sending ahead a small staff of one or two persons.

A U.N. press officer said the commission did not discuss the security of the advance party in making its decision. However, delegates planned to begin drafting a report today to the Security Council asking for military help in carrying out the partition plan.

Canada Plans to Increase Wildlife, 'Much Attention' Given Caribou

Ottawa, Feb. 4 —(CP)— Plans for enlarging Canada's wildlife resources and extending their utilization were announced today by Resources Minister Glen.

Mr. Glen said "much attention" was being given to the caribou herds, staple source of meat in vast areas of the north and also supplying natives with hides for clothing.

In co-operation with the Prairie Provinces and Ontario, the department was undertaking large-scale investigation of the herds, to include census work from the air and studies of food, reproduction, diseases and losses.

Special scientific investigations were being undertaken on the muskrat, Canada's leading producer of wild fur, in the North-west.

Other studies dealt with cranes and waterfowl.

In wild furs generally, Mr. Glen said, the establishment of a system of registered trapping grounds had passed the experimental stage. These had proven their value, and their use was rapidly spreading over new areas.

Dealing with conditions among other wildlife, Mr. Glen said last year deer and moose showed a tendency to increase but were held down in some areas by heavy hunting. Moose were extending their range northwards into new territory.

The North American stock of wild ducks, which decreased sharply in 1946, met adverse breeding conditions last year but reproduction generally was fairly good.

Great Progress Made Toward Recovery By Europe Say Experts

Geneva, Feb. 4 — (AP)—Most economic experts here believe Europe is making great strides toward industrial and economic recovery. But, they add, she still desperately needs help.

Delegates and officials of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe are optimistic about the Commission's success in planning European self - help across all political differences. They cannot estimate, however, how long it will take the continent to overcome the ravages of the war.

Vital Factors

A general reluctance to forecast the rate of progress appeared due, in part at least, to uncertainty over many vital factors. These include future harvests, possible industrial unrest and the extent of American aid.

Under the Marshall plan, as enunciated by the United States Secretary of State, the European countries are required to do what they can on their own and together to put Europe on its economic feet. The Commission's planning, however, is distinct from the Marshall plan.

A full analysis of Europe's present economic position and prospects now is being prepared by the Economic Commission's research division, headed by British economist Nicolas Kaldor. The report is expected to be ready for publication early next month.

Kaldor is maintaining close secrecy about the conclusions of his survey. They are being drawn from data supplied by nearly every European country, including members of the commission.

Sweden's Professor Gunnar Myrdal, the Commission's executive secretary, declined specific comment on the status of Europe's economic recovery pending publication of the survey.

He has, however, referred frequently to "considerable progress" made during the last year both in actual production and in self-help measures.

Still Needs Outside Help

One senior member of the commission's secretariat said that even if European production developed to a point above the highest prewar level, Europe still would be in desperate need.

Although most delegates and members of the secretariat share the general optimism they all agree Europe still is far from self-sufficient in food and essential raw materials. And due to the present shortage of hard currency she cannot carry on without outside help.

Barbara Ann Scott Will Get Opportunity To Win Skating Title

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 4 —(CP) The Olympics press bureau today issued a terse statement saying "all ice events will be held tomorrow," reviving hope that a turn in the weather will give Barbara Ann Scott her prized opportunity to win the Olympic figure-skating title.

The press bureau's short statement was issued after a welter of rumors and official admissions that softening ice may deprive the Canadian girl of her chance for an Olympic gold medal, her ambition since she first donned skates.

(Reuters News Agency said a meeting of officials and competitors decided to continue the compulsory figures at 7 a.m. local time tomorrow, weather permitting, and to complete the men's event with free skating in the afternoon.)

"Well, the ice might be better tomorrow," said the 19-year-old skater when informed of a statement by H. J. Clarke, president of the International Skating Union, concerning the possibility that the Olympic championship may be abandoned.

But Melville Rogers, Canadian judge at St. Moritz, interjected: "Don't let her kid you. She's being sarcastic."

Clarke's bombshell came as a thaw paralyzed Olympic skating and rendered hockey and ski events difficult to carry out on this sixth day of the 10-day fifth winter Olympics, first since 1936.

"If the figure skating cannot be concluded due to poor ice conditions, the Olympic figure-skating championship will be abandoned," Clarke said.

May be Transferred

Referring to the possibility of calling off the championship, Clarke told The Canadian Press that "it's too bad but that's the way it is — if we can't finish our events for the weather, or any other reason, then they will be abandoned."

Earlier rumors had been flying that the figure skating might be transferred to Zurich, Davos or even to Paris.

A meeting of skating union and Olympic officials and competitors will be held early tonight. An official said: "We don't know what the talk will be about because we don't know what the mercury is going to do."

Former Manager Stock Exchange Sent for Trial

Toronto, Feb. 4 — (CP) — William Shaw, for 20 years manager of the clearing-house of the Toronto Stock Exchange until his dismissal last year, was committed today for trial on a charge of stealing more than $30,000 in stocks and cash.

Shaw was charged following an investigation by the Ontario Securities Commission last December. The transactions which led to the probe were said to have been made in the heavy trading year of 1945 when a large number of stocks occasionally piled up in the clearing-house. It is alleged that in the interval between sale of stocks by one broker and transfer to another, Shaw converted some of them to his own use.

Fire Destroys Frame Dwelling, One Injured

St. Catharines, Feb. 4 —(CP)— One was taken to hospital but five other persons escaped injury here this morning when fire destroyed a four-room frame dwelling.

Peter Trefonavitch is being treated for burns on his hands, arm and head, suffered when he re-entered the house to try to save some clothing. His condition was reported not serious.

James Chaffee, 15, a boarder, and Bruce Charlton, 15, were the others who escaped in zero weather.

An electric heater used to keep water pipes from freezing, was said to have caused the fire.

FIVE-DAY SEARCH FOR MISSING PLANE ABANDONED

Absolutely No Hope Of Any Survivors

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 4 — (CP)— A five-day search for a British South American Airways Star Tiger transport plane has been abandoned and there is "absolutely no hope of any survivors," United States Army Air Force Officers at nearby Kindley Field announced today.

The officers did not comment on reports from Halifax that crude messages believed to read "Star Tiger" had been intercepted at Newfoundland and Ohio during the last two days.

R.C.A.F. officers at Halifax said the messages appeared to be the work of someone with little knowledge of wireless, attempting to improvise a system and it was considered possible they might have originated with survivors of the transport.

Officers in charge of the search here said "a large part of the Atlantic where the missing air liner might have crashed has been exhaustively explored by an air armada of planes and ships but not the slightest trace has been found. There is absolutely no hope of any survivors."

Earlier the discovery of oil slicks and debris on the ocean spurred the search but examination showed they offered no clue to the spot where the plane with 29 aboard might have plunged into the Atlantic.

Signals Intercepted

Halifax, Feb. 4 (CP) —Crude wireless signals intercepted in Ohio and Newfoundland may have been sent by survivors of the British transport plane which disappeared with 29 aboard off Bermuda Friday, Navy and R.C.A.F. sources said here today.

The latest message was received at the United States Air Force base at Argentia, Nfld., today. It was interpreted as the words "Star Tiger" — call sign of the missing Tudor IV.

Similar messages previously had been heard at Ohio towns of Youngstown and Warren during the last two days.

Search and rescue officers of the R.C.A.F. said the flashes "seemed to be the ingenious work of someone with no knowledge of wireless, attempting to improvise a system."

One "dot" was taken to indicate the letter "A" two dots the letter B and so on through the alphabet.

Due to the erratic nature of the messages, no bearing had been obtained to ascertain the position of their origin.

All information was forwarded to the headquarters in Hamilton, Bermuda, of a huge air and sea search for the missing aircraft.

SMALLER WAISTS, LONGER SKIRTS

Paris, Feb. 4 —(Reuters) — Smaller waists and skirts nine inches off the ground are keynotes of the spring styles on show here yesterday. The long skirt has come to stay and one or two designers have slightly increased their lengths.

Customs Officers Thwart Attempt To Smuggle Cigarets Into Canada

Windsor, Feb. 4 — (CP) — A wholesale attempt to smuggle 200,000 American cigarets into Canada was foiled early today when the huge cache was found beneath the Ambassador Bridge which spans the Detroit River between Windsor and Detroit.

Harold Beardmore, collector of customs, said the seizure was the largest since austerity restrictions last Nov. 18 banned all import of American cigarets.

About 1 a.m. customs officers saw two vehicles, with lights off, stop part way across the bridge. Several persons got out, walked to the side of the bridge and then after a pause returned to the cars and proceeded on to the Windsor side.

The bridge is over land on the Canadian side of the border for a considerable distance after passing the edge of the Detroit River. Examination of the vehicles produced nothing unusual and they were allowed to continue through to the Canadian side.

Later, however, customs officers searched the area and found the contraband cigarets in kit bags lying inside the fence of the Ambassador Bridge property beneath the bridge.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police were called and, although the suspected cars have not been traced, they are continuing their investigation.

Hopes Voluntary Curbs Will Promote Greater Exports

Additional U.S. Dollars Needed to Check Inflation

London, Feb. 4 — (AP) — The Labor government put Britons on an honor system today to sacrifice possible increased earnings.

Wage earners, landlords and employers alike were asked in a white paper to give up possible advances in wages and profits for the sake of combatting inflation and rebuilding the British economy.

Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet in effect called for a freeze on wages and profits, except in exceptional cases, in order to promote the export market and thus draw in additional dollars the United Kingdom needs.

The government regarded the problem so seriously that Attlee went before the Commons to present the case after consulting trade unions, the backbone of his party, and Britain's organized employers.

The white paper amounted to a reaffirmation of the government's stand a year ago for voluntary curbs on increased earnings. The government promised that, except for taxation, it would not interfere with individual incomes.

On Voluntary Basis

The program remained on a voluntary basis. The government said the only alternative to acceptance would be "a serious prolonged setback in our economic reconstruction, accompanied by a persistent low standard of living."

And the government held one powerful weapon to make its wishes stick. It still retains war-time power to fix prices. It said there should be no presumption that an increase in prices will be granted if increased costs of a product reflect increased water and profits.

The white paper said:

"It is essential that there should be no further general increase in the level of personal incomes without at least a corresponding increase in the volume of production.

"Unless we are prepared to check such a tendency, we shall find ourselves unable to fulfill our export task, owing to the rise in costs, which will be reflected on the home market."

Explained in Commons

In recognition of the shaky British economic position, informants said Attlee planned to take the floor in the House of Commons and outline the need for self-sacrifice by British workers and employers.

The informants said a decision to try to peg incomes temporarily was reached at a cabinet meeting yesterday. They said the Prime Minister would present the program on a voluntary basis.

It would however, amount to the first wages-policy declaration

POLICE ROUNDING UP MEMBERS OF HINDU SOCIETY

Plans Completed For Consigning Bones of Martyred Gandhi to Indian Rivers

New Delhi, Feb. 4 —(AP)— A high police official said today an intensive roundup is under way throughout India of prominent members of the militant Hindu organization, R.S.S.S.

The R.S.S.S.—Rashtriya Swayam Sewak Sangh — has along with the equally militant Hindu Maha Sabha party, been the target of irate mobs since the assassination last Friday of Mohandas K. Gandhi. The accused slayer is described as a member of Maha Sabha.

The official said the defendants were being charged with belonging to an unlawful organization. Rumors swept the capital that the R.S.S.S. had been outlawed by government decree.

Yesterday the government issued a decree banning private armies and organizations that preach violence and communal hatred.

Devadas Gandhi said today that plans had been completed to consign the bones and ashes of his father to the secred Hindu rivers of India.

The bones of the spiritual leader will be committed on Feb. 12 at the confluence of the Ganges, Jumna and Saraswati rivers at Allahabad, Gandhi's son said. His ashes will be scattered at a later date in the holy rivers of all Indian provinces as a symbol of universal love.

Leave in Special Train

Devadas, who lighted his father's funeral pyre last Saturday, said he and other relatives and friends would accompany the funeral urn to Allahabad, 350 miles southwest of here, in a special train leaving Delhi Feb. 11.

Upon arrival at Allahabad, the funeral procession, on foot, will accompany the urn directly to the confluence of the rivers.

One of the peacemaker's sons will wade into the sacred waters to set the bones adrift as he immerses himself. The ceremony, according to Hindu belief, washes away the sins and purifies the spirit of the departed one.

Devadas said the ashes of his father will be presented in individual containers to various representatives of Indian provinces for similar services. The bones and ashes were separated at a ceremony Monday.

New Delhi was quiet last night police banned further demonstrations against the Hindu Maha Sabha party and Rashtriya Swayam Sewak Sangh, the two militant anti-Moslem organizations which advocate complete Hindu rule. Narayan Vinayak Godse, held as the Hindu leader's assassin, has been identified by police as a member of Maha Sabha.

PETERBOROUGH WILL BUILD SECONDARY ARTIFICIAL ICE RINK

Result of a public meeting attended by over 500 enthusiastic residents in Peterborough, was that a committee of sixteen was named to check into a site and finances of a secondary hockey rink to be ready for next season.

While waiting for a proposed half-million dollar Memorial Centre, including an artificial ice rink, it was felt that a secondary artificial ice rink was needed now and would always be required for minor hockey.

The large attendance voted unanimously for the new project which will cost from $100,000 to $140,000.

For the past few years the Peterborough hockey teams have been playing their home games at Omemee and Lindsay. The new arena will see them back once more in their home surroundings.

BIRDS NEED FOOD

Indicative perhaps of the general condition of the birds which winter here was the condition of the large owl killed in Prince Edward County the other day, after it had disposed of and was feeding on a pet cat.

The owl was found to be in a famished condition, and that might well apply to members of other bird families.

A few bread crusts or pieces of suet placed outside might help the feathered population over the remainder of what appears to have been a hungry winter for them.

New Snow Loader Demonstrates Its Usefulness

City officials and members of city council witnessing the initial operation of the city's new snow loader which arrived in the city over the weekend expressed every satisfaction with the operation of the machine.

The snow loader was demonstrated on Victoria Ave., hill on Tuesday afternoon and in the opinion of city officials "did a very creditable job."

Purchase of the snow loader, a used machine formerly owned by the city of Niagara Falls, was ratified at a recent meeting of city council. Niagara Falls purchased the machine two years ago and this year turned it in on a larger machine of the same make. The loader, worth over $9,000 new, was purchased by the city for $4,500.

The new snow loading machine is of the conveyor type and eats readily into hard-packed snow piled along the curb. City officials stated, however, that the machine would not get a good showing until there was a fall of fresh snow.

"Something which the city has needed for many years," was the consensus of city officials and aldermen watching the operation of the new machine.

Opening Dates For Fishing Set

Niagara Falls, Feb. 4 (CP) — Opening dates for fishing seasons in Ontario next spring and summer were announced yesterday by Lands Minister Scott at the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Hunters and Anglers.

Speckled trout fishing will start May 1, a Saturday; pickerel and pike, May 15, also a Saturday; and bass and maskinonge July 1, Thursday.

Urging protection of bass, Mr. Scott said:

"July 1 is a good average date for completion of guarding their nests and we should not jeopardize the bass by advancing the open dates by one single day. By exerting ourselves, we were able to produce 1,700,000 fry and some 580,000 large mouth and small mouth black bass fingerlings last year. These are useful for hitting the weak spots in bass reproduction.

Caribou Park

He said the first caribou park in Ontario was being established in the north-western section of the province to protect an existing herd of animals. Possibility of a hunting season for caribou was foreseen.

Mr. Scott also announced that a wildlife survey of Ontario was under way, with a survey party consisting of a biologist, a forester, geographer and a chief of party.

Amalgamation of 25 independent angling and hunting clubs in Northern Ontario under the charter of the Federation was announced.

Addition of the 25 brings to 85 the number of hunting and angling organizations affiliated with the OFAH. Officials said it is expected total membership will be almost 200,000 by the end of 1948.

Caribou Outspeed 30 MPH Toboggan

Johanson said today he had been tobogganing from Cross Lake to Wabowden when his machine, travelling well above 30 miles an hour, overtook an (ambling herd of caribou on a small lake.

The caribou observed the low-slung vehicle with interest and playfully galloped ahead for a time. But then, said Johanson, they apparently tired of the "sloww speed" and began running in circles around the travelling machine.

Physical Fitness Program Outlined At Kiwanis Club

What can be done in the way of physical fitness and recreation for a community was exemplified by film at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at Kiwanis Centre on Tuesday by Johnny Tett, D. F. C., director of Physical Fitness and Recreation for the Department of Education in Ontario. The plan under which the scheme operates was outlined to the directors of the club at a subsequent meeting and it may be adopted in this city. Under the plan the government pays one-third of the salary of the director and in other ways assists the community in getting started on a program for young and old.

Mr. Tett, who was introduced by Charles Cawker, stated the plan had been in use for approximately three years and in that time 80 municipalities in Ontario had embodied it into its program for recreation. "There is no overlapping" stated the speaker, "and with co-ordination and co-operation of all groups in a community a great deal of work can be done. "He told of one community that had adopted the plan had a ballet dancing class of 70 and an arts class of 170. A film depicting the work done in Decatur, Illinois, was shown and every branch of athletics along with all the hobbies were developed. Kiwanis appreciation was expressed by Wally Warner.

It was announced that a Ladies' Night will be held in Peterborough next Wednesday night and it is likely a bus load will go north from this club. Dorland Houston reported there were 150 present at the first meeting of the Hobby Club sponsored by the local club. Ted Schwab presided at the luncheon with Angus Duffy collecting the fines. Harold Carruthers conducted the community singing, Phil Huddleston presiding at the piano.

These meetings, which should be of interest to all farmers in Ontario, are open to the general public and farmers who are interested in crop improvement work would do well to plan to attend.

Republicans Seen Greatest Threat To deValera

Dublin, Feb. 4 (AP) — Eire voted today to determine whether Prime Minister Eamon De Valera will retain control of the government he has headed since 1932.

The polls were open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (4 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST) for balloting in the most hotly contested general election since the end of the civil war days in 1916 A record vote was predicted.

The big issue was whether the tall gaunt Prime Minister could hold on to his power. His Fiannn Fail party must obtain a majority — 75 seats in the Dail (Parliament) —for him to do so.

There are 406 candidates for the 147 seats in the Dail. Six parties are in the running.

Results are not expected until Friday. The count starts tomorrow.

Observers during the campaign considered the year-old Clann Na Poblactya (Republican) party of fiery Sean MacBride, Dublin lawyer, the biggest single threat to de Valera's control. The Prime Minister dissolved the Dail, forcing today's elections, when Poblachta won two of three seats contested in by-elections last October.

MacBride made an issue of Irish partition, criticizing de Valera for not being more active in uniting the north and south of Ireland.

The Prime Minister, calling the Poblachta "irresponsible" made campaign pledges he would work for the unity of the six northern Ulster States with the south of Ireland.

Many observers expect MacBride's party to win enough votes from the Wianna Fail to end its majority. This would open the way to a coalition government of Clann Na Poblachta, Fine Gael, Farmers and Labor.

De Valera already has expressed himself as opposed to a coalition government.

GIRL FOREST GUARDS

Victoria — (CP) — The constant battle to prevent forest fires will take a new twist in British Columbia next summer with the enlistment of an army of girls to be known as the girl forest guards. The move is sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association and recruits will be between the ages of 13 and 16 years.

13-Year-Old Son Accused Mother Admits Shooting

Halifax, Feb. 4 —(CP)— Johnny Saccary, 13-year-old son of the woman charged with murder of Philip Douglas Shiers, 33, told a packed, tense courtroom yesterday that he had fired the shot from four feet away that dropped the army veteran in the snow outside his mother's cottage at nearby Enfield Dec. 27.

At previous sessions of the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Kathleen Saccary, four witnesses had testified that the 34-year-old widowed mother of five children had admitted that she shot Shiers, a boarder in her home. Shiers died in hospital after being struck in the back by a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun.

On the witness stand, the boy said Shiers was advancing toward his mother with the armature of an automobile generator raised above his head in a threatening gesture.

"Were you scared?" asked Defence Counsel Leonard Fraser.

"I was afraid my mother would be killed," Johnny said.

The boy was not held by police and the Crown had no comment on what the next move in the case might be. The hearing will resume Thursday.

Johnny described how he had run past his mother and Shiers into the house, got the gun, put a shell in it, went outside again and when I saw Shiers going after my mother I shot him."

Earl of Derby Dies Suddenly Of Heart Failure

Prescot, Lancs., England, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Earl of Derby, 82, bluff, Lancashire peer who was a friend of the Royal Family and one of Britain's leading racehorse owners, died today from heart failure following a bronchial cold.

Son of a former Governor-General of Canada, he took an active role in public life until 1944, holding cabinet offices as Postmaster-general and war secretary before the First World War, directing recruiting during the conflict and serving as Ambassador to France from 1918 to 1920.

But it was as a three-time winner of the Derby that his countrymen knew him best. He had noted successes in other classic races and his winnings amounted to about £845,000 (about $3,380,000).

His heir is his grandson, a Grenadier Guards officer born in 1918. Lord Derby's eldest son, Lord Stanley, who was Dominion Secretary, died in 1938 at the age of 44. The younger son is Col. Coliver Stanley, holder of many Conservative cabinet posts.

When Lord Derby retired from active life at the age of 79 he said: "You can give a man legs and arms but you can't mend an old man who is at the end of his tether."

The King, while Duke of York, once said Lord Derby's name was known throughout the world and respected wherever he was known.

How Many Weed Seeds Per Acre Do You Sow?

In the spring of 1947 a seed drill survey was conducted in Ontario to determine what grade of seed was being sown by the average farmer. Samples were taken by Junior Farmers, County Weed Inspectors and other interested parties directly from the seed drill boxes and were sent to the Plant Products Division Laboratory. Here they were tested for purity, freedom from weed seeds and germination. A total of 860 samples of grain were collected and graded as follows:

Grade No. 1 33 per cent; Grade No. 2 10; Grade No. 3 14; Rejected 43 per cent.

It is rather interesting to note that the sample of grain which had the most number of weed seeds in it had 2,660 weed seeds in one pound, while the sample of grass or clover had in one ounce 3,925 weed seeds. One might ask the question, 'Was the person sowing this mixture, sowing weeds or grain?'.

Now is the time to get the seed cleaning plant into your place or the fanning mill out from the corner. If you are in doubt as to the type of screens to use in your fanning mill, contact the Department of Agriculture, Stirling. However, do not wait until seeding time to prepare your grain.

If you have a surplus of seed grain, please notify the Department of Agriculture, Stirling, as there is a demand for the same.

PORT ALBERNI FIRE

Port Alberni, B.C. —(CP)— Explosion of a 600-gallon oil-storage tank damaged the press and a stock of newsprint in the offices of the weekly West Coast Advocate here recently. The explosion occurred during a fire, thought to have started near an oil furnace. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

BARBARA ANN

Barbara Ann practised today in one corner of the huge Olympic ice stadium during the Poland-Italy hockey match and spectators devoted most of their attention to the skating champion. The stadium ice was barely negotiable on skates but other rinks dotted around the Alpine resort looked like mill ponds.

Holds Wide Margin

Barbara Ann already is well on her way to adding the Olympic laurel to her world, European and North American championships. At the end of yesterday's two school figures she held a clear-cut 8.4-margin over her nearest competitor, Eva Pawlik of Austria.

The other three figures were scheduled for this morning but had to be postponed. In addition to school figures, the free style would have to be skated before Barbara Ann could be declared champion.

If Barbara Ann is deprived of a shot at the Olympic crown, it will be the first major setback in career of the 19-year-old Ottawa girl who has won every major title for which she has competed.

Meantime pools of water formed on some St. Moritz rinks. A scheduled hockey game between Canada and the United States was postponed, although three other contests were played during the morning. The Dominion R.C.A.F. Flyers now are in second place two points behind Czechoslovakia but have a game in hand over the Czechs, who walloped Austria 14-3 today.

The combined slalom and pentathlon riding events were run on schedule but the final heats of the skeleton bobsled race on hazardous cresta run were postponed.

Sleet, turning to soft snow, made ice conditions wretched, but there was one faint hope for resumption of the Olympic schedule. At noon the Olympics press bureau posted a scribbled bulletin "weather getting colder."

Brings Swift Retort

Speculation on the possibility of transferring events to other centres brought a swift retort from Mayor Carl Nater of St. Moritz, chairman of the Swiss organizing committee of the games. "Everything, including figure skating, must be held here," said Nater.

Meanwhile, some events were slated despite the weather.

France and Austria apparently won the Alpine combined skiing titles today as Henri Oreiller of France, who captured the downhill championship Monday, added two slalom runs in 2:22.3.

The combined — figured on an intricate point system for both downhill and slalom tests — requires several hours sometimes for final decision by the judges.

The women's combined seemed to be wrapped up for Trude Beiser of Austria after the European specialist turned in two excellent runs in 2:10.5.

The downhill women's winner, Hedy Schunegger of Switzerland, suffered an accident and fell far back in the competition.

In hockey, Czechoslovakia defeated Austria 14-3, Switzerland topped Britain 12-3 and Poland outlasted Italy 13-7.

The spring-like weather — coming on top of the hockey fuss which saw that sport eliminated from the games' official program —came as a severe blow to the Swiss organizing committee.

HOPES VOLUNTARY

since the Labor Government came to power in 1945. The government previously limited its intervention in such matters to collective bargaining between employers and unions. In these they appealed to the workers not to ask for major pay increases, in return for a promise to keep living costs down.

Living costs have been climbing, however, particularly since the decision late last year to freeze government food subsidies at the present level.

The Conservative opposition has been campaigning for a long time against government controls, although conceding that some might have to be retained for a while.

The government sources emphasized that Attlee's address would not touch upon currency or financial matters.

Dr. Jack Robertson

The death of Dr. J. J. Robertson removed a physician who enjoyed the friendship and respect of a wide circle of people in the Belleville district. Not only was he highly skilled in the art of healing but it was always a delight to spend a social hour with him whenever he had the time to spare.

He loved life and he was generous with the amount of time he devoted to cases where the ills of the body were magnified in the mind to such an extent that the period of sickness was unduly prolonged. His cheery and jovial manner helped his patients to forget for awhile their worries with consequent benefit to themselves. They got a 'lift' from his confident counsel and witticisms on the foibles of the human race. For that reason alone his presence in any sick-room was a stimulant of inestimable value.

Doctor "Jack" was blessed with a voice that carried far and wide and for those of his patients in hospital it was easy to determine his progress down the corridors until he came to the rooms of those whom he visited. Not only did he visit his own cases but if he knew those of other physicians, he would occasionally drop in for a chat, and he was always welcome. When he came into the home of a sick friend the patient upstairs would be amused by the comments inside the front door asking what that "good-for-nothing so and so was doing in bed and why didn't he get up and go to work." He could also be as debonair as the best of them when the occasion warranted it.

Because he loved life he loved people of all classes and always had the happy faculty of making friends wherever he went. As a raconteur of interesting experiences he had few equals. And so Doctor "J. J." will be sadly missed not only by the surviving members of his family but by a wide circle of friends and a wider group of patients as well. It will be hard to remember that his office no longer contains the energetic vitality of his presence. He is gone but he will not soon be forgotten. This paper joins with a host of his friends in extending condolences to members of his family who knew and loved him best.

Scrapping of Ships

"We have always a tear ready for the superannuated warship," notes the Manchester Guardian, telling of the shock which was felt when Lord Hall announced that the battleships Queen Elizabeth, Valiant, Nelson and Rodney and the battle cruisers and smaller ships regarded as obsolescent or of little fighting value are also either to be scrapped or sold. Lord Hall pointed out that the ships would be costly in upkeep both in money and manpower and that the cost of modernization would not be justified by the results. He gave the assurance that these reductions would not "reduce the effective strength of the Navy below that required to most any emergency likely to arise in the foreseeable future. We should still have five modern battleships, including the Vanguard." The Guardian agrees with Lord Hall that the strength of the Navy has not been drastically slashed, and comments, "its teeth are as sharp as before the decision."

A Soldier's Will

The will of a soldier, General Ian Hamilton, was published the other day. To his heirs, this famous Gordon Highlander, who had led the Allied attack on the Dardanelles in the First World War, left a variety of priceless reminders of the adventurous Empire-building days when Britain was well symbolized by a lion.

Sir Ian Hamilton was one of a dying generation of Britons who had fought hard and gallantly in distant lands to build up the greatest Empire the world has ever known. He had tasted the fruits of victory and he had known the bitterness of defeat. He had been with the men who died like flies before the Turkish fire at Gallipoli. He knew well the blood, sweat and tears that it took to build an Empire.

In his will, bequests included:

To Winston Churchill — A black Buddha "taken by Ghurka orderlies and myself from the deserted temple near Mandalay during the Burmese War . . . In the worst stress of politics and when the heathen most do rage, a glance at the placid features of this emblem of divinity will help to keep smiling."

To his great-nephew, Alexander Hamilton—"In the confident belief that when the occasion arises he will lead his men bravely into battle, the sword with the ivory hilt I wore at the Dardanelles, also the small Afghan knife . . . said to have killed seven men, taken from the body of the Mullah with whom I fought that duel in September, 1879."

To his nephew, Ian B. M. Hamilton—Broadsword with Cameron blade and Gordon hilt; lock of hair from Mary Queen of Scots; porcelain statue of the Kaiser given him by the German monarch; pair of painted vases given him by the Mikado, carpet given him by the King of Serbia and a gold box given him by the King of Romania.

To the Scottish War Memorial Museum —All his full-size war medals and decorations, including foreign ones, "just to show that in the world to come there is no difference between ex-allies and ex-enemies.— Hamilton Spectator.

Epitaphs

The Bishop of Chelmsford would like greater freedom of expression on memorial tablets, contrasting the terse descriptions on the tombstones today "with the fuller, and sometimes quainter tributes of the past," remarks the Manchester Guardian. The newspaper says that "it would be difficult for epitaph drafters of today to think themselves back into the certainties and simplicities of earlier centuries. The mood is gone and with it the manner, whether humble or august. The long and considered eulogy of the eighteenth century magnate belongs as much to the irrecoverable (and expensive) past as the vast wall with which he no doubt surrounded his estate and resting-place in the land of the living. The Guardian does not think that those who come after will view the present age as "dull and lacking in humor" and assures the Bishop that "our ancestors were not being quaint on purpose."

People of the future will no doubt appreciate the greater simplicity of the inscriptions placed on memorials.

FINGER-TIP FITNESS

Precision work is related to one's state of health, just as definitely as heavy manual work, according to Canada's health authorities. It is said that for accuracy of fingers, as for alertness of brain, one must be in tip-top condition, which means that one must eat properly. In other words, one needs the "stomach for the job." Health officers say that, if one is tired or develops headaches at his desk, counter or bench, the diet should be checked. Chances are, he is not really having nutritious meals.

This week is Health Week and the question of health is looming large both for individual and the public.

ABORIGINES AND HEALTH

One of the problems associated with the opening up and development of Canada has concerned care of the native population. Since 1759, army doctors have occasionally given medical care to Indians, Eskimos and the nomads who are also our wards, but only in comparatively recent years has the government — for humanitarian reasons — provided for the complete health care of these people. Canada is spending more than four-and-a-half-million dollars this year for these services, maintaining 18 hospitals and operating widespread nursing and medical services. A special attack is being made on the Redman's curse — Tuberculosis .

The true university these days is a collection of books. — Carlyle.

FATHER'S WATCH

My father's watch was one he wound
Each evening with a key.
'Twas silver-cased; but pride profound
In all its works had he.
He'd vow 'twas never fast or slow,
But week by week would run,
And just as truly time would show
As moon and stars and sun.

Of little was my father vain.
He always simply dressed,
But I have heard him time again
Insist his watch the best.
No watch, he'd say, to those he knew,
Of silver case or gold,
With many jewels or a few,
The hour so truly told.

I wonder where that watch has gone?
I've searched it high and low.
Of all the family, there is none
Today who seems to know.
No timepiece such as dad possessed
Has fallen to his son.
Perhaps with him it went to rest,
Their years of service done.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Have any Presidents been musicians?

Washington had a decided appreciation of music and is supposed to have tried unsuccessfully to play the flute.

Jefferson loved music and was an accomplished amateur violinist. In his younger days he practiced on the violin several hours a day under the direction of an Italian instructor. Tradition says he wooed and won the lady he married by playing his violin and singing. The house at Shadwell, his birthplace and boyhood home, burned down during his absence, and when he returned he anxiously asked a Negro servant whether his library had been saved. "No, sir, master," replied the servant, "but we saved your fiddle."

While Governor of Virginia, Jefferson wrote to a friend in Europe: "If there is a gratification which I envy any people it is, to your country, its music. This is the favorite passion of my soul, and fortune has cast my lot in a country where it is in a state of deplorable barbarism."

—John Quincy Adams agreed with Jefferson regarding the musical talent of Americans. In 1795 he wrote in his dairy that he told the French representative at The Hague that "I am extremely fond of music, and by dint of great pains have learnt to blow very badly the flute — but could never learn to perform upon the violin, because I never could acquire the art of putting the instrument in tune — that I consoled myself with the idea of being an American, and therefore not susceptible of great musical powers."

Lincoln, when asked whether he could play the violin, replied that he didn't know, since he had never tried.

Grant said he could whistle only two tunes; one was Yankee Doodle and the other wasn't.

McKinley had a good singing voice, Wilson sang tenor parts in his college glee club, Coolidge played the mouth organ, Harding played in a band in his younger days, and Truman is an amateur pianist, but Taft was so tone deaf that he could not recognize the national anthem and had his secretary nudge him so he would know when to rise.

Debris and Oil Sighted on Ocean

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 3. — (CP)—Floating debris and two widely-scattered oil slicks were sighted several hundred miles northeast of Bermuda today as an intensive air and sea search for a British South American Airways plane which disappeared Jan. 30, with 29 persons aboard passed its fourth day.

Although the oil patches were not believed connected with the lost Tudor plane, an aircraft directed a United States Coast Guard cutter to the spot where the debris was seen.

Rough seas made identification of the debris impossible today, it was not sighted near either of the oil slicks, one 500 miles east-northeast of here and the other 240 miles northeast.

Among the passengers was Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham, wartime chief of tactical air forces.

In London today the Civil Aviation Ministry suspended flights of Tudor IV airliners pending inquiry into the mishap.

G. S. Bindgren, parliamentary secretary for the ministry, said in the British House of Commons that the ban is temporary. All Tudor IV's of this airline must now obtain new certificates of air worthiness. Other type planes will be used on the South American run starting today.

Red Cross Drive For $3,000,000 Set for March

Toronto, Feb. 4. — With emphasis on the urgent need for kindness and neighborly help to relieve human suffering, the Red Cross will open a national appeal for $3,000,000 on Monday, March 1, to carry on its peacetime work in Canada, it was announced today by Arthur L. Bishop, chairman of the Red Cross national executive committee.

"The Red Cross is a symbol of unfailing help at time of trouble in almost every country of the world," Mr. Bishop pointed out. "The work of the Society in Canada is the expression of human kindness by which one neighbor lends his hand to another, and is the agent through which citizens of every creed may work for the betterment of national health and the relief of human suffering."

Mr. Bishop referred particularly to the Society's health and medical services.

"Much remains to be done in this country to bring modern medical aid within reach of all," he said. "This year the Red Cross hopes to extend the free national Blood Transfusion Service, already operating in British Columbia and Alberta, to other provinces so that more Canadians may receive the life-giving miracle of blood transfusion therapy at time of illness or accident, without cost."

'The Outpost Hospital Service, at present serving 71 frontier communities across Canada, must keep pace with the pioneers who are striking off in ever-increasing numbers to found new settlements and utilize the far-flung resources of this country."

Other Red Cross services for the protection of Canadian lives, the promotion of better health and the relief of human suffering include work in Nutrition, Disaster Relief, First Aid, Swimming and Water Safety, Mobile Medical and Dental Clinics, Veterans' Welfare, Junior Red Cross and Cripplde Children's Hospitals

"Next month the Society will turn once more to the people of Canada who have never failed Red Cross in the past, and who will, I am confident, support Red Cross again in its great humanitarian efforts on behalf of our Canadian people," Mr. Bishop concluded.

WHEN YOU GROW TOO OLD TO ROLL

When one grows as old as the hills it is, well, not natural but, say, customary to become frail or inform, or at least to behave that way. If you have played a fair game of tennis and enjoyed playing it, you must go away back and sit down and leave such carryings on to the young 'uns.

If your education has included the usual morbid stuff about your nerves, your heart, your blood pressure and your intestinal tract (the business of regulating the liver has slumped tremendously since the charlatans discovered auto-intoxication or auto-toxemia, as some of them call it), you will probably have a well developed case of infirmity even before you will have passed middle age.

So I'll just set down here the views, theories or concepts of old age which, to the best of my knowledge, and currently most popular with the medical profession as follows:

1. Growing old is a process of degeneration, the speed of which depends in inheritance.

2. Prolongation of youth or slowing the advance of old age depends on how you use your body, the care of your health and how well you protect it from damage by alcohol and disease.

3. Old age is a state of mind. (Frankly, I can't see much sense in this one — I think the state of mind depends rather on your age, but I include the idea here because it appears in poetry and even philosophy and medical literature.

4. Preservation of the characteristics of youth and postponement of the encroachments of old age is a question of good nutrition or the prevention of moderate nutritional deficiency through the years of childhood, youth and maturity.

Although I cannot deny that the first three factors may be concerned in some instance it seems to me that the fourth factor, nutritional deficiency, is the important one, indeed the one that demands consideration in nearly every case of premature aging.

In the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, available on written request if you provide stamped envelope bearing your address —and I hope at least as many young folks ask for it as older folks do — I explain just what nutritional deficiencies are operative, how they come about and how to correct them. Remember, though, old timers, you can't remedy in a month the damage done by thirty or forty years of malnutrition. I prepared the pamphlet with the hope of making a lot of you folks who feel and are prematurely old at thirty or forty feel fine and dandy at sixty or eighty, so please take it that way.

In any case if there is a doubt, from the way you look and the way you feel, whether you are too old for your years, try this simple test: Roll half a dozen somersaults on floor or ground— curling up tight and keeping chin on chest as you roll, without losing contact with floor or ground. If you can do so and come up on your feet smiling, not dizzy or flustered, your are still pretty young for your years.

The death of Dr. J. J. Robertson removed a physician who enjoyed the friendship and respect of a wide circle of people in the Belleville district. Not only was he highly skilled in the art of healing but it was always a delight to spend a social hour with him whenever he had the time to spare.

He loved life and he was generous with the amount of time he devoted to cases where the ills of the body were magnified in the mind to such an extent that the period of sickness was unduly prolonged. His cheery and jovial manner helped his patients to forget for awhile their worries with consequent benefit to themselves. They got a 'lift' from his confident counsel and witticisms on the foibles of the human race. For that reason alone his presence in any sick-room was a stimulant of inestimable value.

Doctor "Jack" was blessed with a voice that carried far and wide and for those of his patients in hospital it was easy to determine his progress down the corridors until he came to the rooms of those whom he visited. Not only did he visit his own cases but if he knew those of other physicians, he would occasionally drop in for a chat, and he was always welcome. When he came into the home of a sick friend the patient upstairs would be amused by the comments inside the front door asking what that "good-for-nothing so and so was doing in bed and why didn't he get up and go to work." He could also be as debonair as the best of them when the occasion warranted it.

Because he loved life he loved people of all classes and always had the happy faculty of making friends wherever he went. As a raconteur of interesting experiences he had few equals. And so Doctor "J. J." will be sadly missed not only by the surviving members of his family but by a wide circle of friends and a wider group of patients as well. It will be hard to remember that his office no longer contains the energetic vitality of his presence. He is gone but he will not soon be forgotten. This paper joins with a host of his friends in extending condolences to members of his family who knew and loved him best.

Scrapping of Ships

"We have always a tear ready for the superannuated warship," notes the Manchester Guardian, telling of the shock which was felt when Lord Hall announced that the battleships Queen Elizabeth, Valiant, Nelson and Rodney and the battle cruisers and smaller ships regarded as obsolescent or of little fighting value are also either to be scrapped or sold. Lord Hall pointed out that the ships would be costly in upkeep both in money and manpower and that the cost of modernization would not be justified by the results. He gave the assurance that these reductions would not "reduce the effective strength of the Navy below that required to most any emergency likely to arise in the foreseeable future. We should still have five modern battleships, including the Vanguard." The Guardian agrees with Lord Hall that the strength of the Navy has not been drastically slashed, and comments, "its teeth are as sharp as before the decision."

A Soldier's Will

The will of a soldier, General Ian Hamilton, was published the other day. To his heirs, this famous Gordon Highlander, who had led the Allied attack on the Dardanelles in the First World War, left a variety of priceless reminders of the adventurous Empire-building days when Britain was well symbolized by a lion.

Sir Ian Hamilton was one of a dying generation of Britons who had fought hard and gallantly in distant lands to build up the greatest Empire the world has ever known. He had tasted the fruits of victory and he had known the bitterness of defeat. He had been with the men who died like flies before the Turkish fire at Gallipoli. He knew well the blood, sweat and tears that it took to build an Empire.

In his will, bequests included:

To Winston Churchill — A black Buddha "taken by Ghurka orderlies and myself from the deserted temple near Mandalay during the Burmese War . . . In the worst stress of politics and when the heathen most do rage, a glance at the placid features of this emblem of divinity will help to keep smiling."

To his great-nephew, Alexander Hamilton—"In the confident belief that when the occasion arises he will lead his men bravely into battle, the sword with the ivory hilt I wore at the Dardanelles, also the small Afghan knife . . . said to have killed seven men, taken from the body of the Mullah with whom I fought that duel in September, 1879."

To his nephew, Ian B. M. Hamilton—Broadsword with Cameron blade and Gordon hilt; lock of hair from Mary Queen of Scots; porcelain statue of the Kaiser given him by the German monarch; pair of painted vases given him by the Mikado, carpet given him by the King of Serbia and a gold box given him by the King of Romania.

To the Scottish War Memorial Museum —All his full-size war medals and decorations, including foreign ones, "just to show that in the world to come there is no difference between ex-allies and ex-enemies.—Hamilton Spectator.

Epitaphs

The Bishop of Chelmsford would like greater freedom of expression on memorial tablets, contrasting the terse descriptions on the tombstones today "with the fuller, and sometimes quainter tributes of the past," remarks the Manchester Guardian. The newspaper says that "it would be difficult for epitaph drafters of today to think themselves back into the certainties and simplicities of earlier centuries. The mood is gone and with it the manner, whether humble or august. The long and considered eulogy of the eighteenth century magnate belongs as much to the irrecoverable (and expensive) past as the vast wall with which he no doubt surrounded his estate and resting-place in the land of the living. The Guardian does not think that those who come after will view the present age as "dull and lacking in humor" and assures the Bishop that "our ancestors were not being quaint on purpose."

People of the future will no doubt appreciate the greater simplicity of the inscriptions placed on memorials.

FINGER-TIP FITNESS

Precision work is related to one's state of health, just as definitely as heavy manual work, according to Canada's health authorities. It is said that for accuracy of fingers, as for alertness of brain, one must be in tip-top condition, which means that one must eat properly. In other words, one needs the "stomach for the job." Health officers say that, if one is tired or develops headaches at his desk, counter or bench, the diet should be checked. Chances are, he is not really having nutritious meals.

This week is Health Week and the question of health is looming large both for individual and the public.

ABORIGINES AND HEALTH

One of the problems associated with the opening up and development of Canada has concerned care of the native population. Since 1759, army doctors have occasionally given medical care to Indians, Eskimos and the nomads who are also our wards, but only in comparatively recent years has the government — for humanitarian reasons — provided for the complete health care of these people. Canada is spending more than four-and-a-half-million dollars this year for these services, maintaining 18 hospitals and operating widespread nursing and medical services. A special attack is being made on the Redman's curse — Tuberculosis .

I have always despised the whining yelp of complaint and the cowardly feeble resolve. — Burns.

FATHER'S WATCH

My father's watch was one he wound
  Each evening with a key.
'Twas silver-cased; but pride profound
  In all its works had he.
He'd vow 'twas never fast or slow,
  But week by week would run,
And just as truly time would show
  As moon and stars and sun.

Of little was my father vain.
  He always simply dressed,
But I have heard him time again
  Insist his watch the best.
No watch, he'd say, to those he knew,
  Of silver case or gold,
With many jewels or a few,
  The hour so truly told.

I wonder where that watch has gone?
  I've searched it high and low.
Of all the family, there is none
  Today who seems to know.
No timepiece such as dad possessed
  Has fallen to his son.
Perhaps with him it went to rest,
  Their years of service done.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Have any Presidents been musicians?

Washington had a decided appreciation of music and is supposed to have tried unsuccessfully to play the flute.

Jefferson loved music and was an accomplished amateur violinist. In his younger days he practiced on the violin several hours a day under the direction of an Italian instructor. Tradition says he wooed and won the lady he married by playing his violin and singing. The house at Shadwell, his birthplace and boyhood home, burned down during his absence, and when he returned he anxiously asked a Negro servant whether his library had been saved. "No, sir, master," replied the servant, "but we saved your fiddle."

While Governor of Virginia, Jefferson wrote to a friend in Europe: "If there is a gratification which I envy any people it is, to your country, its music. This is the favorite passion of my soul, and fortune has cast my lot in a country where it is in a state of deplorable barbarism."

—John Quincy Adams agreed with Jefferson regarding the musical talent of Americans. In 1795 he wrote in his dairy that he told the French representative at The Hague that "I am extremely fond of music, and by dint of great pains have learnt to blow very badly the flute — but could never learn to perform upon the violin, because I never could acquire the art of putting the instrument in tune — that I consoled myself with the idea of being an American, and therefore not susceptible of great musical powers."

John Tyler, while a student at William and Mary, found relaxation in fiddling.

Lincoln, when asked whether he could play the violin, replied that he didn't know, since he had never tried.

Grant said he could whistle only two tunes; one was Yankee Doodle and the other wasn't.

McKinley had a good singing voice. Wilson sang tenor parts in his college glee club, Coolidge played the mouth organ, Harding played in a band in his younger days, and Truman is an amateur pianist, but Taft was so tone deaf that he could not recognize the national anthem and had his secretary nudge him so he would know when to rise.

Debris and Oil Sighted on Ocean

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 3. — (CP)—Floating debris and two widely-scattered oil slicks were sighted several hundred miles northeast of Bermuda today as an intensive air and sea search for a British South American Airways plane which disappeared Jan. 30, with 29 persons aboard passed its fourth day.

Although the oil patches were not believed connected with the lost Tudor plane, an aircraft directed a United States Coast Guard cutter to the spot where the debris was seen.

Rough seas made identification of the debris impossible today, it was not sighted near either of the oil slicks, one 500 miles east-northeast of here and the other 240 miles northeast.

Among the passengers was Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham, wartime chief of tactical air forces.

In London today the Civil Aviation Ministry suspended flights of Tudor IV airliners pending inquiry into the mishap.

G. S. Lindgren, parliamentary secretary for the ministry, said in the British House of Commons that the ban is temporary. All Tudor IV's of this airline must now obtain new certificates of air worthiness. Other type planes will be used on the South American run starting today.

Red Cross Drive For $3,000,000 Set for March

Toronto, Feb. 4. — With emphasis on the urgent need for kindness and neighborly help to relieve human suffering, the Red Cross will open a national appeal for $3,000,000 on Monday, March 1, to carry on its peacetime work in Canada, it was announced today by Arthur L. Bishop, chairman of the Red Cross national executive committee.

"The Red Cross is a symbol of unfailing help at time of trouble in almost every country of the world," Mr. Bishop pointed out. "The work of the Society in Canada is the expression of human kindness by which one neighbor lends his hand to another, and is the agent through which citizens of every creed may work for the betterment of national health and the relief of human suffering."

Mr. Bishop referred particularly to the Society's health and medical services.

"Much remains to be done in this country to bring modern medical aid within reach of all," he said. "This year the Red Cross hopes to extend the free national Blood Transfusion Service, already operating in British Columbia and Alberta, to other provinces so that more Canadians may receive the life-giving miracle of blood transfusion therapy at time of illness or accident, without cost."

"The Outpost Hospital Service, at present serving 71 frontier communities across Canada, must keep pace with the pioneers who are striking off in ever-increasing numbers to found new settlements and utilize the far-flung resources of this country."

Other Red Cross services for the protection of Canadian lives, the promotion of better health and the relief of human suffering include work in Nutrition, Disaster Relief, First Aid, Swimming and Water Safety, Mobile Medical and Dental Clinics, Veterans' Welfare, Junior Red Cross and Crippled Children's Hospitals

"Next month the Society will turn once more to the people of Canada who have never failed Red Cross in the past, and who will, I am confident, support Red Cross again in its great humanitarian efforts on behalf of our Canadian people," Mr. Bishop concluded.

WHEN YOU GROW TOO OLD TO ROLL

When one grows as old as the hills it is, well, not natural but, say, customary to become frail or inform, or at least to behave that way. If you have played a fair game of tennis and enjoyed playing it, you must go away back and sit down and leave such carryings on to the young 'uns.

If your education has included the usual morbid stuff about your nerves, your heart, your blood pressure and your intestinal tract (the business of regulating the liver has slumped tremendously since the charlatans discovered auto-intoxication or auto-toxemia, as some of them call it), you will probably have a well developed case of infirmity even before you will have passed middle age.

So I'll just set down here the views, theories or concepts of old age which, to the best of my knowledge, and currently most popular with the medical profession as follows:

1. Growing old is a process of degeneration, the speed of which depends in inheritance.

2. Prolongation of youth or slowing the advance of old age depends on how you use your body, the care of your health and how well you protect it from damage by alcohol and disease.

3. Old age is a state of mind. (Frankly, I can't see much sense in this one — I think the state of mind depends rather on your age, but I include the idea here because it appears in poetry and even philosophy and medical literature.

4. Preservation of the characteristics of youth and postponement of the encroachments of old age is a question of good nutrition or the prevention of moderate nutritional deficiency through the years of childhood, youth and maturity.

Although I cannot deny that the first three factors may be concerned in some instance it seems to me that the fourth factor, nutritional deficiency, is the important one, indeed the one that demands consideration in nearly every case of premature aging.

In the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, available on written request if you provide stamped envelope bearing your address —and I hope at least as many young folks ask for it as older folks do — I explain just what nutritional deficiencies are operative, how they come about and how to correct them. PETRILLO'S BAN DOESN'T AFFECT RADIO STATIONS

By JACK McNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Radio program directors who got prematurely grey struggling to fill empty ether with an ear-catching succession of sounds, 18 hours a day, seven days a week, didn't bat an eye when James Caesar Petrillo announced that American musicians would quit making recordings "for all time" sharp on the stroke of midnight, Dec. 31.

It has been estimated that some smaller independent stations depend on records for up to 90 per cent of their day-time broadcasting. Large private stations and the CBC, able to afford a richer variety of sustainers and network offerings, carry a greater number of "live" programs during the day. But it doesn't take more than one day's listening to detect that even their muscial fare is mainly recorded. In the light of these facts, the phenomenon of the unbatted eye deserves elucidation.

It's general knowledge that the recording companies built up an immense backlog—estimated to be adequate for anywhere from one to three years of master recordings, from each of which an unlimited number of records can be pressed.

Not so generally known is the belief of a number of top-notch radio people that popular hit tunes—in most cases, at least—become hits not by any intrinsic merit but by high-pressure promotion. The song hits of 1948 have already been picked and recorded and are simply awaiting the chosen month for their debut, said one exponent of this view, a program director and conductor of Dominion-wide fame.

Mexican Recordings?

Whether the roster of hits has been foreordained or not, there's always the chance that some song written after the ban might attain sensational success. And there's an answer to that eventuality too. Wayne Oliver, Associated Press radio columnist, quotes American recordings officials as saying there's nothing to prevent such a song being recorded overseas or in Mexico. But he adds: "The big question is whether foreign musicians performances would appeal to American taste in popular music." Which, of course, goes for Canadian taste as well.

Radio stations and networks are in the same boat as the music lover who buys the odd record for his own phonograph. They don't buy wholesale or record their own (except when they wax complete programs for delayed broadcast). Like John Q. Citizen, they buy their discs from the retail dealers. Incidentally, they get no preference on records available—the old merchandising rule, "first come first served" still obtains—but because they buy in quantity they usually get a fixed discount.

However, program directors seem to agree that there will be plenty of records for everybody. And, they point out, despite Mr. Petriollo's quaint assertion that his ban is "for all time," there is a chance that musicians may be recording again just short of eternity. Some of the more sanguine fellows among them are even whispering—"off the record, mind you"—that eternity may be measured in weeks.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

New York, (AP)—Feelings of anxiety —something that bothered even caveman society —may often stem from guilt, says Dr. O. H. Mowrer, associate professor of psychology at Harvard University.

This idea differs from that of Sigmund Freud, who believed that anxiety and many neuroses of modern life came from repressed desires and impulses which a person would like to indulge in, but didn't dare.

The view that they come from guilt and social fear offers a way to treat them successfully and to get rid of the anxiety and neuroses, Dr. Mowrer said. It would also indicate that man's social and moral conscience is getting better.

Ancient and prehistoric man probably had the psychological problem of anxiety feelings, he said. There is good reason to believe that anxiety "is the principal reason for modern man's addiction to alcohol, tobacco, other intoxicants and stimulants and to gambling and gluttony." Such things can bring some relief of the anxiety.

The use of magic, and many religious rites and practices also seem to offer relief, he added.

Fear is a dread of something objective, but anxiety might be defined as fear of nothing, or fear of something which the person won't admit exists, Dr. Mowrer explained. A neurosis can be thought of as behavior that reduces the anxiety, by escaping the reality of facing the cause of it. Neurotics don't know why they are anxious.

Freud's theory, Dr. Mowrer said, was that a person did something for which he was punished. This leads to an internal conflict between the impulse and the fear of being punished for it and the impulse is repressed.

But later the impulse tries to reassert itself. Threatened with its return, the person feels anxiety. This is really fear of the repressed impulse, but only the fear and not the impulse itself gets into his consciousness. He may do neurotic things to allay the anxiety.

"Freud's theory in essence comes from evil wishes, from acts an individual would commit if he dared."

Dr. Mowrer, in a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, expressed the view that the anxiety comes from acts which a person has committed, but wishes he hadn't done.

"It now appears that in most if not all neurotics the problem is to help the individual 'grow up' to the demands of his conscience, not to try to whittle down or dilute those demands," he said.

"It brings the scientific theory of anxiety into fundamental agreement with the implicit assumptions of the great religions of the world concerning anxiety, namely that it is a product not of too little self-indulgence and satisfaction, but of too much, a product not of over-restraint and inhibition, but of irresponsibility, guilt and immaturity."

The anxiety can be accepted as a "friendly" and helpful sign of something wrong, and treatment can be carried out so that the anxiety becomes ordinary guilt and moral fear, he continued. Realistic adjustments and new learning can then be accomplished so that the hidden fear is recognized and overcome.

"This is in marked contrast to the Freudian imputation that anxiety is an imposter—foreign, unfriendly and destructive."

This approach opens the way to a more hopeful and healthy conception of the nature of psychotherapy (treatment of psychological ills) and of education generally.

Notable Air Record in Pacific Area

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Sydney, Australia, (CP)—The Japan Courier Service—the longest air route in the world operated with twin-engined aircraft —has been discontinued by the Royal Australian Air Force.

Qantas Empire Airways have taken over the 7,000-mile route under charter to the R.A.A.F. and replaced the C47s with four-engined Lancastrians.

During the two years the R.A.A.F. operated the service from Australia to Japan over 4,000,000 miles were flown over desert, jungles, mountains, and some of the most hazardous stretches of the Pacific without a single accident.

Last plane back to Australia was flown by Sqdn. Ldr. J. D. Balfe, the pilot who flew the first plane up to Tokyo.

Balfe told reporters that the best tribute to the service came from United States troops at Okinawa. Because of their punctuality in getting in and out of Okinawa in all kinds of weather the Americans gave them the same service priority as they did Pan-American Airways, which was higher than their own army and navy planes got.

Balfe said that all airmen in Japan, Americans and British, agree that the R.A.A.F. courier had a better record than any civil or military airline in the world.

Reason for the government's decision to discontinue the service was stated to be the smaller cost of operating Lancastrians under charter for the long run, and the fact that the Dakotas would eventually be banned from the long ocean hops. Apart from that it is believed the government wants to operate a civil route to Japan and sees this as an opportunity to get in on the ground floor, before others begin to operate.

Supply Dumps Yield Pacific "Treasure"

Auckland, N.Z. — (CP) — Treasure trove in the South Seas is no longer Spanish doubloons or pieces of eight. A new generation of treasure seekers is after a very different cargo among the islands of the Pacific — valuable items among among the vast quantities of war material abandoned by the United States army on islands that were once busy bases but which are already becoming overgrown again by jungle.

A party of six young New Zealand ex-servicemen will leave Auckland early this year in a Fairmile launch, purchased at a war assets realization sale for the New Hebrides and Colomons. Primarily they will operate a passenger service among the islands, but they hope to salvage valuable equipment from overgrown and already half-forgotten supply dumps during their travels.

COLLAPSIBLE CARRIAGE FOLDS, SMOTHERING BABY

Binghamton, N.Y. Feb. 4 (AP) —Eight-months-old Janet Lin Behrens was smothered yesterday when her collapsible carriage folded, pinning her across the chest. Police said the child apparently had bounced enough to loosen the catches.

ARGUE CITY BREAKS BY-LAW

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Health Department here ran into trouble when Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beck were brought to court for operating a nursing home in restricted north-central Rosedale Their counsel argued that the city had broken its own by-law by keeping 45 welfare patients in a nursing home in the restricted area.

Labor Champion, Frances Perkins, Won't Quit Work

By ROWLAND EVANS, JR.

Washington, (AP)—Most every morning at nine she leaves her home, walks down to the corner and hails a taxi-cab.

She might be a grandmother on a shopping tour, except she has no time for shopping.

Since September, 1945, shes has been one of the three U.S. civil service commissioners.

Miss Perkins' role as commissioner is an inconspicuous one, far removed from the dynamic part she played during the hectic New Deal era.

Her job demands periodic country-wide trips to 14 regional civil service offices, speech-making, setting up competitive examinations, guarding against inefficiency and fraud, and acting—with her two associates —as a civil service policy-making body.

Just now the commissioners are busy with another job—setting up a system of loyalty checks under the loyalty review board.

It's a full schedule that Miss Perkins (she'll be 66 next April) maintains five and sometimes six days a week. She handles it smoothly and gives no thought to the day when she must retire.

Back in 1902, at the time Miss Perkins was beginning to acquire the social thinking which advanced her to President Roosevelt's cabinet, there were few "employment arrangements" between management and labor of the type she subsequently evolved.

Callous Employer

"One day a girl got her hand caught in a honey-dripping machine (similar to a punch-press). She was only 14. Her hand had to be amputated well above the wrist.

"Imagine! only 14!

"Naturally I thought her employer would take care of her, pay her doctor's bills, or at least part of them, and give her some kind of support until she could get back on the job.

"But oh no, not at all. He was very, very nice about it but said why should he be responsible? He pointed out there was no law to involve him at all in the tragedy. I just couldn't believe it.

"But today I can tell people there is a law and that that kind of thing can't happen. Today it's the law that 14-year-old girls can't even work."

Miss Perkins is the only woman ever to attain cabinet rank. She kept her secretary of labor post longer than any other predecessor (12 years).

DEPENDABLE

AT ALL HOURS, in all kinds of weather, she's at her post. You count on her and she's proud of it.

With switchboards busier than ever because of the many more telephones, here is still "The Spirit of Service." More telephones are being added right along. Our constant aim is to provide more and better service . . . always at the lowest possible cost . . . to give greater value to every telephone user.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Does your face feel tired, and look it?

It's tough going when a middle-aged woman looks in the mirror and finds that the evidence of birthdays is recorded in the form of crinkles around her eyes, flesh softened and sagging a bit. Why should such things be? Well, the loveliest flowers fade. It is the law. Yet a woman, if she tries, can stave off the autumn look.

There are women of eighty who have scarcely a wrinkle. They started early to learn something about the art of living. They respected the laws of health. They kept busy with the massage cream. No sense giving up the fight against old man Time. It is a 100 year war; get an early start you thirty and forty girls.

When the facial upholstery begins to look a bit threadbare, lubricate it, pat it and slap it. Apply cold water freely, twice a day; it serves as an astringent, tightens tissues, revives underlying fibers that have become depleted.

There is more than that to be done. Get in better shape physically. The common causes of wrinkles are ill health and worry. Cultivate mental hygiene; keep your thoughts in pleasant channels if you can. Avoid emotional sprees as you would avoid the plague. They are devastating to the body and the spirit.

Beauticians are stressing the subject of circulation. The blood streams distribute nourishment to all the tissues, including those that compose your countenance. Perhaps yours are sluggish, and you are not feeding your face properly; the delivery service may have slowed up.

The loveliest flowers fade.

You will find restorative remedies in fresh air and oudoor life. Every morning open the window wide; wave your arms about as if you were flagging a train. Lift them high. Swing them in circles. Take long, deep breaths, straight from the cellars of your lungs. Most women breath from the attics of the bellows. Shallow breathing slows up circulation. Root out the stale air. Inhale through the nostrils, exhale through the lips. Do that little thing often enough and your face will become smoother. Not only that, the skin will have good coloring.

How about sleep? If you cut down on the hours of slumber, Nature has little chance to put you all together again, physically, mentally and spiritually.

How about your eating habits. Are you getting all the various food elements necessary for well-being? That is important. You can't run your motors without the right kind of fuel.

Do you hang onto old grievances? That's bad. Shake yourself free of them. Don't dwell on the past or fear the future. Observance of this rule is a sure recipe for ageless youth.

Ernie Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Rogers, had the misfortune to fracture his left wrist while playing in a town league hockey game on Thursday night.

Bateman—Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bateman are happy to announce the birth of a son on February 3.

To build the kind of world we want four things are needed, united action, personal co-operation, resources of money for new equipment and lastly, the commitment of ourselves so that we do not pass on a torch, the flame of which has gone out.

The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. S. J. Gray, of Garden Hill, Mrs. P. F. Gardiner, Canton, was elected President; Mrs. Ed. Morton, Cobourg, vice-president; Mrs. May Roberts, Colborne, Literature Secretary, and Mrs. J. J. Way, Wooler, Press Secretary.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

You Can't Dress Well on Promises

Some wives complain that their husbands take good care of them and provide them with everything they need, but never think to tell them how much they love them. Other wives have just the opposite problem. Their husbands constantly protest their affection, but never do anything to prove it. Personally, I think I'd rather have the kind of husband who says less and does more, for words can become very empty if they are not backed up by deeds.

This is exactly the way one of my correspondents feels who writes me that her husband loves her "more than anything", that he is constantly saying lovely things to her and to other people about her, but that he never gives her any money to buy clothes. All he does is promise.

"When I say I just have to get something to wear," she writes, he says, 'Honey, we will arrange it tomorrow. You be ready and I will come and get you and take you to get a whole new outfit, and you will be the best-looking angel on earth.' That ends it. He doesn't show up, and I am helpless to buy without money."

This sort of thing has gone on so long now, it is no wonder the wife has come to feel that "the tender, soft words of love and affection from him have become boring beyond words."

The trouble is that, in such a case, any wife would very soon come to the conclusion that the words of love themselves mean absolutely nothing. She simply doesn't believe them. And why would she?

At the present time, this woman makes all her own clothes, while doing all her own housekeeping and taking care of her two young children. She likes to play bridge and dance and is always ready for a good time. But the fact that she has not had any new clothes in over five years gives her something of an inferiority complex when she is out with her friends.

"I am sure some of them feel sorry for me," she writes, "but I just go on covering up my true feelings."

Whether or not this woman is given money by her husband to pay the household bills, she does not say. What she does say is that he keeps her completely in the dark about finances and that she has no idea how much money he makes. It may be that he is one of those men who are so afraid of putting money in their wives' hands that, instead of providing them with funds to run the house, they simply allow their wives to charge things and then they pay the bills at the end of the month. If, however, this wife is given housekeeping money, I think she would be perfectly justified in providing more simple meals for awhile and saving enough out of these funds to buy herself some clothes. If, on the other hand, she gets no ready money at all, but he pays the bills, I think she should open a charge account at some department store and buy herself what she needs.

Undoubtedly, any such step would be very likely to precipitate a quarrel with such a husband, but it might at least serve to wake him up and start him thinking. Anyhow, it seems to me it would be worth trying, if nothing else seems to work.

This wife is also concerned about the fact that her husband seems unduly interested in any pretty girl he sees. Since, however, she says that he does not stay out late at night, she is probably exaggerating his interest.

I suggest that she take one problem at a time and begin with the one that has to do with getting herself some new clothes.

Fine Fur Hemlines

By ALICE ALDEN

MANY WOMEN have discovered that the fur coat of three-quarter length is infintely smarter with today's sartorial line, than the very long fur coat. This coat is made of beautifully marked black Persian lamb and was designed by George Kaplan. The tapered silhouette curves into a tight hemline, accentuating the lines of the frock or skirt over which it is worn. The shoulders are gentle and the full sleeve is shaped to the wristline.

Fashion Flashes

VERY GOOD for wear under a coat now, and on their own later, are charming little suits of wool jersey. A slim suit has a fitted, double-breasted jacket of pink and black checked wool jersey with a slim skirt of black wool jersey.

CAN IT BE that the white-fox-trimmed white coat is coming back. We hear tell of several at Palm Beach, including a beauty, a fitted model in which broadcloth with a huge, swirling, petal collar of white fox. Another coat, very fitted through bodice and waist, and very full and swirling as to skirt, has a wide border of white fox at the skirt hem.

REPEATED THEME for Spring is the one-piece dress that looks just like a blouse and skirt. Silk crepe is used for a charming frock of this type. The simple shirtwaist-type blouse, with plunging V neckline, is in oyster white, the skirt in oxford gray, and the wide, wrapped cummerbund is in blue-gray, making for a nice color gradation.

MANY WOMEN have figures that are very full at the diaphragm in contrast to a relatively small bustline. There's rejoicing for this type in the new girdles that ride three inches above the waist, obviating the need for the girdle and longline bra combination, since this type of girdle almost meets the bra. Skillfully made, these girdles are easy to wear and give a very taut waist effect.

The CURRENT back interest extends to hats. A large hat of cream-colored felt is softly trimmed with silk chiffon in green, mauve and bluish-gray, the trimming worked to the back where it widens out in long, full, finely-pleated jabots. The brim curves softly in front.

ONE BRIGHT GIRL we know had, as a gift, a slim, full-length, side-zippered slip of shimmering white satin. As she has been wearing informal evening clothes of late, she has used the slip as a base for a beautiful house coat. For it she made loose coats of black and white lace, and has come up with a million - dollar lounging costume.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Ballet-length Skirt Proper

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited to a large formal dance to be given in the ballroom of a "swanky" metropolitan hotel. The man who has invited me to the dance will wear his tuxedo, and I would like to know if I would have to wear a long dance dress, or if one of the "new look" ballet-length dresses would be proper? (I am slim and I think this would be becoming.)

Cynthia.

Yes, the ballet-length skirt is entirely proper for this occasion . . . and the top of the dress may be either of the same material as the skirt or perhaps of a glittering fabric.

Who Supplies Substitute?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle a discussion will you please answer this question: When a member of a bridge club finds that she is unable to go to a meeting, should she supply the substitute, or should the hostess take over this responsibility?

Alice C.

That depends. Some bridge clubs have a rule that requires that a member supply her own substitute . . . and in general this is a wise rule, for it makes the member herself "do the work", which is usually a last minute job and often not so easy of accomplishment. If there is no such rule, the usual procedure is for the member to telephone the hostess just as soon as she possibly can; the hostess may, and usually does, ask the member to suggest someone to take her place and then the hostess invites here.

Shower at Fiance's Home Would Be in Bad Taste

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm to be my sister's matron of honor, and I'd like to give her a shower, inviting about fifty guests. My sister's house would be too small for that number of guests, and since I can't afford to rent a hall, I would like to give the shower at her fiance's home, where there is plenty of room for that number of guests. Would this be proper? Is there any rule that says this not proper?

G. B.

There are really no "rules" about the giving of showers. . . there are only sensible "suggestions", all based on good taste, good form in general. And for such an exceptional procedure as you have in mind, the only advice-basis would be good judgment and the wish to avoid criticism. And I suspect, from the tone of your letter, that you have been warned by some of your family or friends that this plan would be out-of-order. I agree with this. A shower should be a "ladies' affair", at least the first hour or two of the shower which is for the presentation and opening of the gifts, and this would be inappropriate in the house of the girl's fiance. It would show best taste for you to invite only the number of guests that can be accommodated either at your house (preferably at your house, since you are to be the hostess) or at your sister's house or at the house of an intimate friend of your sister's who might make this generous offer.

When Others Are Waiting

It's "no fair" to linger and talk with your companion over dessert and coffee and cigarette when you are lunching or dining in a busy, crowded restaurant. Look to see if there are others waiting for tables; if so, don't take more than your fair share of talking-time.

Rotary Speaker Deplores Selfish Interests Delaying Peace Treaties

Declaring that current efforts at arriving at a permanent world peace in comparison with those of earlier major world conflicts were "most odious", Group Captain H. H. Rutledge, R.C.A.F. Air Command staff officer at Trenton, told the Rotary Club on Monday that at the present time there were no prospects of peace treaties being signed with either Germany or Japan.

He drew attention to the fact that the Napoleonic Wars; the Franco-Prussian War; the Russo-Japanese War and the First World War of 1914-18 were concluded with peace treaties signed within a few months of the cessation of hostilities.

Deputy foreign ministers of the four great world nations, who appear to be able to meet with more success than their superiors have failed to develop an agenda. The reasons, he said, are that Russia wants to write the Treaty on her own terms; the so-called government of Germany is not a government, but a "vicious circle" the major powers cannot agree who should write the treaty and insist that only those who fought should sign, and that the Western Powers say that all those which declared war on Germany should have a say in the matter.

Own Interests Come First

Russia, he said, is not interested in any peace treaty and is content to let present conditions exist in order to meet her ends. Lesser states are not anxious because they fear her resurgence having had former bitter experiences.

The peace treaty with Germany, the group-captain said, must necessarily preclude that with Japan because of its greater world-wide implications.

Referring to a peace treaty with Japan, Group Captain Rutledge predicted that again there will be arguments as to whom will write the treaty. Russia will want the peace on her own terms and again she will be opposed by Great Britain and the United States.

In the normal course of events, he went on, China must be considered a major power in the drafting of the Japanese peace document, but what government will speak for China? That will be a stumbling block. Newly-created independent states in Southeast Asia might insist they be heard, and, the speaker asked, will the voices of Dutch Netherlands and French Indo-China be allowed to be heard?

The United States, he further predicted, will want to establish a form of democratic government in Japan and in that country there should be no trouble getting a form of government which will speak for the rest of the nation. On the other hand Russia will want a government that will be in sympathy with her ideologies.

Will Feel Apprehensive

Should the lesser states be admitted to the peace conference, they will be apprehensive and not react too kindly to the economic rehabilitation of Japan. Great Britain will not be too anxious along these lines because of her trade relations.

The United States, the speaker said, will want more jurisdiction over the many groups of islands scattered in the Pacific Ocean.

Russia, he charged, is imputing imperialistic motives to everything the United States is doing. Great Britain, he was sure, had no territorial ambitions in the Pacific.

The Soviet, in his opinion, will want to consolidate a Pacific coastline in addition to a friendly government being established in Japan. It will also insist on a mandate over the group of islands lying to the north of Japan and will exert all efforts to include Manchuria and Korea in her scheme of things.

In the old days, the question of indemnification was quickly settled. In all cases the question of reparations narrowed down to the victors loaning the vanquished the "where-with-all" to pay them back.

In endeavoring to settle European affairs, Russia has been very difficult with regards to reparations. The problem with regard to Japan will again be one of major contention, centring around admissibility of items and ability to pay.

Canada's Part Limited

Referring to Canada's part in the peace treaty with Japan, Group Captain Rutledge said that "our part in the war with that country was limited, but notwithstanding that, Canada has had a member admitted to the Supreme Council under General McArthur."

"It behooves us to watch with great interest how the situation develops," he added declaring that the principal objectives in a peace treaty with Japan are the elimination of her military potentials and restriction of her economical and military resurgence.

He doubted that Canada would have a direct representation in the drafting of the treaty, and expected "we would be restricted to indirect effects."

The alternatives in the case of failure, he pointed out, are unilateral peace treaties, in which each nation would draft its own. This was a more chaotic prospect than the one at present.

He deplored the apathy of the populations of the world in general in their attitude of leaving the matter entirely in the hands of the "experts." He urged "in your group" that individual efforts, study, and integrated thought be given to stimulate interest and action. "Try and find a few moments and satisfy yourselves that things are being done," the speaker concluded.

Group Captain Rutledge was introduced by Rotarian Russ Hachborn with club appreciation expressed by Rotarian Perc' McGuire.

New York Banker Dies in Florida

New York, Feb 3 —(AP) — Thomas W. Lamont, 77, a country clergyman's son who became head of Wall Street's "House of Morgan," died last night at his winter home in Florida.

Death of the board chairman of J.P. Morgan and company was announced in New York early today by R. G. Wasson, a vice-president of the banking firm.

"His heart finally gave out," Wasson said. The financier and philanthropist had been in poor health for more than a year. He had been in Florida since early January.

Police Unable To Fix Blame For Bomb Blast

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Police said Monday they were still unable to fix the blame for a bomb blast which wrecked the Palestine port Sunday night, injured at least 20 persons and touched off an $800,000 fire.

One Arab source said Arabs did it. Other informants blamed Jewish extremists, who have threatened the pro-Zionist, English-language daily newspaper because of its moderate stand on Jewish defence.

Still other sources blamed Britons known for their anti-Jewish sentiments.

Down-town Jerusalem, Zion Square and Ben Yehuda Street were littered with broken glass from windows shattered as far as 1,000 yards from the site of the blast.

Magen David Clinis, across from the post building — itself badly damaged by the explosion — reported it had 11 injured, two critically. Other hospitals reported a total of eight or nine while dozens of other persons walked around with bandages.

There was no official confirmation to reports that a woman living in the post building was killed in the blast.

The paper put out a single sheet two - page edition today. Ted Lurie, assistant editor, said that would continue until further notice.

British criminal investigation officers said the plant of the Post could have been bombed by either Arabs or "Jewish extremists."

STEER CHARGES UP AND DOWN STREETS FOR HOUR

Guelph, Feb. 3 (CP)—A crazed steer broke from a slaughter-house pen today and led police a merry chase through the down-town business district today before being shot and killed with a rifle fired by William T. Walker, a drover.

The animal charged up and down busy streets for more than an hour, sending shoppers scurrying indoors to safety. At one point it charged a police jeep participating in the roundup.

Walker's shot hit the steer between the eyes.

Church Committed to Concern With Secular Activities of Men

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 3 —(CP)— A commission appointed by the Church of England to weigh the task of the church in the age of the "mass man" makes two strong recommendations — that church workers seek Christian vocations in their secular world and that family life be fostered in the orbit of the local parish church.

"The real dilemma for the church today is to penetrate the secular world through its handful of active Christians, whom it has first to inspire with the knowledge of continuous experience of its own divine fellowship," said the report of the commission of 37, which has as its chairman Sir Anderson Montague-Barlow.

It recommended that the church "consider the need for directing the attention of Christians to those occupations within the industrial and professional world which are particularly liable to turn the scale for or against family and social well-being."

Teaching, Maternity Welfare

There should be "positive encouragement" toward vocations directly concerned with personal development, such as teaching, maternity and child welfare.

The commission repudiated the suggestion that the church should withdraw from worldly affairs, although admitting that "the circumstances of our time impose such conditions upon people's lives . . . that the ordinary communicant finds it well-nigh impossible to fulfill the obligation of faithful churchmanship and at the same time play an active part in the social life of the secular community."

The church however, "can make no truce with the notion that God is interested in men and women only when they are being in the narrow and specific sense 'religious.' The church is committed . . . to a concern with the secular activities of men and societies."

At the same time it must not come to be regarded as "just one more voluntary agency for promoting social welfare under the direction of the Welfare States."

Parish Church Outlet

In its summing-up the commission said the parish church was the outlet for the worth of each person, and therefore everything possible should be done "to make possible a family worship in which all our activities find a focus."

Parish meetings should be ready to sponsor special discussion groups to deal with common problems, and should be prepared to consider local and national issues even though they entered politics.

"Shall we in England continue to attempt to spread a thin Christian veneer over a non-Christian society, or shall we attempt the creation of truly Christian communities of one sort or another, parochial and non-parochial?" it asked. "Can every parish in England become a truly missionary community again?"

MAKE TRAVEL EASY

London — (CP) — Visas for holders of British passports travelling to Italy and for Italian citizens travelling to the United Kingdom have been abolished. This step, announced by the foreign office, is a further development of a policy to facilitate travel between Britain and friendly countries.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Many wonder why all subjects can be covered in my three two-hour lecture series. It is because each rule is boiled down to one sentence. No more than that many words are needed.

The subject taught in the second session is leads. This lesson takes the audience by surprise. Instead of a maze of tables and talks the correct lead in any hand is decided from a single sentence.

The entire sentence is: The order of choice of leads is tops, longles, shorts; don't lead a suit bid by opponents; against a suit contract, don't lead away from an ace or a king.

You may point out that the sentence must have the aid of two semi colons. But a bit of license should be permitted me. After all, it is better than spreading over a book of 300 pages.

Notice that part of the sentence reading: Against a suit contract, don't lead away from an ace or a king. How efficient this is can be seen in the following example

Suppose opponents bid one spade, two spades, four spades. It is your opening lead from this hand:

♣K 9 4 2

What is your opening lead from this hand? It is the trump six. Why? Dig into the rule and you will find the reason somewhere in my words of the one sentence.

Remember there are only two things you must not do. Don't lead an opponent bid suit; or away from ace or king (in a suit contract). Your trump lead is an opponent bid suit. So, what are you saying?

You have an ace or a king in each unbid suit. So, partner looks at dummy and his own cards. Seeing either minor ace, he knows you have its king. Seeing heart king, he knows you have its ace.

This tells partner which suit to lead when he has a chance. You told him with your first lead. And some think their instinct is enough.

The Movie Column

Hollywood, Feb. 4. —(AP)— California, which is planning a three-year celebration of the gold rush centennial, will get a helping hand from Hollywood.

At least two films are being planned in commemoration of the State's infancy. Michael Curtiz will shoot part of "The 49ers" at Coloma, Calif., where gold was discovered. Then he'll move on further scenes in Colorado (This is Treason!).

Producer Harry Sherman is scouting the Mother Lode country for locations of "Tennessee's partner" with Joel McCrea. The Bret Harte story is rich in gold rush lore.

Daring Theme

Fredric March's new film, "The Judge's Wife", is reported to treat a daring theme—mercy killing. There has been no publicity about the plot, but inside info reports that the Judge (March) ends the life of his hopelessly-ill wife (played by Florence Eldridge).

Ann Richards has been polling her Australian friends on the Americans they would like most to meet. Results: Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Albert Einstein, Douglas MacArthur, Lauritz Melchior, Irving Berlin, Bill Mauldin, Spike Jones, Jack Kramer and Richard Byrd.

10 Second Review

Careful Research Produces Popular Breakfast Cereals

By ARNOLD J. PEARSON

Minneapolis, (AP) — That chatty breakfast food you virtually inhale in a few seconds in order to catch the 7.52 for the office might have as much as ten years research behind it.

The simplicity of shaking out a few kernels or flakes from a package belies the trials and even tribulations behind development of today's breakfast time-saver so the breadwinner can get off to work and the little woman can complete her chores in time for the big afternoon bridge date.

Research as extensive as that associated with highly technical scientific problems has gone into some of these cereals which virtually "speak" to you during the morning meal.

There are no hit-and-miss tactics or "pot luck" results in the big testing kitchens of milling companies producing the cereals.

One household breakfast favorite has ten years of research behind it. But all of the testing wasn't performed in the laboratory. The public itself, with its critical taste buds, took part in the development.

One company, in 1931, decided it would like to market a ready-to-eat oat cereal. The first problem was selection of the proper type of grain. Market analysis supplied that answer when a survey showed that rolled oats as a porridge was one of America's oldest and favorite dishes.

Consumer Tests

How to prepare it for quick serving in the home and how to shape the individual kernels were among a host of problems. Consumer tests by the hundred were conducted. The cereal was developed first in disc form.

Later it was decided to produce the cereal in the shape of tiny doughnuts. The new look gave it more customer appeal.

Meanwhile, engineers in the mechanical division of the milling firm were busy over the drafting boards designing and testing special processing equipment, a gigantic task in itself.

The result was a special "gun" in which the cereal is puffed, after being cut into the tiny doughnut shapes.

There were many side-excursions in research on the nutritional value of the product after the ingredient specifications had been decided upon. Extensive tests in this phase of the development resulted in the addition of vitamins to enrich the cereal.

Among other major problems were those of efficient plant production of the cereal. Another task was the design for a package attractive to the customer.

Though a product becomes a breakfast-time favorite, the researchers still aren't finished. constant changes in the public's eating habits and tastes means testing must be continued and a new product added if advisable.

Brief Charges Canada's Electrical Industry Facing Destruction

Ottawa, Feb. 4—(CP)—Charging Canada's electrical manufacturing industry faces destruction the United Electrical Workers (C.C.L.) today demanded that the government free it from United States "domination" and from "disastrous effects" of the new dollar-conservation policy.

A 20,000-word brief from the U.E.W. was made public by Canadian President C. S. Jackson of Toronto, who declared it had been sent to the cabinet and commons members after Trade Minister Howe had declined to grant an interview to representatives of the 25,000-member Canadian section of the U.E.W.

Mr. Jackson said it was "difficult to understand" Mr. Howe's attitude, in view of the fact it was largely on his judgment the "Abbott Plan" would operate. The U.E.W. members were being "denied a voice in the formulation of government policies that can drastically affect their future."

Mr. Howe declined to comment on the Jackson charge that he had declined an interview. He said the brief was under consideration.

Slips Demanded

Declaring American domination and the dollar-conservation program threatened the Canadian industry, the U.E.W. brief called on the government to take these steps immediately:

1. Rescind the new excise tax on certain durable consumer goods made in Canada. This would help maintain the domestic market and encourage Canadian manufacture to take the place of banned imports from the U.S.

2. Roll back prices to 1946 levels and impose ceilings there.

3. Impose a 100-per-cent tax on excess profits.

4. Promote export trade with, and grant credits to, countries wanting to buy Canadian goods to restore or expand their industries, regardless of their ability to pay in U. S. dollars and "without attaching political conditions."

5. Ban the transfer from Canada of dividends and royalty payments to the U.S.

6. Control the import of parts, supplies, materials and capital equipment from the U. S. "in such a way that Canadian industry will be developed rather than disrupted."

7. Encourage Canadian development of industries to produce components for the electrical manufacturing industry.

8. Seek alternative supply sources for components which cannot be produced in Canada and which now are imported from the U.S.

9. Break "monopoly restrictions" on Canadian industry, creating new legal machinery where necessary. This would include forcing disclosures of patents, company connections and cartel agreements, and investigation and prosecution under the Combines Investigation Act.

NEW BRUNSWICK IS EXPANDING HER FISHERIES

By IRVING WHYNOT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Fredericton, (CP)—New Brunswick, a comparatively small producer of fish among Canada's seacoast provinces, is making a determined effort to put her fisheries into the realm of big business.

The sardine industry has been encouraged to an extent where it now brings shore fishermen more than $1,500,000 a year and the government is subsidizing efforts to introduce modern draggers into the Bay of Fundy.

With government financial assistance, a dragger was put into operation in the stormy Bay of Fundy early this year and was termed a "major experiment" in the fight to expand Fundy fisheries.

Success of the trip might lead to an additional $1,000,000 income in the cultivation of the rosefish industry alone and would almost definitely bring additional draggers into the strip of water between the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia shores.

The dragger, which is the first to operate in the Bay of Fundy, might also be used in the scallop fisheries which fishermen from Digby, N.S., now control almost without competition.

Provincial officials say scallops are available in large quantities in deep Bay of Fundy waters and say the dragger is the "ideal vessel" to bring them up from the deep.

The dragger, which catches fish by trolling a cone-shaped net behind, is considered a much more economical method of fishing than the more generally-used methods of trawling and handlining.

Catches Less Trash

The dragger, too, is a more comfortable ship and catches less "trash" or non-marketable fish because the net can be lowered to the depth which scientific investigations have proven are the best spots for the type of fish wanted.

The fisheries industry in New Brunswick is already a $20,000,000 business and officials say it can be "expanded greatly."

If the Fundy experiment is successful, the provincial fleet which operates in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence during the ice-free months may also be shifted to the Fundy during winter months.

The five-vessel fleet that was introduced last year out of Caraquet has already doubled fishermen's income in that area.

The draggers, however, have met opposition. J. Fred Belyea, a member of the Saint John city council and a fisherman himself, told the council that draggers deplete the fisheries and kill off young fish. This cuts into the livelihood of the majority of provincial fishermen, he said. Instead of draggers, he suggested that artificial fish culture be introduced in an effort to expand the industry.

The sardine industry, although 25 years old, has just begun to bring New Brunswick fishermen a measure of prosperity during the last seven years. During the first 11 months of 1947, record catches netted sardine fishermen $1,457,000.

Sardine fishermen say they expect an even better season during 1948 and hope to dig into the big market now satisfied by the $481,994 worth of sardines imported from Norway during the past year.

Trappers Dunk Apsley 10-4 For Seventh Win

Bancroft, Feb. 4 (Special)—On Monday evening the Apsley Aces visited Bancroft and lost to the league-leading Trappers by a 10-4 score, which gave the Trappers seven wins in a row and are now assured of first place in the standings.

The Trappers led by a 2-0 score at the end of the first frame on goals by E. Brough and Foster and from there in were never headed. The Homesters were leading by a 6-0 count at the end of the second and had added one more in third before Howden sank one for the visitors. The six foot three policeman added one more and Dunford added two more for the visitors in that same session. Goalgetters for Bancroft were E. Brought, 3, N. Brough and Crawford 2 each while Walton, Foster, Kavanaugh notched single counters. The game was surprisingly clean with only one minor penalty being handed out. Caton in the Apsley cage was a standout.

Lineups

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper pop changed his shoes to his slippers and stretched and yawned in his private chair, and ma flopped down in the other big chair saying, My, if I was ever this tired before, I hope I never remember the occasion. Really William, I mean really, I'm so tired I dont know where I am, she said.

I'm more tired than that, pop said. I not only dont know where I am, but I have no idea whether I'm coming or going, he said, and ma said, I declare my mussels feel like quivvering jelly, and if my nerves could talk they'd scream aloud. I don't want to move or even think for the next 3 hours, she said.

I feel like the lost remnants of a reck in No Man's Land, pop said. It'll take a derrick to get me to bed. In fact I may never leave this chair again, he said.

Which just then the telefone rang and I answered it and it was Mrs. Hews for ma, and ma said, Oh, I'd love to come over for a little bridge tonight, Maud, it's just the refreshmint I need, but I dont know about William. I'll ask him but I'm afraid it's impossible, she said, and pop said, You don't need to ask me, you're rite, it's impossible.

The result being they didn't go, and I answered the telefone again and it was Mr. Lewis for pop, and pop said, A few frames of bowling sound like just what the docter ordered, Herb. I'll think it over and let you know, he said.

And he hung up and ma said, If you can think bowling over you can think over coming out with me for a few breef rubbers of bridge for land sakes.

We'll compromize, pop said. If you dont go out for bridge I wont go out to bowl, so then neither can accompany the other, he said, and ma said, As long as the subject has come up, why cant we compromize on a nice restful movie?

Which they did, pop claiming it's a women's werld.

"Three-Goal" Watson Again Paces His Trenton Team To Victory Over Flyers, 4-2

With Mac Watson, their starry right-winger in a third-period hero-role, the Trenton Hockey Club chalked up their seventh straight win in Intermediate "A" circles in Memorial Arena last night when they defeated the Trenton RCAF Flyers 4-2 in a hard-fought hockey battle.

Watson, checked to an almost standstill in the first and second periods finally came into his own in the third heat when he fired home three goals in seven minuates, the last two coming within 20 seconds of each other, to give his team the margin of victory.

The win last night gives the Trenton Hockey Club a ten-point lead in the "A" group, with the Flyers in second place. Trenton has won seven of their last eight games, their only loss being registered when they were defeated by Port Hope in the early stages of the group.

Watson, for the record, has scored the hat trick in the last six games. Last night's score gives him 37 goals scored and 8 assists in nine games.

The game last night was not good hockey. There was plenty of the old-fashioned shinny mixed up with passing plays. But it was fast. The score about indicates the difference between the teams with both McKenna in the Flyers' goal and Bridgeman in the Trenton nets turning in superlative efforts.

It was a hard-fought battle, with the Flyers after Trenton had scored in the first period from the stick of Sagar, coming back with two by Miller and Brackenbury. The period ended 2-1 for Flyers.

Best of Night

The second period provided the best hockey of the night. Both teams battled up and down ice, with plenty of shinny mixed with organized plays. There was no score and no penalties.

Paced by Watson the Trenton squad gained its margin of victory in the third period. Play went from end to end as the teams battled in a more or less shinny atmosphere. Then the hitherto-scoreless Watson finally rammed home the rubber behind the clever McKenna in the Trenton nets. That was at the two minute mark. Seven minutes later the same player raced down right wing and his shot from a scramble lit the light. Twenty seconds later on a pass from C. Johnson, Watson got his hat trick while the Flyers were short-handed, Miller being in the penalty box.

That was half-way through the period and from then on the Flyers battled desperately to whittle down the lead. It was a nip-and-tuck affair from there out, but the hard-checking and fine defensive work of the Trenton team kept the Flyers at bay.

The teams:

R.C.A.F.: Goal, McKenna; defence, Bullock, Sherman; centre, Christie; wings, Miller, Middleton; subs, Brackenbury, Ault, O'Meara, Provost, Edwards and Rusycke.

Summary

1st Period.

1 Trenton, Sagar (Watson) . 9.30
2 RCAF, Miller (Middleton) 13.20
3 RCAF, Brackenbury (Ault) 17.10

2nd Period.

3rd Period.

Avery Brundage Not Well Liked At St. Moritz

St. Moritz, Feb. 4 — (AP) — When one young member of the United States Winter Olympic team heard that Avery Brundage planned to make a run on a four-man bobsled he said impiously: "I hope he breaks a leg."

No one is more cognizant of how some of the public regard him than Brundage himself.

Speaking to the American Olympic team he said wryly: "You can see I'm not a monster with horns, even though some people think I am."

What is he like, this big, sober-faced president of the United States Olympic Committee who has ideals and fights for them?

He is massive, well over six feet, and broad-shouldered. His complexion is ruddy. He is bald and 60 and his fringe of sandy hair fluffs out like a halo.

In private life he is a wealthy contractor and hotel owner in Chicago.

Some months ago he set out to fight the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States, which he claims is under commercial sponsorship. The threat to withdraw all American Olympic teams if the A. H. A. team competed naturally did not make him popular.

In the end, the International Olympic Committee said firmly that hockey was not on the official '48 Olympic program, and that the International Ice Hockey Federation no longer has Olympic approval. Hockey continues to be played in conjunction with the games, but Brundage has won a personal victory.

Europeans have been puzzled over the fight on the two American hockey teams, the one sponsored by the Olympic Committee — which has yet to play a game in Europe — and the A. H. A. team. But that has never bothered Brundage.

As Brundage sees it, his fight over hockey in the Olympic Games represents a stand for amateurism at a time when theories of sports are in a state of flux.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

This week should tell the story as to which squad the Belleville Veterans or the Kingston Saints will survive the more or less screwy but nevertheless highly hockeyish Senior "B" group hereabouts.

• • •

Tonight the Peterborough Legionnaires, a tough squad to beat at any time, will meet the Saints in the latter's bailiwick, a game which the Kingston Haysemen would rather win than take a boost in salary. According to reports from Kingston, Dingo has secured "reinforcements" from the Queen's Intermediates for the crucial struggle, and you can bet your bottom plate that if they click, or if they don't, the stude helpers will be seen in action against our chapples when they meet the Saints in Kingston come Saturday evening.

• • •

The same report says that Haynes, (how that guy does get around) endeavored to enlist the services of some of the Queen's University seniors to aid the limping Saints, but the OHA powers-that-be put down the official foot.

• • •

Saints in order to remain in the running must win both games, while our laddies, after Monday night's game when they took a 6-2 shellacking from the Petes Hockey Club, are all even-Stephen with the Kingston team, with six losses and three defeats. And thereby hangs the tale. If Kingston wins tonight and Saturday night, the best the Veterans can do is tie them again by defeating both Peterborough teams here, a neat chore for any team to undertake.

• • •

However it has been done before—and it can be done again, we 'opes. The Veterans have defeated both Peterborough squads here, and the two remaining games with these teams will be played on Belleville ice. That's something in their favor, at least. The Legion is scheduled to play here on—of all nights, Friday, February 13th. So let's not hear of any of youse guys whistling in dressing rooms, flipping your fedoras on the bed; kicking the daylights out of black cats; breaking mirrors, upsetting salt-shakers, or looking politicians in the eye, on that day.

• • •

The game with Peterborough Hockey Club postponed from January 9th will be played at a date to be announced later. As it looks now it should be a close race to the playoff wire between the Kingston and Belleville teams with both Petes squads looking on "grinningly" from the sidelines. How their feelings are disturbed we are not in a position to say, but suffice it to remark that both Petes squads have taken an unholy delight in whammin' the living daylights out of both our chappies and the Limestone lads whenever the opportunity presented itself, and things weren't otherwise. Which, after all, is the grand old game of hockey.

• • •

A couple more excerpts from that Time mag. yarn about our Barbara Ann which are interesting:

"Barbara Ann's conversation, like the chatter of most girls her age, is full of expressions like 'super' and 'fiendish' and 'divine'—and she giggles. For all that, she knows how to handle herself, and without prompting. Prime Minister Mackenzie King calls her Canada's 'ambassadress.' On the big circuit in Europe, she has learned to take one sip of champagne ('so people won't think I'm stuffy') and leave the rest, hoping no one will be offended. 'Give me a good old American milk shake any time,' she says."

• • •

Last year, after winning the world title, she got a tip, as her train was nearing Ottawa that the townspeople were going to give her a new car. Quickly she hurried into the women's toilet, wrote out and memorized a short speech. Sure enough, when she stepped off the train, the Governor-General's Foot Guards Band struck up O Canada, there were cheers from M.P.'s and the kids, who had been let out of school, and she was given a canary-colored Buick convertible. Her speech which sounded spontaneous, went over big. Two months later when she had to give the Buick back (for fear it would harm her amateur standing), her tears were unrehearsed.

• • •

Plenty of hockey in and around the village this evening. Tops is that Midget "B" playoff tilt between the Belleville Merchants and the Trenton team for the right to enter the OMHA playdowns. 'Twill be the first appearance of the local kidlets here this season, and a good crowd of the curious should be out to see them battle. Game starts at 8.30. And there's a door prize of a handsome sports shirt, value ten bucks.

• • •

Immediately following and also making their debut on local ice will be the Belleville Inter-Service juveniles who will take on the Trenton Juves in an exhibition tilt. This game will be a dress rehearsal for the playoffs to come in the near future, and should be indicative of the strength of both teams.

• • •

Meantime the Belleville Rockets will be disporting themselves down in Mayor Gerry Woodley's town, known as the Gateway to the Thousand Island (sweet memories of army days) and Gananoque to youse gals and boys. The Rocks will meet the starry Gan juniors who, so we are told are some hockey punkins in the St. Lawrence district. The game will be a tune up for the all important first game of the three-of-five series with the Kingston Vics on Saturday night here, for the Junior "B" group title. Second game has been called for Monday 9th and the third for the 16th both in Kingston. Fourth game will be played here and if necessary, the final tilt will go back to Kingston.

• • •

The Belleville Inter-Service Midget "B's" are also readying themselves for their introduction to organized hockey. The squad which has been whittled down by Manager Bill Dennis and Burrill Morriss, will likely take on the winner of the Merchants-Trenton series, which must end tonight. The kids have been practicing at the arena faithfully and will make their debut officially next week, in all likelihood.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

New York, Feb. 4 — (AP) — If you think you have headaches, listen to Neal Harris . . . Neal is the guy who took a leave from Albright College, Reading, Pa., to coach the Egyptian Olympic basketball team and in a letter to colleague Ted Meier he relates some of his woes . . . They included having to set up coaching schools, convincing doubters, establishing three separate training bases and supervising them all and digging up some equipment . . . "All courts are out of doors, and sand," Harris writes. "The boys play in low tennis shoes or regular shoes with rubber soles. Right now we are using India soccer balls, which are about as round as an egg. I was hoping some coaches in the states would take pity on me and send a couple of rubber basketballs. We can't buy them from the States since there is strict enforcement of currency exchange and dollars here are as scarce as rain." . . . What, no cracks about officiating? This guy can't be a basketball coach.

Chilly Reception

When Oklahoma's swimming team defeated Colorado last week, the Sooners followed tradition by dunking coach Joe Glander in the pool although the temperature was 19 below zero outside . . . but Joe got even without half trying . . . Driving the team home, his car got stuck in a snowdrift and at last report, the squad was marooned at Raton, N. M., after taking a whole day to drive 24 miles.

Guelph Biltmores Lessen Chances Of Galt Rockets

(By The Canadian Press)

Bill Sherry's Guelph Biltmores haven't got much of a chance to make the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs but it looks as if they intend to have some say where some of the other clubs will finish.

Biltmores dumped Galt Rockets 4-2 last night at Galt and prevented the Rockets from moving into third place ahead of Barrie Flyers. In the same city Saturday, the seventh-place Guelph squad handed Barrie their worst defeat this season 9-5.

Guelph has four games left to play but they are 3 1-2 games away from sixth and last playoff berth—in which are found St. Catharines Teepees who musth lost all their remaining games to give Guelph a chance. Unfortunately, for Guelph, these games include a meeting with Toronto Young Rangers—but if Young Rangers decide to flex their muscles...

The Dutchmen are three points behind the third-place Statford Indians.

At Galt their were further complaints of "easy" refereeing, as boarding and elbowing were frequent.

Guelph goals were scored by Ed Bolan, Glen Sonmer, Ralph Ewing and Lorne Ferguson. Galt marksmen were Harold Hopper and Sam Mulholland.

The Mercurys took a 2-1 lead in the first period, but were tied 3-3 at the end of the second and Art Hurst gave the Dutchmen the game with his goal at the third frame's 6:45 mark.

The "Bauer line", Ray, Don and Bobby, tallied the Dutchmen's remaining counters. Owen Sound snipers were Tommy Burlington, Doug Gillespie and Pat McReavy.

Dutchmen rearguard Jerry Olinski was sidelined in the first period with a torn ligament in his left ankle.

Toronto Marlboros will try for a first-place tie when they visit the league-leading Hamilton Tigers in tonight's single senior fixture. In the junior loop Toronto St. Michael's Majors go to Windsor and Toronto Marlboros visit Stratford.

Detroit Red Wings Ride Into Four-Point Lead On N.H.L. Victory Over Hawks

(By The Canadian Press)

The Detroit Red Wings today enjoy a four-point lead over Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League race, thanks to an easy 4-1 victory over the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks in the only game played Tuesday.

Tonight four of the teams are in action, Toronto at Boston Bruins and New York Rangers at Detroit. The Leafs who were tied with Detroit for the League lead for just 24 hours last weekend, weren't any too hopeful as they headed for Boston, where they haven't won a game since March 1946.

The Detroit victory over Chicago was no surprise, since the Wings previously had won eight out of nine against the Hawks, but it was a scrappy game in which 19 penalties were handed out, six of them majors for fighting.

Harry Lumley, the Detroit goalie, was gunning for Detroit's seventh shut-out of the season but was thwarted when Red Hamill of Chicago scored the Hawks' only goal on assists from Metro Prystal and George Gee in the first period.

Conacher Scores Two

Jim Conacher scored two of the Detroit goals, Jim McFadden and Captain Syd Abel getting the others. Gus Bodnar of Chicago was handed one of the major penalties in the first period along with Ted Lindsay of Detroit. Gaye Stewart of Chicago got two majors in the last period, and Abel and Gordon Howe of Detroit also served majors in that frame. No particular damage resulted from any of the fights.

For tonight's game at Boston the Leafs were not in very good shape. With Captain Syl Apps still out of action because of a bad knee, rookie Johnny McCormack who was brought up from the Senior Amateur Toronto Marlboros to fill in at Apps' spot was a doubtful starter. There's nothing wrong with Johnny, but he has already played in two of the three games he's entitled to on a trial basis without losing his amateur status, and Leafs may decide that he'll be more urgently later.

Most immediate of the Leafs' worries was spidery Max Bentley. High-scoring forward who suffered an injured knee in Sunday's game against Detroit. Bentley was on skates yesterday before the Leafs left Detroit for Boston and the Leafs hoped to use him in place of Apps.

Outbreak of Spring-Like Weather at St. Moritz Tosses Monkey Wrench in Games

St. Moritz, Feb. 4 —(CP)— A sudden outbreak of spring-like weather tossed a monkey wrench into the fifth winter Olympic games today, forcing a delay in the program.

A warm rain that began falling on this winter sports capital early this morning disrupted a schedule that included men's and women's figure skating, four unofficial ice hockey matches, the combined slalom and final heats in the cresta (skeleton sled.)

The women's figure skating competition, scheduled to be resumed at 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EST) was postponed.

There were authoritative reports officials would meet later in the day to consider moving the event to an indoor ice rink, possibly in Paris.

Mayor Carl Nater of St. Moritz chairman of the Swiss Organizing Committee, said the 10-day period of the games would not be extended. They are scheduled to close Sunday.

"It will be impossible to extend the games," Nater, chairman of the Swiss Organizing Committee. said. "We have the warmest early February weather we have had in 40 years. It is like that all over Switzerland and we cannot do anything about it."

Pools of Water on Rink

Pools of water on one rink also forced postponement of the hockey match between the United States (AHA) and Canada. However, three other hockey contests —Italy - Poland, Britain - Switzerland, Czechoslovakia - Austria —were being played.

The weather was almost certain to cause a delay in the final feature of the men's figure skating event this afternoon — the free skating tests.

It seemed likely that the day's skiing feature — the combined slalom — would go on as scheduled, along with the horse-riding event in the Olympic pentathlon. There was no immediate report on the cresta run.

The temperature was around 30 degrees Fahrenheit. Snow and ice thawed overnight.

Blazing Sun

Blazing sun brought pools of water to the rinks yesterday, interrupting the women's figure skating competition with graceful Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, Canada's world champion, leading after two of five compulsory figures.

Barbara Ann had 334.6 points an 8.4-point advantage over the second-place Eva Pawlik of Austria.

Two other Canadian skaters also were in the event. Marilyn Ruth Take of Toronto was eighth with 303.6 but the position of Suzanne Morrow, also of Toronto, was not listed by the judges.

In hockey, Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers ran up a 21-1 score against the Italian team yesterday.

Sweden wrested the team leadership from Norway yesterday with smashing victories in skiing and skating. Before today's events the Swedes had 59 points to the Norwegians' 48½. Canada has ¼ of a point for 13th place in the teams standing.

Czech Squad Downs Austria By 14 to 3 Count

St. Moritz, Feb. 4 —(CP) — Czechoslovakia advanced into sole possession of first place in the hockey tournament being held in conjunction with the Olympic games when the Czech squad trounced Austria 14-3 on soft ice today while Canada's game with the United States Amateur Hockey Association team was postponed.

Today's victory was the fifth straight for Czechoslovakia and gave them 10 points. Canada and Switzerland have eight points with four straight victories.

Switzerland earlier scored a one-sided 12-3 victory over Gt. Britain to move into a three-way tie but the later victory put the Czechs in front.

Britain has won one game and lost three counting today's defeat. Today's loss was the fifth straight for Austria.

In the third game played today Poland defeated Italy 13-7 in a second division contest. It was the fifth straight loss for the Italians who were whitewashed 21-1 by Canada yesterday. Poland now has two victories against three defeats for four points. Two behind the United States A.H.A. team.

U.S. Receives 29 Challenges For Davis Cup

(By The Canadian Press)

The United States received challenges from 29 tennis-playing countries for the Davis Cup, it was announced yesterday by Walter Merrill Hall, chairman of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup Management Committee.

Entries for the competition closed Jan. 31. All except four of the challenging countries have elected to compete in the European zone, leaving Australia, Canada, Cuba and Mexico in the North American zone. There are 25 challengers in the European zone.

Eleven countries in this year's competition were not entered in 1947, while Greece, South Africa, Monaco and New Zealand of the 1947 challengers, are not entered this year.

Nate Cornwall's Detroit curling foursome won the main event of the third annual Blue Water Bonspiel ended at Sarnia last night by defeating Bill Atmore of Sarnia in the final round of the Lambton Loan Trophy 7-5.

The historic Olympic flag was stolen last night from its mast over the Olympic Stadium at St. Moritz, probably by an ambitious souvenir hunter.

Emphasis on hackney cross-breeding in Canada was discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Hackney Horse Society at Toronto last night. Pony owners called for lowering to 14 hands of hackney horses height but horse owners insisted on the regulation 14.2. W. S. Munro of Embro, Ont., was elected president to succeed Walter Nesbitt of Montreal.

The American League yesterday posted its 1948 baseball schedule which listed a high of 194 games, almost a third of the playing slate, as Detroit's Tigers go under home arc-lights for the first time. The league now has all eight parks fixed for night play. The loop opens April 19 with the customary New York at Washington inaugural.

Jersey Joe Walcott yesterday signed for a four-round exhibition in Chicago Feb. 12. His opponent will be chosen later. It will be Walcott's first ring appearance since his disputed bout with Louis in New York last Dec. 5.

London, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Marylebone Cricket Club plans to install a public address system at Lord's this summer to give up-to-date information to crowds awaiting admission and to those inside.

Spectators will be told of late team changes, prospects of play in bad weather and catering arrangements.

Many country clubs, including Yorkshire, Surrey, Lancashire, Warwickshire and Glamorgan have used such systems for years. Last season the Warwickshire captain, P. Cranmer, gave a daily 10-minute talk to the crowd at luncheon intervals, discussing the morning's play and the effects of the state of the wicket on the game.

The King and Queen will attend this year's Football Cup final at Wembley, April 24, it was announced from Sandringham. This is one of the sports events which Their Majesties usually attend annually, although last April the Duke and Duchess of during the Royal Tour of South Africa.

Professional golf is expected to open its 1948 tournament season on a quiet note in England, with two of the biggest names, Henry Cotton and Norman von Nida, both absent.

Cotton, Britain's Ryder Cup captain who winters at a Monte Carlo Golf School, has hinted he plans to head for the bigger money of the United States competitions in April. Von Nida, top money-winner here last season, recently stated definitely he would be on his way to the States in March and will not return until the British Open late in June.

Physical education experts from all over the world have been invited by the government to attend an international congress here July 23-26, immediately before the opening of the Olympic Games.

Aim of the congress, an official statement said, is to "bring to the notice of the many countries represented at the Olympic Games the steps being taken in Great Britain to develop physical education in schools and among postwar population and rehabilitation in the services and industry.

The program will include lectures on various aspects of physical education and demonstrations by students and workers of various age groups.

Winnipeg, Feb. 4 (CP)—Manitoba's brand of senior hockey usually is shrugged off as pretty pale stuff by devotees to the Western Canada senior hockey loop.

But they gave a chilly reception recently to a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decision which permits Manitoba's representative in the Western Canada playoffs to bolster its roster.

The battle put up last year in the western finals by the lightly regarded Winnipeg Flyers may have caused the concern voiced by west-of-Winnipeg fans. Flyers extended Calgary Stamps in the series.

Anyway, Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith has cogitated and replied to attacks made by Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh but Smith doesn't offer many alibis.

He agrees "that if Manitoba hasn't got a team strong enough to compete with other clubs in the country, then that is purely Manitoba's fault."

But Smith also thinks Dryburgh could have looked a bit further ahead. "He could have explained that probably the main reason why the C.A.H.A. decided to strengthen the Manitoba team was because by doing so it hoped the series between Manitoba and the western Canada league winners would be a financial success —which it otherwise might not be."

What's more, says Smith slyly, Dryburgh has been a little late with his beef even if it is sound in principle.

SOARING LIVING

However, the speaker's ruling does not prevent both the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties from proposing new amendments today. And one Progressive Conservative spokesman said price experts among his party already were drafting a new amendment.

Ministers in Debate

Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Labor Minister Mitchell stepped into the debate to defend the government's policies against a continuing barrage of opposition charges that the main purpose of the committee would be to "white-wash" the facts and hide the true situation from the people.

Mr. Gardiner held that the government had sought to keep down costs of production and warned that low-cost output was the only way Canada would be able to maintain her place in the markets of the world when conditions returned to normal.

Mr. Mitchell said it was strange that some opposition members wanted controls re-established on some phases of the economy and not on others. The Progressive Conservatives were seeking a measure of control and subsidies but at the same time were calling for a lowering of the tax load.

Other speakers included E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), George White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough), Robert Fair (SC-Battle River), Garfield Case (PC-Grey North), H. W. Herridge (People's CCF-Kootenay West), and Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East).

No Details Not Known

At the House opening, Finance Minister Abbott said the Prices Board had been authorized to spend up to $15,000 out of its funds to assist in the organization of the Canadian Consumers Association.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told a questioner there were no details of the wartime Hyde Park agreement which were not known to parliament since no document had been signed.

In the Senate, Senator Arthur Roebuck (L — Ontario) moved for revival of Senate Committee study on immigration. Both he and Senator Thomas Vien (L — Quebec) praised the government's "job-sure" immigration policy as setting a new pattern superior to the mass methods of the past.

Joining the prices debate in the Commons, Mr. Gardiner said the government's policy was to open the United States market to Canadian beef when the price levels of the two countries were such as to permit this without disrupting Canada's economy.

The objective in continuing the current embargo on beef shipments was to keep down the cost of living. If Canadian beef went to the U. S., it would increase the prices of beef and all other farm products on the domestic market.

Supports Committee

Mr. Mitchell said he supported the proposed committee because he believed the people wanted it.

Mr. Fulton urged the government to reduce living costs by removing indirect taxes and encouraging production, and suggested the criminal code be amended to make it an offence to charge more than was "just and reasonable" for a commodity.

Mr. Fair said that the farming population throughout the war had subsidized the rest of Canada and the world at large by accepting less than world prices for their wheat. This burden should be borne by the whole population and not the farmers alone.

Mr. Knowles, moving the C.C.F. sub-amendment, suggested the Dominion Bureau of Statistics give the actual cost of living in dollars and cents rather than indicate the rating only in percentage points. The Bureau also should state how many Canadians were able to meet these costs at their current level.

CHAPTER 8.

"Velma! That fool clerk forgot to give it to you! Great Scott! That explains everything! I wrote you that Mr. Milligen, president of the Carryville Flour Mill, unexpectedly came for me. I wanted to finish the trip with you, but when the boss speaks, you know how it is."

"Yes," she said faintly.

Her brown eyes were dewy, her cheeks faintly flushed. Bravely now, she met his gaze of brief tenderness. She thought he was going to kiss her, but his hands dropped from her face.

Saxophones sobbed, cellos and violins moaned and wailed to the accompaniment of her fluttering heart. Couples began strolling out to the veranda, laughing, flirting.

Tom Orville tucked an arm through hers and led her across the lantern-lighted lawn. They wandered down a steep narrow path, far from the other guests. They sat down on an old stump and his arm went around her so naturally that it seemed to belong there. His tobacco-scented shoulder was intoxicating. Hesitantly, her arms went around his neck.

She suddenly sat erect, remembering something. "There was a girl—a pretty girl—with you that night at the hotel," she said.

He laughed," I see. That's why you ignored me. You thought I'd run away with another woman. Why, darling, that was Adele, Mr. Milligen's daughter. She's a stunning girl and I like her—but she's mad about a chum of mine in California."

Velma felt confused and ridiculous, yet she was seething with emotional ecstasy. Before she could put any part of this complexity into words, he spoke again.

"I've been miserable over you, darling. I thought—I'd lost you—that you didn't care Then I saw you with that man and—".

It was her turn to laugh. "That was only Mr. Sweeney—Kil Sweeney—who took pity on me when I missed the bus." Then she explained about her nap in the rose arbor.

He sighed with relief. "If I'd been along to take care of you, it never would have happened. But now that we've both explained, we can go on from here. I have no lost love, no desire for any but—one love. Have you, dear?"

Her heart was soaring with the suffocating sweetness of his nearness. Her pulses sang, "I love him! I've always loved him! This is the biggest thing that ever happened to me!"

She turned to him and said soberly, "Love is all I'll ever want Tom. Just—one love."

"My darling—how I love you!"

She found herself in his arms again, his kisses rained on her eyelids, her mouth. For a long time she lay there, filled with the flame of the first real love she had ever given any man.

He released her at last. She sat pinning in disordered curls that were crazily incongruous with her evening frock.

Suddenly a curious thought assailed her. "But Tom," she said, "I'm no longer the Velma Wilkins!"

"I don't understand. You aren't famous, are you?"

"I—I used to be."

"Are you an actress—or what?"

"No. But I was as good a news feature as any actress ever was. Truthfully, you never heard of me?"

"Darling—I'm ashamed to admit it—I never did. If it's something you'd rather forget—let's bury it and—"

Her silvery laughter echoed through the nearby grove. "Oh, you're precious, Tom! You never heard of Velma Wilkins of Chicago, Paris, London and New York? Where have you been these many years?"

"Born in Iowa, had the usual early schooling, attended college—and later, worked in a flour mill near Chicago. That's a history of my twenty-four years in a nutshell. Think of it, darling—I was so near you and didn't know you existed. Now, you're going to marry me, aren't you, Velma?"

"Why—why I think so, Tom. But you must let me explain—"

"Why bother? All I know and care is—I love you, love you—and we'll be married just as soon as I'm sure I'm making good on this new job."

The following morning in Marie Clark's dressing room, she and Velma were discussing the high lights of last night's party. In the midst of it, Marie said in a reproving tone, "Velma, dear—aren't you overdoing your—your acquaintance with Kil Sweeney?"

Velma's wide brown eyes held a spark of something akin to fear. She glanced at Marie's reflection in the mirror above her rose taffeta dressing table. Marie, rubbing face cream into her smooth cheeks, actually looked worried.

"If you mean I even like the man, you're mistaken. I—I think I hate him!" declared Velma vehemently.

"That was the only flaw in our party—Janet saying what she did to Louise."

"Oh," limply responded Velma. "You mean—"

"Of course, my dear, I knew there was no truth in it. I told Louise it was a hallucination of that woman's jealous mind! You in Kil Sweeney's arms!"

"But I was," said Velma bitterly.

Marie wheeled about on the bench with, "Velma! What do you mean? What are you saying? You couldn't, couldn't—"

"The man was holding me fast—against my willfi of course—when Janet appeared. I didn't stop to explain to her then—she wouldn't have believed anything I said, she was so angry. I thought I could see her later and straighten it out."

"This is—why it's unfortunate, to say the least. Janet is a perfect demon when she's roused. It will mean all kinds of gossip."

"Well, then, the sooner I see Janet and stop the gossip, the better," declared Velma, her face flaming.

Oh, why had this had to happen when last night the most glorious happiness of her life had come to her? Tom! Tom! She had thought of nothing but the marvel of their love since he had held her in his arms. She loved her. Nothing else in the world mattered. After all, this little incident connected with Kil Sweeney would soon blow over. People who knew his reputation surely wouldn't blame her. There were more momentous questions to be decided now between Tom and herself.

"Mrs. Sweeney!" exclaimed Velma, springing to her feet.

"Thank you, Greggs," said Marie Clark,, a trifle unsteadily, "I'll come down."

Velma chopped out," Please Marie—let me attend to this! I can't let yuo in for such—such rudeness. That woman coming here—probably to make a scene!"

"The man's her husband, Velma."

The instant Velma saw Janet Sweeney pacing the rawing-room, she knew she had come for battle. Janet, tall, angular where she should be rounded, had never been a pretty woman, but she had excellent clothes sense, and managed through this toi achieve an air of distinction. Now this distinction was nearly overpowering the trembling Velma.

Passing this by, Velma said cordially, "Good morning, Mrs Sweeney. Did you wish to see me?"

"Hardly," was Janet's icy response. "I came to see Mrs. Clark—Marie. I thought it might amuse her to know about a guest who—"

"Lures husbands," supplied Velma, tartly.

Janet Sweeneyj all but lost her poise for the moment. Finally she said, her voice filled with withering contempt, "Exactly. No less—perhaps more! I suspect you began making Kil mad about you when you were the famous Wilkins heiress. Oh, I've read all about you—your lovers! I know how many proposals you've had, the charmed life you used to lead. You must regret not marrying one of the eligibles when you had the chance—it must be desperation that makes you take up with a married man. Why did you ask Kil to bring you down here to flaunt your affair before my eyes?"

The stunned Velma sat down beside her. "I—I can clear that up, Mrs. Sweeney," she began earnestly. "I never knew your husband in Chicago. He brought me to Carryville only because I had to get here somehow. I never saw him before that in my life!" Then she explained about having been left behind at the gasoline station and her first meeting with Kil Sweeney.

Janet Sweeney opened her handbag and reached for a handkerchief. Her bony, tear—stained face was pathetic. Velma was inclined to pity her. She did not know what to say about last night. If she told her how despicable her husband had acted, it would be cruel, and if she didn't tell her, she would continue to think her husband and she were carrying on a mad flirtation.

Fortunately, Marie; Clark came hurrying into the room with, "Why, Janet! What's all this? Why are you crying?"

"I've come ti tell you, Janet, this girl—"

Marie laughed softly. "Don't say anything you'll regret, Janet.

Says Denmark Greatest Threat In Pork Exports

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)—Denmark is the greatest threat to the Canadian export market in pork, Sir Andrew Jones yesterday told the Ontario Swine Breeders Association and the Yorkshire Breeders Association.

Head of the British food mission in Canada, Sir Andrew was addressing two of the many farmers' organizations, comprising some 4,000 agriculturists from all across Canada, who are meeting here during the next two weeks in annual convention.

Yesterday directors and other officers were elected at meetings of the Ontario Hereford Breeders Association, the Ontario Shorthorn Club and the Aberdeen-Angus Association.

Sir Andrew declared that Canadians and British alike were paying for the steep rise in feed prices which followed removal of ceilings.

Great Britain had agreed to a higher bacon price on the understanding that price of barley and other grains would not move upward accordingly. Britons, he said, pleaded "not guilty" to charges their higher offers had caused the mark-up in grain prices.

Speaking to the Hereford Breeders, B. B. Warnica of Barrie recommended increased salaries for veterinarians employed by the health and animal branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Mother Rescues Infant in Leap From Window

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP) —Clutching her infant daughter, Laura, in her arms, Mrs. Augusta Caty about 35, leaped from a flame-swept second-storey window in a downtown roominghouse yesterday as fire endangered the building.

The woman, who escaped with a broken wrist and plevis was able to break the baby's fall. Hospital attendants said the little girl's only injury was a slight "singe" on the face.

Another child, four-year-old Jo-Ann Cottrill was rescued by Joe Ryan and George Malcko, employees of a nearby garage, who saw Mrs. Caty's leap and dashed inside the smoke-filled house to find the older girl.

Firemen said the fire started in a second-storey room and spread to three adjoining houses but it was brought under control before doing serious damage.

Mr. Ryan said it was so smoky inside the house that "I couldn't see a hand in front of my face."

"Then I heard the baby wail on the other side of the room. I tripped over something on the floor which I thought was a baby and I could see a child in the smoke. I grabbed it and made my way to the window."

British Films Invade China

By THOMAS ALDEGUER

Shanghai, (Reuters) — The China film market, for years the virtual monopoly of Hollywood, has been successfully invaded for the first time by British films which, to all appearances, have come to stay.

But it has been a long uphill battle to overcome widespread prejudice against British productions—a prejudice born of disappointment over an unbroken series of poor pictures before the war.

In addition to an all-round improvement in present-day British productions, increasing Chinese interest in British ways of life and thought is believed to be partly responsible for the present popularity of British films which has now reached an all-time record in this country.

It is semi-officially reported that Eagle-Lion, which has been mainly responsible for the successful British invasion of the China film market, now is buying or hiring "shop-window" cinemas in all the main cities of the country. These will all have first-class equipment, although shortages of skilled labor and building materials will probably slow up progress.

When these difficulties are overcome, British films are expected to make a real bid for supremacy.

After years of painful experience, British producers and distributors have finally realized that to score a hit with the Chinese masses—mostly semi-illiterate—a picture must have color and action, with a minimum of dialogue.

Because of these qualities, "Madonna of the Seven Moons"—co-starring Phyllis Calvert and Stewart Granger—and "The Seventh Veil", starring James Mason, struck telling blows for the British film industry in the initial stages of the post-war attempt to gain a foothold in this country. Since then such productions as "Great Expectations", "A Matter of Life and Death" and "Theirs is the Glory" have consolidated the British position.

Among Chinese audiences today, the names of British film stars such as James Mason, Stewart Granger, Margaret Lockwood, Deborah Kerr and Ann Todd now are synonomous with good entertainment and are as well known as those of the most-publicized Hollywood actors and actresses.

YOUTHS SENTENCED TO HANG FOR MURDER

Norman Gerald Kindy, 17, left, of Stamford township, Ont., and Edwin Remmington Farrington, 20, of Glendale, R. I., shown under officer guard, have been sentenced to hang April 28 for the murder of James Bell, 57, of Stamford. Bell was shot to death in his house nearby Stamford township, where Kindy lived for 13 years. Both lads, now confined to the death cell in Welland county, appeared unconcerned as sentence was passed. They were arrested in Turley, Okla., eight days after Bell's body was found on the steps of his bungalow.

Liberals Attack Proposed Pension Boosts for Vets

Ottawa, Feb. 5 — (CP)— A considerable body of Liberal members of parliament has attacked the government's proposed pensions increases for veterans as inadequate, it was learned today.

Those members told Prime Minister Mackenzie King flatly at a lively party caucus yesterday that they considered a minimum increase should be $20 across the board for disabled pensioners and war widows. The government's proposed increases as announced late last year would give a maximum of $10.

The opponents of the present plan are largely war veterans themselves who consider that the veterans and widows involved would be unjustly treated unless their incomes were increased by at least $20 a month.

Their opposition is considered a probable reason behind the delay in bringing down legislation to put the increases into effect.

Seven Aliens Will be Deported Says Minister

Ottawa, Feb. 5. (CP)—Seven aliens—five of them from Germany—who entered Canada on fraudulent British passports are to be deported as soon as possible and immigration authorities are on the watch for others attempting to gain entry through the same illegal channels.

Resources Minister Glen announced yesterday that he had rejected the appeal of the seven against deportation and at the same time disclosed government knowledge that other aliens were "attempting to effect admission to Canada by the same illegal means."

The illegal immigrants were arrested in Toronto several weeks ago. Their arrest followed a tip-off from United Kingdom authorities and Mr. Glen said they would be deported as soon as arrangements can be completed for their return to their countries of origin.

The persons involved are Maniek Kuper, Morduch Szyja Szulc, Israel Cholewa and his wife Giny, Arthur Magat, Alter Abramowitz and Davind Fajtlowicz. Mr. Glen said they had reached Canada on false passports obtained from a "person who, for a substantial sum, offered to obtain entry documents and secure their admission to Canada."

Two of the aliens had come from Britain via the United States and five had come from Germany via France and Newfoundland, entering Canada by air. All admitted having been approached by the same person who promised to arrange Canadian entry documents. These documents were British passports obtained by illegal means in the names of British subjects born in the British Isles. Admission to Canada was gained by presentation of these documents at the Canadian port of entry.

In turning down their appeal, Mr. Glen pointed out that all the aliens had "knowingly" paid for false passports to gain fraudulent entry to Canada. In view of the many displaced persons in refugee camps waiting patiently to get transportation to Canada, he said it would be "unthinkable" to allow these aliens to obtain an advantage by fraudulent means over others still in displaced persons camps.

GIRL GUIDE PATROL LEADER AWARDED GILT CROSS

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Fourteen-year-old Patrol Leader Betty May Van Alpen of Esquimalt, B. C., has been awarded the Gilt Cross by the Dominion executive of the Canadian Girl Guides, it was announced today.

Betty was in a rowboat last May 11 when she noticed that four-year-old Garry Fanthorpe had fallen into the water over his depth after cutting his foot. She jumped into the water and rescued the boy.

RAIL TRAFFIC RESTORED

Welland, Feb. 5 (CP)—A jury today awarded damages totalling $8,209 to Eric M. Thompson of Niagara Falls, his wife and son, in a suit brought after an automobile accident near Niagara Falls July 22, 1946, in which all three were injured.

Britain's School Child Heavier, Taller Than Pre-War Counterpart

London, Feb. 5 — (CP)— Britain's average school child emerged from the Second World War taller and heavier than his pre-war counterpart and with his health unimpaired, Sir Wilson Jameson, chief medical officer of the education ministry, said in an official report.

Shortages, air raids, evacuation, separation from parents and homes, and existence on a rationed diet "profoundly affected the lives" of 1939-45 schoolchildren.

Evacuation revealed many "disturbing facts," said the report such as anti-social habits in mothers and children. And there was a rise in venereal diseases and illegitimacy.

But, the report adds, "it must be made plain these social evils are less widespread than in former generations."

Children stood up to bombing with the same courage as adults, and London county council doctors found them less affected by it, though "some scars will remain."

What was it that bolstered the children, kept them well-nourished, increased their height and cut the death-rate? The report lists three main causes:

1. "The brilliantly successful food policy," such as the increase in school milk, school meals and extra rations.
2. The wartime improvement in wages.
3. The "remarkable" freedom from influenza and other infectious disease and the lower virulence of these diseases.

Average returns of 1,500,000 school children, aged between five and 14, medically examined in 1944 showed that in height, compared with 1939, both boys and girls increased ¼ to ½ an inch, and in weight 1½ to two pounds.

The report, saying "we should take an optimistic view of the situation," added:

"We can say with confidence there is no positive evidence of a decline in the health and physique of children during the war years."

DEVALERA PARTY MOVING STRONGLY IN FIRST RETURNS

Retains Two Seats In East Donegal

Dublin, Feb. 5 (CP)—The opposition Fine Gael party captured two of the first three parliamentary seats decided today in the count of Eire's general election but observers said it was too early for a definite trend to appear.

Reuters News Agency earlier had reported that Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party was moving strongly and might gain a big over-all victory. This followed the winning by Fianna Fail of an east Donegal seat — the first decided — in addition to one not contested.

At the same time Reuters said the new Clann Na Poblachta (Republican) party headed by Sean MacBride "so far has made a poor showing."

Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael re-elected J. A. Costello in Dublin South and D. McMenamin in another East Donegal seat. Speaker P. Fahy of Finna Fail was the candidate returned by acclamation.

Fianna Fail, which must return 74 members to the dail (parliament) to retain an independent working majority, retained two East Donegal seats, first returns showed. Final results are expected tomorrow.

There are 406 candidates seeking the 147 dail seats. Fianna Fail held 77 seats at the dissolution of the previous dail and De Valera has said he will resign if his party fails to get the required 74.

Besides MacBride's party, believed to be the greatest threat to De Valera, four others entered candidates, including Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael, main opposition party in the last dail.

It was estimated that about 80 per cent of Eire's 1,800,000 electors voted yesterday. That would exceed the previous record vote of 70 per cent, set in 1932 when De Valera won control.

Reasons for the delay in final results is Eire's proportional representation system.

Dreams Japs Got Him And That He Was Dead

Los Angeles, Feb. 5 — (AP) — Louis Mott had a dream, and what a dream! Japanese machine-gunners were after him. Ack-ack-ack-ack-ack. They got him. Mott was dead, or so he dreamed.

But in escaping from his dream Mott leaped out of the window of his fourth-floor hotel room, crashed through a skylight, and landed right on a sofa in the lobby below. The hospital today said he had severe chest and head injuries.

"Gee, when I woke up from that dream I found out I wasnt dead," police quoted Mott. "I sure thought those Japs had me."

COASTAL UPHEAVAL

Wellington, N. Z. — (CP) — Following a series of earthquakes and tidal waves off the east coast of the North Island of New Zealand a large area of breakers has been noted several miles out to sea off the Mahia Peninsula.

It is thought that an area of uncharted shallow water may have been created as a result of the submarine disturbance.

Lord Alexander Says Great Army Totally Destroyed in N. Africa

London, Feb. 5 —(Reuters)— Field Marshal Viscount Alexanders' own story of the achievements of United States, British and French troops which, under his command, swept the Germans and Italians from North Africa in 1943 and cleared the way for the invasion of Southern Europe was published today.

Lord Alexander, now Governor-General of Canada, tells of the 1,800-mile desert advance which ended the threat to Egypt and of the Tunisian campaign which was "an unusually complete example of the battle of annihilation" in a despatch sent to the British War Office in May last year and now released.

When, on May 7, 1943, United States troops entered Bizerte and British troops entered Tunis, Rommel's African army was finished and the way was clear for the invasion of Sicily.

"Never before had a great army been so totally destroyed," Lord Alexander declares. "A quarter of a million men laid down their arms in unconditional surrender; 663 escaped. Immense stocks of arms, ammunition and supplies of all natures were the booty of the victors. Our own casualties in the final battle were less than 2,000 men."

Lord Alexander describes the Tunisian campaign and the sweep across Cyrenaica and Libya which preceded it as "the first wholly successful campaign against the Axis."

It was remarkable because it produced "a new instrument of victory in the form of the close collaboration between the Allies which was to be not only a battle-winning but a war-winning factor." . . .

Lord Alexander attributes much credit for the success of the Anglo - British fighting partnership to Gen. Eisenhower, his immediate superior.

He said of the commander-in-chief: "My relations with Gen. Eisenhower were of the happiest and I value them both for personal reasons and from the point of view of the task in hand: He backed me up in every possible way and I knew that I could in all circumstances rely on his complete understanding, sympathy and support."

Lord Alexander reports favorably on the late General George Patton who before his dramatic role in the European fighting which was to follow was at this time serving under the British field marshall as a corps commander.

Under Gen. Patton, United States troops had "recovered from the natural depression caused by the early setbacks . . . they had absorbed with great rapidity. The benefits of the intensive training to which they had been subjected were now showing in hard mountain fighting . . ."

Legends which developed around his opposite number in the fighting, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, were not justified, Lord Alexander declared. There was "an exaggeration of his undoubted qualities which tended to have a depressing effect on our own troops, however, much it may have appealed to the newspaper reader at home . . ."

The timetable for the Tunisian campaign was decided at the Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and the combined chiefs of staff in January, 1943. There was much fierce fighting before it was won.

In March, the battle for the Tunisian plain was in full swing. Rommel, a sick man, said unless he won this battle his last hope in Africa was gone.

He lost it. By April 11 Allied troops had occupied the coastal plain. The final assault was launched at the end of April and Tunis and Bizerte were entered on May 6.

"I found . . . I had Bizerte and Tunis eight days before the allotted date and that all resistance ceased in Africa with two days yet to spare."

Accidents Take Big Toll in U.S.

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)—Accidents hit the United States a more crippling blow in 1947 than the atomic bomb inflicted on Hiroshima. The accidents tally shows: Killed—100,000 (compared with Hiroshima's 78,150). Injured — 10,500,000 (equal to the combined population of New York City and Chicago).

GENERAL INCREASE

Chicago, Feb. 5 (AP)— The toll from accidents in the United States in 1947, says the National Safety Council, was 100,000 killed, 10,500,000 injured and $6,700,000,000 economic loss. There was a general increase in accidental deaths of all kinds —except traffic mishaps— as compared to 1946. Home accidents led, displacing traffic, traditional leader.

Advised to Obtain Counsel or Have One Appointed

Detroit, Feb. 5 (CP)—Dr. Henslee E. Tann, 41, stood mute before Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat yesterday when arraigned on a charge of raping a 25-year-old Sarnia woman in his office two weeks ago.

Judge Groat entered a plea of not guilty and set trial for Feb. 13. Tann protested that the date of the rape trial would conflict with his trial on a charge of abortion due to come up Feb. 16. Judge Groat rebuffed him, however, and told him to obtain legal counsel by Monday or have one appointed by the court.

Bond of $25,000 on the rape charge was continued. Tann also has $30,000 bond on the abortion charge and another charge of obstructing justice which arises from a previous abortion case in which he was acquitted.

Discarded Orchid Root Nets $5,000

Brampton, Feb. 5 (CP)—Bill Perrett, who nurses 1,000,000 orchids at a local greenhouse, told today how he turned a three-penny piece of root into $5,000.

When Bill was buying orchids for a former English employer, the dealer threw him a piece of root, left on the greenhouse floor after his order was filled.

"You can have it for thruppence,' the dealer said, and Bill agreed.

Later, he threw the apparently root on the roof of his home and it produced three orchid plants of a very rare type, which he sold for $5,000.

COST-OF-LIVING DEBATE ROLLS INTO FOURTH DAY

C.C.F. Amendment Defeated by 115-87

Ottawa, Feb. 5 (CP)— A spirited debate on the rising cost of living today rolled into its fourth day in the Commons behind a continuing barrage of opposition criticism over the government's failure to provide a proposed investigating committee with powers to make recommendations.

The discussion yesterday produced its second formal division in two days when the chamber voted 115 to 87 to sustain speaker Gaspard Fauteux in a ruling out of order the second amendment moved by the C.C.F. group to a government motion for the establishment of the 16-man committee.

The amendment, moved by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, urged the House to express the opinion that the situation demands not a committee but government action to restore price ceilings and subsidies.

Criticizing the government for failing to provide the committee with powers of recommendation, Mr. Coldwell told the chamber he thought opposition members would be "justified" in refusing to participate in the make-up of the committee.

Sharp denunciation came, too, from John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), who urged the government to "give the Canadian people a lead, not the promise of a committee rendered impotent, powerless and emasculated in advance." As it stood, the committee would serve as nothing more than a "delaying" organization.

Ferraro's Hearing Again Adjourned

Winnipeg, Feb. 5. (CP)— A witness in the hearing of a murder charge against Frank Ferraro, 33, of Belleville, testified yesterday that a night club brawl in which taxi driver Hugh Scott was killed was the outcome of an attempt to aid a woman struck by a man.

Stephen F. Donaghue of Red Lake, Ont., said that he was in a party with Ferraro and two girls and that "bad language" was being spoken at a nearby table. Donaghue said that he went to intervene when one of the men at the other table hit a woman.

Donaghue said he was struck and knocked down and that when he came to his "senses" he saw two men from the other party—Scott and Howard J. Scarff—lying on the floor. Donaghue testified at the preliminary hearing in Provincial Police court that at one stage he saw Ferraro trying to help Scott up.

Ferraro's hearing was adjourned to Feb. 10.

Malcolm MacDonald On Visit to Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 5 (CP)—Malcolm MacDonald, Governor General of Malaya and former British High Commissioner to Canada, arrived in Ottawa last night on a two-month vacation in Canada and said he and his wife probably would visit various Canadian provinces before he returned to his Malaya post.

However, he had worked out no itinerary as yet.

Barbara Ann Scott Wins Compulsory Figures Event

Free-Skating Competition Remains to be Hurdled

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 5. (CP) — Amid full-throated applause from a colorful crowd, Canada's Barbara Ann Scott skated gracefully today to the threshold of the Olympic throne which Norway's Sonja Henie occupied from 1927 to 1936.

Looking trim in an all-white costume topped by a bonnet trimmed with red, and wearing sun glasses, the 19-year-old Ottawa skater finished the five compulsory figures—first half of the ladies' figure-skating championship —in top position among 25 women from 11 countries, the Olympic Press office announced.

The free-style figures which conclude the event will be skated later this week.

Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., and skier-housewife Gretchen Fraser of Vancouver, Wash., won championships, vaulting the United States into a probable fourth place in the team standings now topped by Sweden. Button, 18, won the men's figure-skating event and Mrs. Fraser, 28, placed first in the Women's special slalom.

The ladies' compulsory figures were resumed today after only two of five figures were tried Tuesday. Competition was cancelled Wednesday because of mushy ice.

The press office released no point total but Miss Scott's unofficial point total was 858.4.

English Girl Second

In second place in the official listings was Jeannette Altwegg, British champion, and in third spot came Eva Pawlik of Austria. Bridget Adams of Britain was fourth. Jirina Nekolova of Czechoslovakia, a guest of Barbara Ann at Ottawa last summer, was fifth and Gretchen Merrill, blonde pin-up girl from Boston, was sixth.

The official press office standings gave only the first six competitors.

At the conclusion of the compulsory figures, skated in a rink behind a swank hotel in this Olympic town, spectators chorused "she's in" as Barbara Ann skated under the stands amid tremendous applause from a colorful crowd of about 300. Miss Scott smiled but said nothing.

She was congratulated but said she considers herself "in" only when the official point total is known for the compulsory figures.

Switzerland Ahead

The Ottawa's girl's performance dominated this seventh day of the Olympics, as Switzerland forged ahead of Sweden in the race for team honors.

She now faces the free-skating test, considered her strongest point, and nothing but an unforeseen accident—such as a spill —could rob the petite ice queen of the championship.

In other Olympic events today, Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers moved into a first-place tie in the hockey tournament by crushing the United States 12-3. Wally Halder scored six goals as the Canadians, recording their fifth victory in as many starts, moved level with

FOURTEEN GERMAN MILITARY LEADERS TO GO ON TRIAL

One Kills Himself by Jumping From Catwalk in Prison Rotunda

Nuernberg Feb. 5 (AP) —United States prosecutors opened their case against 14 German military leaders today — the 12th and last war-crimes trial to be held here. They accused Germany's professional soldiers of re-arming for war even before Hitler.

The chief prosecutors said this last case might "well prove of greater importance to Germany than any others."

Being tried by an all-American court are three Field Marshals, one Admiral and 10 Generals. They are charged with crimes against peace and humanity. The top defendant is Field Marshal Wilhelm Ritter Von Leeb.

One of the 14 accused killed himself shortly before the trial was to begin. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz jumped 30 feet from a high catwalk to the tile floor of the prison rotunda, after eluding his guards. His lungs punctured, he died later in hospital.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief United States war crimes prosecutor, told the court in his opening statement that the army men guided the old German Reichswehr until it became a hard-striking, aggressive weapon.

He asserted that German generals were leaders in breaking the Versailles Treaty in the 1920s. He said thy embarked on rearmament — "it was not invented by Hitler." The whole thing was part of a common plan having to do with eventual war.

He did not mention that the general staff — as a unit— was acquitted by the International Military Tribunal in the first Nuernberg trial, from April, 1945 to October, 1946.

That tribunal ruled that the general staff was not an organization in the definition of the court's charter and therefore could not be found guilty as such. However, it convicted the chief of staff Col. Gen Alfred Jodl, and he died on the gallows.

Severe Penalties Against Jackers In N.B. Reduce Illegal Deer Hunting

By IRVING C. WHYNOT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Fredericton, Feb. 5 —(CP)— New Brunswick's campaign against jackers — hunters who kill deer illegally by dazzling them with lights — has paid dividends.

Launched by Lands Minister R. J. Gill "in the interests of conservation," the drive reached a peak with enactment of new legislation decreeing that any person convicted of jacking must serve a jail sentence from two to four months and also pay a fine ranging from $50 to $200. Previously no jail sentence was provided and New Brunswick is the only province making imprisonment mandatory for the first offence.

During the hunting season provincial game wardens, operating in two-man "night patrols," kept up a steady campaign against illegal hunters.

By working in pairs, the lands department reported, the wardens were able to converge on an area by picking up the lights and were most effective in rounding up the jackers.

During the fall season 11 jackers were brought to justice and sentenced. Several appealed but lost.

Looking over the first results of their drive, department officials reported they were "satisfied that the amendment has been a determining factor in cutting down the prevalence of jacking."

Wardens have power to confiscate automobiles used by the jackers along with any other equipment. And if fines are not paid additional jail sentences can be imposed.

Jackers who operate on a wide scale, the department reports, often use car headlights to dazzle their quarry.

Crash Inevitable If Prices Continue To Rise--Truman

Washington, Feb. 5 (AP) — President Truman said today prices are rising so alarmingly that a crash is inevitable unless something is done to halt them.

For his part, Truman said he will keep telling Congress he needs authority to impose price controls.

Talking to a price conference, the president brought out charts prepared by the Budget Bureau. He said these show steady rises in the prices of commodities, food and all other items. Rises which have come since he asked for stand-by price and rationing authority in a message to the special session of Congress last November.

A reporter asked Truman what about the "nose-dive" yesterday of prices on commodity and stock markets. (The price movement continued downward today.)

The President said the price situation still is alarming.

Then he was asked what the sharp break in commodity and stock prices indicates.

Truman said he had no comment, that he did not know enough about it yet to express an opinion.

Frank Mountney Loses Home And Contents in Fire

Bancroft (Special) — Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mountney, Hastings Street, shortly after nine o'clock this morning, the blaze occurring in 28 below zero weather.

Just before nine o'clock Mrs. Mountney smelled smoke but could not determine the origin. A few minutes later the smoke was so dense she had to leave the house with her eight-months-old daughter, Carol. Two other children, Fay, 11, and Kay, 8, had gone to school.

The Bancroft fire equipment and neighbors quickly gathered but it was impossible to save the house. Household furnishings were lost but a car in an adjoining garage was saved. Mr. Mountney, an employee of the highway department, moved to Bancroft 2 years ago.

A second charge of transporting fish laid by Game Inspector Fred MacDonald was dismissed by the crown. A like charge against Bert Spencer was also dismissed.

The theft charge against Baptiste resulted following the disappearance of fish from nets in the Bay of Quinte owned by Lorne MacDonald of Corbyville. It was intimated in court that Baptiste had stolen the fish and had sold them to raise money to pay a fine levied under the Liquor Control Act.

Boy, 14, Arrested In Barn, Feet Found Frozen

Given away by a farmer's dog which by its barking drew attention to the lad's presence in a barn on the outskirts of the city, a 14-year-old youth from the St. John's Training School, Toronto, was arrested by police this morning and will be charged with breaking and entering Brethour's tobacco store on Station Street and stealing a quantity of goods.

When arrested the young lad's feet were found to be frozen as result of his sleeping in the barn in 12-below zero temperature and he was taken to hospital for treatment.

The break-in was discovered shortly before nine this morning when the proprietor discovered a quantity of tobacco, chocolate bars, gum and about $9 in cash missing. Almost at the same time a farmer's wife in the vicinity of the C.N.R. coal chute reported a young lad had slept in their barn.

Later it was revealed that the farmer's dog had drawn attention to the barn where a search of the loft revealed a quantity of tobacco and chocolate bars. Police were informed with the result that the lad was picked up by provincial police and turned over to city authorities.

At the police station the youth told officers that he and another young lad, also from St. John's Training School, had entered the tobacco store and had gone to the barn on the outskirts of the city for the night. The second lad was not apprehended.

Lloyd Hicks Appointed Sales Manager Of Ottawa District for Supertest Oil

MR. LLOYD L. HICKS

District supervisor for the Belleville branch of the Supertest Petroleum Corporatinn Ltd. for the past ten years, Lloyd L. Hicks, 83 East Moira Street, has been promoted to the position of sales manager for the Ottawa district, it was announced here today. Mr. Hicks expects to assume his new duties on or about March 15th. He will be succeeded by Ralph Warren, Picton.

The Ottawa Division of the Superiest Petroleum Corporation Ltd., is comprised of Renfrew, Carleton Place, Winchester, Kingston, Brockville and a large centre in the province of Quebec.

The Ottawa move climaxes nearly fifteen years of service with the company. Mr. Hicks built and managed the branch opened in Picton in 1933, and remained there for the next four years coming to Belleville as district supervisor in 1937.

Native of Prince Edward County

Born in South Bay, Prince Edward County, he received his early education there. He has lived all his life in this district, and during the period between 1922 and 1929 was the cheese maker at the Mountain View Cheese Factory. Leaving there he went to Picton where he was a salesman for Durant Motor Cars until 1933 when he became associated with his present company.

The many offices in various organizations held by Mr. Hicks indicate the interest he took in the life of the community here. He is a past-president of the Belleville Rotary Club and at present is the chairman of its Regatta Committee. He is also a past-president of the Y.M.C.A. and at the present time is the treasurer of that institution. A member of the Board of Governors of Albert College, Mr. Hicks is the chairman of its Property Committee. He is also a member of Tabernacle United Church.

An ardent speed-boat enthusiast, Mr. Hicks was primarily the "reason" for the successful speedboat regattas held here for the past few years under aegis of the Rotary Club. Prior to coming here he was a large factor in the success of the Prince Edward Yacht Club, and up till last year when he announced his retirement from active racing was Regional Director of the Canadian Branch of the America Power Boat Association.

He was the designer and builder, with the aid of Mrs. Hicks, of the crack racing craft "Baby Rugene" now owned by Harvey McFarland, Jr., which won a Canadian speed-boat championship in 1946.

The letter received this week and written in appreciation of the gift of a box of cigars last Christmas is from Jean Sibelius, famous Finnish composer, whose name already ranks with such immortals an Beethoven, Bach and Brahms.

Heard Cigars Scarce

Some time prior to the Christmas season Mr. Lang was listening to his radio one evening when he heard that the great Finnish composer was finding it difficult to obtain good cigars in his far north home town of Tonsala, Finland.

So he boxed up a good brand of Canadian cigars and forwarded them to the well-known Finnish composer at his villa in northern Finland. Months passed and no word was received by the Belleville man and it was thought that possibly the 83-year-old composer had failed to receive the cigars.

But such was not the case. On Tuesday of this week Mr. Lang received the letter bearing Finnish postage stamps. He tore open the envelope to find a personal letter from the Finnish master thanking him for his thoughtful gesture in sending the cigars. "The cigars are a good brand and I really enjoy them. Thank you very much for your kindness," the composer wrote. The letter was signed by the composer with charcoal pencil in his clear and legible hand.

Priceless Letter

"That letter is priceless to me," stated Mr. Lang. "The autograph of Sibelius is something which possibly not ten persons on this continent have." Mr. Lang went on to say that some years ago an American organization had done some favor for the Finnish master and had been answered through the Finnish Legation in Washington.

A great lover of classical music Mr. Lang rates the works of Sibelius among the best ever written. He has one of the largest albums of recorded classicals in the city, many of which were heard in a series of Sunday afternoon broadcasts over CJBQ. Mr. Lang works as assistant at the local post office.

"I am really tickled to get a reply from Sibelius," said the local music lover. "Just so much so that I am going to send him some more cigars."

Former Wellington Man Rises to High Position in Detroit Banking Circles

Climaxing a steady climb to success since he left his native village several years ago, Mr. George R. Tait, son of Mr. Alex. Tait, Wellington, Ont., has been elevated to the position of senior vice-president of the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Tait's appointment follows a series of important changes in the executive personnel of the bank resulting from the retirement of Henry H. Sanger, dean of Detroit bankers, as chairman of the Bank's board of directors.

The new senior vice-president received his early education in the village schoolhouse. In later years he went to Detroit and became associated with the banking business. Still a comparatively young man he has made rapid advances in the banking field in the American city.

He returns each summer to Wellington where, with his family he enjoys his vacation. He recently purchased a large farm on the "Lake Shore" where he expects to spend his remaining days after retirement from active business.

Thirty four cadets from Combined Navy and Air Force Cadet College at Royal Rhodes, near Victoria, B. C., were welcomed this morning to the RCAF station at Trenton by Air Vice Marshal E. E. Middleton, C.B.E., air officer commanding Central Air Command.

In his address to the cadets the Air Vice Marshal stressed the great benefits that will result from the combined college in future co-operation between the services.

During their tour of RCAF stations in the East, the cadets will be quartered at Trenton but will visit Centralia Flying School and Clinton, which is one of the best radar schools on the continent.

The tour also includes a trip to Canadair in Cartierville, Quebec on February 24th. The tour is being carried out entirely by air and will last for 20 days.

Teacher's Salaries In Rural District National Disgrace

Brockington

Ottawa, Feb. 5 — (CP) — L. W. Brockington, former chairman of the Board of Governors of the CBC, in an address to the Ottawa branch of the General Alumni Association of Queen's University, said last night that "in many parts of Canada, particularly the rural districts," teacher's salaries were "a national disgrace."

He predicted that "in a few years" there would be "far too few teachers in Canada to carry on the task of education." Teachers could not be blamed if failure to attract "noble and devoted men and women" to the profession endangered the future of Canada's children." It was the thoughtlessness and apathy of "ordinary easy-going citizens of Canada" which allowed teaching to remain a "Cinderella" among the professions.

Of Queen's University he said he doubted "if any other university has given as many great names to Canada."

He expressed his gratitude at being given the rectorship of Queen's and paid a personal tribute to Dr. R. C. Wallace, principle of Queens' who attended the dinner meeting.

Gen. Blaskowitz Commits Suicide

Nuernberg, Feb. 5 —(CP)—Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, who surrendered to the Canadian Army in Holland in May, 1945, committed suicide in Nuernberg prison today shortly before he was to go on trial for war crimes.

The 64-year-old Wehrmacht veteran, who surrendered his forces to Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, commander of the 1st Canadian Corps on May 5, 1945, two days before the German surrender was signed, eluded his guards and leaped from the top tier of cells to the tiled floor of the prison rotunda.

He died in hospital shortly after.

As Blaskowitz lay in the hospital, his comrades were taken into court for the opening of the prosecution's case against them.

He was the ninth suicide to die in the Nuernberg jail since Herman Goering and other war crimes prisoners were brought here in November, 1945.

Blaskowitz commanded the armies of occupation in Czechoslovakia in 1939 and in the same year became governor of Bohemia.

He was heading the Twenty-Fifth Army when the army surrendered to the Canadians.

He was indicted last November with 13 other German war leaders, on charges of crimes against peace and humanity. He was arraigned Dec. 30 and pleaded innocent.

Cause of the blaze is not known.

Oat and Barley Futures Decline

Winnipeg, Feb. 5 (CP)—Oats and barley futures today on the Winnipeg grain exchange declined sharply on a carryover of liquidation in selling from yesterday, with local interests and American houses heavy sellers. The declines were influenced by a further sharp break on the Chicago and other commodity markets. There was some support on the recessions during the active opening.

Rye futures prices declined the full 10-cent limit on commission house selling also prompted by weaknesses at Chicago. Buying orders came into the market at brief intervals.

Prices:

Oats—May 1 lower at 81 1-8; July 1-8 higher 3-8 lower at 77 3-8B; Oct. unchanged at 75 1-8.

Barley—May 3 1-8 lower at $1.17A; July 2 7-8 lower at $1.10 7-8B; Oct. 3 5-8 lower at $1.05 1-4.

BARBARA ANN

undefeated Czechoslovakia and Switzerland.

Czechoslovakia was idle today. Switzerland downed Sweden 8-2, Britain defeated Poland 7-2 and Austria took Italy 6-5.

In the women's special slalom event, Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., housewife, brought the United States its first championship at the winter Olympics. Mrs. Fraser, second in yesterday's Alpine combined event, flashed down a tortuous Alpine course in 1:572.

Edi Reinhalter of Switzerland won the men's special slalom skiing event, with James Couttet of France second. Nino Bibbia of Italy won the skeleton sled (Cresta) championship, defeating defending champion Jack Heaton, of New Haven, Conn.

The Ottawa star and 24 other competitors took the ice in a dull, grey mist shortly after dawn as the women's figure skating event got away after yesterday's postponement due to warm weather.

The ice was chipped in some places but officials were confident that the final three figures could be skated off by early afternoon.

Yesterday it had been feared that if the thaw lasted the event would not be completed before the Sunday deadline for the fifth winter Olympic games.

Hardest hit in the first six days of the 10-day program were the skaters, although the cresta sledding finals and non-official hockey match between the United States Amateur Hockey Association team and unbeaten Canada scheduled yesterday were postponed.

As the mercury skidded last night, hardening the ice, officials promised that all other ice events would be held today as well.

Most activity yesterday was confined to skiing, and a 28-year-old Vancouver, Wash, housewife took honors no other American ever has accomplished in this winter Olympic competition.

Mrs. Gretchen Fraser placed second in the women's Alpine combined ski event, being nosed out by only 37/100 of a point, by Trude Beiser of Austria.

The men's Alpine combined was taken by Henri Oreiller of France, the only winner of two events thus far. He previously won the downhill championship.

Although the ice was soft, three non-official hockey games were played yesterday. Czechoslovakia turned back Australia 17-3, while the undefeated Swiss hockeymen trimmed Great Britain 12-3.

Poland handed Italy its fifth loss in a row 13-7.

In the men's Alpine combined event, Harvey Clifford of Ottawa, was 21st, Alec Sutherland of Montreal 23rd, Bill Irwin of Princeton, B.C., 36th and his brother, Bert, 49th.

The unofficial standing left Sweden in first place with 60 points, followed by Norway with 48½ and Switzerland with 45. Trailing the "big three" were Finland 38, Austria 36, France 27, the United States 20¼, Italy 11, Holland 8, Belgium and Hungary 3, Britain 2 and Canada ¼.

Member Named But Not Expelled In Quebec House

Quebec, Feb. 5 —(CP)— A six-day sitting week faced the Quebec Legislative Assembly today after a turbulent night meeting climaxed by the naming of Liberal member Leon Casgrain, former attorney general.

Mr. Casgrain who has represented Riviere Du Loup in the Provincial Lower House for 21 years was called to order by name shortly before adjournment at 11 p.m., and soon after Premier Duplessis had given notice of sittings every week-day.

The premier told the desk-thumping, shouting members the Assembly would sit "every Saturday and every Monday" as well as the days in-between.

Earlier in the evening when Liberal Leader Adelard Godbout had told the Assembly the bill's principle was "bad" because it involved tax commutation, Hon. Paul Beaulieu, trade and commerce minister, charged while supporting the bill that the opposition party encouraged communism.

"You won't repeat in this chamber that the Liberal party has encouraged Communism," Mr. Godbout called across the floor.

Naming Mr. Casgrain last night was the first of the present session and the first time for the Riviere Du Loup member who was attorney-general during the Godbout administration from 1939 to 1944.

Called to Order

Mr. Casgrain, 56, and sharing with Premier Duplessis the longest unbroken term among members, was called to order as Albert Groudreau (UN-Richmond) chairman of a committee of the whole House reported Willie Morin (L-Quebec Centre) to the Speaker.

Mr. Casgrain protested that he had been unable to fully understand the committee chairman's verbal report, and thought it was false.

He remained on his feet for several seconds while Speaker Alexandre Tache motioned to him to sit down and finally Mr. Tache said:

"I call to order Mr. Leon Casgrain, member for Riviere Du Loup."

Mr. Casgrain was deprived of the right to speak for the few minutes that were left before adjournment. There was no motion for an expulsion which sometimes follows the action of identifying a member by his name instead of as a representative of an electoral division.

Results of Decline In Commodity Prices Studied

(By The Canadian Press)

Yesterday's break in prices on United States commodity markets and stock exchanges and the inclination to view it with alarm is a reminder that you can't have things both ways at the same time.

People want lower prices when they go to their grocers, but have a disposition to get jittery when the price structure threatens to fall.

Probably no one really wants a drastic break in prices, but rather a stop to present increases and a comfortable easing back.

This is very difficult to accomplish and many take the view that once commodity prices start on the downgrade a general recession is at hand.

The more optimistic view is that continued heavy European demand, supported by the European recovery program, supplies a brake which will stop any runaway drop, and gives a breathing space in which to make orderly plans.

One explanation of what happened yesterday states it simply as this:

A sudden spurt of grain offerings by farmers knocked down grain prices in Chicago. Other commodity markets fell in sympathy and the stock exchanges joined the parade. Those offering this explanation feel the break is only temporary.

Other opinion sees a definite deflationary trend and holds that "current prices cannot be maintained."

Whatever happens to the present drop it is a fresh indication of the uncertainty which traders have persisted in feeling and which has resulted in stocks selling far below the prices which their earnings seem to justify.

What happened yesterday in brief:

Chicago grains fell the limit permitted in a single trading session; Winnipeg followed suit; other United States commodities fell with widest losses in lard, cotton - seed oil, eggs, soybeans and cotton futures; Canadian commodity markets showed no visible reaction; New York Stock Exchange had its sharpest slump since last May with issues off $1 to more than $5 a share; Toronto industrials weakened and mining stocks slipped in heavy trading; selected industrials retreated mildly in Montreal.

Mrs. Roosevelt To Speak Despite Russian Protest

Lake Success, Feb. 5 — (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was called to speak before the United Nations Economic and Social Council today. She appears as chairman of the U. N. Commission on Human Rights to present a report on her group's recent Geneva meeting.

The 18-member council decided to hear her after over-ruling objections from White Russia. Delegate Leonid Kaminsky contended the council had had no time to study the Commission's work and it would be premature to listen to Mrs. Roosevelt now.

The council turned to the human rights discussion after hearing Britain and Russia exchange political accusations. Britain charged Russian activity in Eastern Europe made the Soviet Union an "expanding imperialist power." Russia called the accusation a "monstrous falsehood" and said Britain was using the council for "hostile propaganda against the Soviet Union."

The security council, meanwhile, scheduled more debate on the India-Pakistan quarrel over Kashmir. Philip Noel-Baker of Britain was expected to offer some plan to bring the two Dominions together.

The Palestine partition commission planned a discussion of the composition of an advance party to be sent into the Holy Land, possibly within 10 days.

The Commission decided yesterday to negotiate with Britain for an R.A.F. field at Aquir, near Jerusalem. It was considered possible the U. N. group might establish headquarters there.

Meanwhile Russia was reported yesterday to have informed the U. N. that Soviet economic production is back to pre-war levels.

Free-Skating Trials Win Title For Dick Button

St. Moritz, Feb. 5 (AP) — The flashing blades of young Dick Button cracked Europe's monopoly on Olympic figure skating championships today.

The 18-year-old Englewood, N.J., stylist gave a magnificent performance in his free-skating trials to win the title in the fifth Olympic games.

Young Button, who earlier had captured the European title at Prague, made an almost perfect showing in the free-style tests after assuming a lead in the difficult compulsory figures earlier this week.

Seventh Dominion

Temple, church and mosque bells rang out on Wednesday the tidings of independence of Ceylon, which has now become the seventh of the Dominions in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

This country has had a long and successful progress of development towards self-government. Her six and a half million and more people will handle their affairs and their country takes Dominion status along with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the two new Dominions out of old India, namely the new India and Pakistan.

Ceylon has seen Indian, Arab, Portuguese and Dutch invasions before the British came in 1795. In 1802 Ceylon came under the control of the Colonial Office of Britain and has steadily advanced towards self-government.

Ceylon's place in the Commonwealth will be marked by ten-day ceremonies. On Tuesday next the King's brother, H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester will inaugurate the new Dominion Parliament and read the speech from the Throne and will hoist the "Lion flag" of Ceylon.

In Service of Humanity

The Canadian Red Cross will make its second post-war appeal for funds in March and has in view the objective of $3,000,000. This is the minimum requirement for the peacetime work of the society during the present year.

This laudable work which the Red Cross carries on at all is one of the bright phases of modern civilization. It is a service of the greatest value which is devoted to saving and protecting lives. It provides for Canadian people free blood transfusions through the National Blood Transfusion Service, maintains and establishes Outpost Hospitals in areas as in the north, supplies personal aid to veterans who are sick, disabled or in need, helps the organization of the Junior Red Cross with a membership of 900,000 in the Dominion's schools so that the boys and girls may become healthy citizens. Then the Society carries on among its services Disaster Relief, Crippled Children's Work, Medical and Dental Services and Sick Room Supply Loan Cupboards and provides instruction in home nursing, first aid, nutrition and swimming and water safety.

Everyone will realize that there is not one of these services so freely given that is not necessary. They are the outgrowth of the development of the work of the Society. All these are vital contributions to the health and welfare of the citizens of all parts of the Dominion.

The blood transfusion service will continue to be extended throughout the Dominion. It is one of the new branches of effort and everyone will admit its supreme importance in saving lives as in the case of victims of accidents and of infants. Many will owe their lives to this service.

The Outpost Hospital is one of the blessings of modern service and one which is appreciated in those frontier parts and in the farther away parts of the country. They are proving themselves as a most essential part of the work of the Red Cross.

The work that is done through the Red Cross Lodges (that is recreational centres), adjacent to all large Veterans' Hospitals, is one in which Canadians can take pride and satisfaction for the men who dared to give all for civilization and freedom of all peoples.

Canada is a land with a wealth of lakes and waters and yet many Canadians grow up unable to swim. They are thereby deprived of the joys of this aquatic sport and exercise or may run the risk of losing their lives through their ignorance of the principles of swimming and safety in the water. Canada suffers heavily every year. The Red Cross places the number of lives lost through drowning at over 1,000 a year. One of the latest efforts in the work of the society is a nationwide training program in this respect in which the Red Cross is co-operating with other bodies. This laudable effort will lessen the number of tragedies from drowning and will add to the health of the young especially and their elders too in this fine exercise.

This great volunteer organization is a friend in need at the time of disasters when relief is necessary.

One of the finest proofs of the modern age is seen in the agencies of mercy, for sick, suffering, disaster-stricken human beings and making life better and more happy for many. The people generally know what the Red Cross does along these lines. They appreciate the magnitude of this effort for humanity's sake.

Double Unreality

Prince Nobuhito Takamatsu, brother of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, accompanied by his wife and by Prince Kuni, brother of the Empress, it is reported from Tokyo, attended there a few days ago the first performance in Japanese of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado". Prince Nobuhito, we are told, said that it was "very interesting" and that he had "enjoyed it very much." Other Japanese in the audience, however, called it "unreal" and "fantastic" and perhaps the Emperor's brother, despite his laudatory comment, also decided that the Japan portrayed in that miniature masterpiece of the two inimitable Savoyards was, in comparison with the real Japan, a thing of utter unreality and unbridled fantasy.

Yet, why should they? From their point of view, can anything in Gilbert and Sullivan be more remote from reality as they used to know it than the Japan into which Hirohito and his family have been violently projected? Which, one is impelled to ask, is to them the more incredible — the impossible country in which Ko-Ko and Poo-Bah, Yum-Yum and Nanki-Poo, disport themselves in irresponsible gaiety, in which common sense is stood on its head and all that is upside down becomes sober normality — or the realm of "reality" into which the Emperor and his kin have been flung, in which that Oriental "Son of Heaven" is in daily contact with Occidental democracy, in which American soldiers saunter where armored Samurai once trod, and power commensurate with that of Hirohito's ancestors in their heyday is wielded by an American general backed by American regiments and American warships? Where, in all Gilbert and Sullivan, can one find a situation as fantastic?

May the radiant absurdity of Gilbert and Sullivan help to banish the tragic absurdity of Tojo and Yamashita forever from post-war Japan—and thus add still more laurels to the bounteous crop already harvested from the Savoy operas by their effervescent and irrepressible creators!—New York Times.

China in Transition

Despite a civil war that threatens its integrity and absorbs most of its energies at the moment, the biggest nation on earth, China, comprising more than 450,000,000 people, is continuing the difficult process of converting itself from an archaic, feudal and patriarchal autocracy into a modern democracy. It is a long and slow process, in keeping with the slower rhythm of the East and the magnitude of the tasks, and it is subject to painful setbacks and exasperating delays. But it has gone a long way since the overthrow of the Manchus in 1912, and now steps are being taken to set up the machinery for the first democratic and constitutional government in China's five thousand years of history. — New York Times.

Science comes up with justification for the squeamishness of those who dislike rodents. Rats, and other gnawing mammals, can transmit disease and should be destroyed before they can cause trouble to human beings as well as to property. Cleanliness is the first line of defence against the rat. He likes to romp in litter. If premises become rat-infested, prompt steps should be taken to exterminate the invaders, says Health Magazine.

DIETITIAN

A dietitian courses took
In college, learning how to cook
She spends her time preparing plates
Of stuff she knows the patient hates.

She comes each morning to the bed,
Repeating what the doctor said.
Put in a plea for steak, she'll say:
"That's not permitted on your tray.

"You may have spinach, and perhaps
Some cauliflower or yellow snaps.
Dessert! Oh, never cake or pie!
Instead a week-old crust of rye."

Though young and beautiful is she
Who brings her diet meals to me,
I think, however fair she look,
I would not want her for a cook.

"Young man, when I order a ton of coal I want every speck of it!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 5th., 1928.

Mr. Edward Landon is renewing acquaintances in town after an absence of thirty-five years.

Ald. Charles L. Hyde went to Toronto today on business.

Mr. Fred Alexander was home from Queen's University to spend yesterday.

Messrs. Sanford Burrows and W. J. Cook went to Toronto today.

Mr. Ralph Bird was home from Queen's University, Kingston, to spend the weekend.

Mr. Percey E. J. Follwell, who has been associated with Mr. Don Bleecker, druggist, for a number of years, has been appointed superintendent of the Belleville post office building. This is a Dominion Government appointment. He succeeds Mr. Chas. A. W. Thompson, who recently joined the Galt police force.

30 YEARS AGO

Feb. 5th., 1918.

At two o'clock this afternoon there were 36 persons lined up in the fuel controllers office here waiting to receive permits to obtain coal. Mr. Thos. Wills, the controller, informed a reporter that in some houses there is no coal and the situation would be very serious if the G.T.R. officials had not kindly allowed the controller to use two carloads of soft coal belonging to the railway. This coal is being given out in 500 pound lots.

By order-in-council of the Dominion Government all industries and shops in Ontario and Quebec are to be closed on Feb. 9th., 10th., and 11th., in order to save fuel. It is ordered also that theatres, pool rooms and all places of amusement shall be closed, every Monday from Feb. 18th. to March 25th. This order includes munition plants, but exempts newspapers and public utilities.

40 YEARS AGO

Feb. 5th., 1908.

Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean Watt (nee Dumble) are visiting friends here.

A large audience witnessed the play, "Hilda, the Girl from the West" which was put on at the opera house last evening by Marks' Bros. Company. The specialties were excellent.

Once more this city is virtually shut out from the surrounding country owing to the roads being impassable and the interruption to business is extremely serious. Great quantities of snow fell and the wind blew hard, making hugh drifts.

Two curling rinks from Brockville defeated two Belleville rinks here yesterday by a score of 35 to 29. The following composed the Belleville rinks: Rink 1 — T. E. Ketcheson, S. Robertson, W. Connolly, J. A. McFee, skip, 14; Rink 2 — J. B. Iler, J. A. Kerr, S. W. Vermilyea, F. Dolan, skip 15.

The Quarterly Love Feast will be held at Bridge Street Methodist Church tomorrow morning at 9.30 o'clock.

Mr. W. W. Chown will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow.

Mr. John Stokes was in town today.

Mr. Fred Quick of Lindsay was in town yesterday and secured a lease of the two stores in the Caldwell Block on Front Street. He and his partner, Mr. Stewart Robertson, also of Lindsay, will open a clothing store here in the near future. The firm will be known as Quick and Robertson.

Mr. R. Maitland Roy of Hamilton, formerly of Belleville, is here to spend the weekend with friends.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Who said that God reigns and the Government lives?

When the news of President Lincoln's assassination reached New York City April 15, 1865, James A. Garfield was in the Wall Street district studying finance.

Garfield had served in the Federal army as a major general of volunteers, but in 1863 he left the army to take his seat as a Representative in Congress from Ohio.

The report of Lincoln's death caused great excitement in the financial district, and an angry and riotous crowd gathered in Wall Street.

Congressman Garfield, who was a lay preacher and a good speaker, appeared on a balcony of the Merchants' Exchange facing the street, waved a small flag to attract attention and began to speak.

Taking his inspiration from the Psalms, Garfield is supposed to have said in part:

"Fellow-citizens! Clouds and darkness are around Him; His pavilion is dark waters and thick clouds; justice and judgment are the establishment of His throne; mercy and truth shall go before His face! Fellow-citizens! God reigns, and the Government at Washington lives!"

Since Garfield spoke extemporaneously and there was no reporter present to take down his speech, his exact words are not known for certain.

In an address at Helena, Montana, September 11, 1919, President Woodrow Wilson said:

"One of the noblest sentences ever uttered was uttered by Mr. Garfield before he became President. He was a Member of Congress, as I remember it, at the time of Mr. Lincoln's assassination. He was at the old Fifth Avenue Hotel and they begged him to go out and say something to the people. He went out and after he had attracted their attention, he said this beautiful thing: 'My fellow citizens, the President is dead, but the Government lives and God Omnipotent reigns.' America is the place where you cannot kill your government by killing the men who conduct it."

Finds Prospecting Healthful Pursuit

Victoria, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Cecil Rhodes, who has been panning B. C. streams since he was discharged from the army in 1918, advises those susceptible to colds and other similar ailments to go prospecting.

"There's no life like it," he said on a visit here. "It's a crying shame that prospectors are virtually old-timers. What we need is new blood. It would be a good idea if some of the young people got out into the hills.

"Anybody who takes my advice will be healthy. A day's panning in almost any point on the Fraser River will bring four dollars and one can always get sufficient money for a grubstake. There's plenty of game in the forest, fish in the rivers and lakes — and berries grow profusely. Take along a sleeping-bag, a good rifle and several pans."

Mr. Rhodes said he was preparing for his last trip into the hills — into the Pitt River country this time where legend has it that there is a lost mine. Though getting on in years, he said he would make the trip alone. "An old soldier never falls down. I'll be all right."

Steadily Rising Living Costs Shown by Index

Ottawa, Feb. 5 —(CP)— The pointer on Canada's cost-of-living indicator was trembling on the ebb of a new high today.

Steadily thrusting upward, the official living-cost index registered a new post-war peak for December and was threatening the all-time mark registered in the boom period after the First World War.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics yesterday announced the December index as 148.3 — up 2.3 points from a month before and showing a rise of 21 points for all of 1947. It was crowding the 150.6 peak of July, 1920. The index is calculated on the standard that the 1935-39 average equals 100.

It appeared likely today that the January index would move past the former high, since the December figure did not take into account the prices of meats developing out of higher British contracts for Canadian products. These advances will materialize in the January index report.

However, it was in foods that one of the major December advances developed. The others were in house-furnishings, services and miscellaneous items.

The total jump of 2.3 points in December compared with an increase of 2.4 in the previous month.

The food index for December moved from 178.7 to 182.2, butter and vegetable prices being largely responsible.

House furnishings and services leaped from 154.9 to 158.4. Clothing went up two points to 161.2. Rentals, under control, stayed unchanged at 119.9.

The statistics bureau also reported that during the week ended Dec. 26 prices on farm products advanced from 130.9 to 133.7, on the basis that the 1926 average equals 100.

Prime Minister Replies to Question Of Opposition

Ottawa, Feb. 5 (CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday in the Commons he could not recall when he stopped asking persons being appointed as Senators to agree to support Senate reforms.

Replying to a lengthy question placed on the order paper by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), Mr. King said:

"Perhaps I can make the circumstances clear if I were to remind my honorable friend that when the Liberal Administration came into office in 1921 there were very few Liberals in the Senate. And there was a very strong opposition. Some of the measures which went from the House of Commons to the Senate were defeated there by the opposition; and the government felt as the British government did in 1911, that something in the nature of a parliamentary act might be necessary in order to ensure that our social and other legislation would not be defeated in the Senate, indefinitely.

"It was that kind of thing which was in my mind when I spoke with different gentlemen before they were formally appointed to the Senate and got their assurance that, in circumstances of the kind, they would support legislation for Senate reform that might come to the Senate from the House.

"There is nothing in the nature of a written pledge. There was no pledge made to the government as a government. It was an undertaking that was given to myself, as the one who was responsible for nominating members to the Senate. How many there were whom I received that assurance from, I cannot say at the present time. Nor am I in a position to say just when I ceased to raise that question. It did not become important later on, when we had a majority in the Senate, and were in a position to see that our own legislation went through."

Says Mayor's Job One Big Headache

Halifax, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Want to be a mayor with a $5,000-a-year salary, a big red-carpeted office, a streamlined, glass-topped walnut desk and a personal secretary?

Take it from Mayor J. E. (Gee) Ahern — "It's an experience of a lifetime, but one continuous headache."

The office of chief magistrate is just what you make of it, says he, but if you try to do well by it, you have to have the patience of Job, the good nature of Bob Hope, the iron fist of a taskmaster, and by a psychologist, financial wizard, doctor, lawyer and beggar all wrapped up in one.

Mayor Ahern, who was a newspaper man before his election, says he habitually keeps a box of aspirin and a bottle of cough medicine close at hand — to use while chatting with irate citizens who have waded through snow-choked streets.

COOKS ARE SUCH INCREDULOUS PEOPLE

I am still waiting for readers who have pressure cookers to try out the suggestion of A. L. B. which we printed here and tell us how it works. A. L. B. said he puts 8 cupfulls of water in the pressure cooker with 8 dessert-spoonsfulls of coffee, seals the cooker, puts on the fire, turns off the fire when pressure reaches 15 pounds per square inch — which takes about ten minutes — lets pressure go down to atmosphere —which takes 5 minutes perhaps —then opens the cooker. There is golden perfection in coffee, not an iota of aroma has escaped in the brew. A. L. B. adds that pressure cookers should be fitted with a pouring flap to open for pouring.

That sounds sensible enough. But these days it is ticklish business trying to teach the cook how to make coffee. We tried it recently and — phutt!—she was off like a shot. This time you folks try this new method and let me know whether it is as good as it sounds, won't you?

A lady who added to her library the only book of it's kind that I want in my own library—Adelle Davis's Let's Cook It Right, published by Harcourt Brace—reports that she is cooking all her roasts in the warming oven (temperature of only 140 degrees F.) for from 24 to 36 hours—that's what the lady says, 24 to 36 hours, no mistake about it—and that neither she nor her guests would have believed meats could be so delicious.

For that matter, I can't believe meat would cook at that low temperature. Why, that's as high as milk is heated to pasteurize it, and heating milk to 140 degrees F. (60 degrees C.) for 30 minutes, or 68 degrees C. (150.4 degrees F.) for twenty minutes, does not cook the milk, the big dairy interests insist, and they don't like it whenever I refer to pasteurization as "par-boiling" milk and especially when I state that any milk may be made perfectly safe for infant, child, invalid or adult by bringing the milk to a boil for one minute. One of Webster's definition for par boil is to boil partially, to overheat.

Heating for one-half hour at a temperature of 140 degrees F. (boiling temperature is 212 degrees F. at sea level)is sufficient to kill any disease germs likely to be in milk. Maybe it doesn't cook the germs, just makes it too hot for them to live.

Well, now, here's another problem for you cooks to solve for us. I said we have no pressure cooker, and anyway meat is too expensive around here to monkey with. You try it and let us know how the experiment works out, won't you? Frankly I'm afraid the lady and her guests like their meat rare. That's all right if they do. But I like mine cooked. Just try serving me a rare steak — you'll probably need it to apply to what I'll hang on your eye. Go on, now, if you like it rare try cooking it in pressure cooker for 24 to 36 hours at not over 140°. Then tell us how delicious it is that way.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

It Is Silly

I believe people can catch a cold ear ache over the telephone from one who has a bad cold—through the wire. My daughter says this is silly. Still I am careful not to hold the receiver close to my ear or talk too long.

(Mrs. W. K. G.)

Answer — Yes, Ma'am, your daughter is right. In fact there is no danger of catching anything from using a telephone that has been used by a person with the C-R-I — any common respiratory infection.

The Gray Sickness

In my early thirties and find my skin already showing wrinkles and flabbiness and my hair is beginning to look dull and gray. My complexion is the color of putty. Have Ben Told to use —— cream and then —— cream.

(Ruth)

Answer — Use whichever "cream" or combination of cosmetics may give you the greatest amusement. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing (no clipping, please) for the pamphlet The Gray Sickness.

Egg Shell

Is the body able to assimilate ground egg shells for the calcium, and if so, how fine should they be ground?

(Mrs. W. M.)

Answer — Yes. Dried egg-shell is almost pure calcium carbonate. Grind just fine enough for comfortable swallowing.

COMMENTS ON JUDGMENT

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP)—The Ontario Attorney-General's Department said that imposition of a fine, rather than a prison term, is not unusual in a case of dangerous driving resulting in a fatal accident. The department was commenting on the fact that Leland McCracken of Haliburton was fined $50 and costs at Lindsay Monday on dangerous driving charges arising from a highway accident in which Ray Sholler was fatally injured.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Ontario Intelligencer will be pleased to receive news items regarding Belleville citizens who have guests or are visiting friends elsewhere. Kindly phone 99 or mail information to this office.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Murphy, Harriett Street, spent the last couple of days in Toronto, visiting friends and relatives and attending the Ice Follies in Maple Leaf Gardens.

A most commendable project was undertaken on Monday evening by a Teen Age Bridge Club, when a very successful bridge party was held in St. Thomas' Parish Hall. About thirty tables were in play and a splendid sum was realized for the Hammond Organ Memorial Fund of the Belleville Collegiate Institute. A great deal of credit is due these girls for their initiative and executive ability.

Mrs. "Jim" Bray, of Parham, Ont., who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital, is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Charlton, Front Street.

WEDDINGS

BROWN—McCOY

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Kew Beach United Church, Toronto, at seven o'clock on Saturday evening, January 31, when Marie Beatrice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. McCoy of Madoc Township, and Ronald George, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 202 Lee Ave., Toronto, were united in marriage. Rev. Mr. Neville officiated.

The bride was very becoming in a pearl grey, two-piece gabardine dress with matching hat, white gloves and black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and bouvardia.

Attending her sister as bridesmaid was Miss Edelene McCoy, of Madoc, who wore a street-length dress of grey wool, white gloves and black accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

Mr. Joseph Brusone, of Toronto, acted as groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside at 219 King Street East, Oshawa, Ont.

V.O.N. NEWS

This is Health Week across Canada, and the question is asked, if the public realizes the part the Victorian Order of Nurses plays in the health of the community? The nurses give service in many ways to the citizens of Belleville, some of which are listed as follows:

1. Bedside nursing to the surgical, medical, and chronic patients, in their own homes on a visit basis.

2. Prenatal visiting to—

(a) Disseminate good health teaching in respect to the general health of the mother and babe

(b) To see that the home is completely prepared to receive the new babe. . .baby trays, basket with proper mattress, and the clothing required for the wee one

(c) To help the mother make satisfactory emotional adjustments to the new situation in which she finds herself.

3. Demonstration bath services to the new babe on return from hospital, in order to assure that the mother knows the simplest and best method of handling her babe at this time.

4. Weekly visits to the babe until it is six weeks old, for the purpose of weighing the babe, to ascertain the gain, and to help the mother in her methods of habit training. Also to make sure that she understands the importance of regular medical supervision. (Too many babes in Canada die before their first birthday because of the lack of such supervision.)

Aside from these duties the nurses also carry on special activities in the city.

1. Assist the M.O.H. at the monthly toxoid clinic

2. Assist Dr. J. Marshall at the monthly infant and preschool dental clinic.

3. Weekly baby conferences. . at which time the nurses weigh the babies, and give the mother counsel regarding habit training, re eating, sleeping and playing

4. School service at St. Michael's Academy, and the Cannifton school.

In relation to these services it is of interest to know that nationally the order is celebrating its 50th anniversary, and this year is holding a poster contest across Canada. Prizes being given for the best three posters. The Belleville Branch is holding its own contest, the winner of which will receive $10. The winning poster will be submitted to the National Contest where it will be judged for the grand prize. Watch the paper for the rules of the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Simonds, Massassaga, Observe 64th Anniversary of Wedding

Lifetime residents of Prince Edward county, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Simonds of Grove Farm, Massassaga, on Friday of this week will observe their 64th wedding anniversary. No celebration is planned, the couple being content to rest on the laurels of their Golden and Diamond Jubilee.

Mr. Simonds is in his 91st year while his bride of 64 years will be 83 early in March.

A farmer all his life, Mr. Simonds admits that he never wanted to do anything else. Up until he was 89 he could still wield a "mean" pitch fork during the haying season while two years ago assisted his grandson, Hobart Adams in hand making concrete blocks for a new silo.

Mrs. Simonds boasts that until she was 80 she had tended the furnace in the imposing brick farm house that is their home. During the war she had an enviable record of knitting some 300 pairs of socks for the Red Cross, while in addition she contributed hand-made quilts and clothing for the blitzed British people.

Former President

President of the Mountain View cheese factory for 14 years, Mr. Simonds was chiefly instrumental in the construction of the factory back in 1903. The year previous he had built the spacious farm home where the couple still reside.

Mr. Simonds recalls an amusing incident connected with the building of the cheese factory. He had meticulously figured the lumber requirements for the building and was about to set out for Trenton to make the purchase when he discovered his specifications "had gone to school." He had done his figuring in his daughter's school scribbler.

Modern-minded the Simonds added farm conveniences as soon as they were introduced. As early as possible they linked up with the Hydro and soon installed the milking machine. However, he had no inclination to drive a car although he did learn to drive. "There are too many old men driving cars," he observes.

Mr. and Mrs. Simonds have two daughters: Mrs. Edgar (Bettie Olive) Adams of Toronto and Mrs. Ross (Cornelia Bell) Roblin of Rednersville. There are five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

HOLLOWAY ST. Y. P. U.

The Y. P. U. of Holloway St. United Church held an enjoyable sleigh riding party Monday evening. After the ride the members met in the Church parlors for a worship service, with the Culture group and its conveners, Olive Hall and Betra Fairman, in charge.

The service opened with Phyllis Beatty at the piano. A Scripture lesson was read by Mary Rutherford, and Betra Fairman led in prayer.

Following a brief business period, the president, Douglas Ptolemy closed the meeting. Recreation was led by Betty Keeble and the Culture group served refreshments.

Mrs. H. L. Presiding over the silver services from three-thirty to four-thirty o'clock were Mrs. W. Ponton and Mrs. A. May, with Mrs. C. Ryan, Mrs. C. A. Brown, Mrs. Laughlin, Mrs. H. Arnott, Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. D. L. Osborne and Mrs. A. Wilkes serving the guests. Pouring from four-thirty to five-thirty o'clock were Mrs. L. Riggs and Mrs. A. E. McColl, with Mrs. G. E. Brown, Mrs. L. B. Martin, Mrs. P. C. Fry, Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. R. A. Wyatt as serviteurs.

A table displaying varieties of delicious home cooking was convened by Mrs. D. Stewart, with Mrs. D. A. Ferguson, Mrs. E. B. Lally and Mrs. J. Sword assisting.

A large angel cake, beautifully decorated with dainty pink icing, was in charge of Mrs. L. Aman and Mrs. M. Davidson. This was won by Mrs. R. M. Carmichael, Charles Street.

Mrs. Houdon was treasurer for the afternoon. The proceeds of this very worth while project were exceedingly gratifying to the ladies sponsoring it, and they gratefully acknowledge the patronage of the friends of the Girl Guide Association.

Fire Destroys Colden Home, Loss is Heavy

The fire which started in the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ferguson had gained considerable headway before it was noticed by neighbors as no one was at home in the Ferguson apartment at the time.

A number of men from Chisholm's Mills were quickly on the scene along with help summoned by telephone and they fought the fire for a time but were unable to save the house.

Most of the furniture from Mr. Joe Colden's part of the house was saved and part of the furniture from the Ferguson side.

For a time it was feared Mr. Goodfellow's store and home might catch fire and the men carried water and kept the south walls of the buildings next the fire soaked with water and succeeded in keeping it from burning.

Crippled Girl Buys New Wardrobe

Toronto, February 5 — The "new look" for Anne Rhynchuck, 23 year-old paraplegic, means more than the ballerina skirt she bought on Wednesday. There is new hope, a new future tied up in the latest styles. Anne's trip to a downtown department store here in a Red Cross car marked the first real shopping trip in her life, the first new clothes she has had in eight years.

The Red Cross branch of Sudbury, Ont., her "foster-home" town, gave Anne $150 to buy a new wardrobe, but the real story of Anne Rhynchuck starts long before that.

Twelve years later she was working as a waitress in a Sudbury cafe when a man blundered in with a revolver. In the skirmish that followed, a bullet ricocheted off the restaurant wall and caught Anne in the spine.

The bullet is lodged in Anne's fifth spinal vertebra today.

Unable to move, she lay in Sudbury hospital for a year. Then Rev. A. Roberecki of St. Josophet's Church in Toronto, who shared Anne's Ukrainian background, heard of her. He brought Anna to our Lady of Mercy Hospital in Toronto. In time she regained the use of her arms; but in spite of doctors and consultations no hope that she would ever walk again was offered her.

In October, 1946, Father Roberecki brought a new visitor to Anne's bedside — Dr. A. T. Jousse, supervisor of Lyndhurst Lodge, national hospital for Paraplegics, himself partly paralyzed. Together he and Father Roberecki arranged for Anne to visit Lyndhurst Lodge daily, to be fitted for leg braces, trained in the use of crutches, wheelchair and compensatory muscles.

Anne can "walk" a little now, on her crutches. She manages her wheelchair expertly. She is studying typing and short - hand and

In all those long eight years Anne never had any new clothes. People were kind, of course, giving her a coat or a dress only slightly worn. But as a woman of 23, her own tastes and yearnings for fashion had never once been answered.

Mrs. G. Quinn, Red Cross Hospital visitor, understood that need As a friend of veteran and civilian patients at Lyndhurst Lodge for years, Mrs. Quinn knew Anne, admired her courage and cheerful vivacity. She wrote a letter to the Sudbury Red Cross.

Wednesday Anne had her answer. With $150 tucked in her purse, Anne and Mrs. Quinn went shopping. For Anne it was her first sortie into a department store.

First they bought lingerie. Then sweaters in soft pastels. Then blouses, one for every day, one for best. Slacks, too, practical for Anne's gymnasium work. Finally a full ballerina skirt with the "new look", navy blue, and a matching double breasted jacket and gay red shortie coat to wear over all.

[illegible] the Red Cross driver helped her into the car to go home, Anne held fast to her packages. She turned to Mrs. Quinn and smiled. "You know," she said, "I'm so lucky!"

There are many like Anne in Canada, veterans and civilians in need of sympathetic understanding and practical help. On March 1 the Red Cross will launch an appeal for $3,000,000, so that no Canadian may suffer needlessly for the want of a neighborly hand and friendly assistance.

Girl Guides Hear Monthly Roport

The executive of the Girl Guide Social Assoc. at their monthly meeting were told that within last few months Guiding has made rapid strides in advancement, and that the Brownie Packs are filled to their capacity. The Commissioner also reported that starting Monday, Feb. 2, the two Guide Companies, No. 2, meeting in the Kiwanis Centre, and No. 7 meeting in Christ Church Parish Hall, are holding joint meeings for the next few weeks in Kiwanis Centre. These meetings are to be a series of first-aid lectures, given the Guides by the St. John Ambulance, enabling the Guides to pass certain required tests. The Commissioner also reported that on Feb. 17th, she is holding the enrolment ceremony for No. 2 Brownie Pack, at Queen Mary School, and on Feb. 19th, the same ceremony is being held for No. 4 Brownie Pack at King George School. In the second week of March, enrolment is being held for No. 7 Co. Girl Guides in Christ Church Parish Hall. Plans have been made for Feb. 22nd "Thinking Day" for all Girl Guides and Brownies to have their own service in St. Thomas Parish House at 4.30 p.m. This is as a climax to Boy Scout-Girl Guide Week, Feb. 15th-22nd.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Treatment of Enlarged Pores

Time was when many gullible girls believed in beauty magic. Charlatans, promising to exchange old faces for new, thrived in the land. Skin peeling was supposed to cure all manner of complexion defects, from freckles to wrinkles. The medical profession got after these bad boys who were preying on trusting customers and drove them out of business. Serious defects are corrected nowadays by doctors and surgeons of good standing.

Enlarged pores are a common trouble. To change the texture of the skin is well nigh impossible. But conditions can be improved. This presto-change act takes time, plus hopefulness of spirit and unflagging beautifying rituals.

One must take into consideration the cause of pore expansion. Like oily skin, it is probably due to a diet that includes too much fat. Sebaceous glands work overtime, send out too much lubricating fluid. To be rid of this excess, the pores widen. Conditions then are perfect for the accumulation of blackheads, a good-looks grief that makes for untidy faces and may eventually lead to acne.

The victim of acne should avoid rich sauces and gravies, cream, pastries, an excess of sweets, especially chocolate.

Foods that are likely to have a favorable effect upon the complexion include fruits and fruit juices, buttermilk and green salads. One should drink plenty of water.

The coarse skin is benefited by the free use of a bland soap. It is a good idea to fluff up a rich lather, rub it into the flesh with the fingers; the friction aids the skin in its work as an organ of elimination.

Finish the face-washing with a cold rinsing. The more cold water used the better; it tightens the pores and tones underlying fibres.

A lotion can be used after the combine for you one ounce of witch hazel, one fourth ounce of boric acid, one half pint of camphor water. After drying the face, dab on the lotion with a pledget of cotton. Let it dry.

A white-of-egg-pack is recommended as a refining treatment. Beat the egg-white until it is firm enough to be handled. Spread it on a clean skin surface. In twenty minutes you will be aware of a feeling of skin tightness. Remove pack with cold water. Do this twice a week.

Creamy cosmetics are relaxing to the skin; use them sparingly. They do wonders for the dry skin and the normal one, but are not as helpful when the texture of the facial coating is coarse.

The victim of acne should avoid sauces and groceries

DRINKS POISON

Pembroke, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Nineteen-month-old Robert Waito died in hospital Wednesday from the effects of drinking approximately one ounce of oil of wintergreen.

The baby was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Waito. The bottle had been left on a cabinet near the child's crib.

Guernsey Herd Will be Started At O.A.C., Guelph

Toronto, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Holstein-Friesians and Guernseys, Ayrshires and light horses, sheep and saddle horses were big news for thousands of visitors to this metropolitan centre today as annual conventions continued of a number of Canada-wide livestock and agricultural organizations.

The farmers and livestock men, several thousand strong, jammed convention corridors and engaged in earnest discussions and heard hundreds of speeches.

Biggest of the individual groups is the Holstein - Friesian Association of Canada with 750 present at its annual dinner and dance last night.

Busiest of the speakers is C. D. Graham, federal deputy minister of agriculture.

Mr. Graham made the main news at yesterday's sessions. He announced that a Guernsey herd will be introduced at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph and members hailed it as "the best news in the history of the association."

He told the Canadian Guernsey Breeders Association that the breed never before has been represented at the famous institution, but one will be established there.

Incidentally the Guernsey and the Holstein men both passed resolutions opposing any relaxation of the federal ban on import and manufacture of margarine.

Breeder Award Made

The Holstein Association's meeting saw presentation of various awards, including the Master Breeder Award to W. C. Good of Brantford and J. T. Tulley of Peterborough.

The Holstein Association also passed resolutions urging that provisions be made by the Federal Agriculture Department for identification, testing and certification of animals for export.

The Ayrshire Breeders' Association heard tips on animal diseases and prevention from Dr. A. L. McNabb, president of the Ontario Veterinary College. They appointed three honorary life members — J. L. Stansell of Aylmer, Ont., Dr. L. A. Donovan of Saint John and William Hunter of Grimsby, Ont.

Dr. McNabb warned that contagious abortion can be transferred to cattle from horses, swine or goats and breeders would be wise to watch for such signs in other animals to avoid contact between the animals.

The Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association elected E. Snell of Clinton, Ont., president with J. B. Kennedy of Ilderton vice-president.

The Canadian Hunters, Saddle and Light Horse Improvement Society elected Col. R. S. Timmins president.

MARKED FOR SAME FATE AS GANDHI

Sardar V. Patel (left), Indian home minister asserted that there was "ample evidence" that he and education minister Azad, shown with him, were "marked to be liquidated" by political conspirators in the same manner that the life of Mohandas K. Gandhi was taken. Pandit Nehru was another marked for death. Police spread a dragnet to round up the alleged gang of assassins. In Cawnpore 40 members of the secret Maha Sabha were arrested. The Maha Sabha is the organization of which Gandhi's slayer, Nathuram Vinayak Godse, is a member.

POLISH IMMIGRANT FOUND DYING

He was unable to talk, but from a passport and other papers found in his clothing, police identified him as Vladimir Palla, 52, who landed in Canada Nov. 14, 1947.

At St. Luke's Hospital it was said the man was not expected to live through the day.

Police said they were unable to establish any reason for the attempted suicide.

Seek U. N. Action to Avert Palestine Disaster

The Palestine Commission have appealed to the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., for quick action to avert impending catastrophe in the Holy Land. Meanwhile, there are reports in Jerusalem that the Irgun Zvai Leumi, extremist group of the Zionist underground, is preparing for an offensive beyond borders of the proposed Jewish state in Palestine. There are rumors that Irgun hopes to co-ordinate with Hagannah, Jewish defence army. Here members of the Hagannah are shown proceeding cautiously through the bloody area that separates Tel Aviv from Arab Jaffa. Much blood has been shed here since the partitioning of Palestine was approved by the United Nations and sniping is almost continuous with "reprisal raids periodically staged by both sides. The mayors of the Jewish and Arab cities have repeatedly pleaded for peace, but in vain.

Lake Fishermen Predict Record Alberta Catch

Edmonton, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Canadians and Americans will consume a record amount of Alberta fish this year if estimates of fishing concerns and government officials do not go astray. fish came next with 2,600,000

In 1947, 11,000,000 pounds of fish were caught in the province and dealers consider that, given a little help from the weather, they can equal if not top the mark this year.

Figures show that tullibee led the various species in 1947 with a catch of 6,600,000 pounds. White-pounds, followed by pickerel with 810,000 pounds. Trout, pike and perch figured in the catch also.

Officers of the provincial fish and game branch attributed last year's heavy catch to the demands of mink ranchers for fish. Tullibee is an ideal food for mink.

Exceptionally mild weather has delayed fishing operations, since thick ice is needed to enable planes to land on the northern lakes. The winter fishing season extends from Dec. 1 to March 31. The largest operations this year centre on Lake Athabaska where the fish are loaded on aircraft and flown to the railhead at Waterways.

Quotas are set on all lakes used for commercial fishing and range from 400,000 pounds on Lesser Slave Lake to 2,000 pounds on Lake Fickle.

New lakes are opened whenever fishermen believe they can profitably be fished. When a request is submitted, the fish and game branch estimates the area of the lake, determines the predominant age group and sets a temporary quota.

Ontario, New York, Chicago and Detroit are the largest markets for Alberta fish and it is sometimes difficult to keep them supplied. New Yorkers prefer whitefish, Chicagoans, trout.

In most cases the fish are weather frozen. If this is done, it is essential not to allow them to thaw before reaching the market. Alternatively, care must be taken not to allow the fish to freeze if they are to be sold "fresh."

Fresh fish usually are on the United States market from five to seven days after being caught. Frozen or processed fish normally are two weeks en route.

1,000-Mile Rounds For Labrador M.D.

Montreal, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Does winter make you long for the warm, bright sunshine which tans the skin of southerners? If it does, just think of Labrador's "Man of Mercy" and you'll be quite satisfied with the so-called cold winters of Canada's city zone.

Dr. Tony Paddon, former lieutenant-commander in the Royal Canadian Navy, will soon hitch up his dog team — he sometimes wears out three dog teams during the one season — and make his 1,000-mile winter "tour" of rough country to visit his estimated 2,500 "patients" scattered in outposts of Labrador.

The doctor, born in Labrador 32 years ago, is the son of the late Dr. Henry Paddon, who worked in co-operation with Sir Wilfred Grenfell on the Labrador coast for more than 40 years.

Riding by sled for a month, at times for distances of 400 to 700 miles between stations, without meeting any human being, he lives mostly on bread and tea. Always provided with emergency rations, he has never gone hungry for any length of time.

During the Second World War, Dr. Paddon served as a ship's surgeon. Now posted at the Grenfell Mission, where he is in charge of all medical work, he has visited Montreal to lecture to medical classes. In summertime he cruises along the coast aboard the hospital ship Maraval.

One of his most gruelling experiences was the time his guide became snow-blind.

"He lay on the sleigh for a month as we travelled, and listened as I described the terrain, and he told me what to do and where to go. His knowledge of the country was uncanny."

Canada-Bermuda Service Mooted

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 5 — (CP) — A new freight shipping service between Canada and Bermuda is under consideration here following an engine breakdown at sea which forced the Canadian freighter Dundas into Bermuda for repairs.

D. M. Wanthen of Saint John, N.B., general manager of the Kent Line, accompanied the relief ship Galloway Kent to the tiny harbor of St. George's to superintend transfer of the cargo of salted codfish bound for Brazil.

At the same time he took a look into the shipping situation with the idea of extending service to the colony.

"I have been making inquiries with a view to perhaps starting a shipping line between the two places," he said here. "The chief difficulty would be to find enough Bermuda cargo to take back to Canada. At one time we used to see quite a lot of Bermuda products in Canada but there are few available now."

It was reported recently that the Quebec government and Bermuda might soon start discussions on the possibility of exporting fish from Quebec in return for produce such as tomatoes, onions, bananas and lily bulbs.

Polio Outbreak Hits New Zealand Resorts

By J. C. GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Auckland, N. Z., Feb. 5 — (CP) — Although New Zealand is basking in one of the best summer seasons for many years, some of the most popular beaches are deserted and holiday resorts have never known so many reservation cancellations.

An outbreak of infantile paralysis has caused many beaches near the larger cities to be declared unsafe by health authorities owing to danger of infection from polluted waters. Bans have been placed on children mingling in crowds.

As the North Island is much more seriously affected than the South Island, inter-island travel by children has been stopped. All schools were closed several weeks early for the long summer vacation. Other stringent precautions imposed include the prohibition of children from sports events, picture theatres and other places of entertainment. Motor camps and other places where children might gather at holiday resorts are also banned to children under 16.

Many businesses have been seriously affected. Picture theatre proprietors report that business has not been so slack for 20 years. Holders of concessions for seaside ice-cream and soft drinks are on the verge of ruin. Popular holiday resorts which are usually fully booked a year ahead have choice accommodation vacant.

Instead of flocking to the popular centres, holiday makers are seeking isolated cabins or are camping as far away from other people as possible.

As a result of the precautions taken the epidemic is being kept to much smaller proportions than was thought possible earlier in the summer. The outbreak is worst in Auckland and there have been several deaths there, but in other parts of the country the epidemic has been checked and held within minor limits.

CAR SKIDS AND KILLS PEDESTRIAN IN TORONTO

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Miss Irene Peacock, 25, was fatally injured and her companion Miss Doris Merchant, 24, suffered scalp lacerations when a motorcar skidding out of control mounted the sidewalk and struck the women pedestrians on the sidewalk on East Queen Street last night. Driver of the car, Robert Alfred Best, who suffered cuts about the face, was charged with manslaughter and released on bail of $2,000.

Hound Can't Bark, Has Nose for Game

Oak Ridges, Ont., Feb. 5 — (CP) — Adam is a sad-eyed puppy, scion of an old African huntin' family, who is too well-mannered to bark. His lineage dates back 6,000 years to the days when portraits of his ancestors decorated the tombs of the Egyptian Pharaohs, but his future is even more exciting.

Adam's owner hopes that Adam may become the first of a new breed of Canadian hunting dogs.

Adam, whose Sunday name is "Assegai of Blue Nile," belongs to the Basenjis, a breed of hounds which can't bark. He manages to convey his moods with alternate chortles and growls.

Soon Adam's owner will take him to the Canadian Rockies to pick up the finer points of hunting from trained pointers and setters. If Adam proves to be a good pupil, chances are that Basenjis will be in demand among Canadian hunters. The barkless hounds can scent quarry 80 yards away and in Africa are used for pointing, retrieving and driving game into nets.

Domestic Felicity From Beer Boycott

Greymouth, N. Z., Feb. 5 — (CP) — For some time trade unions on the west coast of the South Island of New Zealand have been grimly observing a beer boycott because of a price rise of two cents a glass charged by hotels. The results, according to a survey made by Grey Valley miners' central committee, have been surprising.

The committee declares that gardens now receive more attention, houses are being painted and repaired, absenteeism at mines has almost disappeared, earnings have increased and coal production is at an all-time high. Besides, says the committee, there is a better social and domestic atmosphere than before.

There have been several mine stoppages through individual miners not observing the boycott but the great majority have maintained their stand and neither side shows any sign of giving way.

BANDITS GET $5 AND GIVE BACK WATCH

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Ellwood Moynes, Lindsay taxidriver who said he was kidnapped in his car by two men who gave him "the fastest ride of my life" was forced to accompany the pair to Toronto late last night and was dumped out in the eastern part of the city after being robbed of $5. The pair escaped with the taxi cab but gave Moynes back his valuable watch after he pleaded with them, he said.

STEAK FOR 41 CENTS A POUND IN MEAT WAR

Three weeks ago the butchers of St. Helens, Oregon, started a price war while the residents reaped the boon of low meat prices. At the thick of the battle they were giving hamburger away with a dime tossed in to pay the customer for cartage. The battle has diminished somewhat in intensity with hamburger now selling three pounds for $1.00; pot roast 39c a pound; stead 41c a pound, and pork sausage 45c a pound. The word has spread to neighboring cities and new customers are thronging in. Meat is now coming into St. Helens by train to supplement truck shipments. Above is a typical crowded butcher shop.

London Letter

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 4. (CP) —For those looking for the elusive bargain in post-war austerity, London's Leather Lane Market, which closely resembles an eastern bazaar, bears the best fruit.

Situated off Holborn viaduct, ten minutes' bus ride from the swanky west end, vendors in this snug but shabby lane sell anything from a piece of fish or an old song-hit to pocket-size serials for a shilling or two. Nearby, in Hatton Garden, diamond merchants hunch over deals in small fortunes.

"Let me show yer 'how ter save yer clothes and coupons wiv a new mefford of patchin' 'oles and tears", shouts a street-trader, waving a packet in the air. Another, who urges you to " 'ave a go" at his novel lucky dip, culls many half-crowns (50 cents) from the pockets of those who don't believe the quickness of the hand deceives the eye.

Techniques Varied

To some of the traders business depends largely on eloquence and techniques are many and varied. These is the stentorian-voiced cockney, surrounded by a lunch-time crowd, who tells you in no uncertain terms why such-and-such a horse will win tomorrow's 2.30 —filling a new pauses with animated diagrams in the middle of the road.

If you are impressed you pay a "small fee" for an envelope containing the names of "cert" winners for the next week or so.

Then there is the perky little chatterer sitting on the curb who tells you the economy of a new-type potato-peeler will pay for itself in a week. He doesn't mind if you don't buy his ware because "I can sell 'em a 'undred times over", and follows this up with an offer of "me special reduced price of a bob." (20 cents).

Audiences dwindle rapidly when a card trickster passes his hat round after a slick demonstration, as does the group of skeptical watchers of a former merchant seaman who tears up telephone books and whose stomach withstands all attempts of four husky men to squeeze it in a tug-o'-war.

Spivs Too

Standing in doorways and lounging outside cafes; furtively looking about them and talking in undertones; passing things shiftily from hand to hand then sidling away into side-alleys again are the "Spivs" and black marketeers. Some are well-dressed: others look little better than hoboes.

Most of the trading, however, is orthodox. The fruit, fish, drug, flower, hardware and chinaware stalls for outnumber are buskers and something-for-nothing boys.

To those who amble daily through the market, Leather Lane is just the place for the odd watch component long out of date, a tasty lobster, fresh flowers, an obscure second-hand book, your future from the stars—and a fascinating hour.

The similarity to an eastern bazaar is offset only by the complete absence of price haggling. You either buy at the dealer's figure or you don't buy.

Some strollers just stand, others stand and buy, and the majority stand and look.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Not all remarks are dominant that come from men made prominent. In bridge since Hector was a pup, each rule remains disputable until its sponsor backs it up with reasons irrefutable.

You may assume the intentions of each noted bridge teacher or expert are good. But how do you know which to follow? And how do you know which one of his opinions or advices or rules to follow?

A rule is good if there is proof of its advantages. But a better rule is one that has proof of more advantages and less disadvantages. Only such are a part of the Horse Sense system.

My one-sentence rule for leads includes this part: Against a suit contract, don't lead away from an ace or a king. Leading away from means a small card lead when you have a higher one in that suit.

Lead of an ace says you expect to trump that suit. Lead of a king is top of a sequence or accompanied by its ace with one or more cards. Otherwise, such cards are not led.

My rule says not to lead a suit like K 7 5 3 or K 6 4 or A 8 6 4 or A 7 3 (against a suit contract). Why? The reason is that it is likely to lose a trick unnecessarily.

See what it does in this deal:

NORTH
♠K 9 7 5
♥Q J
♦8 5 4 2
♣A 7 3

WEST	EAST
♠10 6 3	♠J 2
♥K 8 4 2	♥10 9 6
♦A 9 3	♦Q J 7 6

SOUTH
♠A Q 8 4
♥A 7 5 3
♦K 10
♣Q J 9

Against four spades, suppose west leads a small heart away from the king. His king will not take a trick. Suppose he leads away from diamond ace. South king takes a trick that he should lose.

Where good bridge is played, success or failure depends on the slim margin of only one trick in each deal. Even the loss of only one trick in many deals can break the heart of a good player.

Of course, skilful players are very liberal. They think nothing of an unnecessary gift of a trick to opponents. No more than you do of your right eye.

MILL BURNS DESPITE FORESIGHT OF OWNERS

Sandy, Ore., Feb. 5 —(AP) A local sawmill had the foresight to call out the fire department when there was a slab pile to be burned.

The fire truck arrived and the fire was started. The wind changed — briskly. Firemen used up the 500 gallons of water in the truck while the flames roared on. And then the mill burned down.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 5 —(AP)— You may have thought that the crooner cycle was on the wane, but not so for Gordon McCrea. He is due for a stellar build-up at Warners.

The singer got a movie break in the 17-day "Fighting Terror" in which he doesn't warble a note. He'll play a lead in "Rise Above It," musical version of "Brother Rat" and portray Marilyn Miller's first husband in "Silver Lining" opposite June Haver.

Confusion Dept.

Barry Fitzgerald's agent denies the Irish star has been set for the Seabiscuit biog, which report came from a Warners' source.

Judy Garland won't be playing Sophie Tucker, as Sophie hoped. The part obviously calls for a bigger (physically) gal . . . Dick Powell has been mentioned to replace ailing Charles Boyer in "Cairo Incident."

James Stewart will open in "Harvey" in New York March 28, play it for a month and return for "You Gotta Stay Happy" with Joan Fontaine.

Yvonne in the News

Hurd Hatfield escorted Vancouver's Yvonne DeCarlo to Martin Block's 13th anniversary party, but don't take the combination seriously. Hurd will do the Yehudi Menuhin film, "Delirium" and may go to Italy for a Columbia picture . . .

Walter Huston is being boomed for an academy award for "Sierra Madre," but his supporters will have to wait until 1949. Because Warners released the film here a few days after the academy deadline. Maybe they didn't want home competition for their hopeful epic, "Life With Father."

Kansas City Pla-Mors Defeat Dallas Texans

(By The Associated Press)

Ray Powell rocketed into second place in individual scoring in the United States Hockey League as he led the Kansas City Pla-Mors to a 9-4 victory over Dallas Texans last night.

Powell, who was sixth at the end of the previous week, fired in three goals and added four assists.

Doug Baldwin also scored three at Kansas City last night in the Pla-Mors' victory and Johnny Harms sent the disc into the nets twice for the winners.

Minneapolis Millers continued a winning streak at the expense of St. Paul Saints in the only other game. The Millers went into a 1-0 lead on their home ice and skated off with a 3-1 decision on the basis of two goals in the final period.

Bus Wycherley and Stan Smith fired in the third-period clinchers for the Millers. St. Paul's only scorer was Mitch Pechet.

CANADIAN SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By DOUG GREEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Edmonton, Feb. 5. (CP)—The importance of the first goal in a hockey game is a topic which has driven Lorimer (Lethbridge Herald) Fenwick to do some deep research.

Lorimer was inspired to take up the task, he says by the hard-working publicists of the National Hockey League, who announced recently that in 111 N.H.L. games played until Jan. 21, the first team to score won 69 times, and lost only 20 times.

"A team which puts the puck in the net first plenty of times but which isn't so lucky when it comes to winning is Montreal Canadiens," observes Lorimer. "The mighty Montrealers did it on 19 occasions, but managed to win only 10 games."

All this is a prelude to his own statistical delvings which concern the Western Canada Senior League.

"Does the team which first in this crazy loop usually win the game?" he asks.

"Well, thanks to some heavy research work on our part we have compiled statistics which take in every W.C.H.L. game up to and including Jan. 25, and which should answer these questions.

"We found that out of 900 games played this season, the team which scored first won on 57 occasions, lost 30 times and tied three for a winning percentage of 65.5."

Lorimer appends a tabulation showing—in the period covered by his survey—that Regina Capitals won 13 of the 14 games in which they scored the first goal. Edmonton Flyers turne dthe trick 20 times, won 13 and lost seven games for a winning percentage of 65.

Calgary Stampeders won 12 and lost seven of the games in which they scored the first goal, their winning percentage being 63.2.

"In other words," Lorimer sums it up, "beware of the Regina Caps when they score the first goal."

Lorimer doesn't view his researches with complacency.

"All the above statistics are self-explanatory and they certainly prove something or other," he says modestly.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)—Golf's hall of fame had been a dormant affair until the Golf Writers Association recently began a poll to pick the golfer of the year... Nevertheless, a committee, named some years ago listed Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Francis Oumet, Chic Evans, Tommy Armour, Olexa Stirling Fraser and Jim Barnes as eight golfers who belonged among golf's "immortals."... The project is about to be revived and this corner offers the suggestion that it should not be limited to United States golfers—after all. Golf is a Scots game—and that machinery should be set up to elect such golfers as Jim Vardon and Ted Ray...Come to think of it, South Africa's Bobby Locke may be a candidate whenever his competitive career ends...Off his record last summer and this winter, Bobby may be the first foreign player to win the United States Open title since Ray did it many years ago.

AT THE CAPITOL — He lives by the rule of the gun! Randolph Scott, famed gunfighter, is caught by the artist as he appears in Columbia's "Gunfighters," outdoor epic in Cinecolor at the Capitol Theatre tonight. On the same program "Colorado Serenade," all in Cinecolor, starring Eddie Dean.

Babe Zaharias Didrickson insists the only golf tournament she will enter this year is the titlists event at Augusta, Ga., unless she is ruled eligible for the United States Open. So far the only answer from the U. S. Golf Association has been that entry blanks aren't ready yet.

Canada'sR.C.A.F.FlyersHand United States 12 to 3 Loss To Tie Swiss, Czech Squads

St. Moritz, Feb. 5 (CP) —Canada, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia were tied for first place in the hockey tournament held in conjunction with the Olympic games after all three teams kept intact their unbeaten records in today's games.

Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers handed the United States Amateur Hockey Association team a 12-3 trouncing for the Americans' second defeat and Switzerland downed Sweden 8-2. Czechoslovakia was idle today, after taking their fifth victory yesterday. Canada previously defeated Sweden 3-1.

Each of the three leaders now has 10 points for five victories.

In the event of a tie at the conclusion of the tournament the winner will be decided by the highest quotient of goals scored over goals against. Canada, with only five goals scored against them in the tournament for 54 scored against other teams, currently holds this type of lead.

In a second division game today Britain defeated Poland 7-2. It was Britain's second victory against three losses and brought them into a tie with Poland who now have two victories for four losses.

The defeat of the United States team virtually put them out of the top competition. They now have three victories against two defeat for six points, four behind the leaders.

Halder Leads Canucks

Walter Halder led the Canadian offensive today with six goals—four of them scored in brilliant solo efforts.

In the fast, hard game, Bruce Cunliffe was the spark plug for the Americans. He tallied two goals and played a good all-around game. But the Canadian defence, which had yielded only two goals up to today, was too tight.

Halder scored his first after 30 seconds with a waist-high shot from a difficult angle. George Mara added another close in and Halder made the third for Canada shortly after Cunliffe had scored for the United States.

The Canadians made four goals in less than six minutes at the start of the second period to sew up the game. Halder made two of these. Mara and Lecompte made the others.

At the start of the third period, Stanton Priddy of the United States netted one in 20 seconds in a scramble at the mesh. Halder promptly came back with two single-handed goals after taking the puck the length of the rink.

Cunliffe got a long shot for the Americans and then Schroeder and Mara, with two long ones, made it a rout for Canada.

DOING ALL RIGHT

Louis Lecompte, veteran defenceman of the Canadian Olympic hockey team, which is knocking off the opposition by imposing scores in the Olympic hockey games. Louis, well known around this district, was a member of the 1937 RCAF squad which won the Intermediate "A" title. He has scored a couple of goals and figured in other scoring plays.

Merchants "Mids" Win 1st Round, Dunk Trenton 15-1

Paced by Bill Strahan, their starry right winger who accounted for five goals and two assists, the Belleville Merchants Midgets rode rough-shod over the Trenton squad in Memorial Arena last night, swamping the visitors under a 15-1 score to take the first round Ontario Minor Hockey Association Midget "B" playdowns by a 24-2 count on the two-games-goals-to-count series.

The high-scoring Belleville team was held to a three-one count in the first period of a game that was cleanly fought, only two penalties, both majors, being handed out to Keegan of the Trenton team and Carey of Belleville when they started a mild free-for-all that was easily squelched by the officials.

a return for the opposition and going on in the third period to score five more while the opposition tried gamely but futilely to cut down the imposing lead.

The star of the night from a defensive point of view was young Ament in the Trenton net. Despite the fact that 15 pucks whistled past him the youngster stuck gamely to his guns, and kicked out more rubber than a South American plantation in its heyday. In fact the entire Trenton team never gave up although the score steadily mounted against them.

Bill Strahan was the hero of the piece as far as Belleville was concerned with his five and two. Harry Brown, Duke Doran, Pat Barrett, Pat Gilmore and Davey Jones turned in fine efforts on the offensive while Peter Green and Bruce Milligan stood out behind the Merchants blueline. Gary Schrieder, who was in the nets for the first two periods and gave way to Don Barclay in the third, turned in a stellar performance between the pipes.

Beale M. Mitts who scored Trenton's lone counter in the first period, Ormshaw, Keegan, Brown and Ament starred for the visitors.

Hamilton Tigers Defeat Marlies In Fast Contest

(By The Canadian Press)

George Redding's Hamilton Tigers today have a four-point lead over Joe Primeau's Toronto Marlboros in the O.H.A. Senior A race, thanks to Tigers 1-0 victory over the Marlies last night at Hamilton.

It was Tigers' third victory in four starts against the Toronto Maple Leafs' farm club and it was their last scheduled meeting before the play-offs.

Two junior games were also decided and the teeter-totter on the top rung levelled off again when Windsor Spitfires climbed into a top-place tie with Oshawa Generals. The Spitfires swamped the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors 9-3 at Windsor, for their 25th victory in 30 starts and Stratford Kroehlers defeated Toronto Junior Marlboros 6-2.

The game at Stratford shoved Kroehlers into a tie with Barrie Flyers for third place, a point ahead of Galt Rockets and a long 15 points behind the top-place clubs.

At Hamilton both teams drove for 44 minutes before Clarence Shillington scored on Howie Harvey in Marlies net. Toronto put up six forwards with 10 seconds left but failed to click on the final face-off.

The close-checking tilt at Windsor brought out 15 minor penalties and four majors. The Spitfires took a one-goal lead in the first period and moved into a 4-2 lead at the end of the second.

Gord Haidy led Windsor marksmen with four goals with the other counters scored by Doug McKay, Marcel Pronovost, Max Quackenbush, Jack Taylor and Jimmy Uniac. Toronto snipers were Ed Hannigan, Joe DeCourcy and Bill Oberholtzer.

The Kroehlers were surt they had a shutout in their hands for the first 53 minutes of play but Bobby Hassard and Ray Timgren scored two quick ones for Toronto in the game's final minutes.

The senior loop sees action Friday night with Toronto Marlboros at Stratford, Hamilton Tigers at Kitchener - Waterloo and Owen Sound at Hamilton Patricias. In the junior loop Oshawa visits Barrie and Galt goes to St. Catharines.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Ask the average hockey fan how-come the Leafs, Rangers, Black Hawks, Canadiens and Bruins of the National Hockey League came by their monickers, and nine out of eight will tell you he doesn't know—or else he will guess that they were arrived at accidentally, on the spur of the moment, or give some other answer smacking of more or less complete ignorance.

• • •

Ken Mackenzie of the N.H.L. fact foundry down Montreal way comes out with some interesting information as to how the squads came by their official titles. Of course all the teams have been called other names at various times, the most of them unprintable, by rabid supporters of the opposition, but that is hockey.

• • •

The Detroit entry was originally known as the Cougars, and in 1930 the nickname was changed to Falcons. When James Norris purchased the club in 1933, he wanted to pick out a name and an insignia along the lines of the Montreal A.A.A. Winged Wheelers. He had played hockey in Montreal and was very fond of the M. A. A. A. and therefore selected the winged wheel of the M. A. A. A. as the Detroit club's crest. The team's name was then changed to Red Wings.

• • •

When Conn Smythe and a few other young veterans of the First World War bought the franchise of the Toronto St. Pats in September 1927, they wanted to acquire a name for the Toronto team that would be symbolic of all Canada. They wanted to build a team that not only Toronto but all Canada would be proud of, and in their desire to do this they came up with the name Maple Leafs, after Canada's national emblem. They changed the team's colors from the green and white of St. Pats to an attractive blue and white.

• • •

New York Rangers sport a nickname which stems from the colorful Texas Rangers, the famous police organization of the Lone Star State. The Rangers were saddled with their name by the late Col. John Hammond as a tribute to the fabulous George (Tex) Rickard, a native of Texas who reigned over Madison Square Garden during its rise as a great name in the sports world.

• • •

Hammond gave the name to the New York hockey team in honor of Rickard, first president of the Garden, when the Blue Shirts were born in 1926. Hammond was vice - president of the Garden at the time. The team was to have been tagged "Tex' Rangers," according to the original plan, but later the name was amended to New York Rangers.

• • •

A Montreal girl, Miss Bessie Moss, now the wife of the treasurer of the Board of Trade in Montreal, was responsible for the Boston National Hockey League team being called the Bruins.

Miss Moss back in the spring of 1924 was a secretary to Art Ross. The late Charles F. Adams had acquired the Boston franchise in March of 1926 and had selected Art Ross to be the team's first manager. Miss Moss was aware of correspondence between Art Ross and Mr. Adams regarding the team's name and colors. It was decided to have the Boston colors Brown and Gold, the same colors as were used on the store fronts of the grocery chain stores of which Mr. Adams was president.

• • •

The fact that the colors were to be part Brown prompted Miss Moss to say to Mr. Ross, "Why not call the team the Bruins?" Mr. Ross acted favorably and sent the suggestion on to Mr. Adams who likewise approved, and so the Boston entry in the NHL became known as the Boston Bruins.

The colors were later changed to Brown, Gold and White and then to their present form of Gold, Black and White.

• • •

When Nat Derval organized a professional club in Montreal in the fall of 1909 he wanted a name that would represent the French - Canadians in the Province of Quebec. All French - speaking Canadians in Quebec call themselves Canadiens, spelled with an "iens" instead of the anglicized way of "ians." Habitant was the name given to the French - Canadian pioneer farmer in order to distinguish him from the French - Canadian fur trading (voyageur). Habitant is the French equivalent of resident. The team was actually named the Canadiens Habitant and the latter "H" was placed inside a large "C" which was the club's insignia.

• • •

Chicago acquired the name Black Hawks through Major Frederic McLaughlin. He named them after a famous war unit of the 33rd Division known as the Black Hawks of which division he was a prominent member.

Mebbe Squadron Leader Watson, manager of the Canadian Olympic Hockey Team, which knocked off the United States entry yesterday 12-3 to win its fifth straight victory in the much - publicized Olympic setup, wasn't so far wrong in his predictions of the calibre of the European hockey teams.

• • •

Talking with your correspondent in a 'tween - period session during the Olympics' second visit here earlier in the season, the squadron leader said that a good Canadian Senior "B" team would lick anything Europe can produce. Events in the Olympic hockey situation since that time have just about proven the s/l to be correct. He had been in Europe in the winter of 1946 and had seen the European puckists in action.

• • •

The Canadian Olympic squad isn't the best team Canada can produce, but the boys are playing bang-up hockey, knocking off the lesser opposition by important scores. The toughest nut to crack will be the Czech team with the Swiss a close second. Right now all three are tied for top slot with five wins against no defeats.

• • •

The plot thickens. Things do not look so good for our Senior "B" Veterans since a bolstered Kingston squad flung back on its playoff haunches, defeated the Petes Legionnaires in Kingston last night by a 6-3 score. That gives the Saints third position, and if they knock off our laddies in Kingston on Saturday night, the situation will be desperate indeed. If Kingston wins on Saturday, our boys will have to defeat both Petes squads with the Saints losing its last game in order to get a tie. That's a big chore with the Saints getting hotter with their last minute reinforcements.

• • •

The Belleville Rockets acquitted themselves right nobly last night in Gananoque when they bowed to the starry Gan junior squad by an 8-4 count. The Ganners are said to be the cream of the Ottawa district loop and knocked off the highly - touted Kingston Vics earlier in the season. The Rocks were defeated but by no means disgraced, the main idea being to keep them in playing form preparatory to the first playoff game with Kingston here on Saturday night.

• • •

Belleville Merchants Midgets had little difficulty in disposing of the plucky Trenton team here last night, sweeping them under a 15-1 score to take the first play-down round Midget "B" by a 24-2 count. The Barriage crew scored practically at will after the first period when the visitors held them to three goals. The Merchants looked fairly impressive in their win and in Strahan, Doran, Brown, Gilmore and Barrett have stars in the making, not forgetting diminutive Davy Jones, half - pint member of the squad. Schreider in goal for the first two periods looked good whenever the Trenton team shot at him. Milligan and Green went well behind the bluelines.

Hornets Keep Ahead of Bisons In Loop Race

(By The Canadian Press)

Pittsburgh Hornets and Buffalo Bisons continued today to pace one-two at the top of the American Hockey League's Western Division as the teams started down the home stretch.

Hornets kept ahead of Buffalo by tying Cleveland 2-2 last night but the charging Bisons whittled the lead to one slim point by nipping New Haven Ramblers 2-1.

In the only other game Philadelphia edged Washington 7-6.

Hornets were forced to come from behind a 2-0 deficit at Cleveland in order to earn a deadlock, the fourth this season between the two clubs. Jack Hamilton and Stan Kampt fired goals in the third period to knot the count after Fred Thurier and Bob Solinger had given Barons an early lead.

Buffalo also had to come from behind. Jean Paul Denis potted a goal at the halfway mark of the opening period but from then on goalie Chuck Rayner was unbeatable. Bisons finally hit the scoring column in the third period with Doug Lewis and Tommy Cooper counting.

Mike Narduzzi paced the Rockets to a hard-earned win over the last-place Lions, whipping in three goals, including the winning tally. George Defelice had a brace of goals while on each went to Eddie Bush and Steve Wochy. The Lions scoring was divided among Dan Porteus, Hugh Mair, Bob Walton, Carr-Harris, Dan Lovett and Bill Gabey.

Toronto Leafs Clear Another N.H.L. Obstacle

(By The Canadian Press)

The high-flying Toronto Maple Leafs cleared another obstacle in the team's bid for the National Hockey League pennant that had them stymied since March 6th, 1945.

The Leafs, winless after sixteen games at Boston ice, came through yesterday and handed the crippled Bruins a 4-2 defeat to move within a game and a half of the league-leading Detroit Red Wings who were held to a 4-4 stalemate by New York Rangers in the only other Wednesday night game.

The Leafs' victory was no surprise, since Boston's Milt Schmidt was sidelined with a leg injury. However, the Leafs were forced to exert themselves to overcome their never-say-die adversaries who grabbed a two - goal lead in the contest, before Toronto's scoring power found the range.

Jimmy Peters, traded to Boston by Canadiens earlier in the season, was the big gun for the Bruins as he blasted goals past big Turk Broda in the first and second periods. But Toronto, scoring all four markers in the second period with Howie Meeker, Bill Ezinicki, Max Bentley and Ted Kennedy performing, ran rings around the Bruins in this session. Boston settled down in the stretch drive and again took over control of the play, but the stout Leaf rearguards proved too effective.

The highlight of the contest was a lusty exchange between Don Gallinger and Gus Mortson in the first period. Both were waved to the sidelines with major penalties.

Lindsay Gets Two

Scoring twice in a wild third period New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings ended the game in a disputed deadlock.

Ted Lindsay notched two goals for Detroit to move his season's total to 25 while Buddy O'Connor also picked up two markers to increase his leading point total to 46 points, five more than his nearest rival.

Don Raleigh and Edgar Laprade notched the other New York goals while Syd Abel, Red Kelly were the Detroit marksmen.

Abel's goal which came in the last half minute of play with Detroit playing four forwards and without goaler Harry Lumley, gave the finishing touches to a closely contested game.

The tail-end Chicago Black Hawks tackle the Montreal Canadiens at Montreal tonight in a contest that Dick Irvin's boys hope will put them in sole possession of the league's fourth berth. Canucks tied with Bruins will have the opportunity as that is the only game scheduled.

The Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Buddy O'Connor, sharp shooting New York Ranger picked up two goals against Detroit last night to increase his National Hockey League scoring lead to five points over runners-ups, Elmer Lach, Montreal Canadiens, and Max Bentley, Toronto Maple Leafs, both tied with 41 points. Bentley earned a goal and an assist as Leafs defeated Boston Bruins. Ted Lindsay scored two goals to move into a tie with teammate Jimmy McFadden for third place with 39 points. Toronto's Syl Apps and Chicago Bud Poile are next with 38 points.

Barbara Ann Not Engaged Says Her Mother

(By The Canadian Press)

Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's cover girl, has "at least two ardent admirers" but "she is no more engaged than I am," Mrs. Clyde Scott said in an interview yesterday at St. Moritz.

But the mother of the world's champion figure skater qualified the last part of her remark with "As far as I know".

Barbara Ann who will be 20 May 19, has no thought of turning professional, her mother said. Next week she defends her world title, won last year at Stockholm.

The leader of thousands of amateur athletes across Canada came out bluntly yesterday at Montreal with the opinion that any idea that the Olympic games ever had a chance to promote goodwill among nations is "ridiculous and we ought to drop that notion entirely."

George C. Machum, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, told The Canadian Press the games should be looked upon "solely as a test if comparative athletic ability, and let it go at that."

"If good will should accrue, so much the better, but its failure to materialize should not be deplored and too much should not be expected."

Two Oshawa Curling Club veteran skips, Al Parkhill and Bill Gifford, will play their deciding game at Oshawa, today to see which rink will represent this district in the single rink provincial play-offs at Hamilton Feb. 12th.

Outstanding visiting rink at the 61st Northern Ontario Curling Association Bonspiel at Sudbury continued to be the Kingston quartet skipped by J. A. Shamess, formerly of Sudbury, who won four games in a row to gain places in the third rounds of both the first and second events yesterday.

Winner of eight rinks, meeting at Schumacher Saturday for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Curling Championship, will go to Copper Cliff Feb. 16 for a series with the Northern Association's champion to decide the Northern Ontario representative in the Dominion championships at Calgary, Secretary E. O. Wallis of the McIntyre Curling Club said yesterday.

On Monday Premier Drew is expected to open the week-long 18th annual bonspiel of the T.N.O., at Schumacher.

Stan Leonard, one of Canada's top professional golfers, said yesterday at Vancouver that he and Bobby Locke, South African star, may tour Western Canadian cities after the Canadian open is finished in September at Vancouver. "We will likely hit Victoria, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Winnipeg," said Leonard.

Kingston Saints Defeat Legion By 6 to 3 Count

Kingston, Feb. 5 (CP)—Kingston Saints playoff prospects took on a brighter hue last night as they downed a battling Peterborough Legion team 6-3 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior "B" game last night.

Kingston took a two goal lead in the first period on goals by Jack Aitken and Cameron. Peterborough came out battling at the start of the second session and tied the game up when Hicks and Rochetta tallied.

Tom Goodfellow banged in the next Kingston marker at the 7.15 mark of the second period, only to have the game knotted up again by Parnell seconds later.

At the 12.45 mark a Catlin to Cameron play gave the Kingston team a goal lead to end the scoring in the middle frame.

Kingston clinched the game in the third period, banging in two goals without a reply by a fighting Peterborough squad.

With only 55 seconds remaining in the game B. Goodfellow tangled with Crowley of the Legionnaires and dropped him to the ice. Players of both teams engaged in a general free-for-all and referee St. Louis had trouble restoring order.

It is understood that a protest will be filed with league heads as a result of this attack on the Peterborough player.

COST-OF-LIVING

Wide Variety of Legislation

In the Senate attention was given a wide variety of legislation, including first hearing to a bill to clarify the government's right to construct water power projects on Crown lands. This was a reflection of the state's power project for gold mining on the Snare River in the Northwest Territories.

At the Commons opening Revenue Minister McCann said compulsory savings collected by the government during the war are being retained against arrears in income tax payments under the authority of an order-in-council passed Jan. 8.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said farmers who sold feeg grains before the price ceilings were lifted last October will get additionalp myea I tional payments from grain companies and pools.

As fre prices debate got under way, Mr. Coldwell charged that the government was using the prices committee as a means to "shelve its responsibility" for high prices. It already, in fact, possessed the power to deal with the problem, but had made no effort to use it. He added:

No Party to Manoeuvre

"I make this statement that under the circumstances that exist in this House the members in the opposition would be quite justified in saying to the government: 'We are going to be no party to this manoeuvre; we are not going to participate in a committee of this desicrip mittee of this description' . . .

"And I say that we should not be a party on this side of the House to allowing the government to hide behind a parliamentary committee."

Mr. Diefenbaker said all opposition parties wanted action on the cost-of-living question but all they got was a committee which would be "hobbled" and "restrained." which would have "power to be powerless," which could "postpone and procrastinate."

Mr. Gibson suggested the government tackle the problem by "drastically" cutting the eight-per-cent sales tax and exploring the possibility of using subsidies as a "purely emergency measure".

Mr. Matthews said the cost of living, by making present wages inadequate for the maintenance of a decent standard of living, was directly responsible for current strikes in the coal fields of Alberta and British Columbia.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 9.

Your variable Kil forced his attentions upon Velma last night. She was struggling to get away from him when you appeared. You know Kil perfectly—he's always taken with a new face. Why don't you either divorce him or let him do as he pleases, without comment?"

Janet whimpered, "Because—because I—love him."

She wiped her red nose and stopped weeping. "Is that the truth, Miss Wilkins—Marie's explanation about you and Kil?"

Velma slowly nodded. "I'm sorry it happened—but I'm sure your husband meant no offence. I shall forget the incident."

"Thank you—it's generous of you—forgive me, Miss Wilkins?"

"I'll be glad to."

"Stay to luncheon with us, Janet," put in Marie. "We're leaving for Lake Ingus in the morning—taking Velma with us. You and Kil must come down for a weekend."

Thus oil was poured upon the troubled waters, but Velma felt soiled from its splash on her precarious reputation in this household.

After experiencing the ordeal of lunching with this woman, who had been so nastily hasty in her judgment, she was to upset to telephone Tom and tell him she was leaving town in the morning. Later, she would ask Marie to invite him to the lake.

Velma finally excused herself and tok a slow drive alone in Marie's high-powered coupe to mull over the disturbing events of the past few hours. They would seem much more gigantic if she had not the little secret shrine in her heart dedicated to a certain man with flaming red hair and a compelling personality.

She returned to the Clark home rejuvenated after several hours in the refreshing, machine-made breeze. Her eyes were shining, her cheeks glowing as she circled past the tennis courts.

Louise was there serving to a man with vivid red hair, whose back was toward the drive. Velma slowed down slightly, then abruptly deciding not to make herself known, drove hastily along.

Tom Orville here playing tennis with Louise? She smiled at herself for this flash of jealousy. Why of course he was merely passing the time with Louise while waiting for Velma Wilkins to appear!

She hurried upstairs, and slipped out of her wrinkled frock and into an especially becoming peach glow voile. She ran breathlessly down to the sun parlor to await Louise and Tom, who would soon be coming in for cool drinks.

She heard them laughing and talking in the hall. Anticipation lit her countenance. She got up and walked across the room, tried to still the pounding of her heart.

Louise came in alone and flung Velma a brief scowl. "Oh, hello," she offered casually "Tom Orville and I had the grandest game! That lad really knows his tennis! He's coming down to the lake this weekend—you'll like him."

"Like him?" repeated Velma weakly.

"Yes—he's the new man in town. All the girls are crazy about him—although," she added significantly, "he possibly wouldn't appeal to you—not being the sophisticated married type."

With this sharp thrust, Louise strolled nonchalantly from the room, idly swinging her racket and humming a gay tune about, "I'll love you in May, today, and in a special way."

Velma stood rooted to the centre of the room, her hands tightly clenched. So—Tom had come to see Louise? He had not inquired for her? She could not understand why he had so suddenly changed—after last night. He had asked her to marry him. Had he forgotten her today? No—Tom Orville wasn't that kind of man. There must be something more to it, a cause for his actions.

She ran upstairs and threw herself sobbing on her bed. Marie soon came in and found her there. She gathered her into her arms. "There, there, darling," she said, "please don't cry. Tell me what it's all about."

Velma mumbled brokenly, "I—I—there's nothing—"

"I know—you're worried over finances, dear. I've decided you must stay with me—I need you."

"I've already been here too long, Marie. You're so sweet to me."

"Now, no more crying!"

Velma sat up and allowed Marie to wipe away her tears with a bit of lace and chiffon.

"I'm offering you a position, honey. A position—as my social secretary.

Velma smiled wanly, pushed golden hair from her wet eyes. "You've manufactured that position to help me. It's splendid of you, Marie, and I'm grateful. But I can't—"

"Yes, you can! After the smooth way you engineered that party of mine last night, I never can be without your assistance. It was simply marvelous—you have a knack for that sort of thing. Every one said it was the best party ever given in this town."

"That's not due to my knack—it's experience. Successful party giving calls for as much experience as anything— it's a line of endeavor all by itself. I believe too many hostesses impulsively decide to give a party, consult the club caterer, and perhaps the orchestra manager, and evolve a stereotyped dinner dance. Innovation in a party calls for extensive planning. You and I worked hard, Marie, to give your guests something to talk about. And I wound up by furnishing them with further gorgeous material out on the terrace."

"Forget that now, dear. You and I are a grand team and I can't lose you. I'll give you a fair salary, you'll be free to accept any social invitations that appeal to you, and we'll show my critical friends enough new tricks to make them green with envy."

Velma did some quick thinking. It did seem as if Marie Clark needed her. Also, if she remained here, she'd be near Tom. It might bring on complications if Louise were seriously after him, but if his engagement were announced to another girl, it should settle the aspirations of all other Carryville maidens, Louise included.

"I'll—I'll accept!" Velma exclaimed gladly. "It's dear of you to give me the opportunity. I'll try to make good."

Marie kissed her affectionately. "You've already made good. We'll plan some unique entertainments for Lake Ingus later on. But now, we must finish packing. We'll motor down in the morning. Take fluffy summer things as well as sport and bathing togs, dear. There are several smart families who have camps near ours."

Velma now buried some of her perplexities in the excitement of packing; but around and around in her head buzzed the thought that she must force Tom Orville to explain what misunderstanding lay between them. Surely, Tom was a man thoroughly steeped in courage of his own convictions. He would not believe malicious gossip. The idea clung. It was like a master hand reassuring her.

Meanwhile, Tom, in baffled mood, was puffing a cigarette in his hotel room. He tried to make sense out of the day's peculiar events. He had called the Clark home early that morning and Louise had answered. She had said that Velma was out, so he had left word that he'd be around in the afternoon to see her. When he arrived, Velma was nowhere to be seen. Louise had played a set of tennis with him, supposedly to pass the time until Velma returned. After the game, Louise had confessed that she was sorry for him, and given him the note, which was now in his pocket, burning a hole in his tortured heart.

He looked at it again and read: "I am too busy to see you and will be for a long time. Velma."

Was it possible that last night she had been acting? Good heavens? What kind of girl was she? It was difficult to believe she hadn't been in earnest—but didn't he now have her written word to prove she hadn't been? Some other man had suddenly loomed up, no doubt, some man connected with that brilliant past of hers when she was the daughter of a very rich man. Louise had told him today about Velma's recent loftily social position. She had insinuated that Velma had had many love affairs; that she was a wholesale flirt. Louise was a cute kid and had acted as though she hated to talk about a guest but felt she must warn him.

"Feel Well For First Time In Years," Praises Syntona

"Am Free of Gas, Indigestion, Headaches and Nervousness; Rheumatic Pain Gone; Even My Work Seems Easier," He Says.

"It is a real pleasure to tell of my experience with Syntona Herbal Compound and I hope other sufferers will read this and profit as I did," said Mr. William E. Harris, 169 Sydenham Street, Aylmer, Ontario, in a recent report.

"Being troubled for several years with stomach disorders my entire system had become rundown. I got so that every little effort seemed to tax all my strength, and sometimes I actually dreaded doing my work. My food would sour, giving me gas and indigestion after meals with severe attacks of heartburn and a sick, nauseated feeling. Many a day I did not feel like eating at all. I was subject to backache, headaches and rheumatic pains in my limbs and joints. I became nervous and irritable and I couldn't sleep.

"I was discouraged about myself, because I had tried so many things without getting any relief. Then, one day, I read about Syntona and decided to get some. This medicine has really been a blessing to me and I am just like a different person. Now I can eat all my meals and am free of gas, indigestion, headaches and nervousness. The backache and [illegible] soundly at night and even my work seems easier.

"I am sure if people knew how much this medicine can do for them they certainly would not wait a day before giving it a trial. I think it is wonderful."

You will find Syntona pleasant to take. It is mild-acting and contains no harmful drugs. Many people, like Mr. Harris, say Syntona is the best medicine they have ever used.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST

Kuhn Escapes From Internment Camp at Dachau

Munich, Feb. 4 —(AP) — The Bavarian Denazification Ministry announced Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the German-American Bund in the United States, escaped from a German Internment Camp at Dachau this morning.

Kuhn was jailed in July for possible trial as a Nazi offender. He has been held since without trial.

Kuhn, who had become a United States citizen by naturalization, was deprived of his citizenship in 1943 and deported to Germany in 1945.

First reports from the German operated internee camp said Kuhn escaped from guards as he was being taken from his cell. Unconfirmed reports said he was to be transferred to Nuernberg as a possible witness in American War Crimes trials there.

Kuhn had lingered in Dachau since last July 24 when Denazification authorities seized him for possible trial under the German denazification law.

At that time Munich public prosecutor Julius Herss said the 50-year-old ex-bund leader would be charged "on accounts of his extraordinary support of the Nazi regime by propagandist means."

Canada in Seven Years Gives Five Billions for European Aid

Ottawa, Feb. 5 —(CP)— In the last seven years, Canada has contributed more than $5,000,000,000 to European countries and members of the British Commonwealth in outright gifts, various forms of relief and credits and loans.

This was disclosed yesterday in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott in a detailed written reply to a question by D. C. McCuaig (CCF—Maple Creek).

This is the first time that these details have been officially released in such complete form and they come at a time when the United States Congress is deciding on the European recovery program under which Canada may be asked to make further contributions.

At present, it appears that any further contribution would be in commodities, but the U. S. may still request this country to participate to some extent with further credits. Mr. Abbott, however, said last fall Canada could not advance further credits.

The figures given to the Commons yesterday showed the outright gifts were $1,000,000,000 to the United Kingdom, $19,382,079 in wheat to Greece and $2,211,070,000 to nine countries under the mutual aid section of the War Appropriations Act.

The break-down for the nine mutual aid countries was $91,119,000 to Australia; $5,518,000 to the British West Indies; $26, 597,000 to China; $23,629,000 to France; $12,000 to Greece; $18,826,000 to India; $15,278,000 to New Zealand; $159,113,000 to Russia and $1,870,978,000 to the U.K.

Mr. Abbott said that the mutual aid figures differ from those published in the final report of the Mutual Aid Board due to the elimination of the costs of goods on hand and declared surplus at the end of the war.

Total amount loaned to last Dec. 31 was $2,090,609,299, although the amount authorized under various acts of parliament was $2,554,000,000. The remainder presumably will be taken up this year by the nine countries involved.

Largest to U. K.

The largest loans were to the U. K. with one for $700,000,000 which has all been taken up and another for $1,250,000,000 of which $963,000,000 has been taken.

Belgium has taken $67,000,000 of $100,000,000 loan; China $32,640,088 of $60,000,000; Czechoslovakia $12,067,982 of $19,000,000; France $198,435,000 of $242,500,000; The Netherlands $104,638,131 of $125,000,000; Netherlands East Indies $10,000,000 of $15,000,000 and Norway $19,962,000 of $30,000,000.

The $10,000,000 loan to Russia has also been taken up and repaid in full as at last Dec. 31. This was for purchase of wheat and flour.

Another loan to the Soviet Union of $3,000,000 has been used to the extent of $2,366,098.

Mr. Abbott said that temporary advances made under the Appropriations Act have not been included in the tabulation since they were short-term, recoverable advances.

At last Dec. 31, the only advance of this type outstanding was one of the Soviet Union totalling $8,815,680.

In addition to these loans, to be repaid, and the gifts Canada contributed $154,00,000 to U.N.R.R.A. relief.

Canada's contribution to the International Refugee Organization amounted to approximately $5,400,000.

A further item of European assistance was the Canadian contribution under the combined U. S. - U. K. - Canada program for military relief, under which food, medical supplies and other civilian supplies were provided in the post-liberation period before U.N.R.R.A. or local governments took over. This totalled $95,600,000.

HID SEAL FROM NAZIS

Wearing on his arm the tatooed seal of the U.S.A., which he managed to keep hidden from his Nazi masters, Johannes Koch is shown as he returned to the U. S. just 10 years after he sailed away with his American wife and son on what he thought would be a brief visit to his native Germany. After arriving in Hamburg in 1938, Koch, who had taken out his first U. S. citizenship papers, was told by the Nazis that he could not leave the country. He was put to work in a shipyard and later forced to serve in the German army, surrendering to the British in the capture of Hamburg. His wife, Clarice, and their three children (two born in Germany) were allowed to return to the U. S. 18 months ago. It took Koch another 18 months to win clearance from the American military authorities. Meanwhile Mrs. Koch and the children were living in Cloquet, Minn., where she worked to earn money for her husband's return. A special party to celebrate Koch's happy return to his family has been planned by his wife at their home in Cloquet.

FindsRain-Making Has its Drawbacks

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 5 (CP) —Unhappiest man in Sydney's abnormally wet season is "rainmaker" C. S. Richards.

Every day he gets a large batch of letters and telegrams blaming him personally for the rain that has fallen practically every day since he began experimenting with "dry ice" on clouds to produce artificial rain.

Richards has been accused of modern witchcraft "that has got out of hand," and with having perverted the laws of God, thus bringing misery to the rest of the people.

Although he has denied publicly that his simple experiments have anything to do with the present cycle of bad weather, he still gets hundreds of abusive letters and telegrams from superstitious correspondents.

Richards received much publicity when he began experimenting just before the rain started over two months ago.

The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research was conducting similar tests at the time. The Council will continue when the natural rain stops.

Order Greek Navy To Attack All Unidentified Subs

Troop, Supply Ships Being Escorted by Destroyers

By L. S. CHAKALES

Athens, Feb. 6 —(AP)— The Greek navy ministry today ordered its warships to attack and sink all unidentified submarines in Greek territorial waters.

The order followed the reported appearance of two strange submarines.

One was reported between the Peloponnesus and Crete, and another off the coast of Preveza, in the Ionian Sea. Preveza is primarily a supply port for Epirus.

Troop and supply ships now are being escorted by destroyers and corvettes equipped with depth charges.

Official sources said one submarine reported was said to have attempted to make contact with a caique (fishing vessel) and approached her, but submerged before reaching the vessel.

The ministry of public order said a guerilla band of eighty to 100 fighters clashed with gendarmerie units of Pyli village on Mount Parnes, only 11 miles from Athens. The mountain is clearly visible from Athens. Three of the 15 defenders of the gendarmerie station here were listed as missing after a battle which continued until early this morning.

Report of the skirmish on Mount Parnes is the first of a band of such size in the Athens area.

DE VALERA LOSES DAIL MAJORITY BY SLIM MARGIN

Will be Able to Form Govt. With Help of Labor and Independents

Dublin, Feb. 6 (AP)—Thomas L. Mullins, secretary of the Fianna Fail (government party), said today Prime Minister Eamon De Valera lost his Dail (parliament) majority by a slim margin in Wednesday's general election.

But Mullins said the Prime Minister would be able to form a new government with the support of labor and independents.

Complete returns from three-quarters of Eire's 40 constituencies showed De Valera's Fianna Fail could not hope to obtain the 74 seats needed for a clear majority in the 1947-member dail.

However, William Burke, general secretary of the Fine Gael party, De Valera's chief opposition, conceded the prime minister had a "fairly good chance" of extending his unbroken 16 years of rule with the support of the minority groups.

The latest official returns issued by the government information bureau gave the Fianna Fail 53 of the 106 seats thus far determined.

Dissolved Last Fall

During the campaign De Valera said he wanted no part of a coalition government.

"Mr. De Valera still has not thought of a coalition," Mullins said, "he will pursue his long standing independent Fianna Fail policy and I am confident the Independent National Labor members will voluntarily support him in the interests of a strong, stable government.

Sean MacBride's year-old Clann Na Poblachta (Republican Party) slipped into fifth place from a tie for fourth on the basis of the new returns. This party forced the general election by taking two by-elections last fall. MacBride had predicted it would win 40 seats. Today it was sure of six.

Opposition Has 21

Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael (United Ireland Party) main opposition, was second with 21 seats. The normally-small Labor party stood third with 11.

The division of seats by the latest government returns, with the parties' pre-election strength in parentheses:

Fianna Fail	53	(76)
Fine Gael	21	(27)
Labor	11	(8)
Farmer	7	(11)
Clann Na Poblachta	6	(2)
National Labor	2	(8)
Independents	6	(10)

The counting has been slow because of the complexities of Eire's proportional representation system. Some predicted it would be finished today.

Losses of Fianna Fail strength were noted in Southeast Dublin, County Dublin, Louth and County Kerry. The labor party was the prime gainer at the government party's expense.

The dail elects the prime minister. De Valera, born in New York 65 years ago, has held the post since 1932.

TORONTO POLICE ASK INCREASE

Toronto, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Toronto police are asking the Board of Police Commissioners today for wage increases ranging from $200 to $400 annually, a five-day week and lifting of the residence by-law. Members of the force approved the three-point program at a meeting last night.

Fined $100 Costs On Charge Of False Advertising

Toronto, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Magistrate F. C. Gullen today convicted A. Wander, Limited, of Peterborough, on a charge of false advertising of its product, Ovaltine, and imposed a fine of $100 and costs with the right of distress.

The magistrate said in his 12-page written judgment that "the average reader would interpret the advertisement so that the accused did unlawfully advertise Ovaltine in a manner likely to create erroneous impressions."

The judgment followed a lengthy court hearing featured by expert evidence about Ovaltine, a powder, mixed with water or milk for drinking.

TORONTO MAYOR NAMED CHAIRMAN ONTARIO HYDRO

R.H. Saunders to Take Office on March 1st

Toronto, Feb. 6. (CP)—Stocky, dynamic 44-year-old Robert Hood Saunders will give up the mayoralty of Toronto to become chairman of the province's largest publicly-owned enterprise, the $400,000,000 Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Premier Drew made the announcement last night, effective March 1, and Mayor Saunders in announcing his acceptance said it had come as a surprise. "I heard only two days ago that I was being considered for the position," he remarked.

Mr. Saunders replaces Dr. Thomas H. Hogg, distinguished Hydro engineer who resigned as Commission chairman a year ago at the request of Premier Drew. The Premier at that time had charged Dr. Hogg with failing to keep the government advised on vital Hydro matters.

The Hydro chairmanship is believed to carry a salary of $15,000.

It now is up to city council to appoint a successor to Mr. Saunders in the mayoralty, which pays $10,000. Mr. Saunders has just got rolling on his fourth term as mayor.

When the mayor tenders his resignation city council will likely appoint a successor from among the present four-man Board of Control, with Controller Hiram Emerson McCallum, vice-chairman, the probable choice. Council then will have to appoint an alderman to fill the vacant Board of Control seat, and another citizen to replace the alderman on city council.

His High Qualifications

In announcing the appointment Premier Drew said "I am convinced there is no man in Ontario with higher qualifications for this extremely important work, . .

"The chairman will be responsible for administration and policy, while Richard L. Hearn, general manager and chief engineer, will have full responsibility for the management and direction of the engineering and business affairs of the Commission, subject to decisions on policy by the hairman and the Board".

WATER-FILLED TANK BURNS

Cherokee, Ia., Feb. 6 —(AP)— A water tank full of water burned on the Howard Fee farm yesterday.

Fee, working in his barnyard, was trying to thaw frozen pipes leading to the wooden tank. Straw with which he had banked the outside of the tank caught fire.

The water-filled tank was destroyed.

Planes Carrying A-Bombs May Be Able to Operate From Giant Carrier

Washington, Feb. 6 — (AP)— Planes big enough to carry atomic bombs may be able to operate from a giant new American aircraft carrier.

The proposed addition of a 60,000-to-80,000-ton mammoth flattop and other experimental warcraft to the United States arsenal of new weapons was first hinted at a month ago by President Truman.

The President proposed in his budget message to Congress that $230,000,000 which would have gone into ships now on the ways be used instead to build fighting craft of "advanced design."

It remained, however, for Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan to provide the still-sketchy details of what those ships will look like.

Sullivan made another disclosure: the hopes for guided missile development are somewhat ahead of accomplished fact.

Therefore the United States navy is stowing away, for a time, its plans for converting the hulls of two big battle ships into guided missile-launching craft.

Sullivan steered a cautious course at his press conference yesterday concerning the intended use of the big carrier.

However, the announcement followed by a few weeks a statement by Admiral Chester Nimitz, retired chief of naval operations, that the navy will build carriers capable of accommodating atom bomb-carrying planes.

The projected new vessel will be of the flush-deck type.

Sullivan said only that bigger and faster aircraft will be designed to fly from the bigger carrier. He did not specify types.

His reference to faster aircraft, however, suggested jet-powered planes.

The biggest carriers now in the fleet are the 45,000-ton Midway, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Coral Sea. They are 986 feet long and 113 feet wide.

In addition to the new carrier, Sullivan said the navy intends, if Congress approves, to:

Build four submarines capable of high speed while submerged and to remain under water for long periods.

Build a new "hunter-killer" ship of destroyer-like speed but larger and outfitted with improved detection gear to locate enemy submarines.

Convert a 27,000-ton Essex class carrier and two submarines. what that modernization would include Sullivan did not say.

HOUSE ADJOURNS MAMMOTH DEBATE ON RISING COSTS

Throne Speech Debate Will be Resumed

Ottawa, Feb. 6 —(CP)— A mammoth Commons debate on the rising cost of living was adjourned last night until Monday after four days of continuous opposition criticism of the government's motives in seeking to establish a special 16-man committee to search out the causes of the country's high price structure.

The discussion was discontinued at the adjournment hour last night when Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that the Throne Speech debate will be resumed at today's sitting.

Thirteen speakers, including a Cabinet minister, took the floor yesterday as opposition members continued their demands that the government broaden the powers of the proposed committee by vesting it with authority to recommend a course of action which would deflate living costs.

Two Liberal government members — David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) and Lionel Bertrand (L-Terrebonne) — joined those who urged that the government re-impose price ceilings and subsidies, with Mr. Croll adding the suggestion that the excess profits tax, which disappeared Dec. 31, be revived as a curb to profiteering .

Justice Minister Ilsley reported that more than 50 companies, large and small, are under inquiry by the combines investigation commission and suggested the committee, as a fact-finding body, would determine the truth of reports that trade combines and monopolies are operating.

Result of Disagreement

Other speakers included Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton), Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe), John Probe (CCF — Regina City), Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—MacLeod), A. M. Nicholson (CCF — Mackenzie), Clarie Gillis (CCF — Cape Breton South), Norman Jaques (SC—Wetaskiwin), and Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L — Portneuf).

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 6 — (CP)—From coast to coast cold weather prevails over the Dominion. Temperatures will moderate a little in Ontario today and Saturday, but with another polar outbreak shaping up over the Northwest Territories this morning it looks as though there will be little appreciable change in the current trend for several more days. Sky conditions this morning over Ontario are varied and variable, with light snow reported from the Georgian Bay area and Kirkland Lake region.

Outbreak of Fires in Ottawa Area Leaves 27 Homeless And Damage of More than $100,000

Ottawa, Feb. 6 —CP)— The Ottawa Valley, shivering in subzero weather, today totalled the fire loss during the last 24 hours —more than $100,000 damage and 47 homeless.

This involved ravaged sections of two rural communities within a 75 mile radius of the capital, a gutted residence inside the city and—a fire station.

The score card:

Iroquois, 75 miles south of Ottawa — two business premises and a warehouse destroyed; 27 homeless; damage $50,000.

North Gower, 25 miles southwest — A bank, bakery, barber shop and residence destroyed; 10 homeless; damage about $30,000 to $40,000.

In Ottawa — A Booth Street residence gutted; 10 homeless; damage $3,000.

Fireman Jumps to Safety

Also gutted in Ottawa was the No. 1 fire station on Duke Street which brought the day's only fire casualty. Trapped on the upper floor by the quick-spreading blaze while the station equipment was fighting another minor fire, fireman Donald Fraser kicked out a window and jumped to the ground. He was taken to hospital with an ankle injury.

Fire authorities said the North Gower blaze, starting in a bakery, raged for three hours last night, leaving homeless the village barber, C. Pratt, his wife and 10-year-old son and baby; baker Eddie Daye and his wife and their two-year-old baby; Mrs. Charles Frizzel and her daughter, Teena, and Miss Lizzie Wallace.

Carried Down Ladder

At Iroquois fire gutted the 100-year-old, three-storey McInnis Block, destroying an egg-grading station owned by Ollie Somers; the business and editorial offices of the Iroquois Post, a weekly; five apartments and a warehouse. Among the 27 homeless was John Keller, aged boat-builder whom firemen carried down a ladder to safety.

In Ottawa fire gutted a two-storey brick home forcing Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gagnon and their eight children to the street.

Mrs. Gagnon said she had been thawing water pipes with burning paper. Shortly after the basement door burst open and smoke poured through the house.

Three Saved By Family Doctor

Windsor, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Smashing his way into a Bruce Avenue home here today, Dr. Burwell Seymour saved the lives of Henry Cox, 73, his wife and daughter, who had been overcome by fumes from a furnace.

Dr. Seymour was summoned by Mrs. Cox who heard her husband moan about 6 a.m. She thought he had suffered another of his heart attacks. She hastily administered a stimulant, went to the telephone to call the doctor and fainted before she could explain what was wrong.

The doctor hurried to the house, found the outer door locked, and gained entry by breaking the glass.

He found the three — including Miss Nellie Cox, 43, unconscious.

JAPANESE BIRTH RATE INCREASES

Tokyo, Feb. 6 —(AP)—Japan's birth rate is increasing and her death rate declining, the welfare ministry announced today. This resulted in a population gain of 1,050,000 last year. Japan's population is estimated at 80,000,000.

HOARDED GOODS FOUND

Tokyo, Feb. 6 —(AP)— Hoarded goods valued at 60,000,000 yen ($1,200,000) were found by Japanese police in a warehouse at Urawa, 30 miles north of Tokyo, Kyodo News Agency reported today.

542.9 MPH Record Set by Canadian Airman in 100 Kilometre Circuit

Moreton Valence, Gloucestershire, England, Feb. 6 (Reuters) —Canadian born Squadron Leader Bill Waterton this afternoon broke the air speed record he had set up earlier in the day for 100 - kilometre closed circuit flight with a new speed of 542.9 miles an hour. The record is subject to confirmation.

Waterton, went around the circuit this afternoon in six minutes and 52 seconds.

Earlier he established a record of 515.89 miles an hour around the same circuit completing the flight in seven minutes and 13 seconds.

The previous record was 496.88 miles an hour, set last August by Group Capt. John Cunningham in a De Havilland Vampire jet fighter.

Waterton, formerly of Edmonton, is chief test pilot of the Gloster Aircraft Company. He was flying a Meteor jet-propelled aircraft with two Derwent Mark V engines.

His course was over three circuits of 33.44 kilometres.

Cunningham had beaten the record of 493.88 miles an hour created in 1946 by Lieut. R. Baird of the United States, who piloted a jet-propelled Lockheed Shooting Star fighter.

Brings To Canada First Skating Title In Its History

Ottawa Girl Very Steady Over Difficult Ice Surface

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Canada's Barbara Ann Scott today won the women's figure-skating championship at the fifth winter Olympics, climaxing a success story perhaps unparalleled in Canadian sport history and bringing to the Dominion its first Olympic skating title.

The 19-year-old Canadian girl, with a characteristically polished performance, scored marks ranging from 5.3 to 5.9 in the free-figure phase of the championship. Six is perfection.

The official announcement came after Barbara Ann's flawless form in the free figures made it certain that the judges would confirm the unofficial figures.

Most of the other competitors in the field of 25 from 11 countries were just going through their paces in sunlit Olympic Stadium after Barbara Ann, skating "unlucky 13th" in the bulky field, gave her graceful exhibition.

The Olympic Press Bureau announced, unofficially, that Eva Pawlik of Austria had placed second to Miss Scott, with Alena Vrzonova of Czechoslovakia 3rd, Jurina Nekolova of Czechoslovakia fourth and Yvonne Sherman of New York fifth.

The estimated 5,000 spectators in the big, open-air stadium cheered lustily as Barbara Ann skated off.

Although point totals and placings were yet to come, it appeared that Jeannette Altwegg of Britain and Eva Pawlik of Austria were locked in a duel for the runner-up spot. Jirina Nekolova of Czechoslovakia turned in an improved performance and seemed likely to finish fourth.

Miss Scott was radiantly happy in her dressing room after the historic victory.

Signing autographs and chatting gaily with her trainer, Sheldon Galbraith, Barbara Ann gave a flat "No" to questions whether she plans to turn professional. Her mother, Mrs. Clyde Scott, chimed in: "We have no such aspirations".

Barbara Ann told reporters that if she was asked to turn professional, her answer would be "I think I want to stay amateur."

"I want to learn to cook."

The blonde skating stylist added that so far she has received no professional offers.

In winning, Barbara Ann took the Olympic title from European hands for the first time. Norway's Sonja Henie was queen of the ice lanes from 1927 to 1936.

The victory, capping the most brilliant post-war career of any figure skater, broke Europe's monopoly on figure-skating events and gave North American a sweep of major skating titles at the fifth Winter Olympics. Only 24 hours ago, Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., won the men's competition.

GEN. STUELPNAGEL FOUND HANGED IN PRISON CELL

Wartime Commander of German Troops in Occupied France

Paris, Feb. 6 — (AP) — A War Ministry spokesman announced today that Gen. Otto Von Stuelpnagel, wartime commander of German troops in occupied France, hanged himself this morning in Cherche-Midi prison.

Stuelpnagel, a 69-year-old bachelor, was under indictment on charges of "crimes against international law," including the execution of hostages.

His defence counsel, Marcel Heraud, said:

"I saw him a few days ago and he seemed depressed. I tried to convince him that his case was not so desperate as he thought."

Stuelpnagel was the second wartime German Army officer to take his own life in two days while facing war-crimes charges. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, who surrendered to the Canadian Army in Holland in 1945, jumped to his death yesterday from a prison catwalk in Nuernberg. He was about to go on trial before an American court.

Stuelpnagel was arrested on his estate in the French occupation zone of Germany Dec. 12, 1946. He had been sought by the French since Germany's defeat in the spring of 1945. He was brought to Paris to be tried.

Heraud said an investigation of his client's case still was in progress and would have delayed the trial for some time.

MONGREL PUP IS IMPOUNDED

Second Youth Apprehended By Police Department

The second youth responsible for breaking and entering Brethour's tobacco store on Station Street Wednesday night was apprehended by city police this morning as he was walking in the vicinity of Station Street and Cannifton Road. The lad is from St. John's Training School in Toronto.

Yesterday morning provincial police apprehended the first youth near a barn in Thurlow township, just east of the city. Cigarettes, chocolate bars and other articles taken from the store were found in the barn but the second lad with whom the youth said he had entered the store, was not apprehended.

This morning, however, police were informed that a lad had been seen leaving the barn at which the youth was arrested yesterday morning and the search was continued. When apprehended the youth had on his person several dollars in change as well as magazines said to have been taken from Brethour's store.

8 Slightly Hurt, S.C. of C. Train Hits Street Car

Hamilton, Feb. 6 (CP) —Eight persons were injured, none seriously when a Steel Company of Canada train crashed into the side of a crowded street car on the Irondale Avenue - Burlington Street east crossing this morning. Seven of those injured — they were shaken up and suffered bruises and slight shock — were passengers in the street car. The other was a member of the train crew. One passenger was admitted to hospital.

Both the locomotive and the street car were derailed by the force of the impact.

The street car motorman, Joseph J. Shunlack of Hamilton, said later "everything seemed clear" when he was at a point 110 feet from the crossing, he proceeded onto the single track and saw the crossing watchman William Missen, waving a stop-sign.

"I presumed he was waving me on and when I saw the engine I was less than 50 feet from the crossing, too late to avoid the accident," Mr. Shunlack said. "Later the watchman told me he was trying to stop me from coming on."

Mr. Missen told investigators that he had been attempting to flag the street car down.

Steel Company of Canada officials said that an investigation had been launched Walter Knight, street railway superintendent, said that his company would also conduct a probe of the mishap.

PULMONARY EMBOLISM CAUSED DEATH

Toronto, Feb. 6 —(CP)— Coroner Dr. C. S. Dunning said today that a post-morten showed death of Mrs. Thomas G. Sapuntjis, 39, was due to a pulmonary embolism — an obstruction of the artery connecting the heart and lungs. The post-morten was ordered after the woman died suddenly last night shortly after receiving an injection treatment for varicose veins. Dr. Dunning said the treatment is quite common and there would be no inquest.

Allan Smith, Former Officer In R.C.A.F., Named Assistant Assessor by City Council

Former Flying Officer with the R.C.A.F., Mr. Allan Smith, son of Mr. J. S. Smith, Albert Street, last evening, was recommended appointed as assistant in the assessing department at the city hall. Appointment of Mr. Smith as assistant assessor follows the death last week of Raymond Arnott, who died of a heart attack two days after his appointment.

According to the recommendation Mr. Smith will commence his duties at the city hall as of Feb. 9th., at a salary of $1,800 per annum with annual increases of $120 until the maximum of $2,400 is reached. Mr. Smith served five years with the R.C.A.F., including three-and-one-half years overseas. He was shot down over Germany and was prisoner-of-war for some months.

A committee of Aldermen Hyde and Lummiss was appointed to investigate conditions at Frank Street in regard to the pedestrian crossing over the railroad and will report to council.

A committee of Aldermen Hyde, Armstrong, Lloyd with the city comptroller and engineer, will mark trees to be removed along city streets, the wood to be used for city relief purposes.

James Alexander, Station St., will be informed that cellar flooding conditions at his premises are not the fault of the city. If he requires additional excavation he will be required to make a deposit with the city. In the opinion of the engineer an automatic sump pump would remedy conditions.

Council concurred in a resolution of Thurlow township requesting as a safety measure that the Canadian National Railways place a man at the crossing east of the city where the tracks cross county and suburban highway No. 18.

Call New Tenders

Storm sewer tenders approved at the last council meeting for construction of sewers on Wellington and Catherine Streets will be rescinded with new tenders to be called when the frost is out of the ground.

The offer of J. Rushlow and H. Schryver to keep the garbage dump clean and level at $10 per week with the privilege of taking pickings, was accepted. The services of Mr. Barriage as dump supervisor will be dispensed with.

City council concurred in a representation being made to the Dominion Government to take the sales tax off food as a measure to help defeat the high cost of living.

Daylight Saving was recommended from midnight April 25th to midnight September 26th.

Board of Education representative Alex Nathan was appointed as an additional member to the housing committee of the city council. Mr. Nathan will act in an advisory capacity.

To Consider Applications

A committee of Aldermen Duffy, Lazenby and Follwell with Mayor D. L. Storey and the fire chief will consider application for the position of firemen with the city fire department. Dr. Miles will be called to attend the next meeting of council to report on the condition of ex-fireman Jack Grills who was recently dismissed from the department owing to physical inability to continue with his duties.

The Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital will be requested to remain in office until the corporation officially takes over the hospital. J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A. for Hastings West was requested to sponsor the private bill in the legislature for the city taking over the hospital, while the special council committee of Aldermen Clarke, Lattimer, Vanner and the city comptroller were authorized to take such further action necessary to promote the enactment of the private bill.

C.of C. Recommends Formation Of Civic Committee to Act Along With One From Council

Recommendation of the formation of a civic committee within the organization to act in conjunction with a similar committee of the city council, was endorsed by Chamber of Commerce directors at their weekly luncheon yesterday.

Director Lorne McDougall, who was ultimately named chairman of the new committee, speaking to the recommendation, pointed out that such a committee would be a great asset in collecting information for industrial surveys, submitting suggestions for civic improvements and publicising the great expansion now being undertaken in the city.

He also suggested that the joint committees could revamp building by-laws with a subsequent recommendation that a permanent building inspector be appointed for the city. Cost of a new appointment, it was suggested could be borne by increased building permit fees.

It was suggested, during a discussion on general city business, that a meeting be arranged between the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber, its Tourist Committee and merchants of Bancroft and other northern areas with respect to diverting business that is going to Peterborough and should come here.

Losing Trade is Claim

Director Tommy Tucker said that this city was losing a great deal of northern county business because of poor public relations and lack of better roads between the city and the north country.

Directors also supported a motion that metropolitan newspapers be contacted with a view of getting more coverage on events taking place in Belleville in connection with the betterment of the city.

Chairman Harold Seldon told the directorate that he had received an acceptance of the Chamber's invitation to be its guest speaker at the annual banquet from Professor Watson Kirkconnell, of McMaster University, Hamilton, providing the date was either Feb. 27 or March 5th. Efforts will be made to hold the function on one of these dates.

Chairmen Named

Chairmen for standing committees for 1948 were named at the meeting. These include, Open Forum and Banquet, H. N. Becker; Membership, C. A. Bateman; Tourist, Roads and Publicity, A. McLean Haig; Industrial, Bruce Lattimer; Civic, Lorne McDougall and Bulletins, Art. Francis and T. A. Tucker.

As a result of the recent canvass of all merchants in the city the following were elected directors of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber: B. Leslie, R. D. Boyce, Enos David, A. M. Francis, B. Lattimer, Frank Follwell, O. Hales, W. J. Brown and T. A. Tucker, chairman of the division, will be elected by the newly appointed directorate.

Official Visit Paid Moose Lodge By High Officer

On Thursday evening Belleville Lodge 1004 Loyal Order of Moose, was honored by an official visit of the Deputy Supreme Governor Oscar W. Pierce.

In honor of Brother Pierce a large class of candidates was initiated into Belleville Lodge, under the capable direction of the Degree team from Trenton Lodge No. 1163. This degree team is gaining great fame in this district.

Democratic Fraternity

In the address Brother Pierce spoke of the democratic nature of the fraternity, and the revolutionary idea of The Child City at Mooseheart where the children of departed Brother Moose are receiving an academic and vocational education.

Each child on graduation has a high school education and a trade having a choice of 52 trades.

Each child on entering this school is under the observation of trained psychologist so that they may become adapted to conditions there.

OSCAR W. PIERCE

Deputy Supreme Governor, Supreme Lodge of the World, Loyal Order of Moose, pays official visit to local Lodge on Thursday night.

Since the establishment of The Child City over 5,000 students have graduated. At the present time there are over 1,000 children there, 75 being from Canada, four families from Ontario, the latest family from Sarnia, Ont., consisting of a mother and seven children.

350 Aged Sheltered

Bro. Pierce also dwelt on The Home For the Aged at Moosehaven, Florida, and the high quality of the cottages and furnishings and the beauty of the surroundings.

There are at present 350 aged men and women there. In addition to these two institutions there is also the extension service to help those members, who have not quite enough means to support themselves and do not wish to leave their homes.

Strong Financial Position

He also stressed the strong financial position of the Order, due to the pooling of resources in The Grand Lodge of Protection. During the course of the evening at the request of Bro. Governor Freeman of Belleville, Bro. Pierce presented to Bros. Gerald Vance and Ray Burtt of Belleville Lodge certificates of membership in the 25 club, also the diamond studded lapel emblems of the club.

Membership in this club may be obtained only by the securing 25 new members for the Order. Both of these Brothers have obtained this objective.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Bro. Pierce, and the Degree team of Trenton Lodge, also by Bro. Gerald Vance on behalf of the Belleville fire department for coffee served during the recent Chamber of Commerce fire.

Entertainment was provided by Bro. Walter Taylor and little Mary Lemmon with Mrs. Calvert at the piano after which refreshments were served.

Stirling Council Asks Inspector To Call Meeting

Feeling that the ratepayers are not fully cognizant with the workings of the scheme to establish a High School Area in Centre Hastings, the Stirling Council will request Public School Inspector R. H. Macklem secretary of the Consultative Committee on Education to call a special meeting sometime in February at which special speakers will discuss the matter. Representatives of other municipalities interested in the area will be invited to attend.

Speaking at a council meeting on the question, Reeve Harold Wells, said that it was apparent the village would be eventually forced into joining the larger area, but he felt the ratepayers should have an opportunity to learn more about the scheme.

Councillor Elliott agreed with the reeve but disliked the set-up and thought that the County Council should give the matter serious consideration before launching into a scheme which was being rushed through without giving the ratepayers a chance to express their views.

On motion the council requested the clerk to request Inspector Macklem to arrange for a public meeting.

Commodity Prices Recover Slightly At Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 6 (AP) —The headlong plunge of commodity prices showed signs of touching at least a temporary bottom today.

Wheat futures again reached the maximum allowable decline of 10 cents a bushel but found enough buying to recover slightly. Corn skidded the daily limit of eight cents for the third straight day. Oats were down a lesser amount.

Some balance came back into the stock market, where prices held just about even.

The erratic movements of commodities other than grains lent encouragement to analysts who see this week's break in the price front as a healthy adjustment rather than a definite change in direction.

Vegetable oils were among items showing further declines on the wholesale markets. But butter prices firmed somewhat at New York.

The Commodity markets were closely watched by those seeking to determine if the upward spiral in the cost of living might be at an end.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Feb. 6 (CP)— Demand by shippers and eastern processors today contributed to an easier tone in oats futures on the Winnipeg grain exchange as heavy selling, evident to the last two days' trading, subsided.

Barley futures also showed an easier tone, but not to such a degree as oats. Selling was more liberal and buying light.

Trading in both coarse grains reflected an easier tone on the Chicago market, where dealings still continued in oats and wheat. Yesterday at Chicago, selling in these commodities sent prices down the maximum limits in early trade and prices rested there till the close.

Selling orders in rye futures sent prices down the maximum 10 cent limit in a thin market subject to wide fluctuations.

Prices:

Oats — May 3-8 lower at 79; July 1-4 higher at 75 3-4; Oct. unchanged at 71 1-8.

Barley — May 2 3-8 lower at $1.14 1-2; July 1 3-4 lower at $1.08 1-4; Oct. not open.

Rye — May 10 lower at $3.96; July 10 lower at $3.47 7-8; Oct. 10 lower at $2.34 1-2.

Inspections: Wheat this year 362; last year 150; cars of contract 182; oats 63-35; barlew 45-16; flax 14-nil; rye 1-nil; other grains 4-1; total 490-202.

FINED $500 ON CHARGE OF ASSAULTING POLICEMAN

Ottawa, Feb. 6 (CP) —Rodger Youle, 21-year-old United Automobile Workers Union striker from the Ottawa Car and Aircraft Plant, was convicted by County Court Judge John P. Madden yesterday of assaulting a police officer during a picket-line fracas at the plant last May and was fined $500 and costs.

Judge Madden told Youle, who had admitted throwing a stone which struck and injured Constable Lionel Lefebcre, that his conduct had been "absolutely inexcuseable and the action of a man with an evil intent."

Governments Will Be Asked to Pay Property Tax

Toronto, Feb. 6 — (CP)—Provincial and Federal governments will be asked to pay property tax to support municipal services such as police and fire protection, sewers and sidewalks, the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves decided Thursday. Provincial and Federal property is tax exempt at present.

The Association agreed to put its request before Premier Drew tomorrow and approach the Federal government later.

"Last week in Montreal a group of the Canadian Federation (of mayors and reeves) proposed that the federal government pay a grant in lieu of the taxes," Mayor Robert Saunders of Toronto told today's meeting. "We received a wire from Hon. D. C. Abbott saying it was being considered but nothing definite could be done for two weeks.

Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa suggested the Ontario government be approached first.

In 1947 the federal exemptions as asserted in the city of Toronto amounted to $13,142,637 on both land and buildings. Provincial exemptions for the same year totalled $9,929,541.

In another submission to be made to Premier Drew, it was estimated that $25,000,000 was spent by Ontario municipalities in the years 1944, 1945, and 1946 to defray costs of social services which had increased by approximately one-half in the three-year period.

The Association brief states: — "These costs have been one of the three factors contributing to the burden on the municipal tax payer for services not properly municipal services."

Reeve Anne Shipley of Kirkland Lake said she was in favor of asking the provincial government for a larger school allowance to take care of higher living costs and new schools and teachers.

Weekly Livestock Review

Toronto, Feb. 6 (CP)—Cattle prices opened 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight higher but lost 25 cents by the lose in the livestock market here this week. Calves ruled strong while sheep and lambs were steady. Hogs gained 25 cents while sows lost $1.50.

A cattle run of some 5,900, 1,500 more than for the same week a year ago. Opening trade was strong on a light run of cattle but slowed considerably under the following receipts which proved too heavy for requirements. Closing trade was dull with several hundred killers unsold.

Top price for weighty steers was $17.35 for one load, with a few head selling from $17.50. Other steers brought $17.25 down to $14.50. Butcher steers were $12.50-$16.50 with choice up to $17. Butcher heifers went up $12-$15:50. Butcher cows were $9.50-12.50 with canners selling down to $6. Bulls ranged in price from $9 for light bolognas up to $12.50 for good butchers. Fed yearlings sold from $15-17.50 with two at $18 cwt. A few lots of medium to good stockers and feeders sold at $11-13.50. Ordinary quality milkers and springers were $85-$145 each.

Some 900 head of calves sold strong at $21-$23 for choice with plain to medium vealers, $13-18. Heavy grassers brought $9-11.50.

Hog prices gained 25 cents a hundredweight to close at $28.75 for grade A and $28.35 for grade B1. Sows, however, were $1.50 lower at $19 dressed. Hog receipts totalled some 2,800 head.

A few lots of good lambs sold at $18.50 with others from $13-$18. Sheep sold slowly at $5-9 according to quality. Sheep and lambs receipts were some 900 head.

London, Feb. 6 (AP)—Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell announced in the Commons today the government will take over ownership of Britain's electric utilities April 1.

"A very appropriate date," cracked a Conservative M.P. on the choice of April 1.

Battle of N. Africa Recalled

A war period when great events were in the making and when the hopes of the United Nations world were buoyed up by the amazing series of victories in the battle of the coastline of North Africa in 1943 is recalled in the War Office publication of the report of Field Marshal Viscount Alexander.

It was one of the most memorable battles in the history of warfare. The long advance of 1,800 miles and the annihilation of the German and Italian forces which had been causing public anxiety for the safety of Egypt and the East were marks of that phase of the war when the Allies were beginning their advance that ultimately led to the defeat and utter collapse of Italy and later of Germany. Those were days freighted with the greatest importance.

The Allied world was inspired and the success of the movement was followed by the invasion of Sicily and ultimately of Italy.

The defeat of Erwin Rommel's forces was of the greatest psychological effect upon the world. Rommel had a name which had grown up around him. When Rommel was so utterly defeated the result was electrifying to the free world and stunning to the Germans. To Italy it meant the beginning of the end of resistance and the end of Mussolini's wretched tyranny.

British Children's Health

In Health Week in Canada it is encouraging to hear the report from Britain of the result of attention to health problems during the recent World War II.

Three causes were given why the children were well-nourished, why their height increased and the death rate cut during war time. They were the adoption of a food policy, increasing milk in schools, the betterment of school meals and the giving of extra rations. The chief medical officer of the British Ministry of Education in his summary added that the other factors were the wartime improvement in wages and the "remarkable freedom from influenza, infectious diseases and the reduced virulence of these diseases.

One of the surprising facts is that boys and girls in Britain between the ages of five and 14 years and examined in 1944 showed an increase in height of one-quarter to one-half inch in height and one and a half pounds to two pounds in weight.

Another amazing fact was that children stood the bombing as well as adults did, and they were found to be less affected by the war though there may be "some scars" remaining.

The summary is that there is no evidence of a decline in the health and physique of children in the period of the war.

Heavy Vehicle Drivers

Drivers of heavy vehicles, according to a survey, have surprisingly few gripes against car drivers. The general opinion is that the driving standard of the motoring public is just as good as that of the "professionals."

A tractor-trailer operator who is nearing the two million mile mark says that his main "beef is that many motorists do not stay in their proper lane of traffic and do not give hand signals before turning. They make right turns from the centre of the road and left turns from the extreme right of the road." In his view which is confirmed by many years of driving, "position on the road is all-important, it is the only sure way of letting the driver behind know of your intentions."

Most of the men who "wheel the big rigs" agree that the majority of the accidents they had seen were caused by the failure of motorists to signal before turning.

There is a type of driver who terrifies and that is the driver who highballs through a stop sign onto the main road without a letup in speed.

Views of drivers of buses and transports are important. These men are on the road more than the average passenger car driver and know intimately the habits and customs of the driving public. What they advise, would, if carried out, undoubtedly lead to the prevention of many of the mishaps on the roads and highways.

Of real encouragement and inspiration to the car-driving public is the mileage which transport men and bus men are able to pile up year after year — without accident. That is proof that if all those who drive had constantly their thoughts on the job of driving there would be fewer mishaps on the road.

They can take a tip from the heavy bus and truck operators who speak from years of training and service without accidents.

Flood Prevention

Britain is to expend $26,000,000 in seven years in a flood-prevention program for the Fens. Work has already been begun and the plan is designed to protect this fertile and low-lying farming area from a recurrence of the severe inundations which were suffered last year. This is the biggest undertaking in 300 years since the Fens were first scientifically drained.

British engineers will create a new river thirty-one miles long to carry off the spring rains into the North Sea.

A Distant View

Television, for Canadians, remains something we read about as developing rapidly in the United Kingdom and the United States.

The latest word on the subject is a small paragraph in the annual report of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation:

"An intensive study of television is currently being carried out by the Engineering Division to determine the conditions under which it can be introduced in Canada. Developments in Great Britain and in the United States are being followed closely and it is intended to send two observers to Great Britain and the continent of Europe to acquire further information on progress in this field."

So nobody need be in a hurry to buy a television receiver even if there were any available in this country, which there aren't. — Ottawa Journal.

A NEAT REVENGE

The trapper's enthusiasm for an Indian girl led him to make gifts to her that were not his to give. He was apprehended, when complaints were brought to the R.C.M.P., and sentenced to cut the coming winter's supply of firewood for the post.

Through the Arctic Summer the trapper worked off his sentence diligently, was released and faded into the bush.

On the first cold night of late August, a Mountie brought in an armful of the newly cut wood. He had some difficulty with it. A few more samples from various places in the pile confirmed his worst suspicions. The wood had all been cut two inches too long for the fire box. — The Printed Word.

EXCHANGE OF DOCTORS

Britain's interest in medical science and in the health of the people of other nations is indicated in the assistance she is giving Czechoslovakia to make good a gap of seven years in medical studies and research caused by the ravages of the Hitler aggression. 80 Czech doctors will spend three months in London and provincial hospitals.

Agriculture is getting a lift as Britain arranges for young farmers to have the opportunity to study agricultural methods in Europe and for foreign students to visit the United Kingdom in exchange.

Greatness lies not in being strong but in the right using of strength. — Beecher.

BEST OF SHOWS

Some, grand opera think is best,
  Favoring works of masters old.
Jeweled and superbly dressed
  Women, lovely to behold,
Wait the tragic moment when
  Tenor and soprano die.
But I've said, and say again,
  Rather stay at home would I.

Shakespeare has a fame worldwide.
  I am fond of much he wrote.
As a schoolboy, oft I tried
  Lines of his to learn and quote.
Gifted men, with artistry,
  Playing Hamlet, I have seen.
But the actors best for me
  Aren't the stars of stage and screen.

With what others say is art,
  Never will I disagree,
Senseless quarreling to start.
  I know what is best for me.
As their grandpa, this I'll say
  Just as long as I shall live:
That the finest show today
  Is the one the children give.

Seat me in my favorite chair,
  Draw the bed-sheet curtain wide,
Let me watch the youngsters there,
  Strutting with an actor's pride,
And I'll vow no other plays
  Hold so much of joyous mirth,
For the penny Grandpa pays.
  That's the greatest show on earth!

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

Of what country is the sunflower native?

The sunflowers, which belong to the genus Helianthus, are believed to be natives of the New World. They were among the plants cultivated by the Indians in both North and South America before the coming white men.

The sunflower is the floral emblem of Peru and was widely employed as a decoration and mystic symbol in the mythology of the Incas, Aztecs and other ancient Americans. Some of the Northern Indians, particularly the Hurons, used sunflowers to make a hair oil and a dye, later known as "sunflower yellow." Many varieties of sunflowers grew wild in great profusion on the prairies in the West and the Indians in that region ate the seeds and used the stalks for fuel.

Sunflowers are now grown commercially on a large scale in North Africa, Russia, India, China, Argentina and several other countries ,and the plant has many economic uses. The stalks and leaves are used for fodder, forage and ensilage and yield a fibre employed in making thread and fabrics. The seeds are used for human food and for bird and poultry feed.

A yellow, sweet oil obtained from the seeds by crushing and compressing is considered equal to olive or almond oil for cooking and table use. Sunflower oil cake, the residual cake remaining after the extraction of the oil from the seed, is used for stock feed. The sunflower is particularly sensitive to the lack of boron in the soil and is used as an "indicator plant" to test soil for that element. Sunflower seeds are sold in packages like peanuts and popcorn. Cultivated sunflower plants have been known to attain a height of more than 17 feet and to produce flowers 17 inches in diameter.

The sunflower, contrary to a popular notion, is not a true heliotrope or "turnsol;" that is, the flower does not follow the sun to a greater extent than those of other ordinary plants.

It received its name from the form and color of the large, yellow-rayed flower heads, which were fancied to resemble the radiant beams of the sun. "Sunflower" was applied in England to the marigold and other plants long before the American plant was known to Europeans.

The sunflower is closely related to the Jerusalem artichoke, also indigenous to the New World, but unlike that plant it does not have a tuberous root of economic importance.

Industrial Tie-Up Caused by Gas Shortage Lessens

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 6 (CP)— The pall of gloom and lines of temporary jobless began to lessen throughout western Ontario today as small supplies of natural fuel gas trickled back to shut-down industries.

About 5,220 of almost 25,000 workers, unemployed for nearly two weeks, were expected back to production lines at 45 companies, including 24 in Windsor, nine in London, eight in Chatham and four in Sarnia.

The first break in the industrial tie-up that came with dipping temperatures and resultant high domestic gas consumption, was announced in a joint statement yesterday by Mayor Arthur Reaume and Ontario Fuel Controller A. R. Crozier.

In a few days, the statement said, most plants affected by the shortage can, if they wish, return to some semblance of operation.

But, it warned, the bulk of western Ontario's unemployed may have to wait for a lengthy mild spell before returning to work-benches.

Supplies Allocated

"Supplies are being allocated for use in such a way as to provide maximum employment," the statement said. In Windsor it should mean re-employment of between 2,000 and 3,000 men."

About 1,500 London workers were expected to return and 100 in Chatham and 600 in Sarnia.

However, the picture is not so optimistic in gas-short Detroit where 200,000 are idle for an indefinite period. City authorities yesterday joined with the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company to oppose a Union Gas Company of Canada petition to the Federal Power Commission at Washington.

Union Gas has asked at least partial fulfillment of its contract with Panhandle (Texas), calling for 5,500,000,000 cubic feet of gas a year to be piped to western Ontario. Only 35,000,000 have been received in the last two years.

Fuel Controller Crozier said Michigan's protest was to be expected, adding:

"It will be years before we can get United States gas, but I believe we will get some eventually."

Order of Business In Parliament Under Discussion

Ottawa, Feb. 6 —(CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King said last night in the Commons that he wished there was only one opposition party instead of three, each with a different view.

He made the statement at the adjournment hour in continuation of a discussion started at the House opening over the order of business.

Mr. King said that in view of an apparent misunderstanding he was ready to follow any order today suggested by the opposition.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, said that in view of the heat shown by Mr. King when procedure was discussed earlier he was not going to make a suggestion.

"Let's all have a holiday," interjected an opposition member.

Mr. Brkconsetdia a

Mr. Bracken said that whatever order of business the government announced his party would follow.

Mr. King said he believed he could say he had done his best to have the work done with as much co-operation as possible. However, it took two to co-operate.

When he gave precedence to a matter at the request of the opposition and then was accused of violating an agreement, it was a little difficult to know how to proceed.

Have One Opposition

"It is my view that we ought to have one opposition and one government," he said, "instead of three opposition groups each with its own view on different things that come up."

So that he could not be accused of violating an undertaking the debate on the address in reply to the Throne Speech would be resumed today and he hoped that Monday members would return to debate on a resolution establishing a prices committee.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he presumed the lecture from Mr. King resulted from the point of order he had raised earlier in the day. Mr. Low said in raising the point he had merely wanted to protect the rights of members. No group in the House had given more co-operation to the government than the Social Credit party. If Mr. King had been as considerate last night in arranging the day's business the whole trouble would not have arisen.

To Debate Throne Speech

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North-Centre) said his party was prepared to continue the prices debate today.

Mr. Bracken said his party was prepared to go on with the Throne Speech debate Friday.

Mr. King then said the Throne Speech debate would be the order of business.

In the earlier debate, Mr. King said if Progressive Conservative members raised objections as to the order of business, after a matter had been given precedence at their request, then "they have made such a request for the last time so far as I am concerned."

Tapping his desk with his finger tips to emphasize his point, Mr. King made the blunt statement after Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) supported Mr. Low in claiming that the rules of the House were not being followed as far as the order of business was concerned.

Mr. King said it was announced Wednesday that the prices committee debate would be continued Thursday and no objection had been taken. He had obtained consent from opposition party leaders for continuation of the prices debate Wednesday and he had assumed the leaders wanted to give it precedence until finished.

As Mr. King sat down, Mr. Graydon called: "There is no reason for losing one's temper over it."

BICYCLE RIDING IS FINE EXERCISE

Miss M. M. E. lives in Southern California where it is summer the year around and for exercise her choice of walking or hiking—always the best regular daily exercise for man, woman or child, ice skating (at rinks), golf, tennis, working in the garden, mowing the lawn, doing her own housecleaning, washing, ironing, swimming, bowling on the green.

Miss E. says that up to two or three years ago she rode a bicycle every day and has always been fond of riding, but now she finds her blood pressure is too high, so she is afraid of any kind of exercise now. Would it be foolish for her to risk riding her bicycle with her blood pressure so high? (M. M. E.)

In order to form a opinion about it I should have some idea what, if anything, ails Miss M. M. E. She doesn't even tell me whether a real physician measured her blood pressure.

Bicycle riding is fine exercise for any one. Far too dangerous in city traffic, but ideal if you can ride where there is little or no automobile traffic.

Even if you think or have been told by some quack that your blood pressure is high, daily bicycle riding is fine for you, provided you do no high speed, marathon or uphill riding.

For keeping your metabolism well regulated and yourself from going flabby bicycle riding is second only to a daily walk, a brisa walk, of fro mone to eight miles on the level.

Whatever ailment may cause the blood pressure to be too high (as Miss E. says), it is almost certain that no such daily exercise as described caused it.

On the other hand, there is a good deal of evidence that lack of just such daily exercise is a predisposing factor of disease conditions of which increased blood pressure is one manifestation. Moreover the high blood pressure in many instances may be essential for good circulation under the circumstances, and reducing the blood pressure by medicinal or physical means may do the health much harm. Es- walk, of from one to eight miles shortening is the practice of taking strong saline cathartics frequently or constantly in the childish hope that such abuse will bring the blood pressure down—it may indeed do so, shortly before it brings the patient to his ultimate statistics.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Egg White

Is it true that egg white is indigestible? Should you avoid eating starches and proteins at the same meal? (A. G.)

Answer—Raw is only slightly less digestible than cooked egg white, but it is silly to imagine egg white is indigestible. You must eat protein and starch in the same meal if you eat bread or any cereal. That is a silly notion too.

Habit Corrected

The first great thing you did for me was cure me of the cathartic habit. Formerly I thought it absolutely necessary to take one or two—tablets every night. Now I never resort to any cathartic or other aid and never need it. Furthermore, since I quit taking———tablets I have had no further trouble from piles. (M.C.)

Answer—Thank you, but I didn't cure you. I told you how to break the dumb habit of taking physic. With rare exceptions every one who thinks, as you did, that some sort of "aid" is essential to keep the bowel working can break the habit as readily as you did, if he is not too ignorant to read understandingly. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope, for booklet The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

The Heart is a Muscle

In an article on angina you mentioned some type of B vitamins that strengthens the heart muscles. (Mrs. V. D.)

Answer—The heart is just a hollow muscle with four chambers and valves. Use of B complex as a heart tonic is described in booklet C V D—which deals with most heart and artery diseases—for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Will Probe Life In Ocean Depths

Hamilton, Bermuda, (Reuters)—Mysteries of life 8,000 feet below the surface of the ocean will be explored by an expedition which will conduct the first large deep sea research in the western waters of the North Atlantic this Summer.

Starting in June this year the expedition will be under the auspices of the Chicago Natural History Museum in collaboration with the Bermuda biological station. Dredges and dragnets will be used to explore the ocean depths.

Doctor Dugald Brown, director of the Bermuda station, said that because of the great depths from which animal life and fish will be brought in some cases, it will be impossible to keep them alive although they will be transferred to special high pressure tanks as soon as possible.

It is hoped, however, that certain parts such as hearts will be still alive and available for study under conditions equivalent to the two ton per square inch pressure of the great depths.

During this Summer and next work will take place a few miles off Bermuda but three years will be needed to assess the results. It will be the first intensive study since 1880, Doctor Brown said.

Senate Wants Tourist Details

Ottawa, Feb. 6 — (CP)—The Senate's tourist committee decided yesterday it wanted to know how many United States tourists actually stayed in Canada for any length of time.

It agreed to ask the Bureau of Statistics to prepare a breakdown of the figures on American visitors, by which it would be possible to tell how many came only for days or weekends and how many spent some weeks in Canada.

The point was brought up by Senator W. A. Buchanan (L— Alberta) committee chairman, and Senator James Murdock (L —Ontario).

Senator Murdock believed this year will show an improvement over last year. Senator W. Rupert Davies (L —Ontario) said his observations were that American visitors last year were not as free in spending their money as they were the year before.

McInroy also stood out and his three goals were the result of fine play.

Tabernacle W.A. Holds Successful Membership Tea

The February meeting of the Woman's Association of Tabernacle United Church took the form of a "membership tea", held in the ladies' parlor of the church yesterday afternoon. The program and worship service were in charge of the group convened by Mrs. Wm. Judge.

Mrs. J. A. Charlton contributed a very fine reading, "The Great Guest Comes". The Scripture lesson was from the 4th chapter of the Book of Esther, closing with the words, "And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. J. G. Sparling of Christ Church, who, leading in a period of meditation, brought a heart searching and thought-provoking message on "Mirrors". She asked that each lady hold up a mental mirror, in which to view herself, taking notes of the strong points of her appearance and making the most of them; noticing also the weak points with a resolve to do something about them.

She said, "Today we are members of the one Universal Christian Church—the body of Christ. If the world is to become cognizant of Christ, we must remember that we are members of His body. We are His hands, His feet, His eyes, His lips. If we fail Him, what then? He has no other plan for the world's redemption."

Mrs. Sparling asked several pertinent questions, i.e., —"Is there something vital, beautiful, joyful in your life that will recommend the Christ way to others. What is your reflection like?

"Using your mirror, what kind of back have you? Is your back, seen by others in church perhaps, straight, proper, unbending, harsh? Or does it present an appearance of being human and relaxed?

"In the sideview, are your lips a recommendation for the church? Do they reflect the expression of Christ? Is your smile a really happy one, or merely a politely set facsimile?

"How do you greet people in your women's organizations? Is there a warmth of welcome in your meetings, or do new people feel shut out by themselves? Does your devotional period give a sense of real worship? Is there any difference here, from the programs in other city organizations?

"Do you wish for progress in Christ's work, or is your wish simply to be successful in your own little group?

"There can", she continued, "be no friction in Christ's body. There will be none if you are His feet, His hands, His eyes, His lips"

Mrs. Sparling made a strong appeal for tolerance and assistance for the youth of the church. "One final look into your mirror will show whether you are attracting other people to the church, —the body of Christ,—without boundaries. How do you appear to a newcomer whom you wish to attract? Does your mirror reflect happiness in your representation to them? Ladies, look into your own mirrors."

On behalf of the group in charge, and of all the ladies present appreciation for this very fine talk was expressed to Mrs. Sparling by Mrs. H. Froats.

Mrs. F. E. Houston feelingly rendered a very appropriate solo, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked", for which Mrs. Judge voiced a sincere "thank you".

Mrs. G. Avory, president of the Association, conducted the opening exercises, and the business period. She urged the members to attend the World Day of Prayer service and read an invitation from Holloway St. W.A. to a Valentine Tea, which the ladies decided to accept.

At the close of the meeting, afternoon tea was served to approximately forty paid members by Mrs. G. F. Lent and the social committee, while a table holding several varieties of home cooking was a popular rendezvous for the ladies. This was in charge of the members of the group convened by Mrs. Judge.

Service Planned For Interdenominational World Day of Prayer

The local service of the Interdenominational World Day of Prayer, for all women of the city, will be conducted in the Salvation Army Citadel, on the afternoon of the first Friday in Lent. This day has been reserved every year for this world wide service, sponsored in Canada by the Women's Inter-Church Council.

The same prepared order of service is always used continuously for forty-four hours, beginning at the Fiji Islands, (the International Date Line) and circling the world, the final services being held on St. Lawrence Island in the Arctic, and in the Tonga Islands of the tropics, where Queen Zalote will lead her people in the World Day of Prayer service.

Local church women are urged to attend this meeting, and enjoy the fellowship of inter-church relations. Mrs. K. Graham, wife of Major Graham of the Salvation Army will address the assembly, and Mrs. Clifford Templer will be the soloist of the afternoon.

The freewill offering will be used for aid to overseas churches in Ukrainia, Korea, China, Japan, India, Africa and Hungary.

Women's Activities

WALLBRIDGE W.M.S.-W.A.

Wallbridge.—There was a good attendance at the February meeting of the W.M.S. at the home of Mrs. Hudson Ketcheson, Wednesday afternoon. The worship service was in charge of the President, Mrs. Kingston, assisted by Mrs. Mac Sine. With Jesus, all men are brothers, regardless of race, color or creed, and His followers should be willing to help all races and try to extend His Kingdom on earth.

Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were received and a letter re Christian Stewardship was read. The allocation for 1948 is $140 and the Missionary for special prayer is Miss Leona Douglas.

It was decided to hold "The World's Day of Prayer" service in the church and invite Stone Church ladies to join in it.

The Study Book Chapter "The Bible for Burma and India", was given.

Readings were given on the subject by Mrs. A. Fisher, Mrs. W. Sine and Mrs. K. Kingston, being sketches from the lives of Robert Morrison, Samuel Sherry, and Karl Gutzlaff.

Morrison, a 25-year-old missionary wanted to sail for China to learn the language in order to translate the Bible into Chinese and despite the "No Trespassing" sign he succeeded in having the New Testament published in 1814 and had 2,000 copies distributed. Though he did not live to see Protestant missionaries accepted beyond the Walls of Canton, yet there are many Christians in China today.

Samuel Sherry went to Shanghai to translate the Bible into Mandarin. Seven missionaries working with him, the Old and New Testaments were translated after overcoming many difficulties.

In 1875, he opened a college in Shanghai, (the first in China), and several students enrolled. He wanted to translate the Bible into Easy Wenli but his health failed. Despite the fact that he was partially paralyzed he revised his translation of the Mandarin Old Testament and translated the Bible into Easy Wenli.

Gutzlaff wanted to get into Japan to learn the language but the ports were blocked. But three shipwrecked Japanese sailors, who reached Mecca, taught him the language. With their help part of the Bible was translated into Japanese. He never reached Japan but he trained Chinese to go as Christian missionaries to China and distributed religious literature in several parts of the closed countries of China and Korea.

The W.A. meeting immediately followed the W.M.S. and was in charge of Mrs. L. J. Ketcheson.

A social evening is to be held in the near future to close the "Birthday Contest" staged last year. Mrs. Cecil Sine thanked the society for cards sent to Mr. Sine. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. H. Ketcheson for her hospitality.

W.I. MEETING

Allan's Mills—The W.I. members met at the home of Mrs. G. Meiklejohn with a good attendance. The meeting was opened in the usual manner.

It was decided that a box be placed at Bonarlaw, also one at Springbrook to receive food donations for the English families in need.

Mrs. Thos. McKeown, convener for Citizenship, was in charge of the program.

Mrs. J. F. Baker gave an address on "Immigration" and Rev. P. H. Christensen gave a very interesting description of his trip to Denmark.

Mr. J. F. Baker and Rev. P. H. Christensen contributed a duet and Miss Barbara Meiklejohn rendered an instrumental number. Mrs. Thos. McKeown conducted a contest. The meeting closed in the usual manner.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Barlow on Feb. 25. Visitors are always welcome.

JUBILEE EVENING AUXILIARY BRIDGE ST. UNITED CHURCH

The Bible in China and the enthralling stories of the three men most instrumental in translating the Bible into the Chinese language were the topics of the Study Book for the February meeting of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary Bridge Street Church.

Robert Morrison, founder of the Protestant religion in China, lived in a poor hut outside the walls of the forbidden city of Canton, ate and dressed like a Chinese until he had acquired a knowledge of the language. He then became an interpreter for the East India Company which had no use for missionaries, and during his term of service succeeded in translating into High Wenli (the literary language of old China), first the Book of Acts, then the new Testament and finally the Old Testament, before being dismissed by the horrified officials.

Karl Friedrich Gutzlaff was a German sent out by The Netherlands Missionary Society. He revised Morrison's translations, Christianized hundreds of Chinese and trained forty-eight to go into the interior of China to preach the gospel. He tried hard to get into Japan but never succeeded. However, through the aid of seven ship-wrecked sailors he did succeed in translating the Bible into Japanese.

Schereschewsky, a Russian Jew, Christianized in America, and who became an Episcopal Bishop in China, again revised the former translations, this time into Mandarin and Easy Wenli. Stricken with sunstroke he became paralyzed in his four limbs, but refused to give up his work of translating, doing it on a typewriter, able to move only the long middle finger of his right hand. The Easy Wenli Bible is called the "One Finger Bible". He was for twenty years in a wheel chair.

During the Worship Service Mrs. Clinton MacDonald sang a delightful solo.

Mother Saves Twins After Two Trips Upstairs

Philadelphia, Feb. 6 —(AP)— Mrs. Josephine Johnson, 27, got her four-year-old twins, Patricia and Joanne, and her two-year-old son, John, out of their blazing home—but it took a bit of doing.

Mrs. Johnson discovered a fire in the cellar yesterday, she shouted to the children to run to the street. After telephoning firemen, Mrs. Johnson discovered the youngsters hadn't followed her instructions.

She found all three hiding under a bed on the second floor. Mrs. Johnson got Joanne and John to the street but Patricia broke away and ran upstairs to hide under the bed again. A second trip brought the little girl to safety.

daughter who loves her r and has been brought up pect her is in a sad position when that mother opposes hoice of a husband.

a situation becomes still involved if the mother is ac- ill, or is the type who be- ill when emotionally upset, olds this psychological sort over the daughter's a means of controlling her

-year-old girl, who has ing with a boy two years older, for four years, finds herself in this difficult position and has considered breaking off with her young man because her mother, so bitterly opposes her marriage to him.

The mother's reason is that all-too-familiar one of racial and religious prejudice. The boy in whom her daughter is interested is of a different faith and different nationality, and apparently for this reason alone the mother wants her to say goodbye to him for good.

"J.C." who signs the letter telling me of her dilemma, says she broke off with her fiance once, but that they have come together again and would like to get married next year. However, she is ready to call the whole thing off again because of her mother's objections. If it is best for her to put this young man out of her life, she says, she thinks it better to do so now and be done with it, since it would only become harder to do as time goes on.

"I hate to talk to my mother about it any more," she writes, "because she is a sick woman and I am so afraid something will happen to her and my sisters would always blame me for upsetting her".

I don't believe this girl should break off with this boy solely because of her mother's opposition. There are, of course, many reasons why a marriage between people of different faiths and nationalities may have more adjustments to make than if the two people concerned had similar backgrounds, and that is something this girl should consider very carefully, as I hope she has done already. But there is nothing in the letter to suggest that these adjustments are at the bottom of her mother's protests, which appear to arise purely from blind intolerance.

What I think this girl should do, if she is completely convinced that she and this young man will be happy together and can make all the necessary adjustments satisfactorily, is to stand by her guns and maintain her right to independence in the choice of her husband. Naturally, she will do this as diplomatically as possible, avoiding as much as she can any argument and discussion of the matter. No doubt her mother has already long since exhausted all her arguments and it is foolish in such a situation, to weep going over and over the same points. Since this girl is going to wait a year anyhow before being married, her mother will have plenty of time to get used to the idea, and if her daughter holds firmly, but gently, to her own point of view, her opposition may gradually lose its violence.

I hope, however, that "J. C." will remember that, if she makes the best decision she can, she is not responsible for any effect that decision may have on a person who is not emotionally mature enough to see the thing from a considered point of view, even though that person may be her mother.

Budget Beauty

By ALICE ALDEN

WHO SAYS THAT a dressy fur hat can't be bought on a budget? Certainly, that little mink or beaver number is beautiful, but it isn't one bit more flattering than a deftly draped hat of mouton. Royal Maid designs this dashing tricorne nicely trimmed with rich brown mouton, with a flattering chou of chocolate velvet. And it's way under ten dollars, which adds to its beauty and desirability!

The Experts Say . . .

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, (CP)— Rutabaga—turnip, to you—is just another lowly vegetable that has climbed the social ladder and changed its name.

But while it now graces the canape tray, home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that turnip's most popular place still remains alongside the meat course at dinner.

Over-cooking may often be the cause of strongly-flavored turnip. Just as with other vegetables, turnips should be cooked from 25 to 30 minutes in a small amount of water in a covered kettle until just tender-crisp.

If shaved thinly, or coarsely grated, with little boiling water added, turnips will cook to perfection in seven minutes.

Baked turnips: slice raw turnips and place in layers in a greased casserole. Sprinkle each layer with salt, pepper and a little nutmeg. Add milk to half fill the dish. Top with crumbs and dot with fat, or use crumbs and grated cheese. Bake in a moderately hot over—375 degrees Fahrenheit—until tender (about one hour).

Stuffed Turnips: Slice turnips 1 1-2 inches thick and cut into oblongs two inches by three inches. Scoop out centres leaving shells one-quarter inch thick. Cook until tender in boiling, salted water. Serve filled with mixed, creamed vegetables.

The wise cook will follow an oven temperature in a recipe right to the last degree. And in addition she also will know that good baking depends a lot on the way the pans are arranged in the oven.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of Agriculture, say that the size and shape of a baking pan also makes a difference in cooking. A cookies sheet should not be so large as to interfere with good circulation of heat. And cookies baked in a pan with deep sides may brown too much on the bottom, and not at all on top.

Housewives should guard against over-crowded ovens. Should baking pans touch each other, or the side of the oven, uneven circulation of heat will cause uneven baking.

A loaf cake should be placed on the rack in the oven so that it is as near the exact centre of the oven as possible. Two layer cakes should be placed on the shelf so that they do not touch each other or the sides of the oven.

Use of correct oven temperature for various types of food is imperative if the cooked food is to be at its best.

The recognized oven temperatures: 300 degrees Fahrenheit—slow oven; 325—moderately slow; 350 —moderate; 375—moderately hot; 400—hot; 425—very hot.

Cereals, meringues, baked custards and soup will cook slowly in the heat remaining in an oven that has been turned off.

Melba toast, celery leaves, or parsley may be dried as the temperature decreases, thus utilizing all the heat.

Canada to See London-Styled Spring Attire

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (CP)—The spring collection of dresses designed by couturier Arthur Banks will shortly be shown in Toronto and Montreal, and possibly in London, Ont., it was announced at the collection's unveiling here.

Three new British materials will be included in the display—a haircord Worcester, carried out in such combinations as yellow and black; a nylon taffeta and a crackle nylon.

The crackle nylon is self-patterned with the pattern shrunk into the cloth, giving it almost a quilted effect.

Points in designing are the mid-calf length for day wear, with a few calf-length evening dresses which, combined with coatees, may be worn as dinner and cocktail dresses also. These are mostly in satin-backed bengaline and slipper-satin. Both sides of the bengaline are used for effect, the shoulder, neckline or waist often accentuated by a contrasting color, usually in petersham.

Favors Straighter Lines

The haircord Worcester is shown in a severely-cut suit with a long-backed adaptation of the tail-coat jacket and contrasting colored skirt.

With the pegtop skirts, Banks uses long, classically-cut jackets with or without slight hip accentuation, the hip effect generally carried out in the fluting or draping of the pockets.

MANNEQUINS WIN FASHION ORDERS

London (CP) — A novel dress competition between London and Stockholm fashion houses which resulted in $80,000 worth of orders for Britain took place recently.

The English and Swedish Mannequins competed in a display of the "new look" to the Swedish public in the City's Grand Hotel festival hall. The English mannequins were voted the winners despite strong competition from five mannequins handpicked from girls from all over Sweden.

Tennessee Beauty Firmly Declines Hollywood Offers

By BOB DUNNE

Memphis, Tenn., (AP)— Hollywood is still hounding Miss America of 1947 but the tall Tennessee beauty persistently declines all offers, because "love is more important."

"I only want to be a successful doctor's wife," says the nation's beauty queen, Barbara Jo Walker. This continues to amaze movieland and thousands of screen hopefuls.

Barbara's latest rejection slip went to David O. Selznick who asked her to discuss a contract with him in New York, all expenses paid, of course.

The producer received a courteous reply of refusal to this effect: "I'm simply not interested."

Her attitude is simple and, the way Barbara tells it, quite convincing:

"I have no desire to lead the type of life that you must in Hollywood. I have my own ideals and private life is what counts."

Barbara has made no attempt to capitalize on the Miss America title. Although she averages about four personal appearances weekly, these are generally connected with charity. She has signed no advertising endorsements.

Education the Goal

Why did she enter the contest? Only for the $5,000 scholarship fund. That award may be employed for any educational purpose. Last month she used some of the money to buy a piano to help with her music studies. She also will take graduate study in French and English through the fund.

Despite the many trips she's called on to make — fashion shows, carnivals(charity balls — she manages to keep pace with college classes at Memphis State here.

Taking books on the trips helps and she explains, "I got ahead (through summer courses.) Now it's easy."

Currently Barbara had a schedule calling for nine hours weekly study. The busy beauty finds time, for sorority work and roles in dramatic productions. Her interest in the stage goes no further.

She plans to teach school after she's graduated this spring. Later she'd like to become that "successful doctor's wife." He's John Hummel, of Charleston, Mo., who recently completed medical school at the University of Tennessee here.

Picton

Judge W.S. Lane Elected Pres. Community Centre

Picton—"I have always felt that the establishment of the Community Centre Commission is one of the best things that has happened in this town," declared Judge W. S. Lane, following his election as president of the Commission yesterday. "During my five years as acting Crown Attorney, I saw the necessity of keeping the children and the youth occupied in the way of wholesome sport. During the past two or three years there has been an attempt made to better the condition of Prince Edward County. The County Council saw fit to establish at considerable expense a juvenile court. Town Council established a Community Centre with a paid director. These steps were taken to get rid of juvenile deliquency. Frankly, the plan has succeeded, and credit must go largely to the Community Centre."

"For five years while I was acting Crown Attorney, we had a great deal of trouble with children, not serious trouble, but trouble which might lead to future difficulties of a more serious nature. Following the setting up of the Community Centre, juvenile deliquency has almost disappeared here," the Judge declared.

Judge McLean stated that he looked forward to seeing the Centre develop teams which will compete favorably on an equal footing outside of the county in such sports as baseball and hockey at least. "I look forward to that as an important by-product of the Community Centre undertaking which will mean dollars income to this areas," he said.

L. B. Calnan was re-elected as secretary and Gordon Oder as treasurer. The commission is composed of representatives of all local organizations, churches and town council.

Recreation director Reg. Fox reported hockey, boxing, wrestling, handicraft classes, tap dancing, basketball as among activities under way. The centre is bringing the Maple Leaf hockey stars, Wally Stanowski and Jim Thomson to Picton on February 11. They will address the Collegiate pupils in the afternoon and will speak at a banquet before going to the arena to referee games between Picton and Kingston teams.

"Extinct" Tree Found in China

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 6 — (AP) — Seeds of a tree — believed extinct for 100,000,000 years — have arrived at Harvard's Arnold Arboretum and soon will be shipped to botanical gardens in the United States and England.

Up to two years ago the metasequoi, a type of fire tree, was known only from fossil remains. The first living specimen was found in February, 1946, by Chinese explorers in a remote valley of central China.

The seeds were obtained later by an Arboretum expedition which located 100 more metasequoias, described as more than 100 feet high with 7½-foot trunks. Although cone - bearing the tree loses its leaves in winter.

Dr. E. D. Merrill, Arnold professor of botany at Harvard, said today that the seeds, resembling rolled, dried corn kernels, may not germinate in this climate.

To find the best growing conditions for the age-old tree, he is sending seeds to the following gardens and institutions:

University of California, Berkeley, Calif.; Seattle, Wash., Arboretum; University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Duke University, Durham, N. C.; Park Department, Los Angeles, Calif.; Huntingdon Arboretum, Pasadena, Calif.; Morton Arboretum, Chicago; Fairchild Tropical Gardens, California Grove, Fla.; Golden Gate Park, San Francisco; The Royal Horticultural Society, London, and Royal Botanical Gardens, Kew, England.

Lions Club Stages Best Minstrel Show Seen in Village

Bancroft — (Special) — One of the best Minstrel Shows to be staged in Bancroft was presented in the Community Hall, Wednesday evening, by the Bancroft Lions Club, the show being under the supervision of Rev. C. S. Wright, a recent addition to the club membership. Over twenty-five personnel were connected with the show and all were dressed in various costumes from dress suits to comic arrangements, and with blackened faces they presented an amusing picture for the audience. Prior to the show opening, the audience was entertained with piano solos, duets and piano and violin old time numbers. As the curtain rose for the opening number the entire chorus was on stage singing two numbers "Oh Dem Golden Slippers" and "The Dark Town Strutters Ball," which second chorus was sung by the trio, Jack Gordon, Ed. Alexander and Leo Flaglar.

Following the singing Mike Burns and Jack Follis appeared on stage in a short dialogue involving a few local citizens which skit proved to be quite amusing. The next act was an exhibition of tap dancing by Miss Donna Turner, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turner of Bancroft. Donna proved to be a hit with the crowd and tapped out a variety of steps. She was accompanied at the piano by her teacher, Miss Barbara Diment of Belleville. The next act was a step dance act put on by two sisters and a brother in the persons of Miss Ethel Sears, Mrs. Etta McCormick and Bud Sears. These artists appeared separately and for an encore danced as a trio. The accompanying music was rendered by Ellis Mather and Reg Blatherwick. The Old Darky Quartette then made its appearance to sing three numbers. Bert Ellerbeck, Jack Gordon, Ed Alexander and Barney Fortin sang "Sweet Adeline," "Down by the Old Mill Stream," "My Wild Irish Rose."

Highlight of Evening

The next act was one of the highlights of the evening's performance when Miss Barbara Diment of Belleville came on stage to give an outstanding exhibition of tap dancing. She was accompanied at the piano by Reg. Blatherwick and introducing the act Miss Diment sang, and lightly tapped "I'll Dance at Your Wedding," and then tapped the next two choruses. Although the applause to this number was tremendous, Miss Diment only appeared on stage for a second bow without doing a repeat number at this time. When the curtain again went up the audience was given an eyeful as all watched how the Minuet, Strauss Waltz and the Polka were danced. This arrangement was carried out by Jack Field and Jim Brown, Whitney Martin and Don Russell, Jim Brown and Jack Gordon respectively. The chorus came on stage singing "Swanee Riber" and "Old Black Joe." A ten-minute intermission was then announced so that the performers could catch up on their breath.

All in Miniature

The chorus appeared on stage for the second part of the show singing a good lively number entitled "Oh Susanna" which was followed by a short quiz number. Mike Burns was master of ceremonies for this number and after appointing a five-man board of experts from the chorus presented them with the questions as drawn by five contestants from the audience but after declaring the experts "as the dumbest experts he had ever met" the contestants were awarded their prizes which consisted of a grand piano, refrigerator, washing machine, china cabinet and floor lamp (all in miniature of course.) The next performance was another tap dance number by Miss Diment who performed very gracefully to a musical arrangement, as played by Reg. Blatherwick, of Dinah and Stardust. One more the quartette appeared and sang three numbers, "In the Evening by the Moonlight," "Shine on Harvest Moon" and "I Want a Girl." A short dialogue was introduced, with Bill Morrison and Don Russell taking part. Their number was quite amusing having involved Don Wilson and Cecil McAlpine as prey of their act.

Miss Donna Turner appeared for a repeat tap dance number accompanied at the piano by Miss Barbara Diment. A reminiscing scene was then introduced with the chorus singing the well known number "There's a Long, Long Trail" after which Bert Ellerbeck sang a solo entitled "My Buddy." The final chorus of the evening's performance contributed "My Old Kentucky Home," "John Brown's Body" and "Good Night Ladies." At this time Rev. Clarence Wright thanked all those who attended the show and then introduced those who had participated as follows: Rev. Clarence Wright, Jack Brown, Cecil McAlpine, Cecil Wiggins, Stanley Walker, Jack Follis, Leo Flaglar, Ed Alexander, George Calbeck, Bert Ellerbeck, Ellis Mather, Reginald Wiggins, Theodore Tryon, Reg. Blatherwick, Jim Brown, Jack Gordon, Barney Fortin, Mike Burns, Hugh Loucks, Wm. T. Hopper, Miss Barbara Diment, Miss Donna Turner, Miss Ethel Sears, Mrs. Etta McCormick, Bud Sears, Clarence Marston, Don Russell, Don Wilson, Don Field, Whitney Martin, Margaret Kellar and Bill Morrison.

In the afternoon two of the cast in the persons of Jack Follis and Cecil Wiggins, installed a P. A. system on their car to advertise the show around town, and also drove to Maynooth and did their advertising there. A repeat performance was staged on Thursday evening when the cast again played to a full house. Jack Brown and Cecil McAlpine were responsible for the special lighting and signalling devices.

"The election was carried out on a principal of considerable significance because the French Canadians of my town have stood by an agreement which dates back to 1928."

It was decided then, he said that the mayoralty would be occupied by a French-Canadian during two consecutive mandates while the third would be accorded to a representative of the English minority.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge rules are trained to jog along to their best destination. Every so often however, one of them kicks over the traces. Then you must know how to extricate the quadruped from the vehicle.

There are 12 high cards in a pack. The theory is that these 12 high cards will take 12 tricks at no-trump. There is a 13th trick to be taken. It must be by some smaller card.

If your pair has nine high cards, you should take nine no-trump tricks. Opponents with three high cards should take three tricks at no-trump. Your pair or theirs will take the 13th trick.

Even if your pair has only eight high cards, you have most of them. They are most likely to develop the 13th trick. And if your pair has only seven high cards, an unusual play must be your hope.

The boys ran into this deal:

NORTH

Their bidding went like this:

South	North
1 D	2 C
2 NT	3 NT

A takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round. Responder is expected to have two high cards. Thus, the north two club bid forced south to bid again and did not promise more than two no-trump tricks.

South has no more takeouts and no assist for clubs. He must not pass. All he has left is a bid of two no-trump. Being forced to bid, he is there without any more high cards than his opening said.

Each additional high card entitles a player to make one more voluntary no-trump bid. Thus, north has one no-trump raise. He does it with a bid of three no-trump.

Game is thus reached with only seven high cards. West led a heart. It takes a wise play to make it. Sound reasoning does it.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

This question is often heatedly debated in Hollywood, particularly now that the 1947 awards are not far off. I have asked a number of performers for their opinions and nearly all had positive beliefs on the topic. This Hollywood forum is now open—

Dick Powell—"Too much credit goes to top-budget, star-studded films. There's no excuse for not creating a good picture when a couple or three million bucks is spent on it. The academy should consider low-budget pictures which turn out to be good."

Joan Bennett—"It might be fairer to split up the awards more and give them for such things as the best musical and the best comedy. But that would detract from the impressiveness of the dramatic picture winner."

Not to the Deserving

Ronald Reagan—"Awards don't go to the most deserving work. The academy membership falls for the tremendous publicity buildups studios give their contenders. Sometimes there are secret agreements and block voting. I think an impartial board, made up of a cross-section of the industry, might give fairer decisions."

Lionel Barrymore—"I most emphatically believe the present system is the best possible. Who could be better qualified to choose the industry's best work than professional actors and technical people?

Most academy choices represent the considered judgment of the most competent authorities—the movie makers themselves."

Alexis Smith—"Too often awards go to performers who just missed a Oscar the previous year. Even though they turned in a lesser acting job the next year, they get the Oscar as a consolation prize.

Not Capable

Jack Carson—"I don't believe the academy membership is capable of the best critical judgment. Fairer awards could be made by a group like the New York critics circle, professional critics aloof from studio pressure."

Fredric March—"The present academy system is the best possible method, as far as the Pulitzer or Nobel awards. Deciding the best picture is not too difficult. By naming the best performance is trading on shaky ground. Acting should not be competitive."

Canada and Czechoslovakia Play Scoreless Tie While Poland Drubbed 14-0 by Swiss

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 6—(CP)—Canada's chances of winning the hockey tournament played in conjunction with the Olympic Winter games grew today as the R.C.A.F. Flyers held the crack Czechoslovak squad to a scoreless draw.

The unbeaten Swiss team meanwhile took over undisputed first place in the standings with a 14-0 defeat of Poland but the new leaders have yet to play Canada and Szechoslovakia — rated the toughest teams in the tournament.

The Swiss victory, in a game not previously scheduled for today, gave Switzerland 12 points for six straight victories, Canada and Czechoslovakia each have 11 points for five victories and today's tie.

Switzerland tackles the Czechs tomorrow and Canada on Sunday in the round - robin competition. The Flyers tomorrow meet Austria in what should be an easy contest for the Canadian squad and the Czechs should not be extended in their game Sunday against the United States.

Could End in Tie

Switzerland can win the tournament with victories against Canada and Czechoslovakia but if Canada and Czechoslovakia both win, these two teams would end in a tie for the leadership with the goal quotient tellin tghe -S the goal quotient telling the tale.

A split by Switzerland would send either the Canadians or the Czechs to final victory.

Today's games left the Flyers still tops in the goal average department. If the tournament ends in a tie the victor will be the team with the highest quotient of goals scored over goals against.

Canada with 54 goals scored compared with five against, has the best goal average in the tournament to date. Today's victory gave the Swiss a 66-11 average while the Czechs have 69 for 14.

Coach Mike Buckna of the Czechs said after today's game: "It's real playoff hockey." Jaroslav Drobny, Czech winger and Davis Cup star, said: "I'm afraid Canada will now win because they have a better goal average."

The three top teams are the only ones left in competition for the tournament crown. The 12-3 trouncing handed out by the Flyers yesterday knocked the United States Amateur Hockey Association team out of the running.

The A.H.A. team defeated Austria 13-2 today to boost their total to eight, still three behind Canada and Czechoslovakia. It was Austria's sixth defeat in seven starts.

Comparison Given

Comparison of the three leaders is given by their record against the Polish squad which Switzerland defeated 14-0 today. Canada registered a 15-0 shutout against Poland earlier and Czechoslovakia took a 13-1 triumph.

Against the trailing Italian team Canada fattened her goal average with a 21-1 victory. The Czechs defeated the Italians 22-3 and Switzerland shut them out 16-0.

More even were the scores against Sweden. Canada won 3-1 on the opening day, Czechoslovakia later defeated the Swedes 6-3 and Switzerland downed them 8-3.

But how the three leaders would fare in their weekend clashes was still anybody's guess, with the tournament winner the answer.

In a second division game today Sweden defeated Great Britain 4-3 to gain victory No. 2 against four defeats. Britain now has the same average.

Today's Canada - Czech game opened slowly with both teams playing close-checking hockey, but play speeded up near the end of the period.

The first Canadian line of Halder, Schroeter and Lecompte burst in close to fire three hard shots at the Czech cage but goalie Bohumil Modry turned them aside.

Missed One Chance

The Flyers' real scoring chance came in mid-session when George Mara, one of the main offensive threats of the Canadian squad, grabbed a loose puck five yards out and blasted a sizzling shot which Modry just managed to deflect. The Canadians kept up the pressure and at times the Czechs seemed bewildered. But they held on until the whistle.

Entering the final period, the European team went all out for the tie-breaker. Drobny fired one from the blue line which almost eluded Dowey. In the resulting scramble, the Czechs had four close-in shots but Dowey and the Flyers' defencemen, packing the goal crease, held them out.

The Canadians then resumed the pressure with Mara and Patsy Guzzo getting close. At the 15-minute mark Mara drew a penalty and the Czechs sent up five forwards, But Frank Dunster and Andre Laperriere were airtight on defence and the Czechs could not get a clear shot.

When Mara returned, the Canadians turned on the heat again and were pressing hard at the final whistle.

It was Dowey's third shutout in six tournament games and he and the other Canadian players were given a big hand by the crowd which repeatedly chanted "Canada' as the Flyers bored in.

The lineups:

Canada — goal, Dowey; defence, Dunster, Laperriere; centre, Halder; wings, Renaud, Schroeter; subs, Mara, Hibbard, Guzzo, Gravelle, Lecompte.

Czechoslovakia — goal, Modry; defence, O. Zabrodsky, Slama; centre, V. Zabrodsky; wings, Trojak, Konopasek; subs, Stovik, Pokorny, Drobny, Rozinak, Stibor.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Seems as though the Kingston Saints couldn't stand hockey prosperity in their home bailiwick Wednesday night without the game being marred by an untoward incident. It appears that B. Goodfellow, Saints' player, with but scant minutes to go and his team out in front by a three - goal margin, went a bit berserk and crowned Crowley, Peterboro Legion forward, neatly and effectively over the noggin with his war club.

• • •

According to Referee 'Speedy' St. Louis' report, "it was one of the worst incidents I have ever seen in hockey. Goodfellow claimed he was cross - checked at the blue-line. This was untrue. He was checked and he deliberately turned and using his stick like an axe struck Crowley over the head."

• • •

St. Louis clamped a match-misconduct penalty on Goodfellow, but admitted late that he should have given the player a match penalty. A full report of the incident was forwarded to the O.H.A. by officials and by the Peterborough Legion club.

• • •

The game developed into a rough, bruising affair in the third period with St. Louis dishing out eight penalties four to each team, including the match-misconduct to Goodfellow. Thirteen penalties all told featured the game.

• • •

If the above reports of the incident are true, it calls for all-out action on the part of the O.H.A. Goodfellow or any other player for that matter, if guilty of the offence as charged should feel the full weight of the disciplinary hand of the governing body.

• • •

It appears from the scriverings of the gentlemen who write sports in the Port Hope Guide and the Cobourg World, that a certain gentleman by the name of Speedy St. Louis, is about as welcome in their respective villages in a hockey referee's capacity, as the well-known striped kitty at the equally well - known garden party.

• • •

The Port Hope Ontarios, according to the newspaper platter waxed in Port Hope and recorded again on the Cobourg machine, finished on the wrong end of a 5-4 score against Cobourg, and they blame the defeat on the officials. Quoting the report via the Port Hope Guide, "Port Hope held their own in every department nicely but could not cope with the poor refereeing and the wooden mummified actions of the so-called linesman."

• • •

The Guide writer further charges that the winning goal was scored with the Cobourg player being offside at least "three feet". We have seen St. Louis referee on many occasions and he has erred at times. After all the guy is only human, but we are not of the opinion that he is so totally blind as to miss a pass three feet offside.

• • •

The Cobourg scribe too, has not much love for a certain arbiter by the name of Crombie. It seems that a local Cobourg hero of the ice lanes years ago celebrated his return to the hockey wars by pushing the referee around and thereby got a well - deserved match misconduct penalty. According to the Cobourg writer "Freeman, (the player) gave the arbiter a gentle shove just to remind him he was not the only mortal on the globe, an idea Crombie has been nourishing ever since he went up town with the carriage trade (whatever that is) by getting an OHA listing. Mr. Crombie, true to his well-natured self-importance, took a very dim view of Jumpin' Joe's (the player, that is) activities and from then on Joe took a view of the game from the sidelines.

• • •

So it appears that if you look like, act like, and in any way resemble a hockey referee, you had better give the lakeshore town a wide berth.

It has been suggested that a school of instruction for officials be held here or in the district in the near future, with the boss-men instructors being a number of the rink - side referees and - next - morning breakfast table linesmen. The greater number of these armchair King Clancys, could demonstrate their theories by going out there and tooting the official flute in a regulation game. If they piccolo a game on the ice as expertly as they shriek it from the safety of the rinkside, then then will be no dearth of officials in the future. As a preliminary course to the main one, the "instructors" should be made to study the rule books, so they could at least have a working knowledge of what they are talking about.

• • •

The Port Hope Ontarios play here next Tuesday night when they meet the Trenton RCAF Flyers in an Intermediate "A" tilt in Memorial Arena. While we are not readily acquainted with the standing in the group, we understand, the game is a crucial one as far as both teams are concerned with the Flyers in third slot and the Hopers in the cellar position.

• • •

Tomorrow night should see one of the hockey classics of the season here when the fast-skating Kingston Vics open their three-of-five game Junior "B" playoff series with our Belleville Rockets.

• • •

The last time the teams clashed here, they did so in the literal sense of the word. There were fist fights, free-for-alls and a near riot at the end of the game which saw spectators mingle with the battling gladiators of the ice. According to Kingston headlines, the "Belleville spectators swarmed on the ice and attacked the Kingston players". The fact was that the Kingston kids carried chips as big as logs on their shoulders from the start, and invited whatever happened.

• • •

However that is water under the bridge and no such high jinks are anticipated tomorrow night. But the game will be a hard-fought rugged affair as the Rockets will go all out to cop the victory nod in the all-important first game of the series. The second game is scheduled for Kingston on Monday night next, and the third a week from that date.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 6. (AP)—Although Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore's Relic, winner of two good races in Florida so far this season, looks like one of the year's outstanding three-year-old race horses, Samuel D. Riddle won't concede that the colt is tops. . . Riddle, owner of Relic's sire, War Relic, insists that his own colt, Faraway, is the best of War Relic's first crop of offspring. . . Toronto's Ted Atkinson, who rode Relic to an easy triumph in the Bahamas handicap Wednesday, has a simple explanation of success at Hialeah: "Fast horses and a hard-working agent". . .Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champ, and Ted Williams, heavyweight hitter, have become buddies because of their common interest in fishing.

Hard Words

Ray Dumont, president and gag man of the National Baseball Congress, cooked up a stunt for his speech at the Sporting Goods Dealers Convention here the other day by planting a small army of stooges in the audience. . . Every few minutes a fake wire would arrive ordering large numbers of the Congress year book or a guy would gallop up to get Ray's autograph. . . Finally one of the stooges presented Dumont a huge trophy saying: "This is presented for your great promotional ability. Softball has really benefited." . . . All Ray needed was his patented home plate duster to blow him right out of the joint.

Busiest guy doing nothing around town the last few days has been Pacific Coast League President Pants Rowland. Besides conferring with various major league bigwigs, Pants was seen in a huddle with Publicist Buck O'Neill, former president of the Baseball Writers Association. Could that mean the Coast League is starting a publicity campaign to back its bid for major status? . . . Former heavyweight Add Warren, one of Gene Tunney's sparring partners back in 1938, is campaigning for more pay for school teachers. . . Warren, now a teacher and coach of all sports at a rural school in North Carolina, figures he and his colleagues have enough to do without dodging bill collectors.

Chicago Hawks Swamp Canadiens By 7 to 2 Score

By HARRY ECCLES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Those Chicago Black Hawks are getting to be an awful nuisance to other National Hockey League clubs concentrating on playoffs and prizes. The Chicago Hawks are well and truly in the cellar but they just won't roll over and play dead.

The Hawks, long the doormats of the other five teams, acquired a new coach at the start of the year in big Charlie Conacher, former Toronto Maple Leaf star. Since then the Hawks have played 16 games, and they've won 6 tied two, and lost eight.

The resurgence of the Hawks reached a new high last night when they walloped the Montreal Canadiens 7-2 right in the Montreal Forum. It not only spoiled the Canadiens cherished dream of taking over fourth-place — Canadiens are still tied with Boston for that last play-off spot —but it must have set coach Dick Irvin and the Canadiens bosses to adjusting their spectacles for rearward as well as forward views. Because the Hawks now are just seven points behind Montreal and Boston.

The Canadiens had been doing pretty well of late but last night they were behind the eight-ball all th way. The Chicago forwards were rushing and checking all the time, the Chicago defence was working like a clock and young Emile Francis from Regina was a big league star in every sense in the Chicago nets.

Francis however, had to handle only 15 saves, plus the two he lost, while veteran Bill Durnan in the Canadien goal stopped 28 drives besides the seven that got by.

Roy Conacher scored three of the Hawk goals and Gaye Stewart got two. Bud Poile and Doug Bentley scored the others. Joe Carveth and rookie Norm Dussault got the Canadien counters that clears the decks for the weekend melee, but only four games are carded this week. The Detroit Red Wings, leading the league by three points over Toronto, play at Montreal Saturday and entertain Boston Sunday. Leafs take on the New York Rangers Saturday night at Toronto, and Sunday the Rangers are at Chicago.

GEN. STUELPNAGEL

Found in Cell

Agence France - Presse said Stuelpnagel was found in his cell shortly after midnight, hanged with strips of bedding. It said fruitless efforts were made to revive him.

Born in Berlin in 1878, Stuelpnagel was Commander-in-Chief of German troops in occupied France from October 25, 1940, until June, 1942. He also was military commander of greater paris.

He was accused of ordering the execution of 22 hostages in August, 1941, after a German officer was killed in the Paris subway, and 50 hostages at another time, after disturbances at Bordeaux and Nantes.

Military authorities at Reuilly barracks said he had tried to kill himself once before, after he first was questioned in France.

On Aug. 1, 1944, the French Committee of National Liberation said in Algiers that Stuelpnagel had committed suicide in France after failure of a generals' plot to assassinate Hitler with a bomb.

A week before, Berlin radio had said that French "terrorists" had wounded Stuelpnaged severely.

DELIVERANCE FROM THE SKIES FOR LABRADOR VILLAGERS

Team-work of the R.C.A.F. and ATC planes has staved off hunger and disease among inhabitants of the fishing village of Makkovik in Labrador. Here some youngsters and adults prepare to open the parcel of food and medicine dropped to them from the plane which had come from Goose Bay. A fire had destroyed most of the village and taken much of its food with it. Food deliveries from the air will continue until summer and melting of ice in the rivers.

TORONTO MAYOR

Premier Drew also said that in urging Mayor Saunders two days ago to accept the post "I impressed upon him the fact that in this position he would have an opportunity for public service of the utmost importance to the people of every part of Ontario, at a time when the activities of this great organization will be expanding on a scale and at a speed never approached before."

Premier Drew noted that Hydro's current five-year expansion program calls for development of 1,100,000 additional horsepower from projects now under construction at a cost of nearly $300,000,000.

Will Be Enlarged

Others members of the Hydro Commission at present are Hon. George Challies, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Grenville-Dundas, and Ross Strike of Bowmanville. The Commission is to be enlarged later to nine members including representatives of Labor, Agriculture, Northern Ontario, the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and a woman to represent the housewives of the province.

Mayor Saunders said: "I accepted the position because I believe I can render a public service to the entire population of Ontario in this position. While I shall serve the people of the province as a whole, I shall continue to take a great interest in my native city of Toronto."

He has already won wide recognition among municipal administrators throughout the province and across the Dominion. He is president of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves and in 1945 he was president of the Canadian Association of Mayors and Municipalities. He has taken a leading part in both associations.

Mr. Saunders was born in Toronto, his ancestors being United Empire Loyalists who settled here in 1791. He sold newspapers on street corners during his school days and delivered papers to pay his way through law school. He graduated in law in 1927 and in a career in criminal law was defence counsel in five murder trials that resulted in five acquittals. He entered civic politics in 1935. He has a wife and 14-year-old daughter.

HOUSE ADJOURNS

Decision to adjourn the debate until next week resulted from a disagreement between Mr. King and opposition party leaders.

Mr. King recalled that Solon Low, Social Credit leader, had said earlier the House rules were violated yesterday when the House did not go on with the scheduled Throne Speech debate, which is being debated Thursdays and Fridays, and said he was ready to follow any order suggested by the opposition.

When John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, expressed preference for a resumption of the Throne debate, Mr. King said that would be today's order of business.

"It is my view," he said tartly, "that we ought to have one opposition and one government instead of three opposition groups each with its own view on different things that come up."

Mr. Ilsley said evidence produced by the committee might possibly lead to action being taken by the combines commission and the Prices Board and might even bring about legislative steps by the government on the prices question.

Against Subsidies

He noted there had been some suggestion that the opposition would boycott the committee because they felt it lacked sufficient power and said these were "exactly the tactics" adopted by Soviet Russia in the United Nations General Assembly.

Of subsidy proposals, they were useful as a wartime measure but he expressed the hope Canada would not become entangled in them in peace.

Mr. Croll said the government's policy of non-interference with business and of building up a huge surplus in the Federal Treasury was of little importance compared with the health of the Canadian people when they did not have the money for an adequate standard of living.

There would be no end to rising prices if controls were not reimposed and subsidies used where necessary.

Mr. Bertrand called for tax reduction, urging cuts in income taxes, postal rates and indirect levies applying to soft drinks and tobacco and the removal of the eight-per-cent sales tax on necessities of life. At the same time, family allowances and old age pensions might be increased.

He said that while it was true the government needed money to make ends meet it was equally true that taxpayers needed money to meet their obligations and the higher cost of living.

Mr. Fleming said the rise of 21.3 points in the official cost-of-living index during the last year constituted nothing more than "sabotage" on the part of the government because the advance was linked with the administration's policies.

Claims Govt. Out of Touch

Mr. Rowe said he wondered whether Canada had made commitments at the Geneva trade conference which would "fashion" the country's subsidy policy, and suggested it may be that the government was restricting the powers of the committee because it did not want the subsidy question discussed.

Mr. Probe said there was an "over-whelming" feeling among the people, who were finding that they had to use more and more of their dollars to get less and less of essential commodities, that the establishment of a committee would do nothing to reduce prices.

Mr. Probe said Mr. King in completing an illustrious political career would be "flaunting the will of the people" if he did not act now to solve the cost-of-living problem.

Mr. Ross contended the government was forcing the farmers to subsidize the rest of Canada and the United Kingdom throughout its system of fixed and depressed prices for farm products.

Mr. Hansell protested against the establishment of a committee whose sole function would be to "protect" government policy, and said he wondered how the committee could determine facts any easier or faster than the able men already in the government's service.

Mr. Nicholson said he, too, doubted the value of the committee and urged that members of the Cabinet get out among the people to learn what they really wanted. They apparently were out of touch with the people on the cost-of-living issue.

A new lease on life ...
At one time the Prong-horned Antelope ranged from Alberta to Mexico in numbers comparable with those of the Bison. But over-hunting threatened the survival of the "Prong Horns" until vast sanctuaries were established for their protection in Alberta and Manitoba. In these refuges their numbers increased and they have since spread into Saskatchewan—a tribute to far-sighted conservation authorities, showing how effective conservational measures can be in preserving a species from extinction. To promote public understanding of the need for conservation, interesting authoritative literature and full-colour reprints of our wildlife pictures, without advertising, are available free by writing to The Carling Conservation Club, Waterloo, Ontario.
On the other hand, protection was not established in time to save the Cuban Tricolour Macaw from fading into oblivion. It was hunted mainly for food and became extinct around 1864.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 10.

We'll he'd learned his lesson! He'd go to Lake Ingus, but so far as Velma Wilkins was concerned, she wouldn't exist for him. Bravely he told himself he'd show her that she hadn't succeeded in making a fool out of one man!

The first day at Lake Ingus it rained, making a dismal place of the camp, which Velma must wait until later to explore. From her bedroom window, she watched the lightning zigzag across the water, her jangled nerves sensitive to the angry bang of thunder in the heavens. The rain at last settled into a steady downpour. Now and then a thin beam of sunshine made beaded chains from clouds to lake, breathtakingly beautiful.

Downstairs, logs were laid in the big stone fireplaces at either end of the long living room. All the buildings of this camp were artistic, and this room was particularly attractive.

A radio was going full blast, Louise tuning in orchestra after orchestra so that she could continue to dance with Ralph Benner, stockily built, thirty-five-year old eligible bachelor of Carryville. Maude was out in the amusement building playing squash with Claire Johnson, a pretty divorcee, and Jerry Trimming and his wife, Irene.

Other guests were expected tomorrow and gaiety was threatening to blast forth in full swing. Velma, however, was thinking only of Saturday, and concerned about greeting Tom Orville. She crept into bed early that first night to escape a bridge foursome. In her present state of mind, it would be impossible to concentrate on the game.

For long hours, she lay wide awake. Even after the family and guests had all quieted down for the night, she shivered in the terrific silence, listening to the pounding of her own heart. She, Velma Wilkins, was being ignored, buffeted around, an experience she never had tolerated before. Especially had she not tolerated it from her social inferiors. She laughed aloud. What made such exalted social positions as she used to think she rated? "Simply money, my dear," she said to herself bitterly. "A King Midas farce!" There must be something else in the world worth accumulating, something that could bring blessed peace of mind. She wondered.

In the morning, the birds were floating about in the blue sky as though no storm had been abroad last night. But great crazily torn branches hung from century old pines and the still angry lake was churning a few whitecaps.

Amelia, a neat little maid, brought in a silver tray on which was a tempting breakfast of orange juice, crisp bacon, toast and coffee, but Velma waived it aside. She would take a dip in the lake before eating. Just now, she had no appetite. The pain around her heart would not fade away. She realized that she must accept it like an unwelcome shadow always accompanying her.

In a snug-fitting blue bathing suit, Velma's slim graceful figure was perfect. As her blue sandaled feet went across the sand beach, she gave out a supercharged current of vitality.

So said Jerry Trimming who joined her on the pier when she would have preferred to be alone. Jerry, she knew, was another philander whose company wouldn't put desirable embellishments on her reputation at the present time. Now she was forced to accept his challenge for a race out to the raft. Velma was an excellent swimmer and won by a full length.

Claire Johnson's speckled brown eyes flashed as she joined them. "Claire's morning date with Jerry is being utterly ruined," thought the amused Velma. She took pity on her family by pleading hunger, and ran back to breakfast alone in the sand by a small dune.

Amelia set a low stand before her from which she served breakfast. Velma gave it an appreciative glance and began eating ravenously. The early sun was pleasantly warm on her bare back. She relaxed almost contentedly as she spread golden butter on nicely browned toast.

"Thank you, Amelia," she said brightly. "That will be all."

She watched the plump little figure going toward the house and thought, "I'll have to give her a tip—she's sweet." Then she scowled, remembering the emptiness of her purse.

Her mind rushed back into that other problem. It was foolish to care about Tom Orville's opinion of her, she concluded. There were so many men in the world. Certainly, there must be more than one about whom she could care desperately. But she had met so many men, all her life she had met them, and never known one quite like Tom. She couldn't shake off this conviction. She called herself everything unpleasant she could think of, and still the conviction remained. Oh, well!

Without bothering to change from her bathing suit, Velma was soon wandering about the wooded estate, discovering the many amusements provided for guests in this perfectly appointed summer camp. One could golf, swim, play polo, squash, tennis, skeet shoot, ride a horse, dance, and flirt with any number of fascinating male guests.

This was similiar setting to her summers in the old days, only her father's estates had been more elaborately appointed and now, instead of being the purveyor of all this to her friends, she was merely social secretary to the woman who was. She prayed that she would not forget her present status and become dictatorial or slightly caustic. That sort of disposition would be decidely improper in a perfect secretary.

She was sauntering back to the main house when a blithe young man came toward her whistling. "Good-morning!" he offered his round florid face beaming as he paused before her. "I'm Pell—Clarence, for short. I suppose you're one of the fun-chasers. I summer on the neighboring place, am an only child of doting parents. You'll find a diagnosis of my species in the best child-rearing books." He laughed merrily.

Velma caught his intoxicating exuberance. "Perfect!" she flung back." And you still throw fits of temper and stomp your foot—but given a lollypop, you subside into charm."

"Righto!" He began singing in an off-key high voice, "O—h, I'm in love with the da—y! The lady fair, heigho, la—da!"

Velma pictured him in ten years slightly bald, showing a decided pouch, and still singing faulty tenor, but she liked him.

Maude, in riding habit, suddenly appeared out of the nowhere. If her glance could have annihilated, Velma would have been dispensed with on the spot. She linked a possessive arm through Clarence's and drawled silkily, "You're the very man I've been expecting! I'll have another horse saddled and we'll see if the old trails are in good form this season. Anyway, we can't waste the time of mother's secretary—she's always—so busy."

Clarence Pell, walking away with Maude, threw Velma a comradely grin over his shoulder. "I'll be seeing you—Miss Secretary!" he called out jovially.

Velma threw him a swift smile, then her face lengthened. She went to her room in a disturbed state of mind. If only Marie had letters to write this morning! But she had told Velma to have a good time for a few days, after which they must plan a bizarre party to startle the summer crowd at Lake Ingus.

For a long time, Velma sat in her room, dreading to dress and go out to encounter the irritating small world hemming her in this place. The door to her room was ajar. She heard Louise and Maude usual.

"It's none of our business why I think so! "Maude sputtered. "I don't see why in heck mother needs a social secretary! It's a scream!"

"Too bad to have her cutting in on your boy friend, darling," flung back Louise cuttingly. "You should be more clever."

"Oh, you make me tired! You think your the last word! I seem to remember a lot of times when you—"

Their voices were lost down the hall.

Velma abruptly decided that this new position of hers was impossible. She would go to Marie immediately and tell her so.

On second thought, Velma decided not to act too impulsively. If she rushed away from Lake Ingus now, she would be leaving Tom Orville to Louise, and Tom might prove quite as susceptible as any man in a romantic setting. No, she would remain here until she had proved beyond a doubt that Tom no longer held a vestige of affection for her.

Marie presently came bursting into Velma's dressing room.

"It's such a heavenly day, dear. Why don't you go for a ride? Take Doopie, my pet mare. She's very clever—five-gaited— you'll love her."

Velma instantly brightened. She had ridden since childhood and was as much at home on the back of a horse as any cowgirl. "I'd adore it, Marie! But why not come with me?"

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was eating her grapefruit diet this morning, saying to pop, I was listening to a debate on the radio about the high cost of living, William.

Did you hear anything? pop said, and ma said, Well, one of the speekers was a well known millionair. I forget his name, but he's the president of the Universal Fixture Corporation, she said.

Oh, Simon V. Hatteras, pop said, and ma said, Yes, that's the name. Anyway, he had quite a sensible solution. He said if everybody bawt nothing but the cheep cuts of meat, prices would come tumbling down like hotcakes. So I thought I'd try it out today. I thought I'd buy a nice piece of good old fashion shin, and we'll have barley soop and then we'll eat the soop meat, she said.

It sounds good to me, and the cheeper it is the better it sounds, pop said.

And tonight when he came home he said to ma, I'm hungry, leed me to that barley soop and soop meat.

There's been a little change, ma said. The butcher calmly expected me to pay 48 cents a pound for old fashion shin, and when I asked him if that was his definition of a cheep cut, he replied with a careless shrug that he didn't sell definitions, so I gathered up my dignity and flounced off to another butcher, only to learn that his shin was 49 cents and his chuck was 53 and his lamb shoulder was fifty four. But he had some lovely porterhouse steak that had just dropped from 97 cents a pound to ninety two, so I thought it would be more economical to buy the best meat at a bargain than cheep meat at excessive prices, so we're having steak tonight, and Simon V. Hatteras the president of the Universal Fixtures Corporation mite as well know for his own future reference that there is no sutch thing as cheep cuts, she said.

That's the ferst thing I'll tell him if I'm ever interdcued to him, pop said.

Being the end of the subject.

BRINGS TO CANADA

The Olympic bauble had been Barbara Ann's most cherished ambition almost from the time she first donned skates at the age of seven. Since then she has become an international celebrity, winning amateur title after title, but she had no chance to take the Olympic title until this year.

Will Defend Title

Even then, it appeared for a while that her bid for the Olympic crown might be frustrated. The school figures were postponed Tuesday and again Wednesday because of soft ice, raising the possibility that the competition might be cancelled. But brisker weather followed Thursday, enabling the contestants to continue.

Miss Merrill, United States champion and one of Barbara Ann's closest rivals earlier in their careers, took the ice 15 minutes after the Canadian girl but fell twice.

Barbara Ann's next goal will be to defend the world championship which she won for the first time last winter at Stockholm. The world competition will be held in mid-February.

After her performance Barbara Ann re-appeared on the ice arm in arm with Galbraith and went through a routine for photographers. The eyes of the 5,000 spectators turned on this sideshow even as the next 11 competitors continued the free skating.

"I'm so happy, this is what Barbara Ann has been working for for so long," Mrs. Scott said later.

Not Thinking About Marriage

Barbara Ann then joined the conversation. Asked about marriage prospects, she admitted "I haven't even thought about it."

"I practice eight hours a day and as you can see I haven't much time."

Then she turned with a grin to Jimmy Grogan United States figure skater, and chuckled "I'm waiting for him." But she hastened to remind reporters:

"You'd better put this in. Jimmy is 16."

Munching chocolate given her by an admirer, Barbara Ann said the ice was "very soft."

"I've never been so tired in my life. It's a combination of high altitude and mushy ice."

Galbraith was enthusiastic.

"Brother, it's wonderful!" he shouted.

Runs Interference

The free skating phase of the competition opened at 2:45 p.m. local time.

Miss Scott held a 16-point advantage over her nearest competitor when the five judges gave her 858.1 points to 842.1 for Jeannette Altwegg of Britain Suzanne Morrow of Toronto was 10th in the field of 25 and Marilyn Ruth Take 13th.

The Ottawa beauty devoted the morning to practising for the final tests.

Brilliant sunshine poured down on Olympic Stadium and a huge crowd watched the 25 competitors in their multi-colored, shiny sequinned costumes.

Thanks to the round metal disc floating in the centre of his water trough, at Meadville, Pa., this horse has the laugh on old man winter, the disc is a floating water heater to assure farm animals of a drink despite the cold. The de-icer contains a 500-watt heating element and gives off just enough heat to keep a large area of the trough clear of ice. Thermostatically controlled, the heater shuts off when the heat is no longer required. Cost of operation is said to be less than five cents a day.

Nehru Protests Pakistan Seizure Indian Territory

Indian Govt. May Have To Consider Other Action

New Delhi, Feb. 7 —(AP)— Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru told parliament today Pakistan armed police have seized 42 square miles of Indian territory in Assam.

India has protested by telegram he said, and warned that "the India government may have to consider other action" if the police are not withdrawn.

Nehru said the invading force took over Jan. 26. Subsequently India sent her first warning note. Last Monday she sent another. She had received no reply to either.

He declared that of "many border incidents between India and Pakistan," this was the first major one.

Assam lies northwest of Burma and north of the eastern section of Moslem Pakistan, which is divided into two parts by Hindu-led India.

Nomadic tribesmen from western Pakistan raided Jaisalner, India, the third week in January, killed 31 persons and burned 150 houses, Nehru said. The place is about 265 miles northeast of Karachi, Pakistan's capital.

"Our information showed they were neither Pakistan soldiers nor even residents of Pakistan's border areas," he said. "They were part of the tribals who are roaming through western Pakistan and whom Pakistan can not easily control nor is capable of controlling."

He did not specify from where they came. But he said that regardless of their origin, Pakistan is responsible for raids across her border. He told the legislators strong representations had been made.

India and Pakistan, British Dominions dating from last Aug. 15, have been arguing before the United Nations Security Council lately over the northern Princely State of Kashmir. Tribal raiders and Indian troops have been fighting there since last October.

MAYORS TO PRESS FOR RENEWAL OF CONFERENCES

Decide to Go to Ottawa if Appointment Can be Arranged With Govt.

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP) — The executive of the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association has decided to go to Ottawa, if an appointment can be arranged with the Federal Government, to press for renewal of conferences between representatives of the Dominion and of the provinces. The last conference was held in 1946.

The decision was reached yesterday at a meeting of the Association executive following a meeting with Premier Drew and his cabinet. Mr. Drew told the group that provincial grants to schools this year amount to approximately $32,000,000, as compared with $28,775,000 last year.

Mr. Drew and his ministers retired before Mayor Gordon Rife of Guelph moved that a resolution be sent to Ottawa urging the federal government to reconvene the conference so that the problem of taxation, particularly as it affects social services, could be ironed out. He amended it to read that the executive should submit its petition in person after Reeve Ann Shipley of Kirkland Lake commented that a resolution was not worth the paper on which it was written.

Earlier Premier Drew told the Association executive that if the federal government does not reconvene the conference, his government will establish a committee to consider the entire problem of taxation.

"If by the time our (legislative) session opens March 3 we've had no indication that the Dominion government is prepared to meet us. I think we had better carry on some examination along this line without waiting any longer."

Canadian Pair In Third Place

St. Moritz, Feb. 7 (AP) — The world's champion figure skating couple, Micheline Lannoy and Pierre Baugniet of Belgium, won the Olympic figure skating pair championship today on the basis of unofficial scoring.

The score sheet put the Canadian pair, Suzanne Morrow and Wallace Distelmeyer, of Toronto, in third place.

Second was the Hungarian couple, Andrea Kekesy and Ede Kiraly.

In fourth place were Winnifred and Dennis Silverthorne, of Britain, followed by the United States two tandems — Yvonne Sherman and Robert Swenning, of New York, and in sixth place, Carol and Peter Kennedy, of Seattle.

The competition was staged in a snowstorm and on ice scuffed by a hockey game.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 7 —(CP)— High clouds spreading rapidly over Southern Ontario indicates the advance of a disturbance, presently over Kansas, which will move eastward to the Atlantic seaboard by Sunday afternoon. Snow associated with this storm is expected to reach the Windsor area this morning and to spread over Southern Ontario during the day. The outbreak of polar air which has moved south to cover the Prairies, will continue slowly into Northern Ontario today, and southward to include Southern Ontario Sunday. Temperatures which have slowly moderated during the past two days will fall again in the polar air, resuming the below normal trend of the past month.

3 Wounded Men Face Charges After Gun Battle

New York, Feb. 7 (AP) — Charges of assault and robbery were filed against three wounded men today following a blazing gun battle between police and hold-up men last night in a Manhattan liquor store.

One of the men, booked as Jas. Noble, 17, was in critical condition with bullet wounds of the back and arms. Police identified his companions as Alfred De Villacian, 24, and Patsy Gianbattista, 20.

Police related this version of the shooting.

Detective Robert Feeney and Patrolman Joseph Fay saw the three enter a liquor store operated by Pat Reda who was alone in the shop. One of them pulled a pistol.

The gunman, identified by police as Noble, opened fire on the officers as they darted into the store. They returned the fire, Noble and De Villacian fell. Their companion, though wounded, remained on his feet but surrendered immediately.

The officers and Reda escaped injury.

Plane Breaks Away From RCAF Man, Flies 70 Miles Without a Pilot

Oshawa, Feb. 7 (CP) — Here's the "Gen" on the ghost plane that flew 70 miles, as the crow flies, from Beaverton, Lake Simcoe, to crash-land at Grafton, a hamlet about 40 miles east of here—minus a pilot.

As Pilot Stan Fraser, of the Ontario County Flying Club says: "It's all so strange I can hardly believe it happened."

Yesterday, he and Merle Mackle flew from Oshawa to Beaverton in a two-seater Aeronca to bring back a Cub plane abandoned a week ago because it froze up during a fishing trip.

"We got the Cub's engine started," said Fraser, "and Mackle was in it. I swung the prop on my machine. Soon as I did, it shot ahead."

"I ducked," said the amazed pilot, "and jumped on the tail, but the plane gave a little flip and threw me off."

The airborne craft, equipped with skis, "zoomed off the lake," he said.

"It made a beautiful take-off. The controls were set for a perfect landing. It circled slowly .. and went into a climb."

Meanwhile, 1,000 villagers of Beaverton craned their necks to follow the phantom plane.

Late last night, Farmer C. H. Gillespie of Grafton, reported:

"Yep, it's here. We saw the plane circling around. It looked as if it were trying to land.

"Nothing seemed wrong.

"After a few circles it sort of headed straight out and then it dropped into the bush. We could hear the crash."

Pilot Fraser said:

"This is a silly thing to happen to an RCAF instructor — that's what I was."

MEMBER CLAIMS LABRADOR OWNED BY QUEBEC PROV.

St. Laurent Declares Govt. Bound by Ruling

Ottawa, Feb. 6 (CP) —Labrador, the great bleak territory shouldering out from Canada's northeastern coast, was drawn into the Commons Throne Speech debate yesterday with the contention of a Quebec member that it legally belongs to Quebec province.

The claim was made by Frederic Dorion (Ind.—Charlevoix — Saguenay) who argued that a 1927 privy council judgment which was taken as granting the territory to Newfoundland was nothing more than a report on a badly-drafted and incomplete reference submitted to it by the Federal government.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent agreed that both the governments of the Dominion and the province were disappointed at the privy council but said the Dominion, nonetheless, felt it was bound by the ruling.

The brief, two-man debate on Labrador featured a diversified Throne Speech discussion which also touched on housing, Veterans pensions and the rising cost of living.

Calls For Increase

Gen. Pearkes and Mr. Diefenbaker joined in criticizing government policy on Veterans pensions.

Mr. Diefenbaker called for increases in the pensions and allowances of veterans and their widows to help them meet higher living costs and urged also a boost in pensions of retired low wage earners of the Canadian National Railways.

Gen. Pearkes agreed that the pension increases announced before Christmas were inadequate and urged that the government take steps to make them payable now rather than wait until the enabling legislation is passed by the House. Once approved, the increases will be retroactive to last Oct. 1.

He suggested too, that Imperial Veterans of the First World War in Canada be granted pensions.

Meanwhile, it was learned outside the Commons that the government within the next two weeks will place before the chamber legislation which will go beyond the bounds of the increases announced Dec. 5.

FLYING BOAT SCATTERS CORN FOR MIGRATING BIRDS

Salem, Mass., Feb. 7 (AP)—A United States coast guard flying boat undertook a new type of mercy mission yesterday.

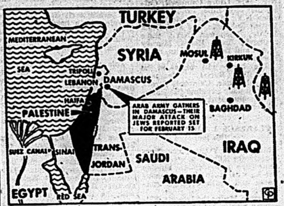
The craft scattered 300 pounds of corn over Cape Cod to feed hungry migratory birds.

Intense cold has frozen most of the inlets and coves where the birds usually forage food.

CHILD SEVERELY BURNED

Picton, Ont., Feb. 7 — (CP) — After rubbing herself with lye, 18-months-old Caroline Angelotti of this Prince Edward County community near Belleville is in hospital today with severe burns on her face and body. The child is recovering.

WHERE ARABS MASS FOR BATTLE



Described by their leaders as the "Middle East's finest army," truckloads of armed Arabs are rolling into Damascus, Syria, (indicated on map). According to wire reports, February 15 may be the date for their attack. Haj Amin al Jews. The exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin al Hussein, is now in Damascus meeting with the Arab higher executive. Fawzi Bey al Kaukji, leader of the Arab forces, said: "We are organizing for an all-out fight for Palestine."

Canada's Trading Deficit With US Totals $918,700,000

Ottawa, Feb. 7 (CP) — The government's dollar-saving trade restrictions produced a $33,000,000 drop in United States imports into Canada during December as the country ended 1947 with a trading deficit of $918,700,000 with its southern neighbor, it was shown in official statistics released today.

Trade Minister Howe reported that the December totals showed a $33,000,000 decline in United States imports from November and a $5,000,000 drop from December, 1946. This, coupled with a $13,000,000 increase in exports, left the December adverse trading balance with the United States at $34,000,000 against $80,000,000 in November and $60,000,000 in December, 1946.

But even with the reduced monthly total of $34,000,000 the adverse balance, which indicates the amount by which Canada is short of United States dollars in purchases from that country, shut up to the all-time peak of $918,700,000 for the whole of 1947, compared with $496,700,000 for 1946.

Imports from all countries during December totalled $194,200,000, down $35,000,000 from November.

Commenting on the totals, Mr. Howe said that while the December figures showed the trade restrictions, imposed Nov. 17, were taking effect, it would be "unwise" to assume that imports could be maintained at that level throughout 1948.

"A certain amount of abnormal stockpiling of imports undoubtedly took place in October and November, which would account in part for a natural slowing down in the general movements of imports subsequent to the imposition of restrictions.

"It should also be noted that December imports normally tend to be lower than those of the preceding two months, and this seasonal factor may have contributed to the decline."

Mr. Howe's statement in effect, supplemented one made recently in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott in which he reported that Canada's United States dollar reserves continued to decline until mid-December, when they began to swell as a result of reduced imports.

Legislation Sought to Curb Wife-Dodging Husbands

Winnipeg, Feb. 7 (CP) —Manitoba is hopeful all Canadian provinces eventually will fall in line with legislation designed to curb the "skip away" activities of wife-dodging husbands where maintenance is concerned, Attorney-General J. O. McLenaghen disclosed today.

The attorney-general recalled in an interview that Manitoba had passed a Maintenance Act in April, 1946, and that samilar legislation now is on the books in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. He added that it had been with a two-fold intention that Manitoba had taken its step:

1. To assist women who had married Canadians, possibly servicemen, and who had been deserted overseas;

2. Because it was hoped that other Canadian legislatures would take similar action and thus reduce the difficulties which arose in prosecuting the husband who left a wife and took up residence in another province.

Mr. McLenaghen said a claim for non-support could be filed in Manitoba and, if justifiable, could be served in a province which had the all-covering legislation. Evidence could be forwarded to the courts if the second province and the action tried. If the husband was found guilty and had assets, he could be compelled to support his wife.

The attorney-general said that "under former conditions, when maintenance orders acts did not exist, a claim filed in Manitoba on a husband living in another province could be acted upon only after the husband had been subpoenaed and returned to Manitoba." He added that this was "expensive and caused a lot of bother."

"Usually, the most that could be exacted under the Criminal Code was a jail sentence to the husband which produced little monetary satisfaction for the wife," he said.

FORMER FIRE CHIEF DIES

Napanee, Feb. 7 —(CP)— C. Wesley Conway, 83, former Napanee fire chief, died early today at his home after a brief illness. He was employed at the Gibbard Furniture Company for 49 years.

Automobile Assoc. Opposes Long Dresses

Philadelphia, Feb 7 (AP) — The American Automobile Association is the latest group to oppose the longer hemlines for women.

Lower your hemline, cautions Burton W. Marsh, safety director for the Auto Club, and you lower your chances of survival as a pedestrian.

The reason "is that feminine legs, clad in light-colored stockings, catch the car driver's eye, particularly at night."

But "the 'new look' becomes a hazard to nighttime driver, especially if the long skirts are made of dark material. He doesn't have the same chance of noticing the pedestrian in time to avoid an accident."

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE

Valleyfield, Que., Feb. 7 (CP) —James Scott, 36, of Cornwall, Ont., yesterday was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the drowning of three Cornwall residents in 1943.

The three died when their rowboat capsized and the Crown claimed that Scott had caused the accident by circling the small craft with his yacht and rocking the rowboat with high waves.

Those killed were Louis Miron, Noe Mondoux and James Gallagher, all of Cornwall. The accident occurred on August 12th., 1943, at Hopkins Point, Quebec, across Lake St. Francis, from Cornwall.

There were seven persons in the rowboat when it capsized while Scott had three companions in his yacht.

THREE PERSONS INJURED

Brantford, Feb. 7 (CP)—Three Toronto residents are in hospital here today with serious injuries resulting from an accident last night when the automobile in which they were riding ran into the back of a moving van near here on No. 5 highway. The three, Ray Cooper, Alan Fitzpatrick and A. Wilson, have possible skull fractures and first reports said two of them had broken legs.

DEVALERA LOSES PARTY MAJORITY IN PARLIAMENT

Fiana Fail Wins 66 Out of 147 Seats

By ROBERT HEWETT

Dublin, Feb. 7 — (AP)—Eamon De Valera, Eire's prime minister for years, has lost his party majority in parliament but is expected to keep his job just the same.

His Fiana Fail (government party) won only 66 of the 147 seats in the new dail (parliament) in last Wednesday's general election, complete returns showed today.

The combined opposition, including parties that had sought a coalition government, won 76. The remaining five seats will be filled next Tuesday in a postponed election in Carlow and Kilkenny counties.

The new dail meets Feb. 18 to elect a prime minister. Opponents and supporters agree De Valera stands a good chance of re-election by pulling the votes of some independent and national labor party deputies. He needs 77 votes to win. Independents have 12, National Labor four.

The Irish Independent, Dublin newspaper, said he would make a strong try for parliamentary control, even if only temporary so that he could call another election before long. He did that in 1944 after squeaking through to re-election the previous year.

De Valera, who is 65 and was born in New York, would not comment on the election returns.

Finished Fourth

The Clann Na Poblachta (Republican party), making its first campaign with support of Irish Republican army veterans, finished fourth in the dail with 10 deputies. That party forced the general election by winning two by-elections.

Gen. Richard Mulcahy's Fine Gael (United Ireland party), main opposition, wound up second in dail and popular strength. Mulcahy, De Valera and MacBride all were returned to parliament by their constituencies.

The following table shows how many first preference votes and parliamentary seats the parties got in the election and (in parentheses) how many seats they had in the old dail dissolved last fall:

Fianna Fail	534,759	66	(77)
Fine Gael	249,220	29	(28)
Clann Na Poblachta	170,436	10	(2)
Labor	110,535	14	(8)
Clann Na Talmhan (Farmer)	70,062	7	(11)
National Labor ..	28,777	4	(4)
Independents	1,176,949	142	(138)

(Five seats still to be filled.)

ASKS RUSSIAN SOLDIERS TO GUARD SECRETS AS IN WAR

London, Feb. 7 (AP)—Russia last night asked Red army soldiers to guard undisclosed military secrets now just as they would in a war. Soviet commentator Yuriev directed a broadcast heard here both to soldiers and youths who are liable to military service. He said that "even under threat of death," the soldier must keep military secrets "sacred and inviolate."

Canada's Olympic Team Needs One Game For Title

Flyers Defeat Austria 12-0 In Swirling Snowstorm

St. Moritz, Feb. 7. (CP)— With goaltender Murray Dowey recording his fourth shutout in seven games, Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers defeated Austria 12-0 today in a swirling snowstorm. A victory in the final day of the tournament tomorrow would give Canada the Olympic Hockey championship.

The Canadians, with six victories and a tie in seven starts, moved into a first-place tie with Czechoslovakia, who defeated Switzerland 7-1 in a morning game.

If the Flyers win against Switzerland tomorrow and Czechoslovakia defeats the United States, as the form indicates, Czechoslovakia and Canada would be tied for first place with 15 points.

But under the rules of the International Ice Hockey Federation, the championship in event of a tie for first place goes to the team with the highest quotient of goals scored over goals against.

Czechoslovakia's totals are 76 goals for 15 against.

Wally Halder and George Mara again were the scoring stars of a clean game with four goals apiece, while Reg Schroeter notched three and Ab Renaud one.

Halder High Scorer

Halder also had three assists, giving him the edge in point-getting over all other Flyers. The former University of Toronto star now has 20 goals and eight assists for 28 points, three more than Mara who has accumulated 17 goals and eight assists.

Schroeter is next high man among the Flyers for seven games with 11 goals and four assists.

Dowey's four shutouts included a 0-0 tie against Czechoslovakia, a 15-0 victory over Poland and a 3-0 triumph over Britain.

The blonde youngster from Toronto might have had a fifth shutout except for a fluke goal scored against him in the third period of Canada's 21-1 victory over Italy last Tuesday. The goal came when Italian player shot the puck from behind the net and it bounced in off Dowey's skate.

Officially Recognized.

Today's games were the first of the tournament to be played with the official recognition of the Olympic heads. Hockey was relegated to unofficial status just before the opening of the fifth winter games after a controversy over the United States entry.

The United States Amateur Hockey Association team had been recognized as the official United States entry by the Swiss organizing committee and over the protests of the United States Olympic Committee, which sent across its own team.

The United States committee contended the A.H.A. was "commercially tainted."

The ruling, announced last night, means that the winner of the hockey tournament will be recognized as the Olympic champion and points will be awarded other top finishers—with the exception of the United States team.

George Dudley, of Midland, Ontario, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, who is here for the games, commented.

"So far as I am concerned that matter stands where it was. The world would still consider this tournament an Olympic one, whether or not the International Olympic Committee approved it."

Has Little Chance.

The United States team, already twice beaten, apparently has little chance of bettering its present fourth-place position.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented the top three finishers in the hockey tournament.

In an out-of-the-money contest today, Sweden followed the lead of several other teams and defeated Italy 23-0.

The A.H.A. team today edged Britain 4-3 to gain their fifth victory against two defeats, and drew to within one point of Canada's total before the Flyers-Austria game. The United States was conceded little chance, however, because of their tough game with the rolling Czech team tomorrow.

Britain now has two victories against five defeats.

FIVE U.S. AIRMEN PERISH IN FIERY CRASH OF PLANE

Craft Strikes Side of Roundtop Mountain in Arkansas

Jasper, Ark., Feb. 7 —(AP)— Five armed forces personnel perished in the fiery crash of their plane last night in this Ozark Mountain country — the second such mishap in Arkansas within three months.

The plane, a B-25 Mitchell, from Wright Field, O., struck the side of Roundtop Mountain, two miles south of this isolated village, and burst into flames.

(At Dayton, O., Wright Field authorities said the plane left there yesterday with five men aboard — one of them believed to be a navy "hitch-hiker" — and that all five were dead.)

Parts of two bodies had been recovered at last reports.

Oil Companies Making Offers For Golf Property

Edmonton, Feb. 7 (CP) — It won't be derricks rather than divots for members of Edmonton Golf and Country Club—certainly not without the authority of a special meeting of shareholders.

Until now, the 420 acre club, scene of the Albert open tournament last year, has confined itself to golf. But oil companies have made several offers for the mineral rights to the property; they believe the fairways, greens and roughs possible top oil-bearing devonian limestone.

So the club's board of directors met last night before the annual meetings was held. And it was decided that while the board was empowered to continue negotiations with the oil firms, it was to make no deal without authority of the shareholders.

Movie Stunt Man's 265-Foot Plunge Off Golden Gate Bridge Costs His Life

San Francisco, Feb. 7. (AP) —A leap from the Golden Gate Bridge was the biggest jump in the barnstorming life of Hollywood stunt man Alfred (Dusty) Rhodes—and the last.

Clad in life jackets and football padding, and with three small parachutes attached, the Indian daredevil died in the 265-foot plunge yesterday.

His wife, Lorraine, 25, mother of two, watched the death leap, and a Hollywood cameraman, Jose Guzman, who was to have made the plunge pay off for Rhodes, recorded it in pictures.

A veteran of many movie cliff leaps, gun and knife fights, the 35-year-old stunt man yesterday was driven in a car onto the bridge with his jumping equipment.

"For about 150 feet he fell upright as he intended," Mrs. Rhodes said. "Then his body started to curve. He struck the water with his face. I saw him hit like a bullet.

"I saw the head bob to the surface and his body start to drift out to sea."

Rhodes had told his Hollywood publicity agent that the Golden Gate Bridge leap would be "the biggest jump in my life".

The body was recovered half an hour after the jump. A preliminary autopsy showed drowning caused his death.

Auditors named for the Belleville Agricultural Society for 1948 are Harry Knott and Clinton Townsend who were re-elected to the position which they held last year. Following the annual meeting of the fair board some days ago it was reported that Mr. Knott and Glencoe Thompson had been appointed as auditors.

WARMER WEATHER WELCOME RELIEF

After sixteen consecutive days of zero weather during the latter part of January and early February, it was a welcome relief which the weatherman granted on Friday night.

With a steady dose of cold weather in which the thermometer ranged down to 23 below zero, the mercury last night failed by ten points to drop to the zero point giving local residents a welcomed respite from frigid temperatures.

The prolonged cold snap is one of the longest in recent years, the only other period within the recollection of local weather statisticians is back in 1934 when over a 29-day period there were 23 days of zero weather. It was not remembered, however, if there were 23 consecutive days of zero weather.

Stephens Adamson Holds Company Turkey Dinner

Approximately 135 company officials and male employees of the Stephens-Adamson Mfg. Company of Canada convened at the Hotel Quinte Friday evening where on the occasion of the annual company party they enjoyed a turkey dinner, and heard brief addresses from executive officers.

Master of ceremonies for the evening's program was James Young, co-manager of the firm Toronto office, while brief speeches were heard from U. A. Freeman, president and general manager of the Belleville plant; A. E. May, assistant general manager, Ralph Smith, superintendent and E. H. Walters, Toronto office manager

Mr. Freeman reviewed plant activities during the past year and expressed his appreciation of the co-operation received from the various departments as well as from the various shop unions. Although there was a possibility of a general business recession during the coming year, Mr. Freeman assured that the local plant would be working at capacity throughout the year.

An impromptu orchestra composed of plant personnel provided musical entertainment during the evening while Gerald Delong, McColl Frontenac representative, showed pictures of oil drilling operations.

Saturday Market

With the return of milder weather the local outdoor market was better attended Saturday morning than for the past several weeks. Apple vendors and farmers selling pork and beef by the quarter were out in fairly good numbers.

Top grade McIntosh, Delicious and Spys sold at $3 the hamper with McIntosh selling down to $2.50, Talman Sweets brought $2.75 per bushel and Baxters $2.

On the inside market eggs held at previous quotations of 45 cents the dozen for firsts; medium brought 42 and pullets 40 cents the dozen.

Fowl appeared a bit stronger with several vendors quoting up to 50 cents per lb., for Spring chicken. Mature fowl sold down to 40 cents.

Very few vegetables were offered with carrots bringing 50 cents the basket and turnips five and ten cents each. Potatoes sold at $2.75 per bag.

Pork by the quarter was plentiful selling at 30 to 32 cents for fronts and 35 to 37 for hinds. Heads were 50 cents. Beef hinds sold at 30 cents the pound.

$500,000 Damage By Fire, Explosions

Philadelphia, Feb. 7 (AP)—A fuel oil, chemical and gasoline depot at the Globe Solvent Company was rocked by a series of explosions followed by fire last night. Damage was estimated at more than $500,000.

The blaze—fed by the oil and high octane gasoline — burned with intense heat that set fire to a hose line and fire engine. More thain 50 pieces of apparatus and nearly 300 firemen fought the flames for more than four hours before bringing them under control.

Evacuated from 40 houses near the scene were some 250 people.

Barbara Ann's List of Triumphs

This is how Barbara Ann Scott climbed the ladder to reach the Olympic crown, her dream ever since she was a little girl on the Minto rink:

At six she began to learn to skate at first on double runners;

At nine she stole the show as a "Raindrop" in the 1938 Minto Follies;

At ten she won the Canadian junior championship and the Canadian gold medal, the youngest gold medalist in the world;

At 12 she was the youngest competitor in the Canadian senior championships and placed second;

At 15, in 1944, she won the Canadian senior championship which she successfully defended in 1945. (Last year she did not compete in the Canadian championships which were held while she was in Europe for the European and World competitions.)

At 16, in 1945, she won the North American championship which she captured again last Winter in Ottawa;

At 18 in 1947, she won the European championship at Davos and the World championship at Stockholm;

At 19, January 15 of this year she successfully defended her European title at Prague;

Yesterday she won the Olympic crown at St. Morits and achieved her long-sought goal.

Diefenbaker May Become Defence Lawyer in Case

Ottawa, Feb. 7 (CP) — Harold Dingman, Ottawa editor of New Liberty magazine, said here last night that he "would welcome" having John Diefenbaker enter the Edmonton conspiracy-to-libel case as a defence lawyer. Mr. Diefenbaker is Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, and a lawyer.

"He is the logical man to defend this case as press freedom," said Mr. Dingman, who is charged along with Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of the magazine, and Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa welfare worker, by the Alberta government, as result of an article Mr. Dingman wrote in New Liberty criticising child welfare in Alberta.

Last week Mr. Diefenbaker offered his services free of charge on the grounds that Alberta's action violated a fundamental freedom of the press.

Wants to Get Back On Right Track

Toronto, Feb. 7 (CP)—Six days after he pencilled a moustache on his lip and with a toy pistol held up a local theatre, 19-year-old Patrick Gates came back to Toronto to confess.

He was minus the moustache and the $87 as he surrendered to a midtown traffic policeman, a short distance from the scene of the crime. "I want to get this off my mind," Gates told the constable.

Right after the robbery, he said, he caught a train for Windsor, after washing off the moustache at Toronto's Union Station. He gave himself up, he said, in the hope of getting back on his right track. Charged with robbery, he told police he had no home.

$100,000 Fire In Truro, N.S.

Truro, N. S., Feb. 7 (CP)— A three-alarm fire in Truro's business district was brought under control early today after gutting an Inglis Street clothing store and damaging an adjoining building. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The fire started about 11.30 last night and spread rapidly through the three-storey structure. Flames from the roof ignited the adjoining building.

It was the fifth major fire in Truro this winter.

All firemen were called out to battle the blaze and used eight streams of water to bring it under control.

Dionne Quints Become Aunts

North Bay, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets from nearby Callander became aunts yesterday.

A seven-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dionne at St. Joseph's Hospital here—the first grandchild for the quintuplets' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne. Hospital officials said late last night both mother and daughter are "doing well."

The mother is the former Jeanette Guindon, daughter of Mrs. Burgess Guindon, of Hammond, Ont., near Ottawa, and the late Mr. Guindon. The quintuplets, 14 next May 28, were bridesmaids when their pipe-smoking elder brother married the former school teacher from nearby Corbeil last April 7.

Large Number Youthful Vagrants Plagues B.C. City

Vancouver, Feb. 7 (CP) — Civic and welfare officials, with painful memories of the jobless myriads that descended on this Pacific coast city in the "Grim 30's", today are becoming alarmed at the increasing influx here of youthful vagrants.

City welfare officials report they are becoming swamped with the arrival of youths each week from Eastern Canada and the Prairies seeking jobs on the warmer Pacific coast.

At a special meeting last night of the Homeless Men's Committee of the Community Chest, officials called on Vancouver citizens to provide homes for "hundreds" of unemployed youths roaming city streets.

Prominent welfare and church authorities have charged the plight of the vagrants is creating a breeding-place for crime.

TAKES DOUBLE-BARREL SHOT

Boston, Feb. 7 (AP)—Flying Parson Gil Dodds, who seems to have the stop watches at his mercy this indoor track season, will take a double-barrel shot at world records tonight in the Boston A. A.'s 59th meet at the Boston Garden.

Fresh after his record-smashing 4:05.3 mile of last week, Dodds will strive to not only improve that but also to erase the mark of 3:48.4 Glenn Cunningham set for the 1,500-metres 10 years ago.

Death Car Had Paying Fares To Wellman's Corners Prior To Fatal Crash at Foxboro

The death car in which Robert Gannon, local taxi driver, and Miss Hilda Beary, Dundas Street met death early last Christmas morning in a head on motor crash near Foxboro had been to Wellman's Corners with two paying fares prior to the fatal crash.

This was told to a coroner's jury Friday evening at the adjourned inquest looking into the deaths of the two persons. After 13 witnesses being heard the inquest was further adjourned by Coroner Dr. E. A. Carleton of Stirling to the evening of February 21st., 7.30 p.m.

Miss Loretta Ryan, 281 Ann Street, one of the witnesses called, stated that with her niece Miss June Dunham, she had been driven by Gannon from Belleville to her home at Wellman's Corners. Riding in the front seat with the driver were Miss Helen Munroe and Miss Hilda Beary.

Miss Ryan went on to tell the jury that she had intended to go to Wellman's on the Stirling bus but had not been in time. Then with her niece she had decided to hire a taxi to take her home for Christmas. She had paid Gannon $6 for the trip. They left Belleville at 12.15 a.m.

Saw Girls Take Drink

Questioned further by Assistant Crown Attorney S. Gordon Robertson, Miss Ryan told of seeing the two girls in the front seat take an "occasional" drink on the way out to Wellman's. After she got out of the car she had seen Gannon take a drink before starting the return trip to Belleville. The driver had made "good time" to Wellman's but she had not been upset because of excessive speed.

Dr. J. B. McKay, regional pathologist stated that Gannon had died as result of multiple fractures at the base of the skull, while Miss Beary had died as result of asphyxiation. It was later brought out that Miss Beary had been wearing a metal neck band which as result of the accident in some manner had been wrapped tight about her neck.

Checked in at Eleven

The pathologist stated that tests had shown alcoholic content in the blood of both Miss Beary and Gannon, while stomach contents had smelled strongly of alcohol.

Alvin Parkhurst, despatcher for Diamond Taxi the company which Gannon was driving for, stated that Gannon had last checked in at the office at 11 o'clock Christmas Eve. "There had been no authorized trip to Stirling," he said.

James Parkhurst, manager of Diamond Taxi, stated the car which Gannon had been driving did not belong to the taxi fleet but was a private car which was used when the firm was short of cars. "The car had not been licenced as a taxi," he said.

Alonzo Cain, 6th concession Sidney township, told of being awakened from sleep early Christmas morning by someone at his door who reported there had been a serious accident. Arriving at the scene of the accident he had seen the one car lying on its side in the south ditch. From this car he had assisted in rescuing Miss Helen Munroe who was taken to his home. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, Stirling, passengers of the other car had also been taken to his home.

No Skid Marks

Provincial Constable Sam Ervine who investigated the accident told of finding the Gannon car in the south ditch and the Vandervoort car straddling a fence in the north ditch. There had been no brake or skid marks on the highway prior to the point of impact. He had not been able to determine definitely who had been driving the taxi," he said.

Brush and gouge marks in the highway had been traced from the estimated point of impact to the Gannon car, but there had been no marks left by the Vandervoort auto.

Murray McIntosh, Belleville, told of driving from Stirling to Belleville on the morning in question. At the foot of the Oak Hills he had passed by a sedan going "60 to 65 miles" per hour.

Help to get Injured Out

About one mile further down the road he had been hailed down by a man who said there had been a serious accident. Asked if there was any similarity between the car which passed him and the taxi" involved in the accident, the witness replied "the only similarity was that both were sedans."

Mr. McIntosh told of helping to get the Munroe girl out of the taxi. They had pried open the door and had pulled Miss Munroe from her position in the front seat of the car with Gannon's body lying on top.

Other witnesses called included Percy Beary, brother of the dead girl, who had identified the body of his sister at the preliminary inquest; John Milneck, who had identified the body of Robt. Gannon; Dr. F.R. Ross; Don McKinney, manager of Martin Funeral Home and Lloyd Thompson, photographer who presented pictures taken at the scene of the crash.

Only 17 Out of 100 Women in West U. S. Single, Says Bureau

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP) — Don't go west, young man, if you're looking for single women.

The census bureau reported today that only 17 out of 100 women in the western United States are single. In contrast, 25 out of 100 are single in the northeastern states.

Among other findings of a bureau report:

Married men in general have a "higher educational and economic level" than other men, but single women had the "highest level of educational attainment for their sex in 1947."

MARILYN TAKE PRAISED

London, Feb. 7 (CP)—A Canadian skater drew most of the plaudits from The Times of London correspondent covering the winter Olympics. But it wasn't Barbara Ann Scott—it was Toronto's Marilyn Ruth Take.

"Marilyn Take of Canada ... treated us to one of the most delightful displays of free skating in any exhibition I have ever seen," the correspondent wrote. "It was a difficult program performed faultlessly, rhythmic and beautiful; it was, in a word, exquisite."

His only comment on Barbara Ann was: "Barbara Ann Scott of Canada skated very slowly."

Father on the Farm

He Liked Peace in All Church Affairs

By KENNETH C. CRAGG

Father stayed aloof, as much as mother would let him from church rows.

"Blamed women," he would confide in the confide to the horses as he curry-combed and brushed the dirt out of them, "you never know what they'll get a man into."

Father liked peace, particularly in church affairs. It seemed to him more fitting and he would rather back up than give cause for dispute in the congregation. He didn't think there was only one way of going to Heaven and always attended the anniversary services of other churches in the neighborhood, as a sign of good-will.

He drifted into church union without thinking much about it and was completely flabbergasted at mother's brother Jabez. Uncle Jabez probably hadn't darkened a church door, except for a hot fowl supper for upwards of fifteen years.

Jabez Joined Presbyterians

Then he got stirred up by the church union controversy and joined the Continuing Presbyterians and took up the collection each Sunday. Father said it was the funniest thing he had heard and mother torn between resentment at anybody laughing at her brother and being mad at him herself, didn't say anything.

Father paid what cash he could spare to the upkeep of the church and the minister's salary and once a year took a load of good mixed timothy and alsike to the parsonage for the minister's horse. He usually put a couple of bags of oats on top of the load "to keep her from blowing away." While some did, he never thought of asking credit for this in the church report and the minister and his wife never called or came to dinner without having a chicken stowed into the back of the buggy.

At pig-killing time a dinner of spare ribs and some of the loin always went to the parsonage. Father and mother were not alone in this and many chickens, bags of potatoes or apples and other gifts of food went to the minister's cellar in lieu of or in addition to salary money.

There was a kind of joke about it is the congregation for the daughter of one minister confided once she was quite a big girl before she knew what spare ribs were — not just the part that parishioners had to spare for the preacher's table.

Minister Came Unexpectedly

While the minister sometimes said ahead of time when he was going to call, mostly he dropped in unexpectedly. Once mother, who learned to cut the heads off chickens because it was easier to do it herself than to corral father to do it for her, had caught and killed a young rooster between the time the preacher's horse turned into the lane and when it pulled up at the side door.

Everything was stiff and formal during the call, with mother twittering about her food and father looking a mite uncomfortable in his second-best suit coat over his overalls trying to live up to the dignity of a pastoral call.

Conversation seldom attained what could be called a really easy level and father had a tendency to attempt words that were a bit too large for him. He had a special occasion blessing that no one ever quite made out because he ran together the words of the last sentence. He would always invite the minister to ask the blessing and it was considered a great honor if the minister asked for his instead.

The meal, more elaborate than the family got ordinarily, usually ended with prayers, every body kneeling at his place at the table. The minister always offered the prayers with father joining in the amen at the end. The prayers often included a reference to the young son of the house, who, all through the meal had spoken only when spoken to and such was his awe of the minister, had not aired a single opinion no matter how slight the subject.

Food for Gossips

Mother, and that meant father too, ranged herself on the side of the minister's wife who cut a door through the parsonage hallway with an axe. It was an event that shook the three-charge circuit and titivated every pre-union Presbyterial and every Roman Catholic in the two townships. Actually there is no saying how far the word went. It was not often that Dorothy, the day central at the telephone exchange, had so meaty a morsel.

A lot of people thought "Good for her," although there was a great deal of ill feeling inside the three churces, and mother guessed the minister's wife, poor thing, was probably remorseful after she had done it and cried on the minister's shoulder.

The parsonage was fairly typical built with the idea that preachers had big families and was as unhandy as if the carpenters had got confused part way through and said the hell with it. In spite of being big and hard to heat most of the essential rooms were cramped and the halls and waste spaces mother claimed, if put together would make a nice cottage for the minister to retire in.

Walter, who worked for us sometimes and was not an inhibited character, suggested a use for the parsonage that made mother red in the face and led her to call him an evil old man.

The main fault with the house was its attempt to be pretentious. The kitchen was large and unhandy and it was separated from the dning o- the dining room by another space too big to be a pantry and not big enough for a room. The telephone was in the hallway and couldn't be reached except by a wide circuit through the house.

Trustees Took Time

The minister appealed to the trustees to cut a simple door through to the hall, cutting the extra steps forced on his wife. That was in March. In April a carpenter was sent to report. In June the trustees hadn't come to a conclusion and were making representations to the parsonage committee of the Ladies' Aid.

One hot July day her husband was not at home. The baby was crying with new teeth and three tramps—they all think ministers can't turn them down—had eaten food they couldn't really afford to give away that week, and her feet were sore from running to the telephone. So she simply took the axe and knocked a hole through the wall.

They had a little meeting about it in father's church, a Sunday morning after the sermon. Mother didn't join in because it was not fit that a woman should speak out before men. But she had father primed. And she had already worked on the Ladies' Aid members with a we-women-must-stick-together line.

Mother believed in attack so father opened with a motion of non-confidence in the trustees and by the time the argument ended the trustees had agreed to pay for a door and frame and the matter ended. Except that some women thought that if the preacher's wife could get away with it, they could too, and during that summer and fall there were a number of house improvements on the circuit.

The Rug Campaign

Mother waged one of her better campaigns for a new rug for the parsonage parlor and lost to the vice-president of the Ladies' Aid. In the rug campaign which was carried on through the home aid and the societies in the two outside appointments, including the one in which mother was a member, few holds were barred and several women threatened to take their husbands to the Presbyterians.

The poor minister of the time was so agitated about the thing he wished he had never heard of a parlor rug, and in his mental turmoil at the next wedding he opened his book at the funeral service and began: "Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God," before he caught the agonized signal from his wife. The fact that the bridegroom was a widower with, as some said, his poor wife scarcely cold in her grave, made the incident a bit unfortunate.

Mother belonged to the faction which believed the rug should be ordered to fit the room, but in the end they bought a rug from the village store—too small and in colors that clashed with everything else in the parlor. The vice-president of the home aid was married to the storekeeper.

Mother always enpoyed a meeting of the Ladies' Aid. It allowed a person to catch up with the news of the area, and while the gossip traded around may have been slightly malicious it was not a patch on what went on over the party telephone lines.

While she let few things interfere with her conception of Christian duty, mother managed at the same time to keep a firm grasp on reality. She was adamant on Sunday morning swimming in the river as it interfered with church attendance and that was a serious thing because the neighboring boys were Presbyterians, whose service was held in the afternoon. A quick upset of the stomach, induced by swallowing a little chewing tobacco before breakfast often solved the church attendance problem, but could only be used infrequently.

Gifts to the Bride

Her realism had a brief fling the night of the kitchen shower for a freshly married couple, very earnest, very worthy, and very dull. The gifts were in a couple of wash tubs — the tubs were a thoughtful present from the trustees — and the groom, assisted by the minister, took them out and handed each one to the bride.

The minister helped considerably by making comments such as "Caesar was a great man, Napoleon was a great man, but here is a grater," holding up the utensil.

But it was hard going. The groom would pull out something and murmer: "God has been very good to us," and the bride would murmer: "Yes, very good."

Mother stood it through a wash board, brooms, a mop, a teakettle and a meat chopper. Then came a collander and mother got in before the groom:

"In case there might be any mistake about this," she said, "I paid sixty-five cents for it at White's Hardware."

The party went off better after that.

Safety Personal To Anita Blair, Blind Crusader

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

Chicago (AP) — A half-million people see Anita Blair in a year's time — but she doesn't see them.

This crusader against the carelessness that causes accidents is blind. She travels, alone except for her dog, from city to city to preach the gospel of safety.

People quickly shift their attention from her large, sightless eyes. They see a chic, willowy brunette of 25. They notice her poise, her verve. They hear — and they may be a bit startled at first — her free and easy laughter.

Miss Blair's message is serious. But her life isn't grim. It could have been, though, after what happened eight years ago near her home in El Paso, Texas.

"We were driving fast," she hurries through the story, "blinded by lights of an oncoming car. Head-on crash and..."

She lost her sight in the accident, but it opened her eyes to a new a different career. Somebody gave her a seeing-eye dog named Fawn. She earned a bachelor of arts degree at Texas College of Mines. She came to Chicago in November, 1945 with $250 and an idea.

"I've always been lousy with ideas," she quips with a laugh, "but thank heaven, they all haven't been lousy."

Early Obstacle

Her idea was to make an educational movie emphasizing pedestrian safety in traffic. She encountered difficulties as soon as she got off the train. The town was as tightly packed as a stuffed olive. There was no place to stay. Her return ticket to Texas seemed the only way out until a Chicago Tribune reporter ferreted out a room for her at the La Salle Hotel.

Herb Graffis, Chicago Times columnist and others helped her make arrangements for the motion picture, but the project almost had a flaming finale.

A night fire wooshed through the hotel. Miss Blair remembered her training in school fire drills. She methodically harnessed Fawn in her room in the 11th floor. They proceeded to an outside fire escape and descended to the street In the smoking building they left were 61 dead.

"Safety," she says, "is something that's personal."

It is up to each person, she explains, to learn and obey the simple rules of caution. For example: the place to cross a street is at a corner, yet "every day jaywalkers are killed."

Miss Blair rode trains around the country in 1947 showing her film and lecturing to children and adults. She addressed assemblies of students, appeared before civic clubs, took the platform at steel mills and other big plants, spoke before the experts at the National Safety Congress.

The industrial gatherings ranged up to 20,000 and, by adding up what sponsors of the meeting told her since she couldn't see for herself, she reckons the total of her audiences at "easily half a million."

Her future is written largely in railroad time tables. She has engagements in 15 cities in the first half of 1948.

People on her itinerary will see a memento of two recent busy weeks in Utica, N.Y. It's a lapel watch, the inscription:

"Presented to Anita Blair, outstanding woman of 1947, for work in community safety education by the Tri-County Safety Council of Utica N.Y."

Alliance Tabernacle Has Good Year

Progress in almost all divisions of the work was reported at the annual meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle held in the church, with their new pastor Rev. G. R. Gray in the chair.

The consolidated reports showed that the total income for the year was over $1,000 more than the previous year, giving a total amount for givings of over $7,500. Of this amount $2,176.97 was given for Foreign Missions. Interesting and detailed reports were given from the following departments of the church: Sunday School, Young People's Society, Ladies' Missionary Prayer Band, as well as the church treasurer's and secretary's report.

Extensive repairs were made to the parsonage before the present pastor came to Belleville from Truro, N.S. Two of the church young people are at present in the Alliance College at Regina, Sask., training for full time Christian service.

Officers were elected as follows: Treasurer, H. Vanderwater; financial secretary, D. Benn; secretary, K. Dixon; Missionary treasurer, Mrs. I. Fraser; Sunday School superintendent, G. Brown; President Y.P.S., Dorothea Atyeo. The official Board will be composed of the officers and Messrs. J. L. Atyeo, G. Millard, G. Brooker, A. Breach.

Definite objectives were set for the coming year, and it is anticipated that the coming year will be as successful as the past.

SCHOOL ENROLMENT DOWN

From 1929 to 1942, enrolment in Ontario day schools fell from 738,477 to 626,802 although financial support increased.

Barbara Ann's Victory

Barbara Ann Scott is the world's skating queen. She had taken the world honors last year at Stockholm. Recently she took the women's championship of Europe and has now achieved the dearest quest of her life, that of which she has dreamed and which has inspired her since she first put on skates at the age of seven years — the Olympic crown. The brilliance of her performance before the world in the past year is something which reflects glory on Canadian sport and brings unique distinction to this lovely girl, who with her unrivalled artistry on skates combines winsomeness of personality and beauty and grace which have added to her reputation. The gracefulness which she has acquired in skating and the manner in which she carries the high awards which have rightly come to her make her a champion of which her own country, Canada, and the world are proud.

Miss Scott has adorned her favorite sport with a style and grace which are the very essence of naturalness. Her lovely personality has reflected itself in all which she has achieved. In her triumph on skates she is truly regal by this naturalness and the beauty of her performance in all the trials in which she has entered.

Canadian boys and girls and adults too can look to the Canadian girl, who is foremost of all girls in the athletic realm and from her they should catch an inspiration for enterprise, courage, devotion to the ideal in the patience and thoroughness with which she went about the conquest of every competition which was open to her. In the grace of her performance and brilliance of her technique, which always reflects herself she can well be a model for the young as they grow up. The resolution with which she kept to her intention to go out for the Olympic crown from the time when she first realized her love for skating at the age of seven years is an example for the youth of Canada and other lands.

And she has done more by this victory. She has shown the world that she is a lovely young girl born in a young country where ideals abound. She has the true Canadian spirit.

Of her is has been said that she is a true ambassador of Canada, of the finest type, one who has drawn and will draw attention to this land of the Western World.

Then the honors which have come to her must please her as they have pleased the people of Canada and other lands. In this she has her own reward of true sportsmanship and attainment of grace in her performance. To attain such art and mastery is in fact an Olympic reward.

Canada and the rest of the world salute this gracious and winsome young artist who has had the highest goal and has reached the crown of high honor. It is to her fame as a skater that she has been from the start regarded as the one who should carry off the Olympic honors. At no time was her victory in doubt, though it looked for a few hours as if the weather might interfere with the Olympic plans. Fortunately the weather turned from mild to colder and gave Barbara Ann the opportunity to display her genius as an artist.

Regally she will wear the Olympic crown. On no one could it rest more graciously than on this charming nineteen-year-old Canadian girl.

Two Records in One Day

To establish a new record in flying is an attainment of which any airman may well be proud, for air honors are the quest of fliers. But to set out the same day a second time and try for a new record and achieve it is the honor which has fallen to Squadron Leader Bill Waterton, a Canadian. The trial was held in Gloucestershire, England, on Friday, and the pilot is the chief test pilot of the Gloster Aircraft Company of England.

On Friday morning he set up a new speed of 515.89 miles an hour and in the afternoon a speed of 542.9 miles an hour in a jet plane. He made the closed-circuit of 100 kilometres of the first run in seven minutes and 13 seconds and in the second test cut off 21 seconds and raised his rate of speed about 27 miles an hour.

Orville Wright, who died the other day, could never have dreamed in his pioneering days that such great speed could be attained as is reached today. His invention laid the groundwork for that development which has taken place in the past few decades.

Today records are made and soon are shattered. How fast planes will ultimately fly is something to be proven by experience. In this the world is interested very deeply.

Tired and Fatigued

When people are feeling tired, it is pointed out by Health Service that probably they have not been taking things easy enough. It says that the great majority of sufferers from chronic fatigue are free from any illness. So those who are feeling tired just need to watch their diversion and not do too many things outside working hours. On the other hand persistent tiredness is a signal to consult one's doctor but the chances are he will prescribe simply a slowdown in one's activities. "Relax" is advice which they should take to heart and they will feel the better for the lighter strain.

Winter's Drifts

Earth revolves on its axis and travels its path around the sun. Bodies of matter millions of miles distant wheel into line twice a year and the seasons follow each other with unvarying regularity. The uplift of Spring levels into the lushness of Summer. And when Nature's time of replenishment is fulfilled Autumn's banners proclaim the time of thanksgiving for another harvest. Winter is the period of low tension and in the land's frozen top layer roots and bulbs go through the mysterious and profound changes that ready them for the miracle of rebirth.

Winters follow a general pattern but once in a decade, once in a generation or once in a century the unpredictable forces of air currents, temperature and moisture combine to send snow of memorable depth. Then if the snow be light and the wind forceful there is a time of deep drifts. On cold, sunny days when the red line hovers near zero, snow swirls in circling, twisting lines over level meadows and sloping fields. Lines of dry loose particles whish back and forth on pasture hillsides and play in changing formations in the orchard.

Deep drifts grow deeper in the ravines by the woods and pile against the sides of barns, corncribs and houses. The heaps of snow fill the hollows at lower ends of mowings and make sculptured patterns above granite boulders and in field corners. Smoothly carved overhanging masses outline the banks of meadow creeks and northland rivers and form spaced windrows on pasture sides where the cow tracks have been worn into the soil. Deep drifts cause extra labor in man's taut order, but it is a time of poignant beauty on the countryside. — New York Times.

Martyrdom's Achievement

Unlike other prophets, Gandhi was not without honor in his own country during his lifetime. The sum of his achievements there is far from fully realized.

Yet he may have accomplished more in death than in life, as a Hindu speaker suggested the other day. The martyr often wins a stronger adherence to his teachings than the living saint.

For one thing, the people whom Gandhi taught may be fully awakened to the evil of fanatical hatred, which has recently claimed thousands of Indian lives besides his, and turn to his way of peace. — Montreal Herald.

There is an unfortunate disposition in man to attend much more to the faults of his companions that offend him than to their perfections which please him.—Greville.

The public school cadet winners in the signalling tests have been announced and Inspector H. J. Clarke is distributing the prizes which consist of a certificate and a bonus of $5.00 to each cadet. Queen Victoria School heads the list with nine winners as follows: Walter Armitage, Russell Gardner, Donald Holmes, Harry Morgan, Carl Morgan, William Robinson, Ted Saunders, Raymond Rowbotham, and Commander J. Royle. This is a good showing, nine entered and nine passed. Only three pupils in Queen Alexandria School, Ann Street, gained the honors, they are: Cooke, Munnings and Porritt. Queen Mary School had six winners: they are Sydney Samuels, Walter Crumlish, Joe Large, George Gaysley, Tom Helm and Horace Day. King George School winners are James Follwell, William Hall, Gilbert Barber, Nelson Fitzgerald and Philip Renous.

A much needed improvement is being made at the Belleville hospital; the ward formerly used for isolated cases is being renovated and prepared as a residence for nurses. No more isolated cases will be received at the hospital.

The flood situation here was by no means improved to day; in some cases it was worse. This was due to the sudden drop in temperature causing considerable anchor ice to form. During the forenoon the water raised on the lower part of Front Street, causing more residents to move to the upper parts of their houses. On the west side of the river known as the flats, the water raised this morning causing considerable inconvenience. The situation is serious.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

How did Sunset Cox get his nickname?

Samuel Sullivan Cox (1824-1889), politician and writer was called "Sunset" because of a florid description of a sunset that he for the Ohio Statesman, published at Columbus.

He became editor of that paper in 1853 when only 29 years old and on May 19 of the same year he published an article "A Great Old Sunset."

This article fastened upon its author a nickname that clung to him through his long and distinguished career as a member of Congress, first from Ohio and later from New York.

Following are parts of the "Sunset piece":

"What a stormful sunset was that of last night! How glorious the storm and how splendid the setting of the sun! We do not remember ever to have seen the like on our round globe, with a whole horizon full of golden impenetrating lustre, which colored the foliage and brightened every object in its own rich dyes.

. . . The sun, wearied of the elemental commotion, sank behind the green plains of the west. The 'great eye of heaven,' however, went not down without a dark brow hanging over its departing light."

Another Ohio statesman and journalist with the same surname but not related to Sunset Cox, James Middleton Cox, who was the Democratic candidate for President in 1920, was so given to the use of superlatives such as "astonishing" when he was a young reporter that he was nicknamed "Astonishing Cox."

Anne De Gaulle, Invalid Since Childhood, Dies

Paris, Feb. 7 — (Reuters) — Anne De Gaulle, 22, youngest daughter of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, died today at her father's home at Colombey Les Deux Eglises.

Miss De Gaulle had been an invalid since childhood. Yesterday her condition worsened and specialists were called to her bedside.

She always led a close family life with her parents, and her father was said to devote as much of his time as he could to her, reading and keeping her company.

In June, 1940, she went to Britain with her parents, and lived with them near London until July, 1943, when De Gaulle took his wife and youngest daughter to liberated Algiers where he set up the National Committee of Liberation.

In 1944, after the liberation of France, she returned to Paris with her mother.

General and Mme. De Gaulle have two other children, a daughter, Elizabeth, now Mme. De Boissieu, and Lieut. Philippe De Gaulle.

Champion Presented With Olympic Medal

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 7 —(CP)— Barbara Ann Scott, a slim, self-assured figure on a rostrum set up in the centre of the rink where she scored her figure-skating triumph yesterday, was presented today with an Olympic gold medal.

After the crowd stood for the singing of "O Canada," the Ottawa star who had won the Olympic women's figure skating title yesterday was besieged, as always, by camera men and autograph hunters.

The presentation took place between periods of a hockey game.

Barbara Ann, wearing dark ski pants and boots and a brown army jacket with a fur collar stood with her blonde hair covered against the heavy snowfall by a white scarf.

After the ceremony she showed the medal to her admirers and jokingly remarked: "There's no name on it."

Richard Button of the United States also received a gold medal for winning the men's figure skating title yesterday and after the presentation the pair posed for photographers, smiling, arm-in-arm.

MEMBER CLAIMS

In the Labrador debate, Mr. Dorion said the privy council never had given a judgment on the ownership of the land and recalled that the Newfoundland delegates who discussed union with Canada last summer had asked about the status of Labrador if Newfoundland entered confederation.

This, he contended, indicated the Newfoundland delegates were doubtful whether the ownership of the territory had been settled.

"My complaint is that the Federal government has not the right to dispose of territory belonging to Quebec," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Dorion was wrong in contending that reference of Labrador ownership to the privy council had been made without consultation with Quebec and added that the reference had resulted from an exchange of correspondence started by Quebec in 1902.

Should Extend Plans

Mr. Gourd suggested the government extend even further its plans to subsidize the gold mining industry and called for tax reductions to relieve the burden of prices on the farming population.

Mr. Campbell said the government should establish a reserve "bank" of coarse grains, which would ensure eastern farmers of a continuing supply of western feed grains instead of suffering periodic shortages when the western crop failed.

Mr. Church stressed the need for parliamentary and other reforms and suggested the Commons establish a legal committee for the study of legal bills. Legislation should be passed to tighten penalties for hit-and-run motorists.

Mr. Timmins attacked the government's housing policy and urged that home production be stimulated, by the use of subsidy payments if necessary.

Mr. Hazen demanded the removal of recent reductions granted on some Canadian railway rates from Ontario-Quebec points to Portland, Me., which competes for shipping business with Halifax and Saint John, N.B., and charged that the government was "evading" statutory policy in granting the rate cuts.

Mr. Ashby alleged that the government was sabotaging farm production and said Canadian farmers could flood the country with food supplies if they were left alone.

Mr. Knight pressed for action to curb the high cost of living and said controls alone could not bring down prices.

MAYORS TO PRESS

Would Obtain Evidence

The proposed committee, representative of the province and of the municipal governments, would obtain evidence and the assistance of experts. If it required statutory authority to carry out its duties, the provincial government would provide that authority.

Premier Drew added

"I still hope our problem can be solved: in the broader way — (through Dominion - Provincial co-operation) but if they cannot, then we must tackle the problem ourselves and I feel that in some way we must find a solution for them."

In a brief presented to the provincial cabinet, the Association sought relief from rising costs of social services, roadway development and the growth of exemptions from municipal taxation. The premier said his government recognized the problems of the municipalities but municipal grants from the province also had increased.

Total major municipal grants in 1947 amounted to $40,217,000, compared with $6,404,000 in 1943, and the 1948 total would be still higher. School grants in 1948 would approximate $32,000,000, as against $28,775,000 last year and $8,315,000 in the fiscal year before the Progressive Conservative government came to power in 1943.

GROWTH OF THE U. S.

The population of the United States grew from about 23,000,000 in 1850 to 132,000,000 in 1940.

ALL THIS FUSS ABOUT PYROSIS

We of the medical profession are fond of awesome words, — come to think of it, maybe I've used a few here.

Tack the suffix or ending-osis, which means a condition, state, a physiological increase of formation, a disease, on some Greek or Latin root and you have a more or less imposing medical word, — such as psych-osis, hali-tosis, tubercul-osis, acid-osis, hypn-osis pyrosis, which mean respectively mental disease or any state of mind, a condition of the breath, usually odorous, tubercle disease, an acid state, usually diminished alkalinity of blood and tissues, a stat of sleep induced by suggestion, a disorder or state characterized by burning sensation in stomach or gullet and eructations of acid fluid. The familiar word for pyrosis is heartburn.

Why drag the heart into it? I don't know, but I suppose the old timers imagine any discomfort, burning or pain felt in the midsection came from the heart. For that matter the name of the opening of the esophagus (gullet) into the stomach is called the cardia, which means heart.

To be sure that part of the stomach is called the cardiac portion because it is situated nearest the heart. Just the same it is absurd, if you have an elementary knowledge of anatomy, to imagine that mere distension or bloating of the stomach or the intestine beyond by air (gulped from fright or anxiety) or gas generated by taking soda or effervescent saline or even gas formed by fermentation of food, can ever embarrass or seriously impede circulation by "pressing on the heart."

One of the most prolific causes of pyrosis or heartburn — when sour or acid fluid backs up through the esophagus into the throat it is sometimes called waterbrash—is the loss of one or more teeth. If a few teeth are missing, especially back teeth, you had better have them replaced at once with functionally efficient dentures before you begin to look as old as you are. By masticating vegetable and cereal foods well you take a load off the stomach and pancreatic digestion, for the digestion of cooked starch that begins in the mouth continues for nearly an hour after the food has entered the stomach, provided the starch digesting enzyme (ptyalin) of the saliva has been thoroughly mixed with the food in the mouth—by proper mastication.

Taking bicarbonate (saleratus, baking soda) straight or mixed with other alkalies or antacids is unobjectionable for occasional relief, but the habit or practice of taking bicarbonate of soda every day is wrong for several reasons which we need not discuss here. Suffice that in any instance where an antacid is required, whether to relieve excess acidity, pyrosis, (heartburn), waterbrash, so-called hunger pain, acid eructation or bloating, a preferable one is a combination of about two parts of pure calcium carbonate with one part of magnesium trisilicate in ten-grain discs — one or two discs may be chewed or dissolved in the mouth on retiring — or as needed for relief.

This and other corrective measures are described in the pamphlet Yankee Stomach, available on written request (no clipping) if you provide self - addressed stamped envelope. But if you have Yankee stomach don't forget what I told you about having your mastication overhauled by a good dentist.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Varicose Veins

Wife's varicose veins below the knees stuck out as large as your little finger. Following suggestion in your pamphlet she had them injected by Dr. ——— and they are now only faint blue lines invisible under stockings and no longer a cause of any inconvenience.

(C. R. W.)

Answer—Thank you. Chemical obliteration of varicose veins is the method of choice. For pamphlet on Varicose Veins send stamped envelope bearing your address.

Disappointment

Glad to read that you think salad should be the first course, but disappointed that you did not give your reason for thinking so. I suppose I'm still more or less a hateful nuisance, as I was as a child, always asking, "Why? Why?".

(Mrs. A. G. P.)

Answer — Chiefly because it is important to get the vitamins and minerals in salad before one becomes so satisfied with foods of higher caloric value but poor in vitamins and minerals. People who eat in restaurants should nibble on the salad rather than buttering and eating rolls, bread, crackers, etc., while waiting for the soup and other things.

WANT SOUND PICTURES OF DRUNK DRIVERS

Vancouver, Feb. 7 (CP)— Magistrate Oscar Orr came up with a new angle for the solution of an old problem yesterday—was the "drunken" driver actually drunk?

Magistrate Orr suggested that moving pictures—with sound effects—be taken of allegedly drunken automobile drivers immediately after their arrest.

FRANCO'S REGIME IS STRENGTHENED BY WORLD EVENTS

By HENRY BUCKLEY

Madrid (Reuters) —As Spain enters 1948 with the position of General Francisco Franco strengthened indirectly by recent developments in the Mediterranean area inparticular and the international situation in general, Franco circles here are optimistic.

They do not expect to be included in the Marshall Plan or to get official help from the United States, but they believe private credits may be made to Spain in the next year or so by means of United States banking houses working with the Spanish banks.

Reports of substantial aid already given by the U.S. is making available machinery for the construction of long surveys at the Madrid, Barcelona and Seville airports. This work will make these airports suitable for the use of heavy four-engined transport planes.

The main obstacle to United States aid to Spain at present appears to be the American desire to ensure first, that the aid shall not be squandered and, second, that it shall not be used to sponsor state-run ventures in Spain.

Considering the devastating effect of the civil war, and the vast difficulties in reconstruction caused by the Second World War the Spanish economic situation is sound.

Note circulation is about four times level existing before the civil war; but it it is controlled inflation. Although prices are up about five times compared with 1936 and food is still short, supplies are improving.

Jobs Plentiful

Unemployment is negligible except for the normal seasonal agricultural unemployment due to lack of mixed farming and concentration on one or two crops only over large areas.

Industrialization is going ahead but a century of indifference to commerce cannot be made up in a few years. Spain today has a nucleus of young business men and technicians who believe that they are capable of running the country.

These are mostly not warm supporters of General Franco. But they want social peace and see the necessity for at least a mild dictatorship for 10 years or so in order to complete the revolution in Spain's transport and industrial system.

Spain's chief bottleneck is transport. More than anything else she needs steel for railroad trucks and rolling stock. Coal production, for instance, has been raised in a few years from 7,000,000 tons to 12,000,000 tons. But the railroads are now incapable of handling any more coal — so production has to stay put.

In the political sphere, the two most active opposition groups today are the Communists and the Monarchists. Of the other parties the moderate groups of Socialists Republicans and others are split into many factions and have little strength.

General Franco himself continues to maintain his personal situation on a reasonably solid basis. Exceedingly thorough, he moves very slowly, studying every step for months ahead. But he does not by any means rely on force alone to keep in power. At present he has no rival with much chance of success whether inside Spain or outside.

Over-all, it would appear that Spain is not likely to have any major internal upheavals for some years to come unless direct interference from abroad or the impact of events outside Spain should provoke disorders within.

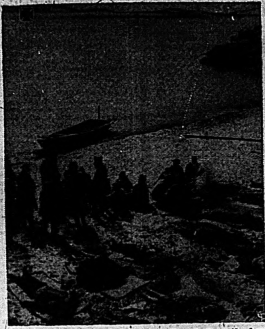
WE RAN THE BLOCKADE
WE'LL RUN IT AGAIN!

Seventy-five American World War II veterans of varied faiths are shown carrying placards and picketing the British information service bureau on New York's Fifth Avenue. These vets in addition to being members of the various branches of the armed services are also former crew members of many of the "illegal ships" that ran the British blockade in the attempt to land Jewish war survivors of Europe into Palestine. The group call themselves "blockade runners for Haganah." The picketing is in protest against the refusal of Great Britain to fulfill the United Nation's General Assembly decision for immigration into Palestine. The signs tell all.

JAP SHIP DISASTER CLAIMED 260 LIVES



The dead and the living are scattered along the beach at Kurojima, Japan, following the sinking of the ferryboat Jyoo Maru, in which 260 Japanese were drowned. Bodies, dragged in from the icy waters of the Inland Sea, not far from Osaka, lie in rows, while survivors huddle over a beach fire. A group of rescue workers stands by. In the background a cross indicates the spot where the vessel hit a mine.

RESCUE THREE MAROONED ON CAKE OF ICE

A friend, standing on shore, waves to three 'teen age boys, adrift in New York's Hudson River on a chunk of ice. the boys, high school students, ventured out too far on the ice and it broke under their weight. For a harrowing half-hour, the tide carried the boys upstream. A fireboat finally reached the boys and after repeated attempts got a line to the boys and hauled them to the ship, where they climbed a ladder to safety. Today, the lads, Andrew Wray, Anthony Vida and Fielding Warren, regaled their high school classmates with a sea-faring tale rivalling those of Sinbad the Sailor.

HUNGRY, NO DOUBT

Victoria — (CP) — In rentals court here a landlady sought eviction of a young married couple charging that their child chewed up rubber mats, was too noisy and plucked onions from the garden. Judgment was reserved.

ACTED TOO LATE

Porcupine, Ont — (CP) — A Porcupine resident who paid a $5 poll tax to Whitney township 10 years ago found he was entitled to a refund, but didn't get it. The reason: his request came four years too late, township council said.

Flour Reduced As Prices Continue Downward Trend

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP) — The thunder of crashing commodity prices prorduce a narrow crack in the high wall of American family food costs today.

Flour and lard were the first budget items to feel the effect of the spectacular slump of wholesale quotations. At least two eastern food chains reduced the price of flour by 4 cents a 10-pound bag. Others indicated similar action may be taken.

This traced directly to the collapse of values on major grain futures exchanges. Wheat has fallen 42 1-2 to 50 3-8 cents a bushel from mid-January and corn is down 36 3-4 to 47 3-4 cents.

Both grains tumbled the daily allowable limit — 10 cents for wheat and 8 cents for corn — for the third successive day Friday.

Retail lard price reductions amounted to 4 cents a pound.

Whether the initial crevice in the high cost of living would widen to a definite break was uncertain.

Top-level government economists, on a "don't-quote-me" basis didn't believe retail food prices would match the current sag on the exchanges. They saw the wholesale decline as a healthy adjustment rather than a sign of abrupt colalpse.

In its psychological efect, one said, the drop in futures quotations "will strengthen consumer resistance to high prices."

Some signs of steadying appeared yesterday in a day wild fluctuation on some commodity markets.

Oats at Chicago failed to follow other grains to the limit decline, with some oats futures even showing a gain from the precedoramt?Yr ETAOIN HRDLU DL ing day. Wholesale butter, down at Chicago, headed upward to a new peak at Baltimore and within 1 1-2 cents a pound of its record high at New York.

'But the general commodity trend was sharply lower. In the week ended Friday, Th Associated Press weighted index of 35 wholesale commodity prices made the fastest decline for any similar period of its 13-year history. After a dizzy skid of 7.62 points in the week, it stood Friday night at 194.97 per cent of the 1926 average.

Peace Threatens Shipbuilding Industry

Ottawa, Feb. 7 — (CP)— Its young muscles strengthened by war, Canada's shipbuilding industry has its life threatened by peace. The throttling hand of a steel shortage is cutting off its growth.

Many months behind on its $140,000,000 backlog of orders because it can't get steel to fill them the industry is skidding back from its pre-eminent spot among world nations as a builder of ships.

In the last year, even war-torn France and Italy have slipped ahead of Canada to lower her rating among the nations to sixth.

Canada was fourth a year ago —behind Great Britain, Sweden and Norway — before the steel scarcity hit. As it is, she is still ahead of the United States on the world rating of Lloyd's; based on keels actually laid.

The Dominion's shipyards have a far greater potential than they have been employing, and they have been turning down orders for several months because they can't find steel to build the ships.

The upshot is that foreign buyers are going to other countries.

Almost without exception the stocks in Canadian shipbuilding yards are filled with hulls — all the way from the keel up to the deck-plates — waiting for steel.

The vacuum is in steel plate, used for the outer sheath of ships and many parts of their construction. The industry, which could use 4,000 tons a month, now is allotted about 1,300.

That allocation will rise in the second quarter of the year, but what the builders would like, before July at the latest, is 17,000 tons to clear off the big French contracts still jamming the stocks of many yards.

If the shipbuilders could get this by then, their spokesmen say they could wipe off their backlog early in the new year. In all, this amounts to about 220,000 tons valued at $110,000,000.

Leaps From Bridge To His Death

San Francisco, Feb. 7 (AP) — A man with three small parachutes leaped from the Golden Gate bridge to his death yesterday 265 feet below while a cameraman took pictures. The man, wearing football padding, was identified as Dusty Rhodes of Honolulu.

The parachutes apparently were too small. He fell like a stone, although the 'chutes opened.

A man who gave his name as Jose Guzman and identified himself as a commercial photographer from Los Angeles took the pictures.

Rhodes was the 90th. to jump from the bridge and the 88th. to die. Less than a year ago a circus performer, padded and carrying a life raft jumped and lived.

The photographer said he didn't know Rhodes and didn't know in advance of the jump.

"I was just here taking scenic shots when the man came up in that rig," Guzman said. "I just turned the camera on him."

The Christ Church A.P.A. were host to a number of Young People's organizations at a fireside hour held Sunday evening.

The group joined in hymns and a sing song led by Ed Waterhouse.

Under the able chairmanship of Gordon Leggat, a panel discussion was held. The topic was "Observance of Sunday in Canada." Those taking part in the discussion were: Eleanor Baragar, Alliance Tabernacle; Vivian Bell, Wesleyan Methodist; Doug Ptolemy, Holloway Street United; Kaye Martin, St. Thomas.

Problem one was "How to Spend Sunday Profitably." The answers given showed a great deal of thought and consideration. It was felt that a man should do what his conscience dictated. Secondly, the question of sports on Sunday was considered. It was thought, by most, that if sports were kept amateur it would provide proper relaxation and recreation and still keep Sunday "Holy." The opening of libraries and Y.M.C.A.'s on Sunday was also considered.

In summarizing, Rev. D. Amos of Bridge Street United Church, said "Sunday is the gift of God to be used as a day of worship, rest and relaxation.

A lively Bible Quiz, followed by refreshments closed the evening.

Young Dramatists Of B.C.I. Present 2 One-Act Plays

A large and appreciative audience was present in the auditorium of the B.C.I.V.S. to enjoy two one-act plays presented by two groups of young dramatists last evening.

Both plays were directed by Miss Nellie Merry of the B.C.I. teaching staff, assisted by Mrs. G. B. Reid, of Kingston, to whom much credit is due for the amount of energy and time expended in bringing each of these presentations to the point of successful completion.

The first play was a one-act modern version of the old, old fairy tale, under the caption "Slippers of Cinderella", and given by students in the 9th Grade classes, with the following cast:

"Myra Tremain", Shirley Alyea; "Jimmie Tremain", Jay Howard; "Belinda Tremain", Marilyn Andrews; "Dolly Tremain", Nadine Lawrence; "Polly Tremain", Shirley McKerrow; "Agatha Tremain", Marian Rawson; "Fairy Godmother", Marian Nevery; "Jane" (a maid), Kay Mills.

Roles in the second drama "Comes Romance", were successfully presented by intermediate students as follows:

"Mrs. Patricia Shepherd", Carol Wishart; "Mr. Albert Shepherd", Bill Babbit; "Mr. Chase", (a policeman), Jerry Staring; "Homer" Douglas Hale; Maids, "Edna," Patsy Smith and "Lucy", Olive Thompson.

All of these young actors and actresses entered whole-heartedly into their respective roles, consequently giving a very realistic performance.

The Collegiate Boys' Band was present, and, under the very able direction of Mr. Alfred Cooper, contributed generously to the evening's program. The proceeds of this very fine effort on the part of the students is being donated to the Memorial Organ Fund of the B.C.I.V.S, and both pupils and teachers appreciate the patronage and help of friends interested in this objective.

Avondale Ladies Serve Turkey Dinner In Masonic Temple

Last evening in the dining hall of the Masonic Temple, Front St., two groups from the Avondale Neighbors' Aid, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Clayton Hermon, served a turkey dinner to a very appreciative crowd of approximately 175 residents of Belleville and surrounding district, including a goodly number of the city's prominent business men, and the members and officials of the Sidney Township Council.

The spacious room was made attractive, decorated in the usual Valentine colors, as were the tables laden with turkey, with dressing and the accompanying salads and jellies, to all of which the large gathering did ample justice.

Following the dinner a short program was enjoyed, consisting of an address by Mr. J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A., musical numbers by Mrs. John Kingston; reading by Mrs. Milton Robson and vocal solos by Mrs. A. Daniels, with Mrs. Hubbs as accompanist.

Much credit is due the ten women comprising the two groups who, by their united efforts, provided a really successful evening.

Fashion Flashes

A NEW LOW neckline for daytime is achieved by blouses being readied for Spring wear. Ruffles wreathe the scooped-out neckline of an afternoon blouse in white, pale pink or pale blue silk chiffon. These ruffles, done in contrasting colors, in double chiffon, have one color on the outside, another on the inside. The tiny pleated ruffles are worked across the shoulders to give a natural line.

CUPID must have designed one scarf that we admired. Of double silk chiffon, it has a design of cupids, hearts, bows and arrows, famous love couples of history, and, for a border, "I love you" in many languages.

A SUCCESS at southern resorts, likely to be duplicated at our beaches next Summer, is a beach kit bag. The lower section holds a swim suit and cap, while the upper tray is compartmented for combs, lipstick, etc. Made to be wiped clean in a jiffy; can be worn from shoulder or wrist.

Women's Activities

W.M.S. MEETING

Foxboro.—The February meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harold Stewart with an attendance of seventeen. The program was in charge of the Supply Secretary, Mrs. W. Wickett, who conducted a very impressive worship service, assisted by Mrs. L. Brough, who offered prayer and read the Scripture lesson from part of the life of Peter. In making comments on the Scripture, Mrs. Wickett stated that, "Leadership demands Loyalty" and asked if church women deny Him by being silent, and "are they as conscious of failings as was Peter?" Rev. L. Shorten conducted the installation of officers and impressed upon each her responsibility as a worker.

The President, Mrs. Priest, then took charge for the business meeting. Plans were completed for the World's Day of Prayer to be held in the United Church.

Mrs. Wickett told of the great need for used clothing to be sent to Europe—a bale is to be packed next week and a dinner next month, proceeds to be used to buy material to be made into garments.

Mrs. E. Tummon gave a beautiful reading on "Does God Live Here?" A transfer of Mrs. Norman Hall's name was accepted from Plainfield and several members paid their fees at this time.

The Study Book was very capably given by Mrs. J. G. Sills, who stated that Miss Margaret Brown is the missionary for special prayer this year. In her synopsis of the Study Book, she said "the belief of the Hindus is that God wills both good and bad. To prove we are Christians we must win some one else to Christ. This is what Mr. Judson did, though confined for some time in a prison". The meeting was closed with prayer by the pastor.

KIWANIS LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETING.

The February meeting of the Kiwanis Auxiliary was held at the Centre with forty-seven members present. President Vi Kuntze opened the meeting with "O Canada," with Chris Logan at the piano. After the routine business the committee chairmen gave their reports: Grace Vanner for sick members; Gertrude Cross displayed the articles which had been made for the Red Cross by the Friday afternoon sewing group; the president explained the Hobby Craft classes which have been started recently by the Kiwanis Club, and Gertrude Button gave an account of the girls' class which was organized on Monday of this week; Bessie Marsh reported on purchases made. Hazel Baragar gave some interesting information on Pottery Work and had samples on display. An angel cake, made and donated by Irene Ogilvie, was drawn for and was won by Ella Trepanier.

The birthday treat was won by Mildred Stanton. At the close of the business period the entertainment committee took over with Doris Miller, in charge. Bridge and euchre were played, the winners being Flossie Smith and Laura Hyde for bridge; Margaret Warner and Erma Reid for euchre. Delicious refreshments were served by Mildred Stanton and her committee.

G.I.A. TO THE B. OF L.E.

On Friday evening, members of Loyal Division 337 met at the home of Mrs. Margaret Casey, Foster Avenue, when Mrs. W. Fairbairn, and Mrs. W. Hammett welcomed the guests with the hostess, who, although she has spent the last 34 years in a wheel chair always has a cheery smile of welcome, and enjoys a chat with friends.

Entertainment for the evening included playing cards and the singing of old time songs. Mrs. W. Fairbairn won first prize, Mrs. G. Robb, second prize and Mrs. M. Casey, third prize.

With the tea table daintily appointed, and decorated with flowers, (a gift of one of the members), Mrs. B. Clark, entertainment convener, assisted by Mrs. G. Grey and Mrs. J. Muirhead served delicious refreshments, with Mrs. C. Fitzgerald pouring the beverage.

Later Mrs. Gladys Grey, president, read an address of good wishes and Mrs. C. Fitzgerald presented Mrs. Casey with a forty-year pin, a gift of the Division in honor of forty years of continuous membership. Replying Mrs. Casey said she was proud to receive this pin with Mrs. Gymer and Mrs. Fitzgerald, who are also members of 40 years' standing. Reminiscences of past years when Mrs. E. Ormond was president caused considerable merriment.

Mrs. Casey expressed her gratitude to the members, and wished for the new president and her officers a year of successful accomplishments, and also for the School of Instruction which will be held in Belleville during April under the Grand President, Mrs. E. Denny, of Georgia, U.S.A.

Community singing was enjoyed before the ladies departed for their respective homes.

It said:

Attlee replied that he gave the money to the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"It was a fine idea of yours," he added.

The Mixing Bowl

Hello Homemakers! Thousands of women will be beating pancake mixtures next Tuesday. It will be Shrove Tuesday. During the 17th century in England, the day before the lenten period was observed as Pancake Day. It is thought that the people wanted to use up what grease, lard and similar forbidden foods they had on hand before Lent—Lent being the forty day period of fasting before Easter.

As to whether our ancestors used syrup on pancakes or not I cannot say, but maple syrup is what we in Ontario consider our specialty. Other substitutes are mock maple sauce or corn syrup or diced fruit. If waffles or pancakes are served as a breakfast treat, honey or marmalade may be used. As an entree at luncheon, pancakes and sausages go well together.

CRISP WAFFLES

2 eggs, yolks separated, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 tsps. baking powder, 1 tbsp. sugar, 1-4 tsp. salt, 1 1-4 cups milk, 3 tbsps. melted fat.

Beat eggs yolks using high speed of electric mixer. Sift and measure flour. Sift again with baking powder, sugar and salt. Turn the beater to Speed 1 or slow and add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Then add beaten egg whites and melted dripping or butter, and beat at Speed 3 for a minute. Bake about five minutes in a preheated waffle iron or hot griddle. Brown five minutes on one side then turn to brown three minutes on other side. Serve immediately or stand on end propped up in a casserole or toast stand.

SOUTHERN PANCAKES

1 cup buttermilk, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tsp. soda, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. melted fat, 2 tbsps. cornmeal, 2 cups flour.

Mix ingredients in order given. Bake in electric waffle iron or sizzling hot greased griddle pan. When bubbles form, turn and brown on other side. Serve with sausages—or with fruit for dessert.

GINGERBREAD WAFFLES

1-3 cup shortening, 1-3 cup boiling water, 1-3 cup molasses, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 cup flour, 1-4 tsp. salt, 1-4 tsp. soda, 1-2 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. ginger, 1-2 tsp. cinnamon, 1-4 tsp. cloves.

Place shortening in a mixing bowl and pour boiling water over it. Add molasses, sugar and egg. Stir in flour, sifted with salt, soda, baking powder and spices. Cook mixture in hot waffle iron. Serve with syrup or with cottage cheese. Makes 3 or 4.

RICE GRIDDLECAKES

1 cup flour, 1 tsp. salt, 1 1-2 tsps. baking powder, 3 tbsps. butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 1-4 cups boiled rice, honey or maple syrup.

Mix and sift the flour, salt and baking powder. Add the melted butter to the slightly beaten egg yolks and add the milk and rice. Pour into the dry ingredients and mix quickly just enough to moisten. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and bake on a hot, lightly greased griddle. Serve with honey or maple syrup. This recipe makes 12 medium sized griddlecakes.

COLLEGIATE NEWS

ASSEMBLY

With Charles Delong as chairman, G10C was in charge of last Wednesday's assembly. The program opened with the student body observing one minute's silence in memory of the late P. C. MacLaurin, former principal of B.C.I. & V.S. Jerry Batchelor then read the Scripture passage, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated and the National Anthem sung.

As a departure from the usual order, form G10C then presented their feature attraction, a play, leaving the announcements to the latter part of the program. This play was introduced by Doug Soule, who also acted as narrator. The presentation was in three short scenes, and dealt with the story of 'How a Famous Hymn Came to be Written'. It featured in the title role, Bob Reid, as Ray Palmer, the author of the hymn 'My Faith Looks up to Thee'. Also in the cast were Claude Carr as James, (a friend of Ray Palmer), John Luscombe as the paper-boy, and Ronald Elmy as Doctor Lowell Mason. Accompanied by Mr. Templer at the console of the organ, Ron sung the hymn about which the play was written. The hymn's words were written by Ray Palmer, and were adapted to the tune 'Olivet' by Dr. Mason. This play was educational and interesting, and other forms might do well to follow the example of form G10C.

After the play was the usual series of announcements, the first by Harry Croll, who informed us that the boxing club wanted more members, so if you are 'pugilistically' inclined, here's your chance. Olive Thompson came forth on behalf of the Art Club, to exhort the members of said organization to attend a forthcoming meeting to discuss plans for a Tea Dance to be held ? ? ?, the proceeds of which are to be donated to the War Memorial Fund.

As usual, Bill Wesley, had an announcement for the Elevator. This time it was a request for club news, and a last call for forms news. Bob Davidson had the next announcement, for the Hi-Y Club, who are sponsoring a concert on the Memorial Organ, next Tuesday, in the school auditorium, from 4.15 to 5.15, for one thin dime (10c that is). Mrs. Calvert, who entertained us once before, is returning to tickle the ivories, so C U in the auditorium next Tuesday. As you may well guess, the proceeds are for the War Memorial Fund.

Dick Stackhouse then gave us another reminder about the stupendous super-colossal big-league (?) hockey game between the Hi-Y Club and the B.C.I.V.S. 'Simfonny Orkestraw'. Incidently, this game, which was played Thursday afternoon, ended in a decisive victory for the Musicians (?), with Lloyd Faulkner and Bill Muirhead being the big guns for the winners. The final score was 6-3 in favor of the undefeated Bandsmen, and like everything else around B.C.I., the proceeds were for the War Memorial Fund.

Chuck Delong then read an announcement for the Red Cross Club, who are sponsoring a sale of home-cooked candy in Room 218 next Tuesday at one o'clock. (Chuck's mouth was watering as he read the announcement.) Also, Charles reminded us that our High News Subscriptions has to be renewed.

Next on the program was the presentation of the second installment of some Provincial Government scholarships to the following students: Betty Zebedee, Marion Stapely, Leona Weagant and Ronald Alexander. The cheques were presented by Mr. Currie.

At this point in the program, our Treasurer, Broose Blatherwick was presented with a goodly number of contributions for the War Memorial Fund, from the following organizations: The Library Club, the Bridge Club and the Boys' and Girls' Athletic Societies. A considerable sum was raised by each of these organizations, and should serve as an incentive for the other clubs to do even better.

While the students were assembling, the band played 'Voice of the Guns' and during the assembly 'Down Main Street', and after the program, a third march 'Through Night to Light'.

'Bye 'til next week.

BOY'S SPORTS

Last week was a very successful one in boys' basketball, to say the least. The teams clicked for five successive victories, with the juniors chalking up three, in the last eight days.

PICTON BEATEN 40-20, 38-24

Last Friday, both teams travelled to Picton where they engaged Picton Collegiate in a twin bill. In the first tilt, the juniors doubled the score on the homesters with a decisive 40-20 triumph. The juniors were never in trouble, outscoring their opponents 20-10 in each half. "Buck" Buchanan led the B.C.I. crew with twelve points, while Lloyd Faulkner hit for ten. Summers and Lepore scored four each, Dudley and Burke, three apiece, while Muirhead and Morris notched two points apiece. Harold Ackerman's nine points led Picton, while Strawbridge scored five, Dulmage, four, and Smith, two.

In the nightcap, Picton led up until the last quarter; then, B.C.I. came back strongly, and had it all over their foes. Behind 11-0 in the first quarter, our seniors cut the lead to 13-10 by the half, and 18-16 by three-quarter time. In the last half, they outscored Picton 20-4, and thus emerged with a sizeable 38-24 victory. Dave Lockyer netted 10 points, while "Duffer" McBurney scored 8. Other marksmen were Watkins and Miller, with six each, Galbraith with four, and Ketcheson and Cameron, with two apiece. Gerow scored 8 points for the home team, while Hepburn, Fox, Hicks and McKinnon each netted four points.

JUNIORS WHIP CAMPBELLFORD 66-12

After blasting Campbellford Juniors here by an 84-2 count, our Juniors travelled to Campbellford on Monday where they again trounced the inexperienced red shirts, this time by a less lopsided 66-12 count. B.C.I. were never in the slightest trouble as they led by quarters 20-2, 30-7, 60-10 and 66-12. As in the previous slaughter, every player scored a basket for our boys.

Lloyd Faulkner topped the Belleville total (this is getting to be a habit!) with seven field goals, while Don Dolan scored six of them. Bruno Lepore netted five baskets, while "Kip" Summers and Tom Buchanan each hooped three. Morris Burke and "Yank" McBride tallied twice, while George Ewald and Ray Scott netted one goal apiece.

Simpson scored half Campbellford's tallies, while MacColl, Bennett and Gummo scored two points apiece.

B.C.I. BEATS PICTON AGAIN

In the return double bill in the Boys' gymn on Tuesday, B.C.I. continued to show their superiority over Picton by beating them 34-4 in the opener, and 40-31 in the senior game.

The junior game started very slowly, and six minutes had elapsed before a point was netted. Our boys led 4-0 as the first quarter ended, 16-0 at the half, and 22-2 at three-quarter time. The final score does not indicate the play, because poor shooting marred Picton's chances. Bruno Lepore scored eight for our side, with "Kip" Summers and Lloyd Faulkner potting six, Burke, Morris, and Buchanan, four apiece, and Dudley, the other tally. Cornelius and Pair were the only players to score for Picton.

Picton seniors again showed their weakness of losing the lead. They led 5-4 at the quarter, but dropped behind in the second frame. From there on, B.C.I. kept increasing their lead, until the last period turned into a scoring riot, which was highlighted by Don Rose's feat of scoring three consecutive baskets in less than half a minute. Colin Cameron led our boys with eight points. Rose, Watkins, and Ketcheson hooped six points apiece, while MacMillan and Lockyer netted four each. Galbraith, Miller, and McBurney, with two each, completed B.C.I.'s total. McKinnon was the leading point-getter, with 13, while Hicks garnered seven. Other Picton scorers were Fox, four, Gerow, Manlow and Holt, two and Colliver, one.

More basketball next week, but so long for now.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

ALBINOS

"I've seen it!" Bobbie gasped, bursting open the door. "All the other fellows have seen it near school for a week, and Mr. Williams says it's an albino Robin. What does he mean, Aunt Alice?"

"He means the white bird you've been talking about is really a robin, but it has no coloring matter, or pigment as it is called, in its makeup. Some people are like that; they are very fair. Polar bears are white with dark eyes; and every now and then we hear of somebody finding an albino deer, groundhog, racoon, squirrel, or even a porcupine. A few animals and birds of the far north, like the Arctic fox and the Ptarmigan, are white in winter and spring though they are colored the rest of the year."

"Billy says the albino robin has pink eyes."

"That is quite probable, Bobbie. When there is no pigment in the eyes they are transparent, and so the blood in the small veins of the eyeballs shows through. This makes them look pink. Sunlight hurts these eyes, but they can see better than others at night because more light is able to get in."

'Have you ever seen an albino bird, Aunt Alice?"

"Yes, there was a white city Sparrow living near the corner of this street. I used to see it with the ordinary ones for about three years."

Albinism is restricted to no particular class of the animal kingdom, is more common among birds than you may imagine, and occurs in any species. An ornithologist made a specialty of examining English sparrows. Out of 1,800 he found five having all feathers white, and 33 with some white in their plumage. Occasionally the feathers are all white but the eyes are blue. One specimen in a zoo had white plumage in winter and spring only.

A white-throat caught in a banding trap had just enough faint color on certain parts to show up the characteristics of the species, but was otherwise white. An albino white-crowned sparrow was discovered having a black crown and a white median stripe. Partial-albino cardinals, red-winged blackbirds and thrushes have been reported.

Bluebirds occupying the same nesting box three times brought up 13 youngsters. Of these seven were white.

Albinism is hereditary. A nest of English sparrows was found containing two white babies; their father was an ordinary color, their mother was an albino.

School 'Musts' Help in Later Life

I have been following your recent columns on the misnamed "progressive" type of education in schools and I join in the condemnation of that system of teaching.

I took five years of Latin in high school in Canada and it was an abomination to my irresponsible student soul. It was the military type of Latin mostly written by Caesar. It was straight "slugging" with no immediate possibilities of usefulness except to obtain one's matriculation.

"A progressive educationist" would probably say that those five precious years spent in the study of nasty old Latin could have been best utilized in the perusal of some other more practical subject, the choice of which would lie in the foresighted mind of the high school student herself.

You couldn't have convinced me in my high school days if you had produced Caesar himself to argue his bothersome merits with me, but now, some seven years later, I begin to see the value of the Latin, the algebra, geometry and all the other onerous subjects enforced on the curriculum.

I have never directly utilized the book knowledge of those subjects and I probably never shall, but I have developed a stanch approval of their indirect value.

Since the true, pattern-for-living values are the elements the "progressive" educationists are after, I would strongly recommend Latin. It teaches a student the necessity of plodding through a seemingly unnecessary work, the inevitability of sweating over an annoying job—because it has to be done.

The student must worry through his Latin in order to get matriculation. He's got to buckle down.

If the student does anything at all after graduation he will find that whatever he wants to achieve has to be worked for. Work can't always be fun. There are always those periods in the pursuit of anything worth while when the individual must put up with plain, ordinary work which he would much rather not have to be saddled with.

I think the "progressively educated" person gets the wrong slant on life. She (for the sake of example) expects everybody to allow her freedom like the teacher did—to cater to her choices and desires and generally endeavor to make her as comfortable as possible.

When her husband, in later life, doesn't see eye to eye with this freedom idea she may charge "mental cruelty". "I don't have to take that sort of thing", she will say to herself . . . . just as she did in school.

She will seek the alternative of divorce. She got used to taking alternatives in school.

It wouldn't occur to her to put up with her husband's peculiarities simply because she was married to him and consequently had to.

Life after graduation is a struggle. It's an entertaining one with many rewards. One has to put up with conditions, situations and people which one would much rather sidetrack.

To be led to believe in school that you can always do exactly as you want to, eliminating all unpleasant, hard conditions, is to be very badly disillusioned later on.

"Progressively" educating a child is like training him for an obstacle race with no obstacles to practise on. . . just a free, wide-open, gloriously nonfrustrating, clear-sailing track. And everyday living is the most fascinating obstacle race of all.

Prime Minister Claims No Word Yet From Britain

Ottawa, Feb. 7 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons yesterday that he had not received a reply from the United Kingdom to his inquiry whether it would be proper at this time to make public the 1942 correspondence of Premier George Drew of Ontario in connection with the Hong Kong inquiry of that year.

This correspondence, addressed to the leaders of the four political parties, criticized the findings of the report.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, has been pressing the Prime Minister to table the letter but the latter had insisted that Britain's consent first be obtained as the letter referred to some confidential telegrams.

After Mr. King replied to Mr. Bracken, Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe) declared: "Now that the war has been over more than two years, why do we have to listen to his master's voice of Britain in this matter?"

This provoked an outburst of protests from the government side of the House. There seemed to be some astonishment, too, among the Progressive Conservatives.

The Prime Minister rose again to say that "it is not a matter of his master's voice; it is a question of what is the proper thing to do."

Mr. Rowe came back to say: "did the British government ask the Canadian government for approval before the War Office issued the Maltby report?"

He was referring to the report by Gen. C. M. Maltby, former commander of the British forces in China, on the Hong Kong battle, in which two Canadian battalions were lost. The general had been critical of the training of the Canadians.

Mr. King replied that there had been no communication on this report.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Beset by several problems, you make a good plan to overcome one of them. If it solves the selected trouble, your other worries are sometimes gone, too. It happens that way in bridge.

West decided on an opening lead of the heart deuce. When the dummy hand goes down, he can see what to expect. Only seven high cards are in his pair Taking nine tricks with them will not be easy.

On this first trick, east put on the queen and south won with the ace. With three top spades and four diamond tricks he will have eight of his needed nine. He needs one more.

He may not be able to get his ninth trick in time. If east gets in and leads a heart, opponents may defeat him. Therefore, his main problem is to keep east out of the lead for a while.

This decides how he must go after the setting up of his diamond suit. He must not attempt a finesse toward the dummy. If it fails, the east hand will be in to come back a heart.

So, a diamond was won by the dummy king and the jack was led from there. If east does not cover with the queen, south plays small. Should west win this, the heart suit is still blocked.

It happens that declarer takes five diamond tricks in this way Not onl ydid his safety plan keep him temporarily out of danger from a heart lead. It presented him with an unexpected ninth trick.

Thus, having made a good plan to solve one problem, all his problems were suddenly wiped out. All because of his success in one of his several worries.

Not always is your best plan successful or sufficient. But it offers a better chance than does a poor plan. And no plan at all makes you dumber than you look.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 7 (AP)—Here are some of the stories a reporter picks up on the Hollywood beat:

William Powell, a whimsical gent, has an entry for the Burlington, Wis., Liars Club contest. It concerns Ann Blyth, who is playing the Mermaid in "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid."

"Yep," yepped Bill," "the poor girl swallowed a dogfish while she was swimming in the pool. When we went into a close-up, it started growling. It ruined 28 takes before we got the scene."

Okay, if you don't like that, we'll move along to Lionel Barrymore, who appears to be an admirer of nature. He was asked if he had hogs on his ranch.

"Off course not," he snorted. "I have never kept any animal that I'd have to kill."

The actor's nature loving extends beyond animals. He was complaining about the cutting down of two big pepper trees in front of Republic Studio.

"I was so mad about it that I drove by to ask them why they were doing it," he related. "But the foreman on the job turned out to be such a big guy that I just asked him for the time of day."

Motherhood no Asset

In this town where motherhood is not considered an asset to stardom, it's refreshing to meet up with Joan Bennett. This youngest of the Bennett gals makes no secret of the fact that she has three children and is expecting another. (She is, however, trying to keep it a secret from the camera).

Joan has announced her oldest daughter's engagement and I suggested that some actresses might not be happy to have it noised around about a daughter old enough for marriage.

"Nonsense," she said blandly, "any woman with a grown daughter should be glad to have her married."

In Manhattan

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Feb. 7 —(CP)— When new playwrights fail to shine, the harried producer can always duck into his library and pull out one of the classics.

The roster of current Broadway stage shows is a pointer indicating the rarity of new talent, at least in the serious field, and forthcoming productions will bring more of the time-tested celebrities off the bookshelves.

Theatre-goers now can choose between Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra," an adaptation of Euripides' "Medea," an adaptation of Dostoievsky's "Crime and Punishment" and Shaw's "Man and Superman." Billed for early presentation are four one-act comedies of Chekhov, "Ghosts" and "Hedda Gabler" by Ibsen, and "John Bull's Other Island," also by Shaw.

The only major new play to appear this season is Tennessee Williams' sombre drama of decayed gentility, "A Streetcar Named Desire." In the lighter field, there are various treats, including "Angel in the Wings," "Make Mine Manhattan" and old standbys like "Happy Birthday," "Oklahoma!" and "Finian's Rainbow!"

But the serious writers are making little showing, perhaps because the producers, plagued by high costs, prefer to stick to reviving sure-fire hits of former days.

Close to Tops

"Look, Ma, I'm Dancing" is a breezy spoof of the ballet business which comes close to excellent but trips over its book and ends by being attractive only in spots. One number, describing the plight of a chorus girl in a ballet troupe, achieves what the Herald Tribune critic called "a perfect blend of words, movement and music satirizing a ballet theme."

Farce Plus Symbolism

In "Kathleen," author Michael Sayers has striven to dramatize the Irish temperament in a play which is an odd mixture of farce and symbolism. Andree Wallace, a newcomer to Broadway, is extremely pretty and extremely Irish in the name role — that of a wild, variable girl with a lying tongue and a gift for mischief. She plays it with aggressive spirit. But the symbolism, in which Kathleen is intended to represent Ireland herself, somehow never is made clear to the audience at the Mansfield Theatre.

Second Set Of Triplets Born To Syracuse Mother

Syracuse, N.Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—A forty-year-old mother gave birth to her second set of triplets yesterday in eight minutes flat.

A spokesman for the American Medical Association said chances of such a birth probably were one in a million.

Mrs. Margaret Walker felt a bit "groggy" but otherwise all right, Syracuse hospital officials reported, and the triplets appeared healthy. They had been expected.

Dr. Morris Fishbin, editor of the A.M.A. Journal said the birth was "unusual," but added that medical literature contains histories of other mothers bearing more than one set of living triplets.

AT THE BELLE — Dona Reed plays an intensely dramatic role in "Green Dolphin Street," as a girl who turns to the church after losing the man she loves to Lana Turner. The new M.G.M. picture opens a week's engagement at the Belle today, with Van Heflin, Richard Hart and Frank Morgan in an all-name cast.

VOICES OF PAST HAUNT POLICE RADIO SYSTEM

London, Feb. 7 (CP)—The police radio system here is being haunted by voices out of the past. Cruiser car crews report voices coming on the air without warning and discussing the early days of London. The interference is believed to be caused by a "ham station.

Bavarian Minister Brushes off Escape As Inconsequential

Munich, Feb. 7. (AP)—Dr. Josef Mueller, Bavarian Minister of Justice, Friday brushed off the escape of Fritz Kuhn as inconsequential. He said too many people were imprisoned in Germany for "politics" only.

Imprisonment without trial was breeding "eventual enemies".

Kuhn, deported leader of the German-American Bund in the United States, strolled out of the prison at Dachu Tuesday and has not been seen since. Investigators have been unable to turn up a trace of him.

Asked how it was possible for a man like Kuhn, who has been deprived of his American citizenship, to be in prison awaiting denazification since July without a hearing, Mueller asked the inquiring reporters:

"Who is Kuhn?"

He appeared to estimate how many thousands are in jail awaiting trial as Nazis, but declared there are "too many". Such persons never would become good citizens under such conditions.

Other German authorities speculated today that Kuhn might have fled to the Soviet occupation zone.

THREE SISTERS PERISH, THREE BROTHERS SUFFER BURNS

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 7 (AP)—Three young sisters perished and three of their brothers suffered burns, one severe, in a fire in the basement of their home last night as they celebrated a birthday party for one of the victims. The dead were Doris Elaine Jones, nine, who was guest of honor at the party, and her sisters, Victoria, two, and Rebecca, 14.

Bentley May Stay On Number One Line of the Leafs

Coach Frank Boucher of the New York Rangers was a man about town in Toronto last night. He was here and there and nowhere did he give any hint as to whether he thought Rangers could seriously challenge Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs for the National Hockey League title.

Frank said in all seriousness that he thought his Rangers just possibly could beat the Leafs in their game at Maple Leaf Gardens tonight. The only other game tonight has Detroit Red Wings, leading Leafs by three points, playing at Montreal Canadiens.

Boucher, whose sobriety would rival that of any bank president, tucked in at midnight prepared for a morning skull session which may or may not have results against the ganging Leafs.

Rangers at the moment are in third place, 11 points behind the second place Toronto squad.

Leafs meanwhile had news for the hockey fans. It looks like Max Bentley's spidery forward brought from Chicago, may stay on a number one line with Harry Watson and Bill Ezinicki.

Leafs' old top line of Watson, Apps and Ezinicki was torn asunder when Captain Sylvanus Apps was thrust on the sidelines with a leg injury. Big Sylvanus, who is also Ontario Commissioner of Athletics, will be out for some time yet with a leg injury.

Leafs' managing director Conn Smythe said that Apps would be used mostly on ganging attacks for the next few games, the idea being to save Syl for the playoffs.

No one had any comment on the latest NHL player trade, — which sees slick stick - handler Billy Taylor of Boston Bruins going to New York Rangers, and fast red-haired Grant Warwick of Rangers going to the Bruins.

That trade also involves a player as yet unnamed, from Bruins to Rangers next season.

Sportsmen's Winter Activities

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted sportsman, author and creator of Solunar Tables)

By the time February rolls around, most of the Christmas books have been read, notations made on the margins, and piled away on the library shelves for future reference. In most States, shooting season have drawn to a close. In the deep South, bass fishing is still legal, but it is apt to be pretty cold on a bass lake this time of year, regardless of latitude. Thus, I suppose it is only natural at this time of the year to overhaul tackle and get ready for the warmer days to come.

Rods need new guides and varnish. If you don't think so, take any of your rods out of its case and inspect it through a strong glass under a good light. Dollars to buttons, you will find nicks aplenty in the varnish; small ones, to be sure, but they let in moisture just the same. Metal guides are apt to be worn flat so that sharp edges have developed and agate guides have an unpleasant habit of acquiring small cracks which are likely to become worse, to the distinct detriment of your lines.

• • •

Reels need cleaning. You know that every reel needs a complete renovation not less than once a year. Take it down, wash out the old grease with kerosene or some other solvent, reassemble it, oil it thoroughly and then put it in its case where it can't gather dust. All these things need doing and now is the time to do them.

And what sort of shape are your leaders in? Believe me, it's false economy to carry over used leaders from one season to the next. Better go through your kit, toss out those used leaders, and replace them with new ones. If you don't tie your own, now is a good time to learn. Most any book on angling, or any tackle catalogue will show you how. That way you get exactly what you want in leaders instead of having to put up with what you can find at the tackle shops.

And what about the hooks on the bass lures that you used last season? Get out that strong glass again and inspect the hook points. I don't think that it is possible to place too much emphasis on the importance of having sharp hooks—very sharp. Needle points will get fish for you that otherwise would be lost. If you haven't a hook hone, by all means get one and give those used hooks—and the new ones—a going over.

• • •

New hooks, you know, aren't always as sharp as they should be. At the factory where they were made they were given a coating of rust-resistant material of one sort or another. Usually this material is applied by tumbling the hooks in a revolving barrel. This results in points that are slightly rounded—not much, mind you, but enough to remove them from the needle-point category. Your magnifying glass will show you. All right, your hook hone will eliminate those round points in a hurry. Then a coat of clear lacquer will protect them against rust. A little time spent on hooks will pay big dividends.

One of my friends here in Williamsport, Penna, owns and operated a fly-tyers' supply house. He tells me that February and early March mark the time when orders for materials come in in greater volume than at any other time of the year. Men all over the country are at their work tables, replenishing their ravaged supplies of terminal tackle. Flies, streamers, plugs and bass bugs—the boys really go to work in February and March. His direct-mail shipments reach truly abnormal proportions. And the cockeyed things that some of them order hare'spoll, moose mane, human hair, feathers from the Indian crow and the European jay, bustard pinions, black rabbit whiskers, tying silk of definite shades of primrose and olive, porcupine quills, five kinds of squirrel tails, and so on. I should think it would test his sanity, trying to keep in stock the anticipated needs of some of those fellows. But their letters are dead serious and they must have these things or their fishing next season will be a complete and absolute failure.

• • •

And while we're discussing these pleasant winter activities, let me remind you once more that there is one item of equipment about which is as important as any that have been mentioned—your Solunar Tables. These already have been attended to by the men who publish your newspaper. Just remember to clip out the weekly schedules from the Solunar Tables and put these clippings in your tackle kit. Thus armed, you can plan your trips this year so that you are sure to find the best fishing or shooting that any particular day has to offer.

Hamilton Tigers Beat Dutchmen By 2 to 0 Score

(By The Canadian Press)

It was their sixth straight victory over the twin-cities squad as the league-leading Hamilton Tigers blanked Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 2-0 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture at Waterloo last night. Tigers moved six points ahead of the Toronto Marlboros in second position.

Jack Cain of the third - place Stratford Indians scored the winning shot with five minutes left to give Indians a 3-2 victory over Toronto Marlboros at Stratford in last night's second senior game. It left Stratford four points behind Toronto.

Packing their scoring punch into the first and third periods, Owen Sound Mercurys defeated the sixth - place Hamilton Patricias 8-5 in a senior game at Owen Sound to move into a fourth - place tie with Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

In the junior loop, Oshawa Generals won a 5-4 victory over Barrie Flyers at Barrie and broke their first - place tie with Windsor. It was their 26th win in 32 tries. Barrie remains in a third-place tie with Stratford Kroehlers.

Galt Now Fifth

With three straight goals in second period Topper Toppazzini spurred the sixth - place St. Catharines Teepees to a 4-3 win over Galt. Teepees' victory at St. Catharines left Galt in fifth place, one point behind Barrie and Stratford, and St. Catharines 3 points behind Galt. It was their second win in three starts against the Rockets.

Tigers' goalie Art Childs was the hero of the Waterloo tilt as he stopped 44 shots compared to the 27 shots handled by Dutchmen netminder Keith Woodall.

Both Hamilton goals came in the second period from Johnny Conick and Clare Shillington.

Even with Johnny McCormack back the Marlboros were the weaker outfit at Stratford. Toronto held a 2-1 edge for the first half of the game although Indians had more shots on Toronto's nets.

Owen Sound Wins

Jim Eady and Bill Woodward tallied other Stratford goals while Harry Psutka and Al Buchanan were Marlies' marksmen.

Tommy Burlington's Mercurys had little trouble at Owen Sound as they led 4-2 in the first period and 5-3 in the second.

Burlington and Bun White scored two goals each to lead the Owen Sound attack with other tallies coming from Fred Smith, Bruce Small, Pat McReavy and Johnny Sullivan, back after a 3-week lay-off.

Patricia's marksmen were led by Frank Long with two goals while Nick Phillips, Killer Kilpatrick and Murray Comfort scored one each.

At Barrie, Dusty Blair opened the scoring for Oshawa but Whit Mousseau evened the count two minutes later with the period's remaining 10 minutes scoreless. In the second Gil St. Pierre put Barrie ahead for six minutes but Oshawa replied with two goals from Ross Lowe and one from Sandy Air.

Barrie outscored Generals in the final frame 2-1 on goals by Chick Guarda and Red Favero. Frank Sullivan tallied the Oshawa counter.

Galt led 1-0 at the end of the first period at St. Catharines but Toppazzini's hat trick in the second was the clincher for St. Catharines. Red Sullivan tallied the other Teepees' goal. Galt snipers were Wiggie Wylie, Bob Gualazzi and Ken McNally.

In the senior loop tonight Brantford Redmen visit Hamilton Tigers and Hamilton Patricians go to Owen Sound. There are four junior games with Windsor at Toronto St. Michael's, Stratford at Toronto Young Rangers, Barrie at Oshawa and St. Catharines at Galt.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Blonde, glamorous Barbara Ann Scott, flashing a radiant smile of victory, skated off the ice in the shadow of the majestic snow-topped Swiss Alps yesterday, at last officially recognized as the world's champion woman figure-skater. She had defeated with more or less ease the champions of twenty-five nations. Atop her blonde tresses was perched the mythical crown of the Queen of the Silver Blades.

* * *

Barbara Ann's smashing victory in the Olympic figure-skating competitions, following closely upon her popular win in the world's championships last year, caused a glow of national pride to suffuse the hearts of 12,500,000 Canadians. The dainty miss, whose unaffected manner, and who had been the centre of much publicity since the now famous "automobile incident" of last year, carried the best wishes of practically every resident of this fair Dominion.

* * *

Barbara's annexation of the Olympic crown, the first ever won by a Canadian skater, was not only a victory over competitors of other nations. It went deeper than that. It was the colorful climax to a little girl's ambition, a reaching of the heights, so to speak, brought about by years of intensive application to the job at hand. It was the smashing finale to a long period of hard training, of disappointments, of breaking down by sheer will power and physical stamina of the many barriers that face a potential champion along the hard road to success. If ever a champion was worthy of the laurel wreath of victory, it is the demure little Ottawa miss, who has yet to celebrate her twentieth birthday.

* * *

The new Olympic champion became a prime favorite with Europeans the moment she set foot on their shores. Her radiant smile, natural charm and sparkling beauty took the hearts of the continentals by storm. She pushed glamorous Rita Hayworth, American screen beauty in the background in Prague. Wherever she went, she was acclaimed. Politicians and athletes, ambassadors of good-will may come and go, but Canada never had a more colorful nor effective medium of world advertising than this beautiful young girl from Ottawa.

* * *

Today a new vista opens before her. The Olympic crown will bring with it offers of fabulous sums of money from commercial interests. The movies will place tempting offers at her feet. Her signature alone can bring her untold wealth through the mere endorsation of a commercial product. Her predecessor, Sonja Henie, made a cool million dollars after winning the Olympic title back in 1936. The blonde Norwegian is still one of the highest paid professional athletes in the world.

* * *

But Barbara Ann gave a flat "No" when asked by newsmen if she would turn professional. "I think I want to stay an amateur," she said. "I want to learn to cook," she added, flashing that famous smile on the milling reporters. However, she may change her mind. She can rest assured, that if she does, she will not want for offers.

* * *

In the meantime all Canada hails the new Olympic champion. We as a nation, are proud of her achievements, her outstanding spirit of loyalty and sportsmanship, and the staunch heart that overcame all obstacles to bring to her and her country, world-wide recognition and fame.

* * *

And Canada should make suitable recognition of her feats on the flashing blades. A mere bouquet of roses is not enough. And away with this smirking hypocrisy that is called "amateurism," and which nearly wrecked the Olympic winter games as far as hockey was concerned. The blundering badgers who frowned on the gift of an automobile looked sidewise when blazers and other things were donated to the Olympic athletes, should be ignored. Let us give Barbara Ann her due, as a world's champion. And Ottawa's government should see to it that this colorful ambassadress who caused the name of Canada to be echoed wherever figure-skating is known, is properly recognized.

Toronto Varsity Hockey Squad Swamps McGill

Montreal, Feb. 7 (CP)—University of Toronto all but clinched the senior Intercollegiate hockey title here last night when the Ace Bailey-coached squads skated rings around McGill University to romp to a 8-0 victory before 6,000 fans.

The triumph gave the Blues a four-point margin over the second-place McGill squad, and the high-flying Torontanians now need only one victory in their last three games to earn at least a tie for the college circuit title.

The Blues' top trio of Harry Boyd, Warren Winslow and Harry Johnson led the Toronto offensive with four goals, Boyd and Winslow sniping two apiece. Bob Henry also garnered a pair of counters, while big Ed Krysanowski and Don Bark fired the others.

It was a fairly close contest until the third frame, with Varsity scoring twice in the opening frame and once in the middle session. Then the avalanche broke loose with Toronto ramming home five goals in the final session.

Goalie Don Saunders, who played heads up hockey in chalking up his shutout, drew a minor penalty in the second period for holding a McGill forward in the goal crease. Henry served the time for the Toronto netminder.

Moving Time For Bobo Newsom

New York, Feb. 7. (AP)—It's moving time again for Pitcher Bobo Newsom — New York Yankees say they can't find a place for the 38-year-old veteran this season.

The talkative Bobo, who has pitched for eight different major league teams during his 20 years with organized baseball, has been offered to any club for the price of $1.

Actually, this is an unconditional release, but Newsom is a 10-year man in the majors and waivers must be asked. The $1 payment would make it legal, but if Bobo refused to join the claiming club he would be a free agent.

In Washington, Newsom said he requested the release.

"Newsom did a great job for me when I needed him most,' 'said Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees. "However, I have decided to give several promising youngsters a shot at starting roles next season, and Newsom, at his age, simply does not fit into my plans."

Newsom won seven and lost five games after coming to the Yankees in mid-June from Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price.

Junior Curling Taking Hold In Dominion

(By The Canadian Press)

Three of the six provinces participating in the Canadian high school curling championship at Winnipeg, Feb 16-17 have declared their representatives, J. D. Cameron, chairman of the Playoff Committee announced last night.

The Quebec Academy of Quebec City will represent Quebec. Red Goldberg of Hornepayne captured the northwest Ontario championship and Stan Gowling of Morden is Manitoba's titleholder.

Smashing all previous entry records, 454 rinks will compete in the Manitoba Curling Association's Diamond Jubilee Bonspiel which opens at Winnipeg next Tuesday and now is the world's largest curling classic. The previous entry record was set last year when 400 rinks participated—a far cry from the 62 entries in the Association's first 'spiel in 1889.

The Canadian Amateur Boxing championships and Olympic trials will be held at Montreal May 27-28, Dennis White, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Boxing Committee, announced last night. Entries will be restricted to two nominees in each weight division from each affiliated branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

First half of the World Chess Championship tournament will be played at The Hague from March 2 to 25 and the second half in Russia two weeks later, it was learned yesterday.

Bobby Newton, a Montrealer playing with Saint John Beavers, was believed to have established a record last night when he scored two goals within seconds in a Maritime Senior Hockey League game against Truro Bearcats at Truro, N.S. The scores came at 18:58 and 19:00 in the second period. Saint John won 9-8.

Four of the lesser lights of the Winter golf tour— Ky Laffoon, Jim Ferrier, Eric Monti and Norman Von Nida—led the greatest par-shattering rampage in the history of the Texas Open yesterday at San Antonio as they laid down a blazing 658 in the rain and mud to tie for the first-round lead.

Freddie Mills, European light heavyweight boxing champion, decided yesterday he will defend his title against Spain's Pacho Beuno at Harringay Arena, London, February 17.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, said yesterday he and club owners in the circuit had discussed possibilities of a peace settlement between organized baseball and the Mexican League, but declined to say what conclusion they reached.

CANADIAN SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By EDGAR SIMON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP)—When they threw an "Owen Sound Night" at Maple Leaf Gardens last week, it put three guys on the spot. Everyone knows what happens to athletes when a night is set aside to do them honor. They usually strike out, drop the crucial touchdown pass and generally send the fans home wondering why they ever gave them a party at all.

Reviewing last Saturday's festivities, Bill (Owen Sound Sun-Times) Dane decided the hometown boys came through all right. Melville (Butch) Keeling refereed a sound game, Hap Day coached the Leafs to a 3-2 win, and Harry Lumley turned in a whale of a job in the Detroit nets.

Reviewing the career of the 21-year-old Lumley, Bill recalls an incident that helped make him the great competitor he is.

Harry, a better-than-average lacrosse player for Owen Sound Georgians in the summer months, is a genial soul who likes to chat with the boys, even during a game. Occasionally he'd be concentrating so hard on a bit of repartee that an opponent would beat him on an important faceoff.

Finally the Georgian coach put Lumley under orders to keep his mouth shut while, he was on the floor. That night Ken Dixon of the Mimico Mountaineers sauntered over before a face-off and said hello, only to have Lumley turn his back and walk away.

"What's eating him?" the astonished Dixon asked another Owen Sound player.

The Georgian shrugged his shoulders.

"Him?" he said, "Oh, he's a regular now."

Sucess Story

The pixie - like imagination of Ted (Toronto Telegram) Reeve is kindled by the story of Sverre Farstad of Norway, the ice-rink attendant who cleaned up on speed - skating events at the Olympics.

"Get the picture," says Ted — "The hero pushing his snow cleaner around between periods . . . skating swiftly and . . . skating swifter and swifter in the hopes that certain someone in the box seats will notice him instead of the performer."

Finally, at his own request, the kid gets to clean off the whole ice surface all by himself, skating himself right into an Olympic championship!

"Triumphal return — grateful rink - owner gives him a bigger scraper and says 'In 1952 you will break your own record . . . carry on . . .' (fanfare)."

Probably those Olympic committeemen could have avoided a lot of bad publicity if they hired a zany like Ted as a press agent.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 7. (AP)—Jersey Jones points out a parallel between the current boxing era and the period just after the First World War, when numerous foreign heavyweights of varying ability invaded the United States in search of a few bucks. . . That age produced Georges Carpentier, Luis Firpo and $1,000,000 gates and also Paulino Uzcudun, Phil Scott, Knute Hansen and eventually Primo Carnera. . . Recently fans have witnessed visits from Bruce Woodcock, Olle Tandberg, Gino Buonvino and uncounted lesser heavyweights. . . South Africa's Johnny Ralph may be the next.

Just a Habit

When Ralph Hamilton, former Indiana University basketball star now playing for Fort Wayne Zollners of the National Professional League, fouled out of last Sunday's game against tri-cities Blackhawks, it was the first time he had been ejected from a game on personal fouls in more than 15 years of competition in Grade school, high school, college, service and professional ball.

One-Minute Sports Ball

Ted Williams, more determined than ever to have a good season since Joe Dimaggio beat him out for that most valuable player award, already has turned down a $30,000 offer for 20 post-season exhibitions. . . Harry Todd, the Dallas golfer, likely won't be hitting the tournament trail this year. He has a new golf club and five children at home to keep him busy. . . Best-named young race hoss we've heard about this season is William Helis Greek blonde. It's out of Peroxide by Heliopolis.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 11.

"I only wish I could. My masseuse is due here any minute to take off a few pounds—then I'll rest a while. I'll see you at dinner."

She vanished as quickly as she had appeared.

Velma hurried into smart black breeches, black boots, a mannish white linen shirt, and black and white short flannel coat. It was the best looking habit she owned, and there were several in her trunks. She felt she must be exceedingly attractive from now on. No knowing who would arrive at the lake. If Tom should come earlier than he was expected—

Velma's slim erect figure made a lovely picture on the sorrel Doopie. She wore no hat, and as path, winding around the five-mile shore-line of the lake, her flyng curls made a sweet golden halo about her face. The pine needles were a soft cushion under Doopie's eager feet and with difficulty Velma held her in check.

She finally succeeded in pulling her down to a walk. She took a long deep breath of the pure spicy air, and relaxed in the saddle. Cardinals and blue jays peered down curiously from high branches, squirrels and chipmunks, furious with fright, streaked across her path. Just enough filtered through the tall trees to sun makes lacy patterns on everything. It was, as Marie had said, a heavenly day.

Velma sent Doopie into a canter. A wave of exhileration shot through her. She must ride more often. She loved it.

A blueberry, too big and shiny to be ignored, hung on a low bush ahead She reached for it as she passed. Just then, Doopie stumbled over a tree root and Velma swayed dangerously. Her left foot came out of the stirrup. She tried to keep her balance, lost it, and slipped head first to the ground.

Doopie, now wildly excited, began to run, dragging Velma by her right foot in the stirrup. At last this foot came free also, and she lay unconscious beside the path.

The foam-flecked Doopie ran into the Clark stable shortly afterward, causing stable boys and grooms to saddle fast mounts and ride anxiously out in search of Velma. They soon found her and carried her, still unconscious, back to camp.

Marie Clark worked frantically over Velma's inert form, blaming herself for the accident because she had sent Velma out to ride. Within two hours, Dr. Green had come from Carryville by plane, and was a Velma's beside giving crisp orders to nurses and servants.

All during the remainder of that day and the two days following, Velma did not regain consciousness. Marie was filled with agonized suspense. The whole household seemed to be swinging with bated breath around the weak thread of life hanging in the balance upstairs in that quiet darkened room.

When Velma's eyes finally flickered open, the two nurses exchanged relieved glances. Their patient was now out of danger.

However, it was several long weeks before Velma again was herself. She learned that Tom Orville had come and gone at various times. [illegible] seemed to take particular delight in visiting Velma's room, she exploiting Tom's prowess at this and that sport, telling her about what he thought or said, how he looked; but she never brought Velma an endearing message from a lover or even friendly inquiry from him. This seemed to Velma the last out and out neglect she could endure from Tom Orville. It was inhuman; he was unlike any man she could love. She would forget him!

She was quite herself when it came time to return to Carryville. Marie was determined to give a final party to celebrate the end of the season and, furthermore, to impress the people in the surrounding camps with the sauve ingeniousness of the Clark social doings.

Velma bravely tried to be enthusiastic about this farewell to Lake Ingus, but she could not rise to any particular heights of fervor, although outwardly, she was once again her old gay self, helping Marie give the finest, most satisfactory swimming party of the summer.

Even the elements seemed willing to co-operate on this evening in late August. The daintiest of new moons surrounded itself by blinking stars and gazed slyly down at the merrymakers around the Clark's blue-tiled swimming pool. Under the electrically lighted lanterns, people, young and old, strolled about in vari-colored bathing attire. Velma decided that many of them looked far better in this half-undress than they did fully clothed. Specially was this true of Louise Clark, whose flesh-revealing suit gave her an elfish slimness, which, when covered by tight-fitting garments, often stood for actual skinniness.

Velma was wearing a backless rose colored suit with green sandals and cap, an ensemble she had purchased last year on the Rue de la Paix. She looked alluringly pretty and chic and much like a little princess. Indeed, she felt like a bewildered little princess when Tom Orville in shorts, his muscles rippling under a heavy coat of tan, became one of the milling crowd of guests and went straight to Louise.

"If one expects to get on in the world, the heart is never worn on the sleeve," thought Velma tremulously.

She turned immediately to Ralph Benner, who lolled in an iron beach chair beside her on the rim of the pool. "Didn't you love this?" she asked, focusing her dreamy brown eyes on his round florid countenance. "Here we're so gay—and beyond the rim of lights out there is the dark quiet of mysterious Lake Ingus. It's like hiring a planet of our own, isn't it?"

Orchestra music in the rose garden drifted out to them, sweetening the cool gentle breeze.

His small gray eyes blinked at her through his thick-lensed glasses. "Do you know, Velma, you're the sort of woman who intrigues me? You get beneath the surface of things—you're fascinating—as mysterious as the lake itself."

She saw Tom Orville rise abruptly and start toward them. A sinking apprehension caught her in its grasp.

A waiter came up just then with a tray of cocktails. Velma took one of the fruit-juice variety served for the benefit of the few teetotalers present.

Her hand holding the glass shook. She managed, "Quite well, thank you."

"Mind if I sit down?" he dropped into the vacant chair on the other side of her.

"Why—no. Why should I?" she returned coolly.

Her eyes lowered to her glass. She took a quick swallow of the drink and barely escaped choking.

Claire Johnson called from the middle of the pool, "I'll dare you to come in and dance with me, Ralph!"

Trying to appear as youthful as he longed to feel, Benner turned to Velma, excused himself, and went cautiously down the ladder into the pool.

Tom leaned toward Velma. "For once, I could like that Johnson woman," he said emphatically. "I've the surprising luck to be alone with you."

Velma felt her cheeks burning She set aside her glass but did not reply. All overtures now coming from this young man must be listinctly sincere. He had ignored her too long to expect to begin exactly where they had left off.

"Let's get out of this," he said, in her ear.

"Yes," she was surprised to hear herself say, "I'd like to."

They started across the sand, his arm linked through hers, as though the last few weeks of bitter loneliness had never been. Her heart was pounding wildly; again she was keyed to an ecstasy of emotion.

They sat down on a rustic bench behind a summer house. His arm went around her, he drew her head to his shoulder. "Darling," he said unsteadily, "I've—I've missed you so."

The uncertainty that had been hers was no more. It was as if she had taken an abrupt shower in needles and assurance. No man ever spoke to woman with such tender supplication and not meant it.

She no longer paused to analyze her feelings for him. Lingeringly, her fingertips went across his lips. He caught them and pressed them there as though he never would let them go

Finally he asked, "Am I dreaming? Is this really you, darling? I've wanted to see you so long! Whatever it was that tore us apart, seemed to make a pretty good job of it From now on—"

"Velma! Velma!" cried the frantic voice of Maude, coming toward them "Velma, where are you?"

It was a call sounding a calamity. Velma immediately felt the tragic import of it. She shivered.

Maude called again almost hysterically.

"Here I am—here!" Velma cried fearfully, jumping to her feet.

"Something must have happened, Tom; we'll have to go back,' she said reluctantly.

"Damn!" he exploded. "Before we have a chance to figure out why we've lost all this time—before we—"

"Oh, Velma!" cried Maude, rushing up to them. "It's—it's mother! She's—they've taken her to the house! She fell—she's unconscious—Jerry's gone to phone a doctor."

Velma and Tom no wran swiftly with Maude up the hill to the house where they found Marie Clark on a divan in the gun room.

Velma took Marie's hand, began briskly rubbing her arm. She gazed critically at Marie's motionless face, thinking that now, in her extreme palor, she was more beautiful than ever.

Suddenly, she drew back in alarm. Marie's hand was cold.

Velma cried heartbrokenly, "Tom! Tom!" as she turned and buried her tear-streaked face on his shoulder.

When Dr. Green arrived, he pronounced Marie Clark dean from a malady of which she had long suffered but never revealed to any one but himself.

Tom accomplished lalayw

Tom accompanied Velma and Marie's two daughters back to Carryville where Marie was laid to rest beside her husband in lovely Mount Tulane cemetery. The days, both before and after the funeral, were filled with confusion. Velma was obliged to superintend the disordered household, Maude and Lolise being of no use whatsoever during this sad period.

It was Tom upon whom Velma no wleaned for courage. He managed to be at the Clark home frequently, and to make himself unaccountably useful. He and Velma, however, had few minutes alone. Louise was certain to appear and make it a threesome. This did not annoy Velma too much, because she was mentally and physically too weary to be concerned over it. Besides, she felt absolutely certain of Tom.

On the eve of their departure for Lake Ingus to close the camp for the season, Louise, Maude and Velma were in the spacious library of the Carryville house. Tom came in, his face crimson from driving in a cutting wind. He sat down before the fireplace, spread his cold hands to the blazing logs.

"Oh, boy, this heat is immense!"

Capital Closeups:

Future of Prime Minister Speculated on in Ottawa

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 7 (CP)—Speculation about the future of William Lyon Mackenzie King has enveloped two great houses that have long been the most famous if not the most pretentious in Ottawa.

One is Rideau Hall, rambling home of the Governor-General, a grey, fence-girdled mass of stone whose lawns reach towards the edge of a bluff over the Ottawa River. The other is Laurier House, a sand-colored, three-storey, brick residence where the Prime Minister has lived a bachelor's life for the last 25 years or so.

Conjecture has singled them out, first, because Mr. King has said he will offer his resignation to a Liberal convention in August and, second, because he has not turned a cold shoulder to suggestions that he become the first Canadian-born Governor-General of the Dominion.

In fact, sources close to him think that if sufficient public support swung behind the proposal made in the Commons by Bona Arsenault (L-Bonaventure), the Prime Minister might be swayed.

The twist of events that followed his retirement statement finally came to Laurier House itself, a tall, tired residence in the sandy hill area which has yielded its social pre-eminence to newer districts such as Rockcliffe.

It revived an old argument as to just who owns the home. There is little doubt that it was left to Mr. King as his personal property by Lady Laurier who died a few years after Sir Wilfrid. The great Liberal leader of the early years of the century. But there are those who still harbor the old impression that it was left him as Liberal leader and that it actually is the property of the party.

It is possible Mr. King will move out when he retires and turn over the old-fashioned house to his successor. But men who know his ways predict he will remain there for the rest of his days, puttering up to nearby Kingsmere, his summer home in Quebec, when the warm season comes each year.

That is, unless he becomes Governor-General. That question, for the present is entirely speculative.

SECOND EXTORTION DEMAND

Toronto, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Michael Bildner, Toronto merchant, said he received another telephone call last night in an attempt to frighten him into payment of $10,000 from the same person that called Jan. 27. It was the fifth such attempt.

The speaker asked how he liked the last experience when a bullet was fired through a front bedroom window of his home, imbedding in the wall a foot above the bed in which his wife was sleeping.

"That was just the beginning," said the voice.

ARMED MAN ARRESTED

Toronto, Feb. 6 —(CP)— A 27-year-old armed man, suspected in the abduction and robbery of a Lindsay taxi driver earlier this week, was arrested shortly before 11 a.m. today and is held for questioning. A squad of officers searched the midtown area for a second man who eluded capture.

Ellwood Moynes, taxi driver, reported to police Wednesday night that he was kidnapped by two men who forced him to drive to Toronto and dumped him out of the cab in Toronto after robbing him of $15.

Radar Equipment Directs Pilots to Safe Landing

Edmonton — (CP) — First of the "G. C. A." or ground controlled approach units purchased by the R.C.A.F. to help pilots to land when visibility is poor is in service at the station here, where Canadian airmen are understudying Americans in the use of the equipment, bought in the United States.

G.C.A. was used extensively by the United States Air Force and the R.A.F. during the Second World War, and is one of the few radar devices which has had an extensive peacetime application.

It's not difficult to recognize the unit here. It consists of two large vans on one of the runways. They actually are combined trucks and trailers, gaudily painted in a red-and-white checkerboard pattern.

The unit can be moved to any runway, depending on wind direction. The forward section houses two generators which power the trailer holding the radar and communications equipment. The highly technical apparatus which makes up the unit lines two walls of the trailer.

Most of the operating now is done by U.S.A.F. technicians. Several Canadians are working with them. The unit can be manned by a team of two operators and one mechanic. One of the men, known as the search controller, probes for aircraft up to 30 miles away. On a specified pattern he brings the pilot of the aircraft in to the final approach, roughly 10 miles from the airfield.

Orients Aircraft

From there the second or final operator takes over. He orients the aircraft, giving it its position right or left of the runway's centre line, and corrects its elevation where this is above or below the proper guide path.

G.C.A. enables pilots to receive highly accurate alterations for correct altitudes and headings. Experienced operators can direct a pilot to a runway until his wheels are ready to touch down when a field is blanketed by fog or, as the airmen say, "socked in."

Operators can visually pick up an incoming aircraft, which is represented on a lighted screen. By ground rings operators can tell exactly how far a plane is from the runway.

Plane-to-ground contact is established orally by wireless. The pilot is told at what height and on what headings to fly. Once he is being brought in, he is directed to say no more unless he fails to hear the operator's voice.

The operator keeps up a steady stream of chatter, giving small corrections of degree headings and rate of descent. All this while he follows the white speck on his screen.

If it should happen that the pilot fails to hear the operator, he says so, then pulls up to a prescribed height to come in for another approach.

Claims Cabot Didn't Reach Newfoundland

By BOB JELLISON

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Glace Bay, N. S. —(CP)— Machinery through which Newfoundland might join the Dominion of Canada had just begun to roll when Albert Almon came along and threw a monkey wrench into the works by robbing the ancient colony of its most cherished belief.

Mr. Almon says that when John Cabot sailed to the New World in 1497, he didn't land at Newfoundland at all. It was Cape Breton he discovered.

Well, Mr. Almond has been awarded an honorary master of arts degree for his work in historical research and besides that he is the leading plumber of Glace Bay. Who could be better equipped to throw a wrench?

He was awarded the sheepskin by Saint Francis Xavier University at Antigonish, N. S., last spring in recognition of his gathering of historical data and archaeological tit-bits ever since he was a youngster. Now, he is considered the authority on the early history of Cape Breton Island.

And when he says Cabot probably never set foot on Newfoundland, he presents his findings to bear out his thesis.

Off and on since he was a youngster (Almon says he's "73 or 74" now) the tradesman who still operates his own shop has investigated the logs of Cabot's ship, the Matthew, and the first written reports of what he told the folks when he got back to England.

The log shows Cabot landed one June morning at a place Almon thinks is now Sugar Loaf at Cape North. He mounted the crest and raised the Royal Standard of England and the Banner of St. Mark over the island.

Circled the Island

Cabot then coasted along the shores about "300 leagues," circumnavigating the island and making notations of the adjoining lands. This fact leads Almon to remark that "Newfoundland was, at that time and that visit, too large for Cabot to circle. It must be that Cabot spoke of Cape Breton."

Armament of that period has recently been unearthed in Cape North, which seems to support Almon's theory. The tarnished articles included a cannon and several halberds, which were standard equipment on the Matthew. Almon knows that from a picture of the vessel being loaded for the voyage in Bristol. And, "he no doubt left some of the armament since he had it in abundance."

He adds: "That was the only island Cabot claimed to have landed on, although he did mention sight of Newfoundland and named the island Saint John."

These contentions and findings interspersed with his own wry observations on the proceedings, have been set down in a schoolroom copy book, but otherwise Mr. Almon would be considered an iconoclast in any orthodox institution of learning. He is vehement in his belief that Columbus did not discover America. Cabot did.

Though he believes it possible that Columbus discovered South America about a year after Cabot's exploit, he says the closest Christopher ever got to North America was the island of San Salvador, about 350 miles southeast of the Florida tip.

"OPERATION SNOWDROP" NEAR CANADIAN BORDER

The greatest over-snow mass jump in U. S. history was staged in sub-zero weather by 600 members of the 505th airborne combat team at Pine Camp, N.Y., near the Canadian border. Each man was weighted down with 150 pounds of combat equipment. The jump marked the final phase of a three-month experimental army program which was begun for preparedness when waging war in rigorous climates. Some of the 18 army C-82 "flying boxcars" may be seen in top photo as they disgorge their human cargo. Certainly looking alert below is a member of the 505th airborne combat team as he prepares to leave one of the 18 C-82 "Flying Boxcars."

Gershwin's Music Retains Popularity in United States

By CHARLES HONCE

New York (AP) — Are you still playing, singing or listening to the music of George Gershwin?

The chances are that the answer is yes since Gershwin's music is more popular today—almost 11 years after the composer's death—than ever before.

Can it be possible that the onetime tin pan alley tunesmith who died at 38, will turn out to be the United States' most enduring composer?

The long-haired boys may be expected to hem and haw or to record a prompt no! But the record of Gershwin's continuing and increasing popularity is something you don't just casually shrug off. The fact remains that probably the most widely known and popular modern composition by an American is a Gershwin work.

The number is "Rhapsody in Blue."

The subject is particularly apropos at this time because the "Rhapsody" will have a birthday on Feb. 12—its 24th. Curiously, that is pretty close to the age of the composer when he hurriedly turned it out on commission from Paul Whiteman in 1924.

The "Rhapsody" placed, both second and third on "Billboard's" recent compilation of 1947's "top selling classical record albums over retail counters," based on weekly reports from 1,000 retailers.

Led the Field

The number one item was Rachmaninoff's "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor," but as the total points scored for second and third places top the Rachmaninoff number, it can be said that Gershwin actually led the field. The second-place recording was that of the Philadelphia orchestra, directed by Eugene Ormandy and with Oscar Levant at the piano. The third-place recording was by the man who started it all—Paul Whiteman.

Gershwin died in Hollywood of a brain tumor on July 11, 1937. He was born in Brooklyn Sept. 26, 1898, and so would have been only 49 today.

It is idle to speculate what heights he might have scaled had he been spared for 11 more years of composition. Probably it is enough to say that in a comparatively brief career he was able to win a unique place in American music. However, it is worth noting that while his "Second Rhapsody" (1931) is a comparatively minor effort, and his "Cuban Overture" (1934) is no great shakes among his larger works, he actually was at the peak of his powers in his last major production. This was the folk opera "Porgy and Bess" (1935).

At the time of Gershwin's death critics debated whether his eventual fame would stem from the musical comedy stage or the concert hall. The question is pretty well decided now. The evidence is on the side of the concert hall.

The record shows that such orchestral works as the "Rhapsody" the "Concerto," and "An American in Paris," and the "Porgy and Bess" music are head over heels in front of the greater part of the work Gershwin did in musical comedy.

Fish Through Ice From Comfy Huts

Allandale, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP) — With meat prices climbing beyond family budgets, about 40 people in this district follow a sporting method of augmenting daily protein rations. Sitting in snug little huts, they spend their spare winter days pulling whitefish out of holes in Lake Simcoe's frozen surface.

Every winter, at the beginning of January, they haul their runner-mounted huts out over the lake and choose their spot. It's a heavy job to pull the plywood or framed-canvas huts a mile over the ice but fishermen are clannish folk and usually work in groups. While the wind howls across the ice they sit in comfort on homemade benches, warmed by a tiny coal-stove set on a built-in shelf on the wall, about a foot above the ice.

One group has a trick of its own for luring fish onto hooks. Into a coffee can with holes punched in the bottom boiled rice is placed. Then they lower the can, upright, down to the bottom and with a sharp tug on the line, upset the can, scattering the rice. The whitefish gobble the ice and occasionally the fishermen's hooks, baited with salted minnows.

Like many other sports, ice fishing has its hazards. As long as the weather is cold and there is a 10-inch floor of ice under the hut no one worries, but a sudden thaw can be disastrous. And signs of a blizzard are the fisherman's cue to get off the lake in a hurry.

A fair day's catch is about five whitefish, which can be sold at good prices, or go to the home table to keep down the cost of living. But the profit motive is not a compelling one for many of the fishermen, who will often present part of their catch to nonfishing neighbors.

GANDHI REFUSED TO HAVE PERSONS SEARCHED

New Delhi, Feb. 7 —(AP)— Home niMister Home Minister Sardar V. Patel told parliament yesterday Mohandas K. Gandhi rejected his entreaties to have persons attending hi sprayer meetings searched.

"My life is in the hands of God and if I have to die, na precautions can save me," Patel quoted Gandhi as saying upon vetoing his appeal. "I will not agree to anyone being restricted from coming to the prayer meeting or for anyone to come between me and my audience."

Gandhi was shot to death a week ago while walking to a prayer meeting.

Bacterial Flypaper Traps Disease Germs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

New York, (AP)—A bacterial flypaper is a new aid toward keeping rooms freer of disease germs.

It's a chemical that can be put on floors, blankets or curtains to catch and hold tiny organisms, including those that cause colds, when they settle out of the air.

The chemical is an oil and a detergent, added to make the oil mix in water, that looks and feels like cold cream. It has no odor and can be applied as an invisible coating that won't change the feel of fabrics or flooring, says L. S. Green, whose firm produces the material (called Germseal).

Small amounts can be added to water when floors are washed, or to rinse water when blankets or other fabrics are washed. The washing removes the trapped organisms.

Wartime tests at Camp Carson, Colo., showed that during periods of activity in wards the number of streptoccoci in the air was reduced 86 per cent when fabrics and floors had been treated, Green said.

An article in the American Journal of Medical Science reported a 10 per cent reduction in acute respiratory infections in treated areas of a barracks. Another test showed that a treated blanket was nine times more effective in holding micro-organisms than a non-treated blanket.

Several New York business houses are experimenting with the chemical now, Green said. Whether the chemical can trap substances that cause allergies still is being investigated, he added.

"YOUR FUTURE IS OUR BUSINESS . . . TODAY"

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a Sunday walk with pop, and I said, Cheese it, pop, look who's coming.

Meening Admiral Tricker, and pop said, Horse blanket to blazes, now I'll have to listen to what's wrong with the werld and what's needed to set it rite.

Being a good guess, Admiral Tricker stopping and talking so pop had to act polite and stop and listen, and Admiral Tricker said, Do you know what's the cause of all our present trubble? Do you know what's behind it all? he said.

I can answer that in one werd, it's people, pop said, and Admiral Tricker said, It's greed and selfishness and love thyself before you love thy naybor, that's what it is, and that's what's got to be corrected.

I see what you mean, pop said. We've got to change human nature. Put everybody against a wall and shoot them, and it'll make the biggest change in them you could imagine. But let's do it fair and square. Let the men shoot the women and the women shoot the men, he said, and Admiral Tricker said, Let everybody stop being greedy and selfish. Let them think of the other fellow ferst and themselves last, that's the way and that's the only way to see the end of high prices and generel discontent, he said.

Not only that, by gollies, but it would also solve the transportation problem, pop said, and Admiral Tricker said, Of course it would, it would bring all kinds of prices down.

It would make prices unnecessary, as far as transportation goes, pop said. Dont you see, Admiral, everybody would sprout wings, and we'd all be flitting from place to place with the greatest of ease at no expense whatever. Well, goodbye now, Admiral, he said.

And we quick kept on going before Admiral Tricker could think of the next thing to say.

I saw pop getting off the bus and we walked home together for company, and pop stopped to shake hands with Mr. Judge, saying, How's the wholesale hardware game

Dont ask, Mr. Judge said. How's insurance, he said, and pop said, I'd tell you, but I don't like to use that kind of language in public, especially in frunt of childern.

Meening me, and after supper I waited till pop started to smoke the ferst half of his 2nd cigar, and I said, Hay, pop?

At your service 24 hours a day, including hollidays, pop said.

Meaning what, and I said, Is your bizzness really so fierce, pop?

I imagine you've never heard of the werd louzey, pop said, and I said, Sure I have, pop.

Then draw your own conclusions, pop said.

Meening that's a way his bizzness was, and I said, Well gosh, pop, I mean G, I bet it's not your fault.

Now that's a very wise observation from one of your limited experience, pop said. As a matter of fact I am blameless. I am meerly an unwilling spectator and an innocent victim blown on the baffling winds of Fate in my own office. It is true that a certain number of people seem to take an almost pathetic intrist in my proposals, but they invarribly tern out to be people without money, he said.

G, pop, I know just how you feel, I said, and pop said, The dooce you do.

Sure, pop, it's the same way with me in school, I said. I know a lot of answers without having to study for them especially, but my teecher always seems to ask me the other kind, and the result is I get bum marks. You can see for yourself, pop, here's my report card. I have to hand it in tomorrow, so I guess this is your last chance to sine it, pop, I said.

Which he did, claiming it's too bad I'm not as smart in school as what I am out.

Growing Peanuts for Oil

In a grand, over-all plan to brighten the prospects—commercial, industrial, social—of the "dark continent", the most spectacular item of a giant project mapped by Great Britain for a 10-year welfare and development scheme is the allegedly lowly peanut, says a writer in The Kansas City Star.

"Peanuts" is a favorite belittling term, but from now on out, "peanuts for East Africa" connotes 3 1-4 million acres of land from which groundnuts (as the British loosely refer to peanuts) will be harvested.

Not primarily, be it said, for vending machines in drug stores and office hobbies, or for cracking at circuses and cinemas, is the East African product intended: but rather for its rich vegetable oil to help relieve the world's acute shortage of fats. (According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a ton of peanuts in the shell will yield from 480 to 580 pounds of peanut oil. Forty-five to 50 percent of each peanut is oil.)

The scope and importance of the peanut project may be understood from the published data from Dares Salaam, seaport capital of Tanganyika territory, in which is described the 15,000-acre start on what will ultimately be the largest mechanized farm in the world, stretching across 5,000 square miles of Tanganyika, Northern Rhodesia and Kenya, huge contiguous British colonics of East Africa and representing an outlay of 200 million dollars—perhaps the most important single act of the government in the history of British tropical Africa. Planting has already started on land reclaimed from the Tanganyika bush from the first load of quick-growing peanut seed received at the headquarters camp and the first crop, relatively small will be reaped next Spring. The real crop will be harvested in 1951—600,000 tons of rich vegetable oil from three large cultivated blocks.

Directing this British-African enterprise in the newly formed Overseas Wood corporation, of which L. A. Plummer, one of the controllers of The London Daily Express, is chairman-designate. Recently, with Maj. Gen. Desmond Harrison, the corporation's general manager in Africa, Plummer toured the area now being cleared for peanuts with heavy tractors, bull dozers and rippers. "The prospects are wonderful", he declared. "In my view, opening up East Africa for the groundnut plantations is comparable only with the opening of the western states in the U.S.A."

It is hopefully believed that, through this, and companion undertakings, the African peoples will achieve a whole new standard if modern living, with new towns, steady, well-paid jobs, fuller education. The project is so vast in scope that it will call for about 32,000 Africans to manage the agricultural work. Another 25,000 native laborers will be needed for clearing the bush, building roads, railways, port facilities.

Within five years, it is predicted, what is now useless land in an arid, fly-infested swamp, almost uninhabited, will be a bustling farm corporation. Not only will the project bring immense social and economic benefits to the African districts and peoples concerned; it will also help meet urgent nutritional needs in the world today. With a total capital expenditure of less than $32 for each acre opened up, more than 60,000 Africans will be employed clearing the ground and farming. The workers will be gathered with their families into communities of between 1.000 and 2,000.

The highest standard has been set for health, nutrition, housing, education and general welfare of the employees. Already the local people are planning for a life such as they have never known—an eight-hour day all year round, their children at progressive schools, garden cities, subscription libraries, social clubs.

A great new harbor at Mto Mtwara, rejoicing already in the name of "Port Peanut", will link the groundnut plantation with world supply channels, while more than 100 miles of new railway will connect the farthest limits of the farm land. A total of two million dollars will be invested in railroad, port and road construction.

The 3,250,000 acres of bush land to be cleared in the three colonies named is to be divided into 107 units of 30,000 acres each, 80 of the units in Southern Tanganyika. By the end of last July some 2,500 Africans had been brought into the area named, 900 of them employed as motor and tractor drivers, clerks and artisans, or in training for more highly skilled work. Wherever possible the British East African natives are being trained, so that eventually they can manage the farms as their own local development.

PAPYRUS BOATS

According to the Roman writer Pliny, boats were invented in Egypt and were first made of papyrus, an aquatic plant of the sedge family.

Elderly Man Hurls Himself In Front of Train

Riverside, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP)—Eye-witnesses said an elderly man committed suicide by hurling himself in front of the Canadian National Railways No. 18 passenger train near the Lauzon road crossing shortly before 2 p.m. Friday.

Earlier reports said he had been killed in a train-car collision. Mrs. Eveelyn Boucher, who lives near the tracks, said she saw the man walking up and down the tracks before the No. 18 passenger train passed through en route from Windsor to Toronto.

Just as the fast-moving train neeared him he jumped in front of ot. Death was instantaneous.

It was the second collision on the C.N.R. tracks in this immediate area. Just four hours earlier in Tecumseh, seven miles east of here, an automobile was struck by the No. 12 train to Toronto. George Antaya, 46, was able to jump to safety before the crash.

'WELL OVER 2,000' MOSLEM INVADERS KILLED

Safebreaker Caught, Three Others Escape

Safe Containing $1,800 Taken By Fugitives

Lone Gunman Trapped When Police Arrive

Toronto, Feb. 9 (CP)— Arrested during an alleged attempt to hold up an east-end hotel, David Nolan, 22, will be charged with armed robbery and shopbreaking, police said today.

Nolan was trapped early today by a squad of police which surrounded Coxwell Inn on Danforth Avenue. Three others escaped with a safe containing $1,800.

Police responded to a call from a citizen who said he saw the safe being loaded into an automobile. Police said Nolan was holding at gunpoint John Higgins a watchman, as his accomplices fled at the sight of approaching police cars. The trapped gunman threatened to use Higgins as a hostage but had no opportunity as a squad of officers dashed into the hotel.

Higgins told police that he was washing the floor at 3 a.m. when he heard a noise behind him. As he went to get up a gun was pressed into his back and he was "wheeled into a corner."

When police arrived the gunman told Higgins "I think I'll make you go out first and then I'll come out behind you."

He failed to do so, but made Higgins promise he would not identify him in court.

CANADA'S 1947 FOREIGN TRADE A RECORD ONE

Dominion, However, Finds Herself With Lowered Favorable Trade Balance

Ottawa, Feb. 9 —(CP)— Topping wartime record years, Canada's 1947 foreign trade spiralled past the five billion dollar mark, but her over-all favorable com- to almost half the 1946 level. modity trade balance, slumped

Figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Saturday showed Canada's foreign trade for 1947 totalled $5,385,700,000, compared with $4,226,400,000 in 1946. The previous high was in 1944 when war materials formed the bulk of the total of $5,241,000,000.

Yet at the end of the year Canada's over-all trade balance with all countries was only $237,800,000, compared with $411,900,000 in the preceding year. On the debit side in favor of the United States was the sum of $918,100,00, compared with $496,700,000 in 1946; and on the credit side was a favorable balance with the United Kingdom of $564,300,000, compared with $397,400,000.

Importation of merchandise reached record values in 1947, totalling $2,573,900,000, compared with $1,927,300,000 in 1946, the previous peak year.

In December, the first full month in which Canada's dollar-saving import restrictions were in effect, imports declined to $194,200,000, compared with $229,100,000 in November. Total for the month was $12,300,000 above that of December, 1946.

During 1947 Canada imported goods valued at $1,974,679,000 from the United States, compared with $1,405,297,000 in 1946 — a jump of almost 30 per cent. Similarly, imports from the United Kingdom were valued at $188,531,000 in 1947, against $141,341,000 in 1946 — a jump of about 28 per cent.

In the export field, 1947 showed up as the highest peacetime year, totalling $2,774,900,000, and topping the 1946 total by by $462,700,000. Only three war years, 1943, 1944 and 1945, averaging $3,209,900,000, exceeded the 1947 level.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 9 (CP) —Synopsis: Over most of Ontario the weather is clear and very cold. Temperatures fell to just below zero during the night in southern sections of the province, and to 20 to 30 below generally in Northern Ontario with White River reporting 47 below. A disturbance is expected to develop over the north central states today and bring light snow to western sections of the province Tuesday afternoon. Elsewhere over Ontario clear and cold weather is expected today and Tuesday except for continued snowflurries near Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

GIVEN TWO YEARS

Toronto, Feb. 9—(CP)—Frank McGann, 24, was sentenced to two years less one day in reformatory on a charge of assault causing bodily harm involving a 16-year-old girl. He had been acquitted previously on an attempted rape charge..

The girl testified she drank beer with McGann last September and he drove her to a tree-enclosed place at a local beach and struck her several times in the face when she resisted his advances. McGann claimed the girl consented.

27 Head Livestock In Sidney Barn Burned to Death

Twelve head of cattle, four horses and 11 pigs owned by Kenneth York, farmer residing on the 5th concession of Sidney, were burned to death and the large frame barn was a complete loss following a fire of undetermined origin which Saturday evening burned the building to the ground.

Mr. York had completed the evening's chores about six-thirty. Shortly before eight o'clock a neighbor called on the phone stating the bar was afire.

"When I rushed out the entire basement was afire," stated Mr. York. "I attempted to get into the horse stable to save the horses but when I opened the stable door the flames struck me in the face."

Mr. York was unable to state what might have caused the blaze. The barn was not wired for electricity and the gasoline engine used for operating the milker had not been in use as only one cow was milking. He had done the chores with the light of a gasoline lantern.

Mr. and Mrs. York have lived on the farm, three miles east of Frankford, only a short time having purchased it within the past two years. He intends to rebuild.

Wealthy 400-Pound Spinster Dies In Barricaded, Junk-Filled House

Lynbrook, N. Y. Feb. 9 (AP)—A rag-wrapped 400-pound spinster—one of two reputed wealthy sisters — died yesterday in the barricaded and junk filled house where they retired from the world 10 years ago.

A doctor had to climb through a kitchen window to reach the body of Elsie Wolff, 43, who apparently died of a heart attack.

Police then battered down the nailed and bolted rear door of the crumbling, two-storey, five-room house.

"Mother wanted us to live here" said the surviving sister, Edith, 47, who had cared for the semi-invalid Elsie.

The sisters, their neighbors said, locked themselves in the kitchen after the death of their father, a merchant. Their mother Lena, died about 20 years ago.

Stacks of tin cans, boxes, newspapers and other debris littered the kitchen. The other rooms were crammed with junk and with merchandise—mostly wearable — which they moved from their father's store.

The house was without electricity, gas or water. A kerosene stove in the kitchen was the only comfort.

A relative estimated the sister's total wealth at $100,000. Yesterday the elder sister leaned out of the kitchen window and called to a passing boy to summon a doctor for Elsie. Six men were needed to carry out the body.

DEARLAND FRASER, STOCO, SHOOTS SELF IN BUSH

Police go to Home To Execute Warrant

Tweed, Feb. 9 (Special)—Defying the levelled pistols of two police officers, Dearland Fraser, 39-year-old Hungerford Township farm laborer, escaped into the woods Saturday and remained at large for several hours. Sunday morning, his frozen body, a bullet wound in the head, was found in two feet of snow. A verdict of suicide was announced.

According to Const. John Hatch of the Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc, Fraser bolted through the back door of his home when two policemen rapped at the front to execute a warrant charging sex offences.

Consts. Hatch and W. H. Gould of Marmora drew their revolvers and yelled for Fraser to stop. The suspect, a rifle slung under his arm, sprinted through the fields and disappeared into the bush before the pair could catch him.

All district roads were guarded and a posse of policemen scoured the area through the night, but it was not until early Sunday that two officers on snowshoes found the body, slumped in a swamp 3 miles from the Fraser home. Consts. Hatch and Thomas Lummis made the discovery, which brought the manhunt to a close.

Fraser, who lived at Stoco, four miles east of here was given three months' suspended sentence when he appeared on Oct. 19, 1944, before Deputy Magistrate A. B. Collins in Belleville police court on a charge of indecent assault.

Although Fraser had $65 in his clothing when police found him, Mrs. Fraser reported that her only income for raising the children came from montnly Family Allowance cheques.

The wife told of threats against the life of a daughter and herself if the police ever learned about conditions. Her husband, she wrote Reeve Rush, had added force to the warnings by brandishing his rifle .

After the body was taken from the swamp, the finding of suicide was disclosed by the district coroner, Dr. M. G. Dales of Tweed and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan who said no inquest would be necessary.

The announcement added that 28 persons were executed in various parts of Greece including 19 in Gianitsa, west of Salonika, for aiding the guerrilla cause.

Romance Ends Happily For RCAF Officer, Member Canada's Olympic Team

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 9 —(CP)— A romance, begun in Copenhagen four years ago, reached a happy ending today with the marriage of Flying Officer Hubert Brooks of Montreal, a member of the R.C.A.F. hockey team which won the Olympic championship yesterday, and Birthe Grontved, 26-year-old Norwegian.

Bridesmaids for the ceremony in the chapel of the Roman Catholic Church here, included Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's other Olympic winner, filling that role for the second time in her 19 years.

The romance started when Brooks was shot down in Europe during the war and made his way to Copenhagen where he met the 5-foot-2-inch Birthe and fell in love. He had returned to Canada and was trying to arrange his fiancee's entry when the fifth winter Olympics, which ended yesterday, gave him the opportunity of coming back to Europe.

Players on the R.C.A.F. Flyers formed an honor guard with upraised sticks. The bride was given away by Group Capt. Robert Cameron of Toronto and Winnipeg, air attache at Prague. Sqdn.-Ldr. A. G. (Sandy) Watson, manager of the Flyers, was best man.

Miss Scott, who won the Olympic women's figure skating crown was dressed in black chion and stole the spotlight after the ceremony when photographers insisted that she pose kissing the bridegroom.

Brooks, 25, played defence with the Canadian team. He was one of the five members of the R.C.A.F. to be awarded the Military Cross in the Second World War.

English War Bride Relates Tale Of Life of Disillusionment in U.S.

London, Feb. 9 (AP) —Virginia Petifurd, who'll be three next month, arrived here by plane from New York yesterday to join her mother, a war bride who came home because she thought Sikeston, Mo., population 8,000, was a "hick town."

Virginia's arrival touched off headlines in London newspapers over stories giving her mother's version of her unhappy life in Sikeston, down in the southeastern corner of Missouri.

The mother, Mrs. Irene Petifurd, 21, told this story to the London papers:

At 17 she married Cpl. Charles Petifurd of the United States Army Air Corps. He used to tell her about Sikeston she said. "The greatest little place on earth" and about the "spacious life" he could offer her there.

She said she found her new home in Sikeston consisted of a cabin without a bath, toilet or running water and "with everybody interested in everybody else's business."

So she left. She said she didn't take the baby because her husband wouldn't consent. Her efforts to win custody of Virginia finally were successful and the baby was flown here by United States Army authorities in care of a hostess.

Pictures of Mrs. Petifurd's reunion with Virginia and her tale about her disillusionment with the United States were the big news for millions of newspaper readers in this metropolis today.

Congratulatory Cables Deluge Team Members

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 9 (CP)—Members of the R.C.A.F. Flyers, Canada's victorious Olympic hockey team, were deluged today with cables of congratulation.

"Victory of our team will be received with rejoicing throughout all parts of Canada," Prime Minister Mackenzie King cabled the Flyers.

"On behalf of the government and people I send to the members of the team heartiest congratulations on the splendid achiement in winning the Olympic championship."

R.C.A.F. Headquarters sent "congratulations, well done" and Colin Gibson, Canadian Minister of National Defence for Air, in a telegram, said he was proud to congratulate the Flyers on living up to their motto, per ardua ad astra (through adversity to the stars). The hockey Hall of Fame in Kingston also messaged congratulations.

The players got a big laugh from the cable sent by the father of Pete Leitchnitz of Ottawa, 21-year-old member of the Canadian team. He telegraphed: "Congratulations, and what if it did cost me 10 bucks." It was signed "Paw."

Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. (Sandy) Watson, manager of the Flyers, and coach Frank Boucher, swamped with cables, said they would be unable to make individual replies but they expressed "warmest thanks."

Mountainous Seas In N.W. Pacific Claim 5 Lives

Astoria, Ore., Feb. 9. (AP)—A gale that battered shipping off the Pacific Northwest Coast and took the lives of five seamen during the weekend was weakening fast.

Winds up to 75 miles an hour and mountainous seas imperiled some 160 men aboard eight vessels in two days grounded a freighter swamped and sank a fishing boat and damaged others.

Injuries were numerous among fishermen and sailors in the storm area.

The gale born off the Aleutians in the North Pacific last Thursday reached its full fury Saturday and early Sunday. Waves have now subsided and the weather bureau said the southwester would blow itself out sometime today. Winds were down to 25-30 miles an hour velocity.

Six crew members of the fishing boat fearless were rescued by the coast guard cutter Balsam early yesterday eight miles off Tillamook Rock Ore. They had survived a night long battle with seas that swept away the pilot house flooded the engine room and injured one sailor.

SUPERSONIC AGE NOT FAR DISTANT, HILDRED DECLARES

Rapid Air Progress After Consolidation

Montreal, Feb. 9 (CP) — The air transport industry must spend the next 30 months in consolidation before going on to further dynamic developments but after that "flying will become steadily cheaper, more dependable, more safe, comfortable and faster," said William P. Hildred, director general of the International Air Transport Association said here today.

Addressing the Canadian Club of Montreal he said "the general public should not expect things to happen too fast in the immediate future.

Not Quite So Fast

"Perhaps the publicity given to many technical developments which are still experimental has created the impression that we shall have jet propulsion on a commercial scale next year, rocket propulsion in 10 years and weekends on the moon 15 years by atomic power, I do not think that things will move quite so fast."

Asserting that "the application of technical developments to commercial practice has always been pretty slow and is likely to get slower," Sir William explained that the cost and size of new aircraft have increased from $4 a pound for a 20,000-pound aircraft to nearer $10 a pound for new models weighing up to 70 tons.

"A second reason," he added, "is that as the size of an aircraft increases so does the seriousness of any accident happening to it."

Both these forces, will make airline operators less willing to try monky tricks with fundamentally new designs."

"The supersonic day is far distant," he added. "I shall not be content until I can eat breakfast in London and have lunch in New York or Montreal, or Buenos Aires, for that matter."

Eight Miners Die In Explosion In Arkansas

Greenwood, Ark., Feb. 9 (AP) —Investigators will go into the Sunshine coal mine near here today seeking the cause of an explosion that killed eight miners three of them brothers.

The blast occurred yesterday afternoon as the day and night shifts were preparing to change. All the dead were day workers.

The dead: Joe Williams, 32, day shift foreman; Matt Denne, 43; John Winters; Earl Fish, about 30; Ralph Morelock, about 30; and three brothers, Frank, Louis and Albin Grilc.

The bodies were recovered within six hours after the blast.

Gold Coast Tribal Chiefs Boycott Imported Goods, War on Living Cost

Accra, Gold Coast, West Africa, Feb. 9 (AP)—Tribal Chiefs on the Gold Coast, warring on the high cost of living, have given their blessing to a boycott of imported goods.

The boycott, in effect more than a week, has brought trade to a virtual standstill. Stores which formerly counted their sales in pounds now do not make as many pence. Losses are estimated at £1,000,000 ($4,000,000) or more. more.

The boycotted imports are mainly textiles. Many stores have closed for lack of business.

Nii Kwanena Bonne 11, a chief of Osu, toured the country, telling the Africans that high prices are evil. In many towns Africans are restricted by tribal oaths from buying all kinds of imported goods. Thousand of women in Accra (population about 75,005) demonstrate daily in support of the boycott.

A government committee is expected to act on the situation in about six weeks.

The Gold Coast, on the Gulf of Guinea, has been under British control since 1871. It is a major producer of cocoa, with exports of this product in 1945 amounting to more than $28,000,000. Imports that year, for the Gold coast and immediately adjacent territory, amounted to $7,200,000 from the United States and $26,000,000 from the United Kingdom.

Fight Major Battle With Indian Troops In N. Kashmir State

Attackers Put to Flight With Machine-Gun Fire

New Delhi, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Indian army said today 2,000 Moslem raiders were killed Friday in the greatest battle of the Kashmir campaign.

Another 2,000 were declared wounded in the engagement near Naoshera, 50 miles northwest of Jammu, capital of the southern Kashmir province of Jammu.

The predominantly Hindu and Sikh forces of the Indian army were led by a Moslem, Brig. Muhammad Usman.

An official spokesman said 11,000 attackers struck in waves, using heavy automatic weapons. They were repulsed in daylight but came back at night for hand to hand combat featuring sword play. The spokesman did not report Indian losses. Newspaper dispatches said two of the slain appeared to be foreign officers.

The army said it captured quantities of munitions and was heavily shelling Moslem positions. Machine-gun and mortar fire were returned.

Indian and Kashmir-state forces have been fighting Moslem tribesmen in Kashmir since last October, India, in which the state now is included, has accused neighboring Pakitsan of supporting the tribesmen. The dispute is before the United Nations Security Council.

In India, two rival Moslem organizations were under government ban today in the latest aftermath of the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

League Outlawed

The Khaksars and the Moslem League National Guard were outlawed throughout India yesterday. The home industry said the reason is that they have contributed to communal strife. It accused the Guard also of aiming at "disintegrating the country." They are the first Moslem groups declared illegal in Hindu-led India.

The Hindu Rashtriya Swayam Sevak Sangh (R.S.S.S. - National Volunteer Corps) was outlawed last Wednesday. The government explained its "cult of violence has claimed many victims," including Gandhi. That was two days after announcement of a general ban on private armies and groups preaching hate.

No statement was forthcoming yesterday on investigation of the administration of Alwar, little princely state south of New Delhi. The government says it is looking into a possible connection there with Gandhi's death. Alwar's Maharajah Tej Singh and Premier N. B. Khare have been called here.

(The Associated Press was in error in reporting Saturday that the Maharajah is a Sikh. He is a Rajput. His state is primarily Hindu.)

Some 1,200 R.S.S.S. men have been arrested throughout India in the course of the assassination inquiry.

JEWS INDIGNANT WHEN SYNAGOGUE SUSTAINS DAMAGE

Searching Building, Guns, Magazines, Grenades Are Found Underneath Rostrum'

Jerusalem, Feb. 9—(AP)—The British army announced today that a synagogue in the Tel Aviv-Jaffa border area was damaged when the military blew up an adjoining house suspected of being a snipers' nest.

The army said:

"The demolition caused some damage to the synagogue, the adjoining wall of which was found to have been reinforced.

"On searching the synagogue, four sten guns, 11 magazines and four grenades were discovered underneath a rostrum."

The announcement said the house was blasted because shots were fired from it at a police station.

"Before being blown up, the house was searched and six armed Jewish settlement police were discovered, who claimed that they were guarding the adjoining synagogue," the announcement said.

The army first denied reports that the synagogue had been blasted.

A Tel Aviv dispatch reporting the blowing up of the synagogue said the Jews of the city were stirred to great indignation.

An Arab was shot to death today in an Arab suburb of Jerusalem. One Jew was killed and two others wounded when an armored bus was stopped at a roadblock in upper Gallilee and fired upon.

An unofficial count of Palestine violent deaths rose to 1,100 since the United Nations last Nov. 29 recommended the Holy Land's partition.

Hans Pinn, Tel Aviv news photographer and Associated Press representative, was wounded. Four men entered his home, shot him in the arm and fled.

Five Jews and four Arabs were shot to death yesterday. Three of the Arabs were slain by British soldiers shooting back at both Arab and Jewish snipers in Haifa.

Some persons watching the Jewish-Arab strife estimate that about 15,000 volunteer troops with uniforms and equipment have gathered in Palestine from surrounding Arab states.

Their leaders will not disclose battle plans. Talk in Jerusalem is that the Arab command has picked Feb. 15 as the D-Day for attack.

A Jewish agency spokesman said yesterday Arabs have stored 30 tons of high explosives in or near the Mosque of Omar in the old walled city of Jerusalem.

HOME CONSIDERABLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

The small frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray Hermon St. Hillcrest, east of Cannifton Road, was considerably damaged by fire shortly after seven o'clock Sunday evening when in the absence of the owner and their three small children flames broke out in the dwelling.

Members of the Belleville Fire Department answered the alarm and although the house was all aflame when they arrived the blaze was quickly brought under control by use of the booster tank. Firemen stated the inside of the home, as well as furniture was badly scorched.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out, the family reportedly having gone to the railroad station from where the mother was to have left on the evening train.

TOWING CHARGES PAID BY OWNER

Parking a car on the railway track is not just the correct thing to do, it was discovered over the weekend by a Dundas Street resident.

The yard engine of the Canadian National Railways was moving along the siding near the Glen Roy Creamery on Pinnacle Street when the engineer found an auto parked directly on the track. Police were notified and a tow truck obtained to tow the auto off the track. Later the owner of the car was ascertained and required to pay the towing charges.

Mercury Touches 21 Below Zero

As a prognosticator of the weather, Old Man Woodchuck and his Candlemas Day legend is "the bunk." The alleged furry prophet who is said to have come out of hibernation last week failed to see his shadow here, before 12.30 p.m. that is, and according to fabled story, the winter is practically over, can go back to sleep for ever, if the present weather keeps up.

For according to district thermometers this morning, winter is no farther away than your next frosty breath.

The mercury plummeted downward last night, after a comparatively "mild" Sunday afternoon, and before Old Sol poked a pink nose over the horizon this morning, it reached the 21-below mark in the city, according to the official thermometer at the Purification Plant.

Back in the northern areas, the mercury reached a near all-time low at Maynooth when thermometers registered 43 below zero. At Bancroft it was slightly milder with the mercury hovering around the 35 below mark.

And the weather man doesn't exude much hope for milder weather, at least not today and tomorrow. He says it will remain very cold with probable snowflurries on Tuesday.

New Snowloader Used on Front St.

Way back in the minds of men is a love for something mechanical. Give Junior an electric train and who gets the most fun out of it—for a while at least. The old man.

Let a mechanical shovel start operations on an excavation project and who does most of the kibitzing. The old man.

This morning on Front Street, the city's brand new snowloader went into action clearing chopped ice and snow from the thoroughfare.

Moving along at a slow speed and doing an efficient job, the loader attracted a crowd of kibitzing spectators, And 99 per cent of them were men. Shop personnel left their stores to watch the new gadget in action. Pedestrians crowded around the mechanism.

About the only fellow who wasn't on hand, at first at least, and who was being paged by police and others, was the owner of a car which had been parked close to the pavement despite the fact that the area was barricaded.

INDIA'S AIR FORCE

The Royal Indian Air Force has a peacetime strength of 10 squadrons of which the personnel, except for a few technical instructors is entirely Indian.

The team of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, (RCA), won the Belleville Service Darts League title over the weekend, defeating the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment sextet in a close series of games for the league championship.

Last week the Anti Tankers disposed of the Canadian National Railway Veterans team in one phase of the semi-finals while the "Hasty Pees" defeated the Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in the other half of the series.

Car Forces Oil Truckoff Highway

Forced to swerve suddenly to the left in an effort to avoid striking a Lonsdale auto which had swung across the highway in front, a large Kingsway transport truck loaded with ten and a half tons of oil Friday night plowed into the snow-filled ditch near the Marysville Catholic Church.

Both vehicles were eastbound when the car loaded with young people from Lonsdale going to a dance at the Marysville parish hall swung out from behind a parked truck directly in front of the heavy transport. The left side of the auto was dented by the truck trailer but fortunately no one was injured. Provincial police from Belleville investigated.

Profit-Sharing Club Started By Kingston Merchant

A Kingston marketeria proprietor hopes next week to take 250 people into partnership. He is Kingston's first merchant to establish a profit-sharing "Dollar-a-Week Club".

Customers buyin $1 membership cards issued weekly, will be sold groceries, meats, fruits and vegetables at cost. Invoices and meat cuts price charts will be kept for inspection by card holders only.

The grocer stated that the plan meant an overall saving of 16 per cent and a customer would begin to save money once he bought more than $6.25 worth of groceries in any week.

If a customer buys more than $20 worth in any week, a second card will be issued to him. This prevents one person shopping for his neighbors and thus cheating the plan. A small allowance for fruit and meat shrinkage would be made but "partners" would be informed exactly how much was allowed.

As far as could be learned today, similar plans have been undertaken in Toronto and other centres but nothing of its kind has been developed here as yet.

Supersonic Siren Kills Mosquitoes, Flies in 10 Sec.

New York, Feb. 9. (AP)—A siren whistle that kills flies and mosquitoes in ten seconds is described in the journal of the Acoustical Society of America today.

The whistle is hooked to a horn that directes the sound. It has to be almost as close to the fly as a swatter.

The human risks of this whistle are new to science. They are reported by Doctors C. H. Allen, H. Frings and I. Rudnick of the Pennsylvania State College. The scientists are hunting for some sort of a loud-speaker to kill crop insects .

The siren makes a noise too high-pitched for human ears to hear. But after a little while a person close to it gets dizzy. He does not have to be in the sound stream—in fact, if any part of him is directly in the beam of sound, close up, that part gets very hot.

If a hand is placed in the stream, with finger touching, the places where they touch get burned.

Those who open their mouths while the whistle is blowing, feel a cool tickling sensation in their mouths. Some like it, others don't.

The reasons for these effects are not known, except the burning. The whistle kills the insects because the sound waves overheat their bodies. It heats anything the sound blast touches.

Shortage of U.S. Dollars Limits Canada's Aid

Montreal, Feb. 9 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today the Canadian shortage of United States dollars imposed "very real and immediate limitations upon the financial assistance we can provide" under the Marshlal plan for European recovery.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, he reaffirmed that "in relation to population and national income Canada's contribution to world recovery probably exceeds that of any other country," but it was "by no means out of proportion to our national stake in the economic restoration of our overseas customers."

Mr. Abbott told the meeting Britain had exhausted $978,000,000 of her $51,250,000,000 postwar credit by Jan. 31 and that other countries had used up $456,000,000 of $607,000,000 in guarantees and credits advanced under the Export Credits Insurance Act. Thus, since the war $1,434,000,000 in goods and services had been provided out of a contemplated total of $1,857,000,000.

Hopes Disappoint

Canada's massive contributions had looked to the day when trade could be resumed on a cash basis. The government has "hoped that before now there would have been a sufficient measure of recovery to enable European countries to export enough goods to ease their dollar shortage." Unfortunately, due to crop failures and Russian conduct, these hopes had been disappointed.

Instead, Canada now was plagued with her own shortage of U.S. dollars.

"But we need not take a pessimistic view of the outlook for European recovery. Recent unfavorable development mask a considerable measure of real progress towards high levels of production."

Canada could also take heart from the Marshall plan, although "it would not be appropriate for me to indicate at this time how Canada will fit it."...

"On the basis of our past record, I am confident that we will be prepared to continue to help within our capacity to do so. However, we have now our own dollar problem and there are very real and immediate limitations upon the financial assistance we can provide...

"One thing is clear — Canada will play an important role in the E.R.P. as a major source of supply of essential foodstuffs, materials and equipment. Beyond that our assistance in one way or another must inevitably be limited by our capacity."

Of the government's dollar-saving program, Mr. Abbott said it already was beginning to be effective "and distinctly encouraging." Dollar reserves had been rising since mid-December. "But even more encourage, I believe, has been the co-operation received from the business community."

Mr. Abbott said Canada's postwar contribution in direct European relief through government channels had amounted to $275,000,000, but there was no way of telling how much had gone privately.

Basket Factory At Grimsby Burns, Loss is $125,000

Grimsby, Feb. 9 —(CP)—Firemen from nearby Hamilton and Beamsville aided local fire-fighters early today in quelling a blaze in the Hewson and Sons Limited basket factory that for a time threatened the business section of this town 10 miles east of Hamilton.

Officials estimated damage between $100,000 and $125,000 in the fire that sent columns of smoke and flame towering on the Lake Ontario shore, visible for miles around.

The cause of the fire was unknown but it was believed to have originated in the factory storage area where thousands of newly-made baskets were stacked.

The office records and the strongbox of the factory, which employed 25 persons, were removed to safety before the entire stock and equipment were destroyed.

Loss of Propeller Blade Causes Freak Mishap

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9 — (AP) — Loss of one propeller blade in flight caused the freak mishap which killed one crewman and imperilled 68 others aboard an Eastern Air Lines Constellation over the Atlantic Saturday, the Air Transport Company reported today.

The company described the dramatic incident in this way:

One blade flew off the propeller on No. 3 engine and ripped through the cabin, killing Gilbert Folz, flight attendant. The plane then was 130 miles at sea from Brunswick, Ga., and 300 miles from the field at Bunnell, Fla., where it made its landing.

The loss of a blade unbalanced the propeller, and violent vibrations were set up which shook the entire propeller and its mechanism of the engine.

Meantime, the blade which went through the galley to kill Folz also cut all electrical controls. The No. 4 engine's speed could not be changed nor could flaps be lowered for the emergency landing.

Radio power also was knocked out by the flying blade. Crew members used an auxiliary set to report their trouble and the possibility of "ditching." This used up all the power in the auxiliary and a subsequent safety message could not be sent. Silence that followed the distress call caused a great rescue fleet to get under way.

Sees World Threat, Progress Material Rather Than Moral

Windsor, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Another war is inevitable and its threat hangs over the world because "we have progressed materially rather than morally" Bruce Marshall, Scottish novelist, said in an address here last night.

Speaking under the auspices of the Christian Culture series, he placed the origin of the present state of the world with Darwin, Huxley and "those blasted monkeys."

For themselves, at least, the scientists explored Christianity, he declared. After 1914-18 the masses began to take up the idea of skepticism. Religion was discredited and the theories of Freud came to the fore. Disillusionment was rampant.

He contended that communism never would have become popular had practical charity been in force in the world.

Basic Food Items Sag Few Cents

Chicago, Feb. 9 (AP)—Some basic food items sagged a few cents at retail levels today as a result of the sharp price break last week on major United States commodity exchanges.

Lower prices for bread, flour, lard and meat were announced by several grocery chains.

In announcing the price cutbacks, an official of a Chicago grocery chain described the retail food business as "highly competitive" and added "we have to act fast" in response to shifting prices.

Some of the price cuts announced as effective today:

Bacon—10 cents lower in some New Jersey and Indianapolis stores.

Flour—Down 16 to 17 cents for a 25-pound bag at many markets throughout the country.

Lard—Three to eight cents lower across the country.

LEAP THROUGH WINDOW IN NIGHT CLOTHES

Toronto, Feb. 9 —(CP)— Shivering in their nightclothes, Mr. and Mrs. John Knebli and their daughter, Elizabeth, jumped through their bedroom window to the roof of a building and waited until firemen carried them down ladders to safety in five-below-zero weather early today .

Four other persons in an adjoining apartment were able to leave by the door. The fire started in the front room of a shoe store and caused $700 damage before it was checked.

Works Slip Out Of Watch of Fisherman, Found in Pickerel

Norwich, Conn. Feb. 9 — (AP) — A prize fish story came out of nearby Baltic Saturday.

Henry (McGraw) Deslandes went fishing at Dyassup Lake. While making the fifth hole thru the ice, the works slipped out of his wrist watch and disappeared into the icy waters.

Later in the day, Deslandes caught a good-sized pickerel, and on preparing it for the skillet, found the works intact in the fish's stoamch.

Deslandes has the corroboration of his friend, Noe (Red) Godere that he really gave the fish the works!

Farming With Tanks

Britain is using a novel agricultural technique in East Africa in carrying out her scheme for large-scale cultivation of groundnuts. Tanks are supplementing tractors in bush clearing work. The famous Sherman tank which made such a name for itself during the war has proved very successful in flattening scrub. Very little modification has been required to its mechanism.

This pioneering enterprise to increase the world's supply of edible oils and fats was launched in Tanganyika just over a year ago. By the end of November experts from Britain assisted by some 5,000 Africans had cleared and planted 10,000 acres. This achievement is the more remarkable in that large-scale bush clearing could not be started till July due to a shortage of heavy tractors.

In some respects the work is ahead of schedule. Trial plots have given an average yield of more than 900 lbs. per acre during the year. This exceeds expectations by 150 lbs. The recruitment of labor in Africa has been carried out in close co-operation with the Government of Tanganyika, and also with the support and approval of local tribes. Special schools have been set up for training African mechanics in handling tractors.

Research into the problems of soil fertility and crop rotation by scientific experts has proceeded concurrently with bush clearing. Experiments have been made to determine the best use of fertilizers and it is anticipated that large phosphate deposits discovered recently in Uganda can be used. An important achievement has been the completion of a new railway line 16 miles long as a link with that running from Dar es Salaam on the east coast. A new deepwater port is also to be built at Mikindani in South Tanganyika capable of handling the largest ships.

Although it is too early for a considered estimate of this year's crop, it is expected that by 1950 some 600,000 tons of nuts will be harvested.

Foreign Travel

There was a time centuries ago when many people travelled afar in Europe and the Mediterranean area of the Middle East and North Africa. Those were the days of high romance, the late Renaissance days when the minds and interests of men in Europe were athrill with new discoveries and with what they saw abroad in their visits through foreign lands.

Foreign travel will never be a forgotten thing even with the unsettled conditions of today's affairs. Britain and other countries are now anxious to have a tourist agreement. Of course no travel will be permitted that costs Britain dollars or gold and holidays abroad that are permitted will be subjected to the currency restrictions that were in force immediately before the travel ban was imposed. Within a period of twelve months no adult will be allowed to take abroad from Britain more than £35 and no child more than £25.

Recently Mr. Bevin announced that the Government of Britain will try to carry out its decision to make arrangements with soft-currency countries in Europe for a restoration of travel facilities and it is hoped that travel abroad may be permitted again, in a restricted field, from May 1.

Those Rambling Bears

Hibernation is one of those wonders of nature which parts of the animal and insect world hold secret as it were. Humans being above the range of animals do not hibernate, though they do have to adjust themselves to the austerities of winter's cold and scarcity of food, heating homes and by laying up food from harvest field to serve them in their fight against frigid temperatures while the animals doze in hibernation in their comfortable caves and crevices in the earth's surface or in the stumps of old trees.

The bear, of which so much has been heard lately because of Candlemas Day, both here and in Maine where Bruin is seen walking about in utter disregard of nature's law of protection in hibernation, sleeps the sleep of quiet while winter rages outside his cave. The squirrel, however, is called a partial hibernator.

Science defines hiberation as winter sleep of warm-blooded animals and links the torridity of frogs, toads, crabs, and reptiles in season with the winter's repose. In true hibernation the animal functions are nearly suspended, the body heat is lowered to or nearly to that of the air, the action the animal drops from 30 to 40 per cent. Snakes, lizards, frogs and such aquatic forms of life dig in the bottom of pools and ponds and insects too hibernate in the larvae or pupa state. Caterpillars hide in bark of trees and freeze solid.

There is a state somewhat similar to hibernation known as estivation in the tropics because of heat, dryness and lack of food, while cold and famine seem to be the cause of hibernation.

The perambulating of bears of Maine, recently reported as seen in various parts, is in part explained by the fact that the first part of this winter was mild as everyone here may recall, and the bears do not grow drowsy until they feel the sting and bite of cold and the north wind. The Saint John Telegraph-Journal remarks on the sight of the Maine bears that bears often come out for a look in mid-winter if there is warm weather. The newspaper claims that "actually bears do not follow any hard-and-fast rule. If the weather is moderate and berries are plentiful they stay up late. They don't necessarily seek out caves; they sleep in any good sheltered spot — even a hollow tree trunk, as many a hiker has learned to his surprise when he set a bonfire under one. Or if the best dens are already occupied by other bears they may sleep in the snow.

"The female bears are quite naturally, we suppose, the more efficient housekeepers. They do a better job of fixing up a bed of leaves for their sleep, and arrange a nice southerly exposure for the den. One reason they are so meticulous about the preparations is that their two cubs are usually born around January — tiny, nine-inch-long infants weighing six to eight ounces, only one-five-hundredths of the weight of the mother bear. But, as in human life, there are some female bears which are slovenly about keeping their den presentable, and some male bears which are fastidious about having everything looking nice in case company calls."

The Saint John reporter claims that even the most soundly sleeping bears do not hibernate in a true sense. "Their temperature doesn't drop, their breathing rate doesn't slow down. At times they are semi-conscious, aware of but not disturbed by noises around them, at other times they are wide awake and ready to bite the inquisitive hand that pokes them to see how deep asleep they are."

Old Order Changeth

Comes Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands to declare that "colonialism is dead" in the Dutch Empire, that henceforth there will be a new partnership among the Kingdom of The Netherlands and the East and West Indies.

Thus the old order changeth. India, Burma, Egypt, Ceylon, Indonesia — the peoples of whom Kipling once spoke as "lesser breeds without the law" — all coming to self-government.

The Dutch were not bad colonizers, though inclined to autocracy; developed the lands over which they held sway and brought considerable prosperity. But, as Campbell-Bannerman remarked when liberty was being granted to South Africa, good government is no substitute for self-government and it is the idea of self-government which is ascendant in the world today. Despite the plight of freedom in wide areas of Europe, we have come a long way in a century, says Ottawa Journal.

Russian Admits Weakness

Soviet Finance Minister A. G. Zverv has admitted, inadvertently perhaps, one of the weakness of a state socialism or Communist form of government. He asks the Russian people to wage a "merciless struggle against a negligent attitude toward state property and against extravagance and thriftlessness."

Where people place too much dependence upon the state, there is always the temptation to sit back and "let the state do it." That is one reason why such a country is always a police state; threats and compulsion are necessary to keep things running efficiently, Windsor Star remarks.

POST-HOLIDAY CHANT

Done with the holiday season,
A sigh of contentment is mine,
Comes an end to this out-going reason:
"Cocktails from seven until nine."

It's good to be done with the chatter,
So constant it frayed every nerve,
And the maid who kept passing the platter
Of edibles known as "hors d'oeuvres."

Oh, stomach so frequently queasy!
Oh, legs that were numbed by the strain!
For the rest of the year take it easy;
We are back to plain living again.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 9th., 1928

At the annual meeting of the congregation of John Street United Church Mr. B. C. Donnan occupied the chair. Over $10,000.00 was raised during the year and after paying all expenses a nice balance remains. Messrs. P. G. Denike and Alex. Morrice were appointed elders and automatically dropped from the Board of Managers; they were replaced by Messrs. J. B. Boyce and George McArthur. The new officers of the Board are: Chairman, J. H. Legate; Vice Chairman, J. D. McMillan;; Secretary, Newton Thompson; Treasurer, R. W. Adams; Envelope Treasurer, James Buchanan; Organist and Chair Master, Mr. Leo B. Riggs.

30 YEARS AGO

Feb. 9th., 1918

Belleville presented a strange scene on Saturday; it was the first of the heatless days ordered by the Dominion Fuel Controller. Stores were locked, except barber shops, grocery stores and news stands. There is a restriction covering certain lines of goods in these stores. Banks are permitted to remain open for payment of obligations only, not for general business. Few people were in town from the country and about 1800 people are idle from the stores, offices and factories. The police have orders from Chief John Newton to see that the regulations are strictly observed. A few merchants, who are permitted to remain open, have inquired if arrangements could be made to increase the lines of goods they are permitted to sell; they were informed that this cannot be done and that prosecution will follow any attempt to do so. The closing regulations cover Saturday and Monday. How much coal this closing order will save in Belleville is a question hard to answer.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

How did Tennessee get its name?

"Tennessee" is an anglicized form of the Indian name of at least two Cherokee villages or towns, the principal one having been located in eastern Tennessee on the Little Tennessee River a short distance above its juncture with the main stream.

In English the name was at first spelled "Tanasi" or "Tansi." An Englishman wrote it "Tinnase" in 1707.

The earliest explorers and settlers in the region called the larger stream Cherokee River, but by 1754 it was already called the Tennessee River.

The original significance of this Indian place name has been lost, perhaps beyond recovery — even the Cherokees did not know its meaning—and the various meanings ascribed to it, such as "river of the big bend," "a carved spoon" and others, are entirely fanciful.

All that is known about it positively is that it was first applied to a Cherokee village, then to a river, next to a county and finally to the state.

Unlike Kentucky, the territory comprising the present State of Tennessee was not so known until it was admitted into the Union.

In 1790 Congress organized what is now Tennessee as "The Territory of the United States of America South of the River Ohio."

Several names were proposed for the new state in the constitutional convention of 1796. According to tradition, Andrew Jackson, who was a delegate from Davidson County, suggested "Tennessee" and advocated its adoption on the ground that it was an indigenous word of Indian origin, distinctive as well as euphonious and already borne by the chief river in the State. The delegate from Tennessee County, it is said, consented to the loss of the local name provided it was transferred to the whole commonwealth. At any rate, the State of Tennessee entered the Union that year and in later subdivisions "Tennessee" as the name of a county was abandoned.

Tennessee's nickname, "The Volunteer State," is due to the fact that in 1847 Governor Aaron Venable Brown issued a call for 2,800 volunteers for service against Mexico and 30,000 responded. During the Civil War the Volunteer State, a member of the Confederacy, supplied 30,000 men to the Federal and more than 100,000 to the Confederate armies.

Cardinal Asks Catholics to Stop Drinking in Lent

Toronto, Feb. 9 — (CP) — A call to all Roman Catholics of the Toronto Archdiocese to abstain from alcoholic beverages during Lent was made Sunday by James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto. Catholics here said it was the first time the point had been so strongly stressed in the traditional Lenten appeals.

Reports from elsewhere in the Dominion indicated that it was not a general appeal. The call from His Eminence however was read in Catholic pulpits here in the form of a pastoral letter and was published in the Canadian Register, official church organ, drawing expressions of approval from leaders of other denominations.

The call was made on the eve of Ash Wednesday which this week opens the Lenten season.

His Eminence declared in the message that "the ever-increasing consumption of such (alcoholic) beverages together with the growth and spread of so-called 'social drinking' are the causes of serious injury to individuals and to families."

Needs Earnest Effort

He declared further: "The story of sin and misery directly attributable to excessive indulgence in intoxicants shows the need for united, earnest effort to better the situation."

At Winnipeg Archbishop G. Murray, head of the Winnipeg Archdiocese, said no specific appeal to abstain entirely from alcohol in Lent had been made to Winnipeg Catholics. Church officials at Calgary said also that while advice against over - indulgence during Lent might be given there, no stringent order regarding drinking would be made. The same sentiment was expressed at Edmonton and Vancouver, where the appeals were particularly to youth.

Cardinal McGuigan's appeal brought immediate support from Rev. Dr. C. E. DeMille, general secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, who said at Toronto "I am thrilled to hear it." Rev. Dr. J. W. Macnamara secretary of the Presbyterian Church Board of Administration, said "I would go further than merely abstain for Lent, but it is a move in the right direction."

Black Spaniel Spends 37 Days In Abandoned Well

Perth, Feb. 9 (CP)—Nigger, a black spaniel, was back in the home of his master, Garnet King, quite a bit thinner but otherwise none the worse for spending 37 days in an abandoned well.

The dog disappeared on New Year's Day and for the last two weeks, children and residents had heard a dog barking but had paid little attention.

Then two children approached a half-demolished stone house following the dog's bark and discovered the dog at the bottom of an old uncovered 10-foot-deep well, still alive.

Nigger was brought up by a young lad who was tied to a rope by Provincial Constable J. E. Grubbe and lowered into the well. The dog trotted to the road and made his way back to his master's house—a mere 17 pounds of his former 55.

An amazed veterinary, called to examine the dog, said Twenty-four days was supposed to be the limit a canine could live without water.

$5 FOR A SHAVE

Marchwell, Sask. — (CP) — More than 60 men of this village on the Manitoba border have pledged not to shave from New Year's Day until Easter as part of a beard-growing contest to help raise funds to replace the town hall which burned last fall. If they default they'll be fined $5.

THAT PALE, HAGGARD LOOK

A healthy young woman should be at the very bloom of life at party, provided, of course, she has had a break in the way of education — in physiology, hygiene, physical education — and the benefit of good dentistry. Anything is possible, except a mouse's nest in the cat's ear, but I have never seen a woman with the gray sickness who had a full set of functionally efficient teeth — her own or her dentist's.

Although she may not mention it as one of her complaints the woman with gray sickness generally shows graying of her hair—graying which began too early and continues too rapidly. But that's only one reason why I call hypochromic anemia the gray sickness. The parchment-like pallor and the wrinkled, flabby condition of the skin contribute to the impression of grayness.

Burning or soreness of the tongue and the peculiar, persistent fissures or shallow ulcers at the corners of the mouth occur in nearly every case of the gray sickness.

Even the fingernails have usually been brittle and cracked and often flattened or actually concave or spooned.

The diagnostic feature which distinguishes the gray sickness from ordinary secondary anemia is the disproportionately large reduction in the amount of hemoglobin (iron coloring matter) in the blood; for example, in the average case of hypochromic anemia the number of red corpuscles is perhaps 3,500,000 per cubic millimeter (in health 5,000,000) but the hemoglobin is reduced to less than one-third of the normal amount in ordinary anemia, such as that which occurs as a symptom or an effect of infection, chronic lead poisoning or frequent small hemorrhages, there is about the same percentage lowering of hemoglobin and red corpuscles.

The change in the hair, skin and nails, although commonly seen in the gray sickness, are more commonly seen in women who are not noticeably anemic. According to the reports received from many readers these conditions respond satisfactorily to supplementation of the diet with vitamins and minerals as described in the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, available on written request if you inclose stamped self addressed envelope. Another pamphlet deals particularly with The Gray Sickness (Hypochromic Anemia)—if you ask for both, inclose ten cents.

Because of the very gradual impairment of health in these cases patients are likely to "try" a good deal of useless or ineffectual treatment on their own or on Tom, Dick or Harry's gratuitous advice—this is Yankeeland you know—before it ever occurs to them to consult a physician. For example one patient had been actually consuming $20 worth of various vitamin preparations (several of them more or less duplicates) a month for a year or more before she came under the observation of a physician accidentally—she looks ten years younger now; since she has quit squandering her good money for vitamin nostrums and used a fraction of the amount for the iron her physician prescribes.

I am 85 and would like to have your pamphlet on itching. I suppose my cuticle is decaying.

(C. F. A.)

Answer — Send stamped self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet Pruritus. If your skin seems too dry perhaps the trouble is insufficient moisture evaporated in the air of your heated dwelling. If the skin is at all scaly perhaps you should use less soap and hot water and more oil. If you inclose twenty - five cents with stamped self addressed envelope you will receive also the booklet Save Your Skin which tells you how to keep the skin, and complexion protected against the harsh influence of your winter sojourn in the indoor sahara.

Looking Ahead in Ottawa

(By the Ottawa Bureau of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Feb. 9 —(CP) — The Commons will swing back Monday to debate on the government's motion for the establishment of a committee to investigate reasons for living costs and once that is completed attention will return to bill No. 3 — the measure providing for conservation of American dollars.

The exchange bill is at committee stage and each of its 15 clauses are expected to be debated lengthily. Attached as an appendix to the bill are schedules listing the goods banned under import restrictions or admitted to the country under quota arrangements.

If debate on the measure is prolonged, it may be interrupted to permit passage of an extension of the Farm Loans Improvement Act of 1944. The act is due to expire Feb. 15 and action will have to be taken before that time to extend its operations. Under the government bill on the order paper the provisions would be extended for a period of three years.

The Exchange Act and the Farm Loans Act debates possibly will be followed by legislation to extend the government transitional powers until March 31, 1949. The Transitional Powers Act provides governmental authority to continue rent and price controls.

Also of an emergency nature is legislation to provide assistance to Canadian gold mines and to give statutory effect to the excise taxes imposed when the exchange conservation measures were announced Nov. 17. Behind these emergency measures is a lengthy list of domestic legislation that will keep members busy for several months.

Insurance

Unemployment insurance benefits will be extended this year to workers in the logging and lumbering industry throughout Canada. Up to now, they have applied only to the British Columbia section of the industry, which operates the year around.

The seasonal nature of operations in the other provinces has shut them out. After more than two years, the Unemployment Insurance Commission has worked out a scheme to cover the seasonal workers. It has been submitted to the government and approved.

When it will go into effect has not been decided, but April 1—opening of the Federal fiscal year—is a likely date.

Anniversary

Wednesday is the one-year anniversary of the opening of public hearings on the railways' application for higher freight rates. There has been considerable speculation that the Board of Transport Commissioners might hand down its $100,000,000-a-year verdict on that day, or just before it.

However, very late February or early March now is the best on the filing of the Board's decision.

Will Continue Efforts to Obtain Better Prices

Seaforth, Ont., Feb. 9 (CP) — Ontario Agriculture Minister Kennedy told a political meeting here Saturday that the Drew government in continuing its efforts to obtain better prices for farm products, as he spoke in support of the Progressive Conservative candidate, Thomas Pryde, in the Huron provincial by-election campaign.

Mr. Kennedy urged farmers to strive constantly to improve quality of their products in order to hold overseas markets.

"Cattle from this province were sold to 19 countries."

This year, he added, the government planned soil surveys all over the province in an effort to determine the reason for low protein values in certain pasture areas.

Ten Fatalities In East Canada During Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

Two more Ontario fire deaths were among the total of 10 fatalities in Eastern Canada recorded by The Canadian Press during the weekend.

Latest victims in a long series of fatal Ontario fires were Mrs. Mabel Glaser, a visitor from Williamsville, New York, who died with her hostess, Miss Minnie Boneberg, in fire at the latter's home in Port Colborne. Investigators suggested that unfamiliarity with the house where she was a weekend guest may have resulted in Mrs. Glaser's failure to escape. A third woman escaped the fire.

The body of Dearland Fraser, 39, was found with a bullet wound in the head in a swamp near Tweed in Eastern Ontario by police who held a warrant for his arrest. Officials said the wound was self-inflicted.

Mrs. Gibson Williams, 43-year-old Walpole Island Indian woman, was found frozen to death Sunday on the ice of the St. Clair River near Wallaceburg. She had been crossing the ice with her husband and child late Saturday when she became separated from them.

Traffic Mishaps

Three other weekend fatalities in Ontario were the result of traffic mishaps. Two-year-old Reginald Dease was killed at Hamilton when he fell in front of a motorbus. Mervyn Byers, 13, was fatally injured when knocked off his bicycle by a motorcar at Barrie. Daniel Smith, 34, died in hospital at Toronto from injuries received when his motorcar hit a tree on Jan. 31.

Another traffic victim was Marie Legendre, six, fatally injured by a motor-truck at Noranda, Que.

Mrs. Ida Bouchard, 59, died in hospital at Montreal Sunday after drinking part of the contents of a bottle found in a pool-room and presented to her by her son-in-law, who was in serious condition.

Two Suffocated At Port Colborne When House Burns

Port Colborne, Feb. 9. (CP)— A wrong turning in a strange house was blamed today for the suffocation death of Mrs. Mabel Glaser of Williamsburg, N.Y., and of her hostess, Minnie Boneberg, who tried to rescue her from a blazing house and was trapped with her. A third occupant, Mary Smith, escaped.

Firemen said the fire started early Sunday when an automatic stoker kept feeding coal to the furnace of the two-storey brick building until the extra load forced open the furnace door and spilled live coals onto kindling wood spread on the floor.

Miss Boneberg, organist at First Lutheran Church, was awakened by the smoke and turned in the alarm. Clad in pyjamas and slippers, she and Miss Smith reached the street but Miss Boneberg turned back to assist Mrs. Glaser, who was groping through the house at which she arrived the previous day for a visit.

Firemen who smashed in the front door found the two bodies a few feet from the threshold. Mrs. Glaser's body lay near the living room doorway. Her hostess was huddled in a hallway at the foot if the stairs. Firemen used inhalators 90 minutes in an effort to revive the victims.

It was the second case of multiple suffocation here in two weeks. Three young children were asphyiated Jan. 25 by a ventless gas hot water heater at the home of Wilfred Eden at nearby Humberstone.

Just west of here, fire yesterday destroyed the 50-year-old Wainfleet Baptist Church with loss estimated at $25,000. Roswell Bailey, a member of the Board of Deacons, said the fire might have started from a defective chimney.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was eating her grapefruit diet this morning and making sad sounds to herself, saying, Oh dear, what's the use?

What's wrong, my dear? pop said, and ma said, Oh, everything, I mean nuthing, really. It's just the way I happen to feel. I mean without any particuler reason life seems to suddinly be a hollow shell surrounding a useless vacuum, she said.

It's always darkest just before the dawn, pop said. Now by gollies that's a coincindence. Cheer up, my dear, a handsome man is going to bring you a buntch of your favorite flowers this evening. While I was pulling on my neetly darned socks this morning I wished to myself that the sweetest, cleverest little woman in the werld was having a berthday so I could show my appreciation with an armful of white roses. And then I said to myself, "What are you waiting for, you lunkhead? Bring her the roses—she'll excuse you, whether it's her berthday or not."

Now William, you dont need to make up a lot of stuff just to make me feel better, ma said, and pop said, I'm not making up a thing, and I can prove it. There's an old envelope in my overcoat pockit, and on my way down to breakfist I stopped and scribbled a note on it so I'd be sure not to forget the flowers. Benny, run out to the hallrack and get that envelope from my overcoat pockit and bring it to your mother, he said.

Dont be silly, William, I b you for land sakes, and i utterly changed my whole viewpoint, ma said, and pop Okay then. my dear. fine.

And on my way out I fel pop's overcoat pockit and t was a old envelope in there rite but it only had a stamp an address on it, so I wrote so thing elts, being Hey pop, better not forget the flowers.

Which he didn't.

THE WORLD'S FUTURE IS BEING DECIDED NOW GIVE TO THE CANADIAN APPEAL FOR CHILDREN...

OUR TOMORROWS depend on what happens to the world's children TODAY. In ruined lands around the globe there are millions of them in misery—scrambling for shreds of food on garbage dumps, shivering in rags. On the continent of Europe, half the children born since the war are already dead of malnutrition. Those who survive—there and elsewhere—are desperately in need of food and clothing. They need schooling, too, for their neglected minds grow as sick as their withered bodies . . .

"They are the future If they are not saved, our world is lost"

Canadian Appeal for Children commences its campaign on February 9th to meet the challenge of these desperate and immediate needs. This is a campaign by the people of Canada, with a minimum objective of $10,000,000, to provide food, clothing and school supplies for the children — safeguard the health of expectant and nursing mothers — in devastated lands around the world.

Wherever possible, all donations will be used for the purchase of Canadian goods, which will be distributed under the direction of responsible United Nations operating agencies.

Organizations across Canada are co-operating in this campaign. It has national approval; is supported by industry, agriculture, education, labour, service clubs, cultural and other organizations.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED NOW. Your contribution — received at any Canadian BANK — will mean life instead of death for the children — and hope for the future peace of the world. You sympathize. You want to give. But good will and good wishes are not enough. Since you may not be canvassed don't let failure to act be on your conscience — turn your sympathy and good wishes into a tangible contribution — go to your bank NOW and GIVE.

If you as an individual or as a member of an organization are anxious to take an active part in this campaign, please get in touch with

White Cane Week

This is White Cane Week, the urpose of which is to familiarze the public with the significance of the white cane. The white cane as a symbol of blindess is not an appeal for pity but ather for sympathetic undertanding and kindly assistance if equired. Blindness is a handicap which can be overcome, given proper training and guidance which is supplied by The Canadian National Institute for he Blind.

It is true that the majority of the sightless are handicapped by ge and other infirmities in addiion to blindness, but the younger active blind are most anxious to make their contribution to life, if given an opportunity to do so. Of the 40 registered blind of Belleville many are aged and infirm, and thus confined to their homes. Three children are attending the Ontario School for the Blind at Brantford; three are working outside the city at work found for them by the C.N.I.B., and five others are employed in the city. Many of the local blind are active and are keenly interested in bowling, attending the weekly meetings of the Belleville Bowling Club for the Blind, which meets every Friday evening at the Y.M.C.A. This activity is sponsored by the Y's Men's Club. Many of the blind greatly enjoyed the Christmas dinner given them by the Belleville Rotary Club at the Quinte Hotel.

The Institute feels that there are many more possibilities for the sightless folk of this country, if opportunities can be given them. All this progress is largely due to the whole hearted support given by the public. Many have already lent their financial support to this important humanitarian work. Remember the sightless folk during White Cane Week and throughout the rest of the year and give them any assistance required.

ST. JOHN'S W.M.S.

Tweed—February meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. John's United Church was held on Thursday, Feb. 5 in the Sunday school room. President Mrs. Lincoln Elliott in charge.

The meeting opened by a hymn, scripture lesson read in unison and prayer by Mrs. Elliott. A New Year's greeting from the Dominion Board President Mrs. Stella E. Self was read by Mrs. Elliott. Mrs. Self says: 1948 calls to each of us to study more, pray more, give more, than we have ever done before. Mrs. Wallace Provost sang an appropriate missionary solo, which was much enjoyed. Offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Barnett. Mrs. W. S. Gordon, president of the local W.C.T.U. made a strong plea for a donation for Camp Consecon. It was moved and seconded that $10 be given to this camp. A number of ladies gave readings on different missionaries who in past years gave their lives to missionary work and the translating of the Bible into different languages. Mrs. W. McCutcheon of Galt, a former member of the society was welcomed and the meeting adjourned.

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The February meeting of the Shannonville W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Everett Stratton on Thursday afternoon, with 23 ladies present.

First Vice President, Mrs. Slavin, conducted the opening exercises and offered prayer. The President, Mrs. Doxtator, had charge of the business period, when it was decided to hold the "World Day of Prayer" service followed the W.A. meeting, Feb. 12th., at the home of Mrs. Stanley MacDonald. Cards of thanks were read from Mrs. W. A. English, and family; from Mrs. Alfred Little, and from Mr. and Mrs. Jack MarFarlane.

The offering was received, amounting to $3.90, with $1.50 for the Flower Fund, and was dedicated by the president.

Group Leader, Mrs. D. Hinchey, presented a program from the study book "Great is the Company", and was assisted by Mrs. Robert MacFarlane, and by Mrs. Robertson. Mrs. C. Kierl, Mrs. Robert MacFarlane, Mrs. Elmer Vivian and Mrs. Saul MacFarlane gave short readings, which proved that the Bible is the most popular and best selling book ever printed.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. MacFarlane.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

BRIDGE STREET W.M.S.

Members of the Bridge Street Church W.M.S. held the February meeting in the ladies' parlor, Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. Houston played quiet music, and Mrs. W. Finkle, president, conducted opening exercises and the business period, when reports were accepted, and a new treasurer, Mrs. Howard, was appointed. New members were introduced and welcomed.

The program was in charge of the group convened by Mrs. Gerrie and Mrs. Meyers. Mrs. Montgomery read the Scripture from the 3rd chapter of St. John's Gospel, verses 1 to 17.

Mrs. Meyers introduced the guest speaker, Miss Audrey Gerrie, a graduate of Toccoa Falls' Bible Institute, (Georgia), who chose, "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up" as her text, and, with the use of a flannelgraph, the story of Moses became very real. In a very convincing manner, Miss Gerrie presented the truths to be remembered. She emphasized the spiritual application saying that people put off the remedy for sin until it is too late, while some stand in the way of others. "Do we," she asked, "stand in our children's way?"

"Since Christ died for us we have become debtors to Him. What are we doing about it? We are debtors to other people in Belleville; debtors to the people of other lands who are in need of consecrated young folk to go as missionaries, and we are debtors to the missionaries who are sacrificially spending their lives in overseas countries."

Miss Isabel Richardson rendered the solo, "I Wonder if I've Done My Best".

The president expressed appreciation to the speaker and soloist, and invited the ladies to join in a social hour, at the close of the meeting.

AIKEN'S W.M.S.

3rd Sidney. —The February meeting of Aiken's Woman's Missionary Society, was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carmen Grills, and was well attended.

Mrs. Selburn Westover, the president, in her call to worship, quoted from a message from Mrs. Roger Self, president of the Dominion Board in New Year's greeting to the readers of the Missionary Monthly.

In 1948, Mrs. Self asks that each member, study more, pray more, and give more, and in so doing will begin the building of the much desired new world order.

The Scripture lessons were read by Mrs. Geo. Denike, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Neelands, and Mrs. Spafford, and the Worship Service was conducted by Mrs. Fred Moon, whose message was on "The Bible", having in mind the observance of the World Day of Prayer, the theme for which is "The Lord's Prayer". "The Bible", said Mrs. Moon, "is a common bond, uniting the Christians of the world, even though they read it in many different languages; and it should have a central place in our worship services. The Bible is a book for every generation and speaks in the language of every heart and every nation, to the child, to the youth, to the energetic, to the tired, to the tempted and to the Saint; and it speaks with power". A pray of Thanksgiving for the Light, Hope and Power that the Bible has brought into the lives of women everywhere closed the worship service.

During the business session, a welcome was extended to Mrs. Bird, of Trenton, a former member of the community who was visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. Stanley Spafford, and attended the meeting.

Mrs. Westover asked the members to remember Miss Doris Allan, Reg.N., of Burns Lake, B.C., who is the missionary for prayer this year. A letter was read from Mrs. Homan concerning the Presbyterial to be held in the Tabernacle church in Belleville, early in April.

A piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Lee Grills and was much enjoyed by all present.

A Temperance reading "By the Grace of God" was given by Mrs. Vivian Perry and another "True Giving", by Mrs. Sam Marshall.

"The Bible for China" was the subject presented from the Study book. This was prepared by Mrs. Moon and her committee, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. E. Scrimshaw and was given in a most interestnig and helpful manner.

A quizz game followed, the answers showing the attention that had been taken during the study period. Several "Do you know" slips were read, one being, "Do you know that the first request that came from the Japanese church after V. J. Day was for 100,000 Bibles and 2,500,000 testaments?"

This meeting closed with the W.M.S. watchword, after which a social hour was spent when refreshments were served by Mrs. Grills and the program committee.

Spoiling Seagulls

(Vancouver News-Herald)

The senseless shooting of a seagull with an arrow in Esquimalt Harbor has directed attention to the fact that seagulls are protected birds because of their utility as scavengers of the beaches and river banks.

In a province where millions of salmon die annually in the act of spawning, the service rendered by seagulls and other natural scavengers can scarcely be overestimated.

But seagulls can be diverted from the discharge of their function as scavengers as much by mistaken kindness as by wanton cruelty. Mistaken kindness is luring thousands of seagulls from useful active service as scavengers and is transforming them into parasitical dependents.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

People Must Stand on Their Own Feet

In the last analysis, every individual sinks or swims through his own effort, or lack of it. If he can stay afloat only when he is held up by somebody else, sooner or later that person will become unable or unwilling to hold on to him any longer, and he will inevitably drown. Nor can the one who held his head above the water so long be blamed for the final tragic outcome.

To change the metaphor to another equally appropriate, one might say that no mother wants, or expects, to go on carrying her child in her arms all its life. She expects it to stand on its own feet and learn to walk alone. If it never becomes able to do this, there is obviously something abnormal about it.

Which brings us right back where we started, to the fact that, if they are to live normal lives, human beings must learn to stand alone not only physically, but mentally, morally, and spiritually as well. And the person who fails to do so is abnormal in some way. If he is not actually abnormal mentally, he may be abnormally childish in his reactions, or abnormally lacking in character.

I am afraid that the young woman about whom a "Worried Sister" writes me is one of those who must be classed as abnormally childish.

Her story is admittedly a sad one. Happily married for a number of years until her husband went to war, she was faced with the situation that confronted many young wives when their husbands returned from service. That is, the man with whom she had thought she would live happily throughout her life inexplicably asked for a divorce.

Since her divorce, nearly a year and a half ago, this girl has steadily refused to take up normal life again. "All she wants to do," her distressed sisters writes, "is to work and sleep. We have an awful time to get her out of the house."

The sister also says there is a very nice young man who wants to marry the girl, but she insists she can never love anyone again. "The only answer we can get from her," says her sister, "is that she doesn't have a heart anymore."

At Christmas time, my correspondent writes, when she asked her sister what she wanted for a gift, the girl said that if everyone in the family stayed well, that would be her Christmas.

Now that sounds like a very unselfish statement. But it is not nearly as unselfish and considerate as changing to an attitude that would make her family happy. She must know that, by continuing to act as she is doing, she is distressing them greatly, If she were really concerned about their welfare, she would make up her mind to take an active, cheerful part with them in normal life.

It seems to me high time that my correspondent stopped pitying her sister and started expecting her to behave like an adult. Her tragic experience, is no reason for making a career of her grief. Sorrows are common to the human race, and if everybody were bent on concentrating on his own particular trouble, the work of the world would be at a standstill. Everyone must let go of the past and move on to the future, and this girl must do that, too, unless she has let herself become so self-centred that she is willing to become a psychological burden to those who love her.

Fashion Flashes

LOTS AND LOTS of capes for Spring. A beautiful ensemble has a simple frock of navy blue silk crepe with tiny white polka dots, and a full length great-cape of red wool with an upstanding dandy collar. The full cape is lined with the polka-dotted silk. Dress has tiny white pique collar.

NEW LINES lend interest to new Spring clothes. The barrel silhouette is achieved in a dress of fine black tissue wool. The slim, high-necked bodice above a very slim waist accents lines that curve out from the first deep flounce and flow into the many narrow tiers to the hem.

WE HEAR that pink and yellow are both popular colors at southern resorts. An evening ensemble consists of a long, full, fitted coat of bright orange yellow linen with a double cape that reaches to the shoulders. It is worn over a yellow linen evening frock with strapless bodice adn full skirt.

A LUXURY item, but one that lasts for years and is never out of season, is the hand - knit dress made of ribbons. Usually these frocks are done on simple shirtwaist lines with V neckline and rever and small collar and elbow-length sleeves. These frocks pack perfectly and are good day in, day out, year after year. An expert knitter who wanted to add to her income might do worse than get busy with this type of knitwear.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

The Eyes Have It

It has been said that a man, if he is susceptible to feminine charm, can get a heart flutter at the sight of a stray ringlet on his lady's neck. A pretty mouth intrigues him. Sparkling, laughing, dewy eyes can make of him a week-kneed slave.

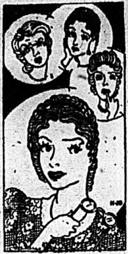
In the business of furthering romance, workable eyes are a force. Too bad more girls do not realize that fact. Did we hear a member of this beauty class say that they do? It is impossible. If they did there wouldn't be any bored eyes, dumb-looking ones, cold fishy eyes or snappy, snarly-looking orbs.

While expression is top subject, beauticians offer aids. There are lash darkeners to make the eyes take on a mysterious, come-hither appearance. There are demountable winkers to be added to the home supply. There are lovely lid smudges, lid creams, eye packs, all for the use of the ecstatic and hopeful good-looks clientele.

One must do some homework. The eyes should be bathed twice a day, first with warm water, then with cold. The surrounding tissues, so delicate that they can easily fall into tiny crinkles, should rave a patting with cream now and then. Place the first finger on the upper lid, sweep outward to the temple, come back under the eye to starting point.

Little hammocks under the eyes are no beauty bargain; women who have them, hate them. They may be a family inheritance or may be due to excessive fatigue or some internal disturbance.

Temporary relief may come by the application of hot, moist compresses followed by cold ones. This treatment causes the flesh to shrink somewhat. One can resort to it when the gay evening is on the social calender. The use of a powder slightly darker than that used on the rest of the face will cast a shadow over them. When applying the compresses, use a heavy washcloth that will hold the heat for a time. Small gauze pads accomplish little or nothing.



Eyestrain can cause headaches, nervousness, and other ills

If you sew or type, give your eyes an occasional rest. Stop work; stand at a window and look far away. A change in focal distance will offer relief. Remember, your eyes are on the job every waking moment.

Don't attempt home treatment if the eyes become inflamed; seek a medical specialist at once. If reading matter blurs, or if the eyes tire easily, you can know that the time has come when you should wear specs. Don't delay about that, either.

Eyestrain can bring along a trail of troubles—headache, nervousness, turkey tracks, to name a few of them. To fancy that glasses will make you look older is silly. Think of how many kids wear them. And if they do, what of it? The health of the eyes is the important matter.

The year's longest day lasts about 15 hours, the shortest, nine and a half.

How to Follow Through with Letters of Introduction

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have just moved to this city, to which his firm transferred him. At the moment we are living in a small hotel, but (thank Heaven!) my husband's firm have found us a small, but very comfortable and pleasant apartment to which we are moving in a week or so. Both my husband and I have in our possession several letters of introduction: mine are mainly from school and college friends to their friends here, and his mainly business cards of introduction. Since neither of us has ever had any experience directing us as to how to present these. (Of course I won't do anything about mine until we move into our new home.)

E. L. S.

When it is convenient for you (after you have "settled" in your new home), mail the social letters of introduction that were given you, to the addresses on the envelopes . . .. with each letter enclose a brief note giving your address and, if possible, the telephone number. It is the social responsibility of those written to, to make the next move after receiving your letter. Doubtless these friends in your new community will have received letters from your friends in your former community, concerning these letters of introduction.

The cards of business introductions, given to your husband, should be presented by him at the offices or other places of business of the men to whom the cards are addressed.

Bride's Father in Group Photograph? Groom's Father as Best Man?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter and I are planning her wedding, and we have two "father questions", one concerning the bride's father and one concerning the groom's father.

1. My daughter and her father have always been devoted "pals", and he will, of course, give her in marriage, and at the reception he is to stand in the receiving-line. I most enthusiastically approve of these plans, of course, but I am not sure about the prophiety of his being included in the wedding group photographs. he says he should be included in this group because he gives her in marriage. What is your opinion of this?

2. My daughter would also like to have your advice about this, her fiance would like to have his father as his best man, and he says this is quite often done in the part of the country where he comes from. But neither my daughter nor I have ever heard of this. She doesn't like the idea, and thinks it particularly inappropriate because her only attendant, her cousin, is of the same age (21) as she is. Will you please give your opinion about this also?

Mother

1. It is not the custom to include the bride's father in the bridal photographs. However, your daughter might order one special photograph taken that includes her father, this to be a special memento for both of them. Or, instead of formal photographs (or besides these), why doesn't she have candid camera shots taken of the entire story of her wedding, from leaving her home with her father to go to the church through the reception, and to leaving the reception for the wedding trip?

2. You and your daughter are wrong about this. It is entirely proper for the groom to have his father as best man, is quite often done, and indeed was quite customary during the war. It seems to me particularly inappropriate and tactless for the bride-to-be to take a dissenting point of view about this wish of her fiance, considering her wish about her father. Also she must remember that just as it is her privilege to choose her attendant, so it is her bridgroom's privilege to choose his attendant.

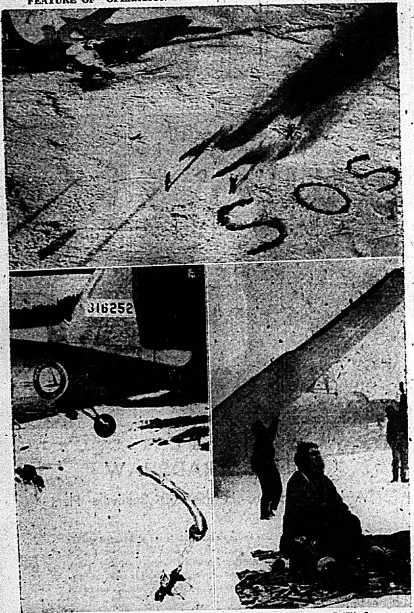
FEATURE OF "OPERATION PARA-DOG" AT GOOSE BAY IS THE JUMP



A simulated wrecked plane with "survivors" waving wildly in front of it and an "S.O.S." written in huge letters in the snow, marks the objective of the resque plane (top) in "Operation Para-Dog" made at Goose Bay, Labrador airfield. Following the call for help, dogs are rushed by C-47 plane to the scene of the wreckage and there dropped by parachute together with a dog driver and a paradoctor. Medical supplies and sleds are also dropped. The injured are placed on the sleds and driven by dog team to terrain where an awaiting plane will take them aboard and rush them toward hospitalization. The operation which normally takes days by old-fashioned methods, took minutes under this system, perfected by and for the U. S. army. Plate at left below shows a "crashed" plane is the objective. No plane can land on the rough terrain and so a C-47 is flown over the crash scene and these sled dogs are dropped by parachute. This amazing picture shows the dogs in the air headed for an almost pinpoint landing. Following the dogs were sleds and medical supplies. A paradoctor and a sled driver also jumped. One of the crash crew was found to be "severely injured." He was blanketed on the sled and driven to other terrain where a Norseman plane was waiting. The victim was quickly flown toward hospitalization and an operation which formerly took days was now completed in a matter of minutes under the new method. Photo at right shows the soldier in the foreground simulating injury and his crew comrades standing beside their wrecked plane waving wildly to a rescue plane.

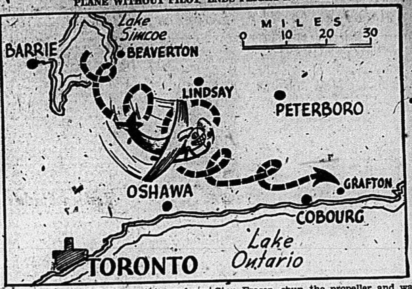
PLANE WITHOUT PILOT ENDS FLIGHT IN SWAMP



Climax to a wild flight was this crack-up in a cedar swamp near Cobourg. Ont. The plane took off from Lake Simcoe, near Beaverton, without a pilot, when its owner, Stan Fraser, spun the propeller and was thrown aside as the motor started and the plane headed into the wind.

The plane, equipped with skis, made a perfect take-off, flew an erratic 70-mile flight, then avoided houses to crash in a swamp.

Stan Fraser, pilot of the plane, tried to get into the cabin when the plane started. Unable to get in he clung to the tail until the plane began to rise in the air.

The daring young man on the flying skis is J. McManus of Toronto Ski Club, pictured as he took off from the Class "A" jump at Nassau, near Peterborough, on Saturday.

The latter won the combined cross-country and jumping competition.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

More and better bridge is played where Horse Sense is taught. No wonder. Each rule is covered in one understandable sentence. No exceptions. No worries. No fooling.

Take the rule that says: A takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round if the chain of new suit takeouts has not been broken.

Takeout to a new suit means a bid in a suit that has not been mentioned before by either partner. Forcing for one round means that partner must keep the bidding alive once more.

Chain (of new suit takeouts) not broken means that nothing but new suits have been mentioned so far by either partner. Such as: One heart, one spade, two clubs, two diamonds; nothing but new suits.

How is the chain of new suits broken? Simply by mention of the word no-trump. Or a suit that has already been named. Like the rebid of a suit or an assist of any suit.

You have the south hand shown here:

♠9 6
♥J 7
♦A Q 8 6 3
♣A K J 5

Open with a bid of one diamond. Suppose partner in the north responds with one no-trump. It is not a new suit. His no-trump bid has broken the chain of new suits. You are not forced to bid again.

However, you have enough to bid two clubs. Is partner forced to bid again even though you bid this new suit? No. The chain of new suit takeouts had been broken by his no-trump bid.

When you opened with one diamond, suppose partner responded with two clubs. He named a new suit that forces you to bid again. You now assist to three clubs.

Your assist to three clubs is not a takeout to a new suit. It has broken the chain of new suit takeouts. Partner is not forced to bid again. Any bid he then makes is voluntary; not forced.

To name a suit again will break a new suit chain.

Hollywood, Feb. 9 (AP) —The vast field of American folklore is getting a prominent spot on Walt Disney's future production slate.

Walt feels that the legendary feats of Paul Bunyan, Johnny Appleseed, John Henry, Davy Crockett, Rip Van Winkle, etc., are tailor made for his medium. They have long been neglected by the stage and screen as too elusive and too fantastic.

Bing Crosby is being sought to narrate "Legend of Sleepy Hollow." The latter will be teamed with an English legend, "Mr. Toad," for which Charles Laughton is wanted.

FIRES RAGE DAY AND NIGHT IN PALESTINE

Between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa lies the no-man's land of Palestine that is most under fire. It is surrounded by snipers of both sides and when shops are fired volunteer fire fighting units fear to enter. As a result men of the British army, such as the Bren gunner (left) stand guard against the snipers while Jewish and Arab fire fighting services attack the flames. In this case it is a Jewish shop that has been fired by the Arabs and the tongues of flame are shooting from the ruins. The streets like most in this area are lined with rubble.

Tweed Defeats Norwood 7-6 In Close Game

Tweed—(Special)—In a close, hard-fought game, the Tweed entry in the Trent Valley Hockey League nosed out the Norwood squad by a 7-6 score here on Friday night. The game played before a large crowd of spectators was a see-saw affair with first one team taking the lead then relinquishing it to the opposition.

Rivers, Tweed forward, was the hero of the piece for the homesters banging home the winning goal late in the third period after Norwood had scored three goals in a row to take the long end of a 6-5 count. Bruce Gehan evened the score with minutes to go and Meraw came through with the winning counter a few seconds later.

Tweed took a two-goal lead in the first period, the session ending 2-0 with Prout and Meraw getting the only penalties of the game.

Norwood came back to register three counters against Tweed's two in the second to give the homesters a one-goal lead.

Tweed scored early in the third session to make the count 5-3 but Norwood flashed to life and fired home three goals in a row to give them a 6-5 edge. Play was fast from here on and Bruce Gehan finally tied the count with a low hard shot. Seconds later Meraw flying home the winning tally.

Hamilton, who starred for Norwood, was knocked out, as was the Norwood goalie, who came back to the nets after repairs. Meraw and the Gehans starred for Tweed, with Hamilton, Rogers and Webb going well for the losers.

Kingston Vics Take Home Lead in Junior Playoffs Defeating Belleville 9-5

In a close hard-checking game that bloomed into a free-scoring affair in the third period, the Kingston Vics took the first game of their three-of-five playoff series in the district Junior "B" group here Saturday night, defeating the Belleville Rockets by a 9-5 score.

The game was vastly different to that which was plyaed here the last time the teams met. That developed into a small riot with plenty of fisticuffing and fights. Saturday night's game was clean throughout only two penalties being handed out by Referee Jack McEachern of Toronto.

The teams paid strict attention to the puck and discarded the high-sticking and cross-checking that featured their last meeting, and the result was a fast clean contest that ranked with the best games seen here this season.

The squads battled to a one-all first period tie with the checking of both teams featuring the session. Kingston took a two-goal lead going into the third period with the score at the end of the second being 3-1. They flashed a swift sudden offensive in the third period firing home five straight goals before the Belleville plays started to click and the homesters scored three in a row near the period end, but the margin of difference was too great. Belleville got its fourth goal of the period with 20 seconds to go.

The Kingston line of Flint, Dandy and Aiken provided the scoring threat for the visitors. Flint one of the best men on the ice accounted for three goals and two assists, with his linemates getting two assists each. Murray and McKeown all starred in a goal-getting role the former prodding home two goals with his mate assisting. Joyce, flash centre ice player for the Vics played a bang-up game and was the sparkplug of many a Kingston sortie. He, incidentally got the only Kingston penalty of the game.

Angy Defelice led the Rockets in their desperate third-period drive in an effort to whittle down the score. The slim youngster paced his team on the attack getting three goals. Johnny Green was another sparkplug for the Rockets getting two assists. Don Semark, Milligan and LeFort were other outstanding players for the homsters.

Kingston's Murray opened the scoring in the first period after taking McKeown's pass close in. The period was marked with hard close checking with a lot of the play being in the centre ice area. Bone tied the score at the fourteen minute mark when he drove in on the Kingston net flanked by Milligan and Adams.

Play was close and hard in the second period, with the Flint, Aiken, Dandy line of the Vics working smoothly. Flint babbed his first goal of the game after seven minutes of play with assists going to Dandy and Aiken. The game line clicked for the second and last goal of the period five minutes later with Aiken getting credit for the tally and assists going to his linemates.

The third period was half over when the Vics struck with more or less devastating effect. Dugan scored their fourth goal at the ten minute mark and Patterson, Flint, Joyce and Murray scored in rapid succession to give the Vics an 8-1 lead. It looked like curtains for the Rockets, but finally their plays started to click.

Defelice who was fairly flying banged home two goals in 25 seconds with Green assisting and the same player got his hat trick with seconds to go. Johnny Green pumped a goal home with Defelice and Don Semark assisting and then Flint scored his third goal of the game and the ninth for the Vics to put the game in the bag.

The Rockets battled desperately near the period end but the hard checking Kingston forwards and defence held them off the scoresheet.

King Odds-On Favorite to Whip Canadian Champ

Toronto, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Can sentiment influence a dollar bill?

Or are the supporters of 'Lil Arthur King betting on something more substantial.

So far money wagered has made King odds-on favorite to trounce Danny Webb of Montreal in their bout here tonight for the Canadian lightweight championship.

On the surface it would seem Webb has the advantage. He's beaten King once before. He has far more ring experience. And if the bout goes its scheduled 12 rounds it will be the first time King has fought more than an eight-rounder.

In 'Lil Arthur's favor are two recent victories — one over Joey Brown, the other over Phil Terranova.

Last title fight here was fought 10 years ago when Sammy Luftspring defended his Canadian welterweight championship and, although tonight's fight has not been sold out, total gate receipts are expected to pass the Toronto indoor record of $25,000.

Webb will make at least $3,000 from the fight. He also has an option on 22½ per cent of the gate. King is assured $2,000.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

That 5-5 tie in Kingston Saturday night between our Senior "B" Veterans and the Kingston Saints, was more or less of a heartbreaker for the red-shirted laddies. They had the game in the bag with only seconds to go and a pesky Saint prodded the puck past the Belleville goalie for the tying score. The overtime period was scoreless and climaxed one of the best games seen in the loop this season.

• • •

Our observers from down that way tell us that M'sieu Udell, bespectacled goalie for the Saints was the bloke who broke our buckaroos' hearts. The elusive "Udy" kicked out enough rubber to insulate a battleship and his work in the nets when the chips were down was next to uncanny, 'twas reported. Six times the blazing shot of Walt Gerow caromed off Udy's shillalagh while he turned aside other Red drives with machine-like precision.

• • •

Don Barrett, we are informed was one of the stars of the game sinking the pellet for 3 of the Reds' goals. Jumbo Goyer got the fourth and Timmy Williams fooled Udell for the fifth marker.

• • •

The Reds have their back to the wall now, and must win their next two games from the Petes Hockey Club and the Legion while Kingston must be defeated in their last scheduled game of the season. As matters stand now, the Saints have a three - point lead over the Reds by virtue of Saturday night's tie game. The Petes are here on Wednesday night while the Legion will be the guests of the Reds here on Friday evening. On Wednesday night's game will hinge the fate of the Veterans. If they lose that one they can hang up their gear for the season.

• • •

The Belleville Rockets, flashing a third period offensive made a gallant if futile effort to cut down the Kingston Vics lead here on Saturday night, but they fell short and went down fighting on the short end of a 9-5 score. The game was one of the best junior tilts seen here this season with both teams paying attention to the puck and not the man. Those who came prepared to see fisticuffs were badly disappointed for the lads only incurred the wrath of the officials on two occasions.

• • •

The game was hard, and cleanly fought, with both teams playing wide open hockey especially in the third period. The checking was close and hard, with the teams keeping their heads up, their shoulders devoid of chips with the result that the fans saw a neat piece of ice pastiming.

• • •

They clash again in Kingston tonight, and the Rocks will have all their hockey tricks out of the bag if they expect to beat the Vics in their own bailiwick. The third game is scheduled for a week from tonight, while the fourth, if necessary will be played here at a date to be announced.

A fighting crew of Royal Canadian Air Force hockey players wearing the red maple leaf of Canada on their sweaters flashed through to a 3-0 victory over Switzerland on Sunday to bring the Olympic title to Canada, the birthplace of the game. The RCAF gang were not conceded a chance against some of the strong European teams like Czechoslovakia and Switzerland but the air laddies were not fazed by the alleged strength of these squads. They brushed aside the lesser opposition with more or less ease, and then went on to tie the Czechs and defeat Switzerland for the title.

• • •

They established a fine goal record, the best in the contests and thoroughly deserved to win the title. They won it the hard way on the ice, and defeated the best that Europe and the United States sent to the games. More power to 'em and today all sportsdom in Canada is proud of the team's achievement.

• • •

...There is some nifty maple-spilling going on these days at the Bowl-O-Drome with records going by the boards. Last week Ike Bellis of the CNR League established a record in league competition when he rolled a nifty three string of 993. All three games were over the 300 mark.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore established a family record on the alleys a short time ago. Mrs. Moore toppled the pins for a cool 953 while friend husband bowled an 847 to give the Owl team in the Mixed League a neat 1800 points.

Tens of thousands of sportsmen and athletes from all over the world will meet in London this summer. They are coming to Britain for the Olympic Games being held in July. 52 nations have accepted invitations to take part and six of them have already indicated their intention to compete in each of the 17 events making up the program. His Majesty the King is Patron of the Games and will open this 14th Olympiad at the Empire Stadium in London on July 29th. More than 5,000 athletes will be competing of whom 500 are women. They will be accompanied by 800 officials and more than 1,000 trainers and masseurs. The largest team numbering 415 is coming from the United States. Britain's entries come next totalling 348, followed by France with 308.

• • •

In the high - jump events at the Olympic Games which will be held in Britain in 1948, invisible rays passing between the posts and picked up by selenium cells, will record the exact height of the jump achieved. The results of all other events will also be recorded electrically; for example, long jumps, track events and even fencing. The modern technical means used for this purpose should avoid any possibility of error in judgment.

Montreal, Feb. 9 —(CP)— Hockey and skiing are Canada's two major sports, but it has always been taken for granted that few athletes can excel in both pastimes.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll was discussing this with Paul Haynes, former National Hockey League star with Canadiens, the other day and Paul said that if you want your youngster to skate, give him a pair of skates before you give him skiis.

Gorman Kennedy, Montreal ski reporter, was listening in on the conversation, and was quick to chip in with his views.

'He's got something there," Gorman said, a fanatical gleam in his eyes, "if you give him skates first, he'll do some skating before he discovers skiing. But if you give him skiis, he'll never bother with skates."

Dink commented that Gorman could be mite prejudiced, since he is in love with snow-covered hills.

"Dou you know there are thousands of kids in this area who have never had skates on?" said the ski scribe. "Or never had a hockey stick in their hands? Ask them where Canadiens are in the National Hockey League standing and they won't be able to tell you. They'll saw, 'well, they're not doing so good this year, are they?'"

Habitants Had Their Day

Speaking of the slumping Canadiens, Dink takes a philosophic view of the present plight of the once-mighty Habitants.

The Gazette sports editor thinks "not doing so good" is a bit of an understatement, although it mirrors a much healthier state of mind than that of the rabid fan who appears to think the world is coming to an end next March 21 if aCnadiens don't happend to make the playoffs.

Adds Dink: "You don't have to be too close a student of the Bible to know that famine sometimes follows a feast, that lean years follow the fat, and vice versa. The sports character who first observed, 'you can't win em all,' was only applying this Biblical truth to a local situation, and Canadiens have been on top four straight years before this season started."

Omaha Knights Fast Moving Up

(By The Associated Press)

Omaha Knights are setting a high-scoring pace in the United States Hockey League, netting 7 goals in each of their last three games.

In weekend contests the Knights trimmed Dallas 7-4, with Omaha's Max McNab getting 3 goals, and slapped down Kansas City 7-2, Omaha shut the Pla-Mors out 7-0, last Thursday. The Knights now are within three points of third place Kansas City in the Northern Division.

Houston overtook St. Paul with three goals in the second period for a 5-4 decision over the Saints last night. Leo Gravelle hit two of the winning goals.

Minneapolis had blanked Houston Saturday, 3-0 giving Harry McQueston, Miller goalie his second shutout of the season.

Tulsa had a 2-1 lead over Fort Worth until the last two seconds of the third period, then Vic Lofvendahl tied it up for the Rangers at 2-2, and the overtime period was scoreless.

COUNCIL ASKS $23,000

Boston Bruins Alone in Fourth Place in N.H.L.

A bob-tailed weekend of four games in the National Hockey League today resulted in only one change in the standings — Boston Bruins were alone in fourth place and Montreal Canadiens were down in fifth again.

The leading Detroit Red Wings defeated Montreal Canadiens 5-3 at Montreal Saturday, while Toronto Maple Leafs were blanking the New York Rangers 3-0 at Toronto. On Sunday the Bruins achieved the weekend-s only surprise by defeating Detroit 3-1, right at Detroit, and the third-place Rangers were held to a 2-2 tie at Chicago.

That leaves Wings still enjoying a three-point margin over Toronto, and Rangers now a full 12 points further down in the third spot. Boston is within five points of the Rangers and a game ahead of Canadiens.

The Rangers made good use Saturday of Billy Taylor, acquired from Boston in exchange for Grant Warwick. But the New Yorkers were up against a fast-skating and hard-checking Leaf outfit with Turk Broda in the Toronto nets at his best as he chalked up his fourth shut-out of the season. Max Bentley, Gut Mortson and Ted Kennedy were the Toronto goal-getters.

Attack Backfired

The Wings didn't have much trouble winning Saturday's game at Montreal, but the Canadiens never quit trying and they were within one goal of the Wings until the final minute, when goalie Bill Durnan was yanked for a six-man Canadien attack that backfired. Canadiens had the edge in shots on goal, but the Montreal defence looked full of holes.

Detroit't scorers were Rod Morrison, Bep Guidolin, Jim McFadden, Leo Reise and Syd Abel, while Jacques Locas scored two for Montreal with Elmer Lach getting the other.

The Wings were playing their sixth game in nine days in the Sunday encounter with the Bruins, and Boston was ahead all the way. Pete Babando scored in the first period, Jimmy Peters in the second and Grant Warwick tallied his first goal in a Boston uniform in the third period. Meanwhile Jim Conacher spoiled a shut-out for Frankie Brimsek with his second-period goal for Detroit.

Rene Trudel Hurt

The Chicago Sunday game was bad luck for Rangers all the way. It was superb goal tending by Sugar Jim Henry in the Ranger net that earned them the tie, but the Rangers lost Rene Trudel for an indefinite period. He suffered a skate cut on his left foot in which six stitches were taken.

Buddy O'Connor, the league's top marksman, scored first for Rangers but Doug Bentley evened it up before the first period was over. Then Metro Prystai put Chicago into a 2-1 lead, and the third period was six minutes gone when Bill Juzda got the tying goal.

With the schedule three-quarters completed, only one mid-week game is on tap, Chicago at Boston Wednesday. Saturday the Canadiens are at Toronto and Rangers at Boston, while all six teams get in action next Sunday.

It's not always true that once burned a child is twice shy. The lure of the bright, hot flame of a match is often too much for a youngster. Fifth Winter Olympics Ended But Discord Over Hockey Row Lingers Despite Canada's Win

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

St. Moritz, Feb. 9. (CP)—The fifth Winter Olympics were ended but the discord of an unprecedented hockey row lingered on today as the athletes, with the exception of the figure-skating contingent led by Canada's Barbara Ann Scott, headed for their homes in 28 countries.

Miss Scott, who became the first Canadian woman to win an Olympic figure skating crown, will defend her world title this week at nearby Davos, competing against much the same field she whipped last week.

Canada made a creditable showing in the games finishing ninth with 24 1-4 points. Thirteen of the 28 countries failed to score a point.

While Miss Scott's victory in the women's figure skating has been taken for granted days before the games began Jan. 30, the biggest surprise of the Olympics was the outstanding victory the Dominion scored in hockey.

R.C.A.F. Flyers, Canada's representatives, were given little chance to defeat the top-notch Czech and Swiss teams. But the Flyers showed a biased Olympic hockey crowd that they were the best of the nine countries competing by going undefeated in eight games.

The Canadians clinched the hockey crown yesterday by shutting out Switzerland 3-0 while Czechoslovakia was hard-pressed by the United States who finally succumbed 4-3, thus preserving the Czechs undefeated record.

Canada, although tied for first place by the Czechs, won on the basis of a better goal average.

24 1-4 Points For Canada

The R.C.A.F. got ten of the Dominion's points, Miss Scott ten more, four were for a third place in the mixed pairs figure skating and a quarter of a point for speed skating.

Canada's third place in the mixed pairs came when Suzanne Morrow and Wally Distelmeyer, both of Toronto, placed third behind world champions Micheline Lannoy and Pierre Baugniet of Belgium.

Frank Stack of Winnipeg, got the quarter point for Canada by finishing in a four-way tie with sixth place in the 500-metre speed skating.

Injuries plagued the ski team with the result that Canada failed to place in that section.

The best they were able to do was a 19th place by Harvey Clifford of Ottawa.

Sweden won the majority of honors during the 10 days of competition.

The United States who finished third in total points, provided an unexpected heroine in Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, winner of the women's special ski slalom and second in the Alpine combination ski event.

France Had Star

France's Henri Oreiller was the star individual performer, winning two first places in downhill skiing and the Alpine combined.

But long after these performances are forgotten, the tug-of-war over which of two American hockey teams should represent the United States will be remembered.

The United States Olympic committee hockey team came, saw, and remained just tourists in this picturesque Alpine resort. Its rival, the Amateur Hockey Association of America, was accepted as the United States entry by the Swiss Olympic committee. The A.H.A. team played in the nine-team tournament, and finished a good fourth behind Canada, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. This fourth place, however, will never show in Olympic records.

Represents Commercial Hockey

For the International Olympic committee ruled out the A.H.A. Avery Brundage, American I.O.C. member, said the A.H.A. represents commercial interests in ice hockey.

The I.O.C. also decreed that the International Ice Hockey Federation, of which the A.H.A. is a member, shall no longer be the governing body of amateur hockey throughout the world.

That was the windup after two weeks of torrid debate. Nothing like it had been known in the history of the modern Olympic games, founded in 1896 to promote peace among countries.

So he said there might never again be an Olympics. But the I.O.C. President, J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Sweden, squelched such talk.

"I do not think the crisis will have any effect on the Summer games in London," he said.

The I.O.C. struck boldly to prevent future disputes. It made a draft rewrite of the Olympic regulations, which Edstrom acknowledged were "contradictory". After final polishing, they will be published, probably next Summer.

"I think the games have been a winderful success," Edstrom said.

Competition Intense

Competition was intense. Only 12 1-2 points separated Sweden from fourth-place Norway in The Canadian Press team tables based on 10-5-4—221 points for the first six places.

The final standings:

Sweden 82 points, Switzerland 77, United States 73 1-4, Norway 69 1-2, Austria 51, Finland 49, France 39, Italy 25, Canada 24 1-4, Belgium 18, Britain 15, Hungary and Czechoslovakia 10, Holland 6 and Poland 1.

These, in keeping with the I.O.C. rule, exclude three points the A.H.A. team won in hockey. All the teams below them in the hockey table moved up one notch to fill for the scratched Yanks.

Norway, whose husky sons boycotted all sport during the German Occupation, and have not regained true form, made the poorest showing it has ever had in the Winter games. It was first every time except for the depression games at Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1932. Then Norway was second to the United States.

U. S. Wins Three Firsts

The Americans won three firsts this time. One was in its old specialty—the four man bobsled event which went to the American team piloted by Frank Tyler of Lake Placid, N.Y.

The other two were "first-time" firsts—18-year-old Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., in men's figure skating, and Mrs. Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., housewife, in the special slalom.

In winning the hockey tournament, Canada re-established herself as the true amateur rules of the sport. Canada lost the Olympic title in 1936 to Great Britain after winning three previous times.

Canada wound up with 15 points from seven victories and a tie, the same as the Czechs. The draw was a 0-0 affair between the clubs. But the Canadians had by far the best defensive record of any of the teams, and one of the best in the history of the Winter games.

Murray Dowey, 22-year-old blonde netminder from Toronto, registered five shutouts, allowed just five goals past him while his mates, led by scoring star Wally Halder, registered 69 goals for a goal quotient of 13.8.

The Czechs quotient was much lower—4.3. Their record was 80 goals for and 18 against.

Dowey had two outstanding strings of shutout hockey during the tournament. The first time he was unscored on for 226 minutes and seven seconds. He did not let a goal past him in the last 196 minutes and ten seconds the Flyers played in the tournament.

Russians as Observants

The Canadian goalie's first scoreless sequence began in the opening game against Sweden which the Flyers won 3-1. He allowed a goal at 4.30 of the first period and then didn't allow another one until the fourth game against Italy when he was beaten at 8.00 of the third period.

The Flyers in the second and third games scored shutouts, against Britain 3-0 and Poland 15-0, and in the fourth contest walloped Italy 21-1.

Dowey's second shutout sequence began in the fifth game against the United States. The Canadians beat the Arericans 12-3 in that one, Bruce Cunliffe tallying the third United States goal at 4.30 of the third period.

Then came Dowey's three straight championship-winning whitewashes. After the 0-0 draw with Czechoslovakia, he administered a 12-0 blanking to Austria Saturday and Sunday shutout the Swiss 3-0.

Mild weather favored the games, caused some postponements, but helped the gate.

Beaming over receipts, Albert Mayer, secretary of the Swiss organizing committee, said:

"We had 50 per cent more spectators than expected. It was very satisfactory."

The Russians came —11 strong— to observe, but they did not ask the I.O.C. to recognize a Soviet Olympic committee. This formality is necessary to qualify them for the Summer games.

The path still is open, however, the I.O.C. has voted to recognize a Russian committee upon notification that one has been formed thus they could wait even until July 29—opening day of the London games—to make a move.

Cleveland Barons Only Three Points Out of 2nd Place

(By The Canadian Press)

Cleveland's rejuvenated Barons today are only three points out of second place in the American Hockey League's western circuit, thanks to a recent winning streak.

The Barons, tail-enders earlier this season, have lost but one game in their 14 outings. Saturday they tripped St. Louis 3-1 and came back last night to tie Indianapolis 4-4.

Meanwhile, the Western leaders, Pittsburgh Hornets, moved four points in front of Buffalo and remained seven ahead of Cleveland by coming up with a victory and a draw. On Saturday, the Wasps battled New Haven to a 1-1 stalemate while last night they downed Buffalo 3-1.

The eastern loop leaders, Providence Reds, were the only team to come up with two victories, downing Philadelphia 6-4 on Saturday and Springfield 6-4 Sunday.

Hershey drubbed Buffalo 5-1 Saturday in their only outing while New Haven downed St. Louis 4-1 last night. Springfield tied Indianapolis 1-1 to round out the weekend schedule. No games are scheduled tonight.

Bobby Goldham Of Chicago Hawks Out for Season

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto-born Bob Goldham, star defenceman with Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, may be through with hockey.

Goldham suffered a fractured left forearm when he collided with a Montreal Canadiens player in a game at Montreal last Thursday—enough to put him out for at least the rest of the season.

Goldham suffered a similar injury to the same arm last season.

The Ottawa and District Amateur Hockey Association has decided to recommend to the Canadian Hockey Association that the Olympic champion R.C.A.F. Flyers be given an opportunity to challenge for the Allan Cup and Canada's senior amateur hockey championship if they so request.

Harale Bakke of the Toronto University Ski Club retained his Ontario ski jumping crown over a field of 27 jumpers, receiving 136 of a possible 150 points at the southern Ontario zone ski meet held at Peterborough Saturday.

Mile champion Gil Dodds won his 21st consecutive indoor mile victory at Boston Saturday night. Turning in a 4.08.1 stint, the fastest that distance has been run indoors in Boston.

Ted Atkinson, 32-year-old Toronto-born jockey soon will have won $5,000,000 in the saddle. Currently riding at Hialeah race course at Miami, Fla., he is leading the meet with 33 winners in 20 days.

Niagara swamped the University of Western Ontario 64-31 at Niagara Falls, N.Y., Saturday for its 11th basketball victory in 17 starts.

Silent Sammy Snead yesterday tied the 72-hole record in the Texas Open at San Antonio with a last round 68 that gave him a total of 264 and $2,000 first money in the $10,000 tournament. Jimmy Demaret was second with 266 and Dick Metz finished third with 269.

Enrique Tirabocshi, Italian swimmer who swam the English Channel in 1923, died in Buenos Aires yesterday. Long a resident of Argentina where he first arrived in 1913, he was in the water 16 hours and 33 minutes on the channel crossing.

Betty Mitchell of Winnipeg and Ken Bartholomew, Minneapolis Olympic speed skater, ran off with the senior titles in the Ten Thousand Lakes skating meet at Minneapolis Saturday, when the two-day races ended.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York (Feb. 9 (AP) —Assault, the triple crown winner of 1946, is due at Hialeah today and Miami horsemen already are getting steamed up over his duel with Armed, 1947's horse of the year, in the Widener Feb. 21 ... They met in the $100,000 Belmont Spcial last fall but Assault couldn't get into condition and it was no contest ... now the situation is apparently reversed ... trainer Maxie Hirsch says Assault is in fine shape after a winter at Columbia, S.C. ... meanwhile Armed has been running — and badly— in Florida ... he looks fit, but just doesn't run fast enough, and trainer Jimmy Jones hasn't been able to figure out what's wrong.

Monday Matinee

Ken Doherty, Michigan track coach, can't figure out how his star shot putter, Chuck Fonville gets all that distance when he weighs only 192 pounds. In eight practice puts last week, Fonville started at 52-2 and worked up to 54-4 ... besides that, Chuck is fast enough to win points as a sprinter and broad jumper .. two of the bettew known midwestern basketball officials, Dan Tehan and Bud Lowell, plunged into politics this winter as candidates for sheriff in their home territory. With their experience at whistle-tooting, you would think they'd do better as traffic cops ... when coach Johnny Mowers of Indianapolis in the American Hockey League played a full game as goal-tender in place of his injured netminder Ralph Almas recently, it brought to an end a long string of games for Almas. The red-headed twine custodian had appeared in 109 consecutive games before the injury jinx forced him to the sidelines.

Can't Lose

Mickey McConnell, head of the Dodger's scouting system, was chatting with former umpire Red Ormsby, father of 12 children just after Ormsby had signed to do some scouting for the Chicago White Sox ... in the middle of the conversation Mickey exclaimed: "With two right-hand hitters and 10 left handers right in your family, Leslie O'Connor made a heck of deal. One of them can't miss."

HOLD UP DICE GAME

Toronto, Feb. 7 —(CP)— Two armed men held up a dice game during the night in the office of a greenhouse at suburban Humber Bay and escaped with between $500 and $600, Etobicoke police said today.

While one of the bandits lined nine or 10 dice-shooters against a wall, the second man swept the stakes from the table. The victims were warned to "keep your mouths shut or you will hear from us again."

Hamilton Tigers Cannot be Beaten For Top Position

(By The Canadian Press)

Hamilton Tigers are home free again—in first place in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A race for the 1947-48 season, their third in a row.

The Bengals defeated the tail-end Brantford Redmen Saturday night 7-2 at Hamilton and moved into an eight-point lead over the second-place Marlboros with only three games remaining to complete the regular schedule. It was their 25th victory in 33 starts.

In the weekend's other senior tilt, new-found scoring power by defenceman Tommy Pollock helped pace Owen Sound Mercurys into fourth position as they defeated the sixth-place Hamilton Patricias 9-6 at Owen Sound. With 17 wins in 33 tries Mercurys are one point behind Stratford Indians on the third rung.

Spitfires Stay in Fight

Windsir Spitfires stayed in the fight for final first-place standing in the junior race with a 4-1 victory over Joe Primeau's ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors at Toronto. Windsor and Oshawa are again tied in top berth with 53 points each.

Oshawa Generals lost their chance for a single hold on top of the ladder by losing to the third-place Barrie Flyers 4-3 at Oshawa. Barrie and Stratford Kroehlers are now in a third-place tie, with 38 points each.

Stratford Kroehlers were held to a 1-1 tie by Wildey's cellar-dwelling Toronto Young Rangers until the final period at Toronto when a six-goal splurge by Stratford gave them a 7-1 win.

As a wedding gift to Coach Alfie Moore who was married Saturday afternoon, Galt Rockets swamped St. Catharines Teepees 11-2 at Galt to avenge Friday's defeat by the sixth-place Teepees. Rockets are in fifth-place one point behind Barrie and Stratford.

Tigers did not have things their own way until the third period at Hamilton when they ran in four goals to clinch the game.

Shillington Moves Up

Clare Shillington moved into a first-place tie wiht Toronto Marlboros' Johnny McCormack for individual scoring honors by picking up two assists and one goal, his counter coming with only 45 seconds left in the game.

Other Hamilton marksmen were Tommy Smelle with two goals, Swat Mason with two, Bill Dinning and Bert Peer. Brantford snipers were Bernie Smith and Fred Kenny.

Pat McCreavy kept pace with Pollock at Owen Sound with three goals while Bun White tallied twice and Johnny Sullivan scored the other. Hamilton goal-getters were playing Coach Doug Runions and Murray Comfort with two counters each, Killer Kilpatrick and Bryan Robinson.

Windsor Spitfires outplayed St. Michael's with Gord Haidy hanging up a hat trick and Jack Taylor tallying the other goal at Toronto. Gord Hannigan scored Toronto's only goal.

Barrie Flyers continue to supply Oshawa's toughest going and Saturday was no exception. Gerry Reid, Bruno Favero, Rusty Aiken, and Bill Barrett were Barrie scorers which Chuck Blair with two goals and Dick Gamble were Oshawa marksmen.

In the Toronto nightcap Stratford Kroehlers met a surprisingly strong young Ranger crew who kept them worried for the first 40 minutes of play. Pierre Cadieux led Stratford's attack with goals with the others tallied by Billy Mitchell, George Armstrong, Jim Loader and Clair McMinn. Young Rangers' counter came in first period from Red Stevens.

Rough Affair

It was a rough affair at Galt with referee Bill Morrison handing out 17 penalties, 11 to St. Catharines. Fierry Goegan of the Teepees was the wild man with two minors, a major and misconduct. He renewed his feud with Bob Robertson three times and in the penalty box it required police intervention. The fighting spread from there to the spectators and even Teepees' coach Art Jackson became involved and had to be quieted by the police.

Xavier Cugat And Oleg Cassini Fight in Mocambo

Hollywood, Feb. 9. (AP)—Hollywood's glittering Sunset strip—scene of many a movie-land fight—was the arena early yesterday for a brief and wild fistic exchange between band leader Xavier Cugat and Oleg Cassini, former husband of actress Gene Tierney.

The short—and by all descriptions, inexpert—battle started in the lobby of the Mocambo, one of the strip's swankier spots, and continued outside before spectators broke it up.

Cugat, the rhumba king, admitted he was the aggressor.

The band leader said he stepped across the street (Sunset Boulevard) from Ciro's—where he is currently playing—to inquire about his wife.

"I found her dancing with that dress designer," said Cugat.

Cugat invited Cassini to step outside, he said, but the dress designer "started scuffling with me" in the lobby.

Neutral observers said that each landed one punch outside before the fracas was halted.

Cugat, asked whether he and Mrs. Cugat had separated, replied, "not yet."

Later, Mrs. Cugat, the former actress Lorraine Allen, said:

"I can't figure it out. It was the first time I had ever talked to Mr. Cassini. He came up to our table and we were introduced. Then he asked me to dance.

"We were dancing, and Mr. Cassini was saying nice things about Cugie, when all of a sudden I was pulled off the floor."

She and Cugat were married in Philadelphia last Oct. 15. It was the second marriage for both.

Adventure in Love

By Kathryn Bemis Wilson

CHAPTER 12.

He turned suddenly to Velma, "I think I'll have a big surprise for you in a few days, young lady."

Velma's tired, dark-circled eyes brightened. "A—surprise? For me? That's nice of you, Tom."

Louise clutched her lower lip in sharp little teeth. "You're awfully choosy, aren't you?" she said finally. "I simply love surprises."

Tom seemed not to have heard this gentle hint. "It's something I think you'll like, Velma. Anyway," he laughed boynshly, "I'll like it if, if all goes well."

"It sounds exciting," said the puzzled Velma." But it's cruel to keep me in suspense."

Louise went over and perched, like a mischievous elf, on the arm of his shair. "Tell me, she whispered in his ear.

He shook his head. "Nothing doing! I'll write you at Ingus, Velma. That is—if my plans don't flop."

Probably some daring scheme," drawled Maude.

"You're an old meanie—not to confide in me," pouted Louise.

"Oh, let him have his fun, Louise," said Velma laughing. "Evidently it's a pleasure secret, anyway."

Two days after their return to Ingus, Louise unexpectedly declared her intention of visiting a classmate in New York. She was in a great rush to be off, leaving her rooms in such wild disarray that Krocker, second floor maid, was peevish. To pacify her, Velma tried to help be put away the heaps of frocks and chiffon and silk undies that Louise had strewn on furniture, left hanging out of drawers, and piled on her wardrobe floor.

"Land sakes, Miss Wilkins, that girl will drive me to drink!" declared the tired Krocker. "Look at these rooms! When her Mother, poor dear, was here, she sort of kept Miss Louise calmed down. Now, she's as wild as a hawk. I don't know what'll ever become of her."

"Oh don't worry Krocker," Velma said soothingly. Louise is only high-spirited—she'll come out all right."

Suddenly the, Velma saw the envelope on the floor at her feet. She picked it up. Her own name blazed out at her.

She exclaimed, "A telegram—addressed to me! Why! It's—been opened!"

Her trembling fingers could scarcely hold the day-old night letter. Instinctively, she knew that delay in receiving this message would cause her many bitter hours. She read:

"The surprise is glorious stop John Lindseys of New York old friends of mine invite us to cruise on their yact for a month stop we leave Carryville to-morrow board boat Saturday in New York stop was not certain of invitation until John wired stop Mr. Milligen and Adele motor to New York with us stop they will be in party stop tried to phone you but no luck stop why are you always busy when I call

"Tom" ....

The world suddenly turned black for Velma. Louise must have opened and read this wire. And the phone call? It could mean but one thing. Louise Clark had been using every device that came her way to keep Velma Wilkins and Tom Orville apart. It explained a great deal. Perhaps it explained the weeks of Tom's neglect when she was laid up after her horseback riding apparent coolness on many occasions prior to that untimely accident. What could she do about it?

She flew into action. She got long distance operator and put in a call for Tom Orville had gone on a motor trip with Mr. Milligen. Whether any one else accompanied them, she could not ascertain.

She sank weakly into a chair by a window of her bedroom. A knock came on the door. Wearily, she brushed her hair from her troubled eyes and called, "Come."

Greggs entered bearing a yellow envelope on a silver tray. "Beg pardon, miss—this message just came."

"A wire! For me?" she said, snatching it eagerly. "Wait, Greggs—I may send an answer."

Velma read the signature first. Hr heart sank. It was from Louise.

"Gone on yachting trip with Tom stop well chaperoned stop be gone month love

"Louise"

Velma crushed the paper in her shaking hands, stared into empty space.

Gregg coughed discreetly.

She looked up at him as though he were completely strange. "No—no answer," she said dully.

"Thank you, miss," he said, and left the room.

It seemed ages that Velma sat there alone by the window, oblivious to all about her. If she had been struck down, she could have felt no more stunned. There was nothing to do now, it seemed, but wait for developments. Surely Tom would not actually take Louise on that cruise; surely, he would be able to discern her treachery by the time they reached New York.

Yet Velma knew adroit Louise could be on occasion. She knew exactly how she would impress Mr. Milligen and Irene, and how she would work on Tom. What could she have told him? Did she say that Velma couldn't go or didn't care to go? Oh, what could be done about it!

She began pacing the floor. How she would love to go on that trip with Tom! Oh, why had she remained here at all after Marie's death? Why hadn't she had sense enough to get away before Louise had an opportunity to do this to her?

Maude came in and stared uncomprehendingly at the pale stricken Velma. She saw the wad of yellow paper on the floor and asked, "What's the matter? You look as if you'd had bad news."

Wordlessly, Velma pointed to Louise's telegram.

Maude snatched up the paper and read the message. Her lips curled. "So! You envy Louise, I suppose. You should realize that your social position crumbled some time ago, Velma. It's unfortunate, I'm sorry for you, but if Tom Orville prefers my sister, why—"

The outraged Velma leaped to her feet. You're — you're despicable! Both of you! I'm leaving! From now on, you can manage your own affairs. I've done what I could for poor Marie. Because you girls were her daughters, I tried to—"

Maude's smile was patronizing. "Yes, I know. Thank you so much. I'll make uot your salary check. I was considering discharging you, anyway—with a satisfactory reference, of course. Mother only trumped up your preposterous—our having a social secretary!"

Velma's slender nostrils dilated with fury. "It certainly is!" she declared hotly. "You girls will never be able to climb high enough to require such service!"

"How—how dare you!" flared Maude, flinging herself from the room.

Velma sank back to the chair. Her vacant gaze swept out to the browning green of the lawn, past the pinkish hydrangea blooms, and gently stirring pine trees; out to the rowboats, canoes and motorboats dotting the mirror-like lake. She had no appreciation now of the beauty flung over this scene by the lazy September sun, pretending craftily that winter winds couldn't usurp its dominace over this ideal outing spot.

She only felt crushed and beaten. She no longer cared where she went or what became of her. Oh, if her darling Dad were here now! He would know exactly how to meet this exasperating moment. He always knew what to do about every difficulty. Probably that was why she found herself in this impossible position—he had not been near to advise her. "Dad! Dad!" she sobbed, staggering across the room to her bed.

She flung herself on the silk and lace coverlet, sobbing convulsively.

Within the hour, eVima's bitter tears were spent and she began to think more clearly. She could of course go to New York, look up the John Lindsay yacht, send Louise home, and take her rightful place beside Tom. Yet why should that be necessary? Tom should demand her personal refusal before believing anything Louise might tell him. Did it show a weakness in him—the fact that he had had faith in some silly tale invented by such a girl?

"Decidely not!" she declared. "Look at his chin—his mouth, his eyes! All convincing proof of his strength." Then how had Louise strength." Then how had Louise managed to edge into the party?

Velma could not solve this riddle. It annoyed her in a peculiar way, and would continue to do so until she could see Tom and demand an explanation. Perhaps theyacht had already sailed. But she could cable. Authorities in the port of New York would know the whereabouts of the Lindsey yacht—boats didn't leave harbors these days like phantoms. But she wouldn't cable. It was Louise's trip now,it didn't matter.

That was mere bravado .It mattered like the very dickens. She sat at her dressing table, trying to powder a very shiny nose; hot tears mixed in the puff, making a mess of her complexion.

She sprangup impatiently, went to her bathroom and held her face under a stream of cold water. It had been impulsive of her, anyway, to fall head over heels in love with a strange man whom she met accidently on a bus trip. It had happened , no doubt, because of her loneliness. Perhaps she only imagined herself in love with him.

Then she thought of Tom's clean manly strength, the magnetism of his personality. Her only salvation now lay in being busy enougth to forget him. She must find a real job, a strenuous job.

With hectic abandon, she began tossing clothes into trunks and bags. She was leaving this place immediately, although she had no definite destination in mind.

Her ragged nerves leaped to meet the ringing telephone. She stumbled over a chair, bruising her ankle in her haste to reach the receiver. Tom! Tom! It must be Tom!

"Hello, hello!" she cried breathlessly, clutching a table for support.

"Hello, yourself! Clearence Pell—at your service," said a cheerful voice.

Her voice fell on "Oh."

"You don't sound too enthusiastic over me, my dear. I know you've come to close the camp—you won't be here long. I thought if we could have one last swin, it would be dandy."

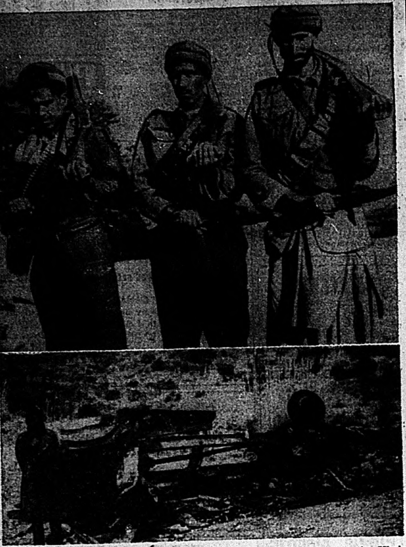
FIRST PHOTOS OF HINDOO MOSLEM STRIFE IN KASHMIR



This is one of the first pictures to come out of Kashmir, where Moslem and Hindoo fanatics are fighting an undeclared war. The crisis is now before the United Nations. The photos were grought out by Russell King Haight, 26-year-old ex-GI of Denver, who fought as a general with the Moslem forces. Among the troops of his international brigade were these wild Pathan tribesmen, top. They were fierce fighters, but completely without discipline. Their rifles are lever action, single-shot affairs, made in small foundries in the Khyber Pass. Swords ("tulwars") are razor sharp. Above, Haight's driver, Feroz Ali Khan, stands beside the wreckage of Haight's truck after it had been hit by bombs from a Hindoo fighter plane. All occupants "hit the ditch" and although repeatedly strafed, escaped without casualties. Khan was killed later by undisciplined Pathans, many of whom fought under Haight in the battle against the Hindoos.

Pope Describes Atomic Bomb As Terrible Arm

Vatican City, Feb. 9 (AP) — Pope Pius described the atom bomb last night as "the terrible arm that the mind of man has yet devised" and urged scientists to turn atomic energy to works of peace.

The Pontiff, in an address before the Pontifical Scientific Academy, asked:

"What catostrope must humanity await from a future conflict, if it is shown impossible to halt or curb the use of always new and always more surprising scientific inventions?"

Scientists from the United States, Italy, Eire, Austria, Belgium, and Portugal heard the Papal address. Several Cardinals and diplomatic representatives to the Holy See also were present.

Referring to St. Augustine's criticism of war, the Pontiff said if past conflicts deserved so severe a censure, "with what voice should we now judge those that have struck our generations and bent to the service of their works of destruction and extermination a technique incomparably more advanced?"

The Pontiff outlined discoveries that have developed the bomb.

"The result of these marvelous investigations," he said, "does not represent so much a conclusion as the passage of new learnings and the beginning of what has been called the 'atomic era'."

The Pope described recent scientific advances as "a marvelous conquest of human intellect, that studies and investigates the laws of nature, bringing humanity with it through new roads."

"May it give more noble conceptions," he said.

The Pontiff said the diversion of atomic energy to works of peace "should be well regarded as an investigation and application, truly genial, of those laws of nature that regulate the intimate essence and activity of inorganic matter."

Declaring that the law of nature was part of the eternal law of God, the Pope said that "law means order: And universal law means order in great things as in small ones."

Russia Will Get Two of Italy's Long-Range Subs

Rome, Feb. 9 (AP)—Russia will get two of Italy's modern, long-range submarines, it was announced today.

In all, Russia is to receive 27 warships—including the 18,000-ton battleship Julius Caesar and two cruisers—and 13 auxiliaries under the Italian peace treaty.

The Italian government made public a list of 65 warships and 62 auxiliaries which will be delivered to Russia, France, Yugoclavia, Greece and Albania.

Actual delivery awaits agreement in a four-power naval commission meeting here.

Thirteen warships and 14 auxiliaries were awarded Britain and 14 warships and 12 auxiliaries given to the United States. The United States renounced its share and Britain renounced all but a few motor patrol boats. These are being scrapped and materials will be used in Italian industry.

LOUNGE LICENCE REFUSED

Kirkland Lake, Feb. 9—(CP) — While reserving decision in 18 applications for licences, the Ontario Liquor Licence Board at its sittings here under Judge J. T. Robb, chairman, rejected application for a lounge licence for the palatial log building built years ago by the late Sir Harry Oakes as a summer home.

LOSES MAJORITY

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, who has headed Ireland's government for 16 years, lost his (dail) parliament majority by a slim margin in Dublin's general election. However, he will be able to form a new government with the support of labor and independents.

British in Action To Quell Fighting In Jerusalem

Heaviest Battle of Jews And Arabs Flares Up

Jerusalem Feb. 10 (Reuters)—British troops went into action in Jerusalem today and laid down a barrage of mortar fire as the heaviest battle yet between Jews and Arabs flared up in different parts of Jerusalem and around the old walled city.

Men, women and children fled as machine-guns, rifles and pistols sent raking fire through the streets in various parts of Jerusalem.

People trapped in the battle areas crouched behind walls as bullets screeched off buildings and ambulances raced through the streets to the rattle of automatic fire.

The shooting began about 10 a.m. in the area of Princess Mary Avenue when police guarding a road block replied to snipers' fire from a house nearby.

Fighting then swept through the city as posts of Hagana, the Jewish Defence Army, opened up and Arabs let loose a barrage of automatic and rifle fire from roof tops and sandbagged positions on the tops of the walls of the old city.

Correspondents in the public information office came under fire as bullets struck the building and other bursts of fire hit two press cars. Outside a press photographer, driving down the road had his windshield smashed by a bullet.

Fighting Intense

As the intensity of the fighting increased and pedestrians inside the sandbagged and barbed wire security zones flattened themselves as bullets whistled overhead, reinforcement troops of the Highland Light Infantry were called up in trucks to silence Arab positions on the tops of the old city walls from where fire was directed towards the newly-built British officers' club and army posts around the public information office buildings.

Men of the Highland Light Infantry deployed in firing positions among the trees outside the information office and directed heavy Bren gun and rifle fire at the gun flashes coming from the old city walls.

Except for operational military vehicles, traffic was paralyzed in Jerusalem and residents crouched behind barred doors and the shuttered windows of their homes.

WILL ASK DEATH PENALTY

Tokyo, Feb. 10 — (AP)—The prosecution indicated today it would ask the death penalty for Hideki Tojo and 24 other Japanese war leaders.

"In effect, I am asking for the death penalty," said Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan. He will begin his summation of the Allied case tomorrow (about 7:30 p.m. today, EST.)

"That is, I am asking in effect for a liberal employment of manila rope."

The international tribunal today dismissed a defence motion for acquittal. The trial began June 3, 1946.

10 MAJOR FIRES ACROSS CANADA IN THREE DAYS

Three Deaths and Damage Close to $1,500,000 is the Toll

(By The Canadian Press)

Three deaths and damages estimated at close to $1,500,000 were the toll of 10 major fires across Canada in the last three days, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

Dead are Joseph A. Groild, 80-year-old retired rancher, burned to death in a weekend fire that destroyed his one-room shack near Lundbreck, Alta., about 100 miles south of Calgary; and Mrs. Mabel Glaser of Williamsville, N.Y., and Minnie Boneberg of Port Colborne, Ont., suffocated Sunday in a fire in Miss Boneberg's home.

Loss was estimated at more than $200,000 yesterday in a fire which raged through a garage and a storage yard for war surplus goods and fuel in the Montreal suburb of Verdun.

Another $200,000 blaze yesterday levelled the 88-year-old St. Francis De Salles Roman Catholic Church in Smiths Falls, Ont. A flash fire engulfed the building in flames and defied efforts of firefighters.

Fire swept a theatre valued at $125,000 in Kentville, N.S. Only employees were in the building at the time.

Second Trial On Murder Count Opens at Kingston

Kingston, Feb. 10 (CP) —With the preliminary task of selecting a jury out of the way, the second trial of Leon Stafford, 24-year-old Georgia Negro, on a charge of murder in the knife slaying of Gerald Harrison last year was scheduled to proceed today.

Stafford, whose home is in Waycross, was charged after Harrison was stabbed to death during a fight which followed a crap game in Kingston park. The jury disagreed at his first trial last October.

John Harris, 22, of Tallahassee, Fla., Stafford's companion on the night of the slaying, has not yet reported as a witness at the trial. He had been held as a material witness and then was released on $500 bail.

Stafford's mother, her trip financed by a group of Kingston residents, is attending the trial. She said in an interview that her son, a veteran with two years service in the United States Navy in the Pacific during the war, had been treated "wonderfully" by officials of Frontenac County jail. His treatment and the generosity of those who financed her trip was "a fine example of true Christian fellowship."

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, Feb. 10 (CP)— Synopsis: Clear and cold weather prevails over Ontario. Temperatures fell to below zero during the night in southern sections of the province and to near 40 below in parts of Northern Ontario. A flow of warmer air from northwestern Ontario will cause the temperatures to moderate somewhat today over northern Quebec. Little change in the weather is expected in the south of the province today and Wednesday.

WOMAN MEMBER OF HOUSE FAVORS FOOD SUBSIDIES

Claims Govt. Policy Destroying Health

Ottawa, Feb. 10. (CP)—Mrs. Gladys Strum, only woman member of the Commons, gave male opponents of price controls and subsidies a verbal spanking on behalf of "Canadian mothers and housewives" yesterday and expressed the wish that "you gentlemen would learn the nutritional facts of life."

The blond farm housewife, who sits as C.C.F. member for the Saskatchewan constituency of Qu'Appelle, charged that the government was following a "foolish kind of economy", a "foolish" way of saving money in refusing to pay subsidies on essential food products. The policy was destroying the health of the nation.

She made her blunt statements during continued debate on the government's motion for establishment of a committee to investigate reasons for high living costs. As the adjournment hour came, T. J. Bentley (CCF—Swift Current) was on his feet and the debate was pushed into its second week.

While most of the debate was carried by the opposition, George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley) spoke briefly and said he felt that more controls would have to be reimposed to correct the present prices situation.

Other speakers included Clarie Gillies (CCF — Cape Breton South); Walter Kuhl (SC—Jasper-Edson); Douglas Ross (PC —Toronto, St. Paul's); Maurice Hartt (L—Montreal Cartier); Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East); E. G. McCullough (CCF —Assiniboia) and Harry Jackman (PC—Toronto Rosedale).

In opening proceedings, Transport Minister Chevrier said that while establishment of a Canadian coast guard deserved "sympathetic consideration", the "tremendous" cost entailed would be entirely out of proportion to its value.

Explosion Aboard Tanker Injures 3

New York, Feb. 10 (AP) — Police headquarters said three crew members were injured in an explosion today in the engineroom of the 6,190-ton tanker Richmond off the Statue of Liberty. There was an indication the tanker exploded, police said.

Earlier the coast guard had reported a tanker exploded in the upper harbor.

The injured crew members were taken in police launches to a hospital. The fire department said the blaze resulting from the engineroom explosion was extinguished before extensive damage was done.

THINKING OF SPRING

Guelph, Feb. 10 — (CP)—Central Canada is experiencing what is probably this year's coldest weather but city officials are thinking of spring. They plan to watch the Speed River for signs of floods when the thaws start. Most of the 32.2 inches of snow that fell here this winter still covers the ground.

Last Obeisance Made Before Ashes Of Gandhi in All Indian Provinces

New Delhi, Feb. 10. (AP)—The people of Delhi made their last obeisance today before the cremated remains of Mohandas K. Gandhi. His ashes will be consigned Thursday at noon to their last resting place, the three Indian rivers held most sacred to Hindus.

Across Indian somewhat similar rites will be held. Portions of Gandhi's ashes were distributed to all Indian provinces as a symbol of universal love between Gandhi and his people.

The Defence Ministry announced detailed plans for the ceremony as police continued their investigation into Gandhi's assassination. The Indian religious leader was shot to death Jan. 30 as he walked to a prayer meeting. Police remained silent on their progress.

There was some public speculation on the arrest of a man with a dagger Sunday near the home of Sardar Vallabhai Patel, Home Minister. Some believed it was the same man who earlier Sunday tried to enter the home of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Police said they had been unable to establish whether there was any relationship between the man arrested at Patel's home and the Gandhi assassination.

He was being held on suspicion.

Dispatches from Madras and Bombay said police were raiding headquarters of the Moslem League National Guard and its rival group, the Khaksars. Both organizations were outlawed Sunday by the Indian government as contributing to communal unrest. Bombay police arrested four lead-

Regulations Governing Car and Truck Imports Announced by Howe

Ottawa, Feb. 10 — (CP)—Regulations governing imports of motor vehicles during 1948 and setting quotas for imports of automotive parts and accessories were announced today by Trade Minister Howe.

Importers of automotive vehicles will be given dollar allotments based on the number of passenger cars and trucks they imported during the 12 months ended last Oct. 31.

The regulations governing parts a further measure to conserve Canada's foreign exchange, will become effective March 1. They will allow manufacturers and importers to obtain dollar allotments covering imports from the United States and certain other countries, in a percentage ratio to the dollar value of parts and accessories imported during the same basic period — the year ended Oct. 31 last.

Regarding complete motor vehicles, the dollar allotment will be arrived at by multiplying the number of units imported during the basic period by $230—a figure calculated to be 75 per cent of the average foreign currency content of automobiles manufactured in Canada.

Thus an importer who brought in 1,000 vehicles during the basic period would be entitled to a dollar allotment of 1,000 times $230, or $230,000 worth of cars and trucks from the "scheduled" countries, during 1948.

Mr. Howe said his statement fulfilled the assurance given by Finance Minister Abbott last Nov. 17 that the ban then imposed on imports of motor vehicles would be a temporary measure, with some relaxation to be announced at a later date.

The dollar allotments for complete automobiles will apply to passenger cars with a seating capacity of 10 persons or less, and to trucks with a manufacturer's gross vehicle weight rating of less than 16,501 pounds. Passengers buses and heavy trucks are not included, and applications for importing them will be considered individually "on their merits."

Two Organizers for Textile Workers Union Given 2 Years

St. Jerome, Que., Feb. 10 (CP) —Madeleine Parent Bjornasen and Azelus Beaucage, organizers of the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.) were each sentenced to two years imprisonment today following conviction on and conspiracy to interfere with charges of seditious conspiracy the right of workers.

The two were convicted last week and sentence was pronounced today by Mr. Justice Philemon Cousineau.

The union organizers were convicted by a jury Friday after only 40 minutes' deliberation. Defence counsel previously indicated an appeal would be taken against the verdict.

Mrs. Bjornasen, more widely known under her maiden name Parent, was provincial organizer of the U.T.W.A. Beaucage's official title was business agent.

The two were arrested several times during the strike at the Ayers textile plant. R. Kent Rowley, national organizer for the union, was also arrested on similar charges. He was granted a separate trial because of his mixed parentage and his case will be heard before six French-speaking and six English-speaking jurymen.

Prairie Wheat Producers to Get $200,000,000

Ottawa, Feb. 10 (CP) —A financial windfall of nearly $200,000,000 injecting new purchasing power into the retail trade channels of western Canada, is expected to be announced shortly for the country's 225,000 prairie wheat producers.

This staggering avalanche of dollars, which works out to roughly $800 for each producer, will result from an increase the government will ask Parliament to legislate in the initial payment which the Canadian Wheat Board — the official wheat-marketing agency — makes to the wheat growers when they deliver their grain.

The amount of the increase, to be retroactive to 1945, has not yet been disclosed but informed sources here expect it will amount to about 25 cents a bushel, boosting the initial payment from its current rate of $1.35 a bushel to $1.60 and perhaps more.

This will mean a special payment of 25 cents on each of the 729,037,692 bushels which producers have delivered since Aug. 1, 1945, the date to which it will be made effective.

This, then, brings the total payment to around $192,259,000.

The government is expected to announce the extent of the increase shortly and then move a bill to give it effect. Once Parliament has approved the proposal, the Canadian Wheat Board will begin the long and detailed paper work necessary to determine, on the basis of his individual deliveries, how much should go to each producer.

The first cheques may go out this fall but whether they will be for the full amount due each producer is not known. The government may decide to spread the payments over a two or 3 year period in an effort to stabilize the income of the farmers should farm products decline the next couple of years.

$250,000 Fire At Hamilton Still Raging

Hamilton, Feb. 10 — (CP) — A spectacular fire roared its way today through the three - storey building of the former Burroughs Stewart and Wire Stove foundry here, and latest estimate of the damage was $250,000.

Every piece of fire equipment in the city is being used at the blaze at the corner of Cannon and Hughson Streets.

All occupants of the building have been removed, and a block on Hughson Street cleared. Police feared the walls might collapse or an explosion blow them out.

Firemen said water pressure was low because of relatively small water mains in that section of the city and because of the many hoses in use. Pumpers are being used to boost the pressure.

As flames licked into the space used by the Ontario Furniture Company to store furniture, great belches of smoke reached into the sky.

The fire may have started in the basement, occupied by the Hamilton Guild of Metalcrafts Ornamental Iron Works. The 15 employees there noticed smoke seeping through the floor and gave the alarm.

Stock owned by the Hotz Salvage Company, valued at $10,000 and stored in the basement, was believed lost.

As the fire developed, it entered the premises of numerous other business in the building.

Those who have sustained damage, in whole or in part, include Scott and son, tinsmiths and furnace makers; the Acme Calk Co., whose stock has been destroyed; and others on the Cannon Street side of the building who have working feverishly to get out their goods; the Jackson Machine Shop the Clark Electric Company the Carbide Tool and Die Company, and Shaft Products Ltd.

Spray flying in the bitterly cold weather has sheathed firemen in ice from head to feet.

RUSSIANS CHARGE WESTERN ALLIES WERE RESPONSIBLE

Promise to Publish Secret Documents

Moscow, Feb. 10 —(AP)— The Russians promised today to publish secret German documents which they said would prove their charges that the Western Allies paved the way for the Second World War.

The Soviet Information Bureau charged last night that the United States, Britain and France had, in their relations with Germany, provided Adolf Hitler with the strength to launch the war.

The Russians said it was done by "a golden rain of American dollars" and by French and British diplomacy.

The Russian statement was in reply to the United States State Department's publication Jan. 21 of 260 documents captured from the Nazis dealing with Russian-German relations prior to the outbreak of war.

(The documents were published with the sanction of State Secretary Marshall. They said Germany and Russia agreed to divide Poland between them.

(The documents also said the Soviet Union agreed with Hitler that the United States and Britain should be kept out of Europe, Asia and Africa.)

Russia said its charges were supported by "important documents which were captured by Soviet troops during the smash-up of Hitlerite Germany.

"Publication of these documents will help present the true picture of how Hitler's aggression and the Second World War were in reality prepared and developed.

Bail Application On Extortion Charges Refused

Toronto, Feb. 10 (CP)—An application for bail on behalf of three men arrested last night, following investigation of alleged attempts to extort $10,000 from Michael Blidner, was denied by Magistrate Prentice in court today.

"No bail should be granted under any circumstances for these three," said Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden, when Sam Adams, 32; Joseph Adams, 29; and George Miloffin 19, appeared in court.

Blidner, known locally as the "celery king" told police he had received repeated telephone demands in recent weeks to pay over $10,000 or take the consequences. One demand was followed by the firing of a rifle bullet through an upstairs window of the Blidner home.

The latest of the telephone calls was made last night and the caller offered to settle for $5,000. Police said the final extortion demand provided them with the clue for which they were looking.

Two of the men were arrested in a west-end pool room, the third a short time later at his home.

General Break in Prices in U.S. Hits All Commodities and Stocks

New York, Feb. 10 (AP)—Cotton and grains led a new and fast retreat on the United States price front today.

Grocery stores and wholesale markets gave wide recognition to the tumbling prices as the break became general, pulling stock market prices down $1 to $3 a share.

Prices of the wholesale meat market at Chicago were down as much as $4 a hundred pounds today in an unusually quick reaction to yesterday's livestock declines.

Livestock was selling at yesterday's lowest prices. Cotton was down $2.65 a bale. Even butter, which had been at record high recently, skidded.

There were scattered reports of further declines in cost-of-living items.

Less than an hour after trading opened in the Chicago pits all deliveries of corn were down the daily limit of eight cents a bushel. Grain had staged a one-day rally yesterday.

Wheat and oats dropped rapidly and several deliveries hit the daily allowable decline of 10 cents and six cents, respectively.

Lard dropped the 200 points allowed in a day's trading.

Hog prices were at yesterday's lowest quotations at Chicago as suppliers put only 5,000 hogs on sale.

At New York, stocks were lower all along the line and cotton prices fell more than $1 a bale in early dealings.

St. John's Old People's Home Toll Reaches 41

Three Children Among Victims in Halifax Fire

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 10 —(CP) —The Public Health and Welfare Department announced this afternoon that 34 were dead and four missing out of a total of 43 occupants of an Old People's Home which was swept by fire of undetermined origin early today.

The death toll had mounted from the original estimate of 17 as firemen recovered charred bodies from ice-caked and steaming debris and carried them to a nearby morgue where attempts at identification will be made later today.

The dead included one unidentified elderly man who jumped from the third floor of the concrete structure to the icy sidewalk.

Lodged Indigents Infirm

Known as Hull House the building is situated at the corner of New Gower and Springdale streets. It is run by Mr. and Mrs. A. Hull and was used to lodge elderly indigents and infirm persons at government expense while they were awaiting admission to hospital or a permanent institutional home.

The fire broke out at 7:30 a.m. E.S.T. and raced through the big building, ground floor of which was occupied by the Wylie Commission Merchant Store. Firemen arrived in near zero weather, fought hard to gain admission to the blazing structure but were repeatedly driven back by the raging inferno within.

It is understood that before arrival of firemen a few occupants escaped but most of the old and infirm were still in bed and died of either burns or suffocation. Officials said that Mr. and Mrs. Hull were among the missing.

Bodies Badly Charred

When the flames in the main building were brought under control, firemen made their way into the streaming debris and found bodies charred to a cinder on beds and on floors. Nine bodies were in the first room entered. Some of them were in bed but many of the victims had managed to make their way to windows before collapsing.

Firemen evacuated occupants of two wooden annex buildings which were used to take care of the overflow from Hull house. All the annex residents—estimated at about 40 persons— were moved to safety.

It was recalled here that two years ago city building inspector T. P. Cahill and Fire Chief John Vivian made a report on the premises urging structural alterations and installation of fire escapes before it was used as a home.

The spectacular blaze lighted up the whole city and its reflection could be seen for miles around and far at sea.

It was the heaviest loss of life in a St. John's fire since the Knights of Columbus hostel burned in December, 1942, taking a toll of 100 dead and 102 injured. Most of the victims in that wartime fire were Canadian servicemen.

Halifax, Feb. 10—(CP)—Seven persons died and one was seriously injured in a fire that swept a three-storey wooden tenement building housing 27 persons on north-end Creighton Street here early today. Six burned to death and the other died of injuries received in a fall.

The dead:

Mrs. Joseph Gaudet, 32, her sons, Patrick, four, and Joseph, 7;

William Greencorn, 29, his wife 34, and daughter, Lorina, four.

Dorothy Barry, 12.

Seriously injured:

Mrs. Freeman Barry, 33, mother of Dorothy, suffering a fractured skull and body injuries.

Minor injuries:

Stephen David, 24, laceration of the arm.

Dorothy Barry broke her back and leg when her father dropped her three storeys to his wife, who had jumped a few seconds before.

Mrs. Barry had fallen in the first leap and fell again in catching the girl.

Both were taken to hospital immediately. Dorothy died several hours later.

The temperature was eight below zero.

Forced to Flee

The other occupants of the crowded tenement — many of them children — were forced to flee in only night attire in the sub-zero weather. They were taken into other crowded homes in the part-Negro tenement section which houses laboring men and their families.

The toll was one of the highest in Halifax since the Queen Hotel fire in March, 1939, when 28 persons died.

The flames had burst through the roof shortly after 2 a.m. when firemen arrived in response to a telephone call. But it was hours later before a check of occupants had been completed.

Firemen, with icicles fringing their helmets and ice coating their uniforms, tried unsuccessfully to gain entry to the blazing pyre, being turned back by the flames. They finally controlled the fire and prevented it from seriously damaging the adjoining houses.

Fiction Favorite Reading Library Report Shows

Belleville readers borrowed a total of 77,673 books from the Corby Public Library during the past year it is noted in the Librarian's report submitted at the annual meeting held last week. This was made up of 58,182 adult books and 19,491 books for boys and girls.

Miss Beatrice Rierdon, representative to the Board from the Separate School, was named chairman of the Library Board for 1948, with A. J. Black named as vice-president. Mr. H. J. Clarke was again named as treasurer while Librarian Miss Olive Delaney was named as secretary.

Other members of the Board include Mayor D. L. Storey with Dr. J. W. Kinnear, J. E. Bateman and C. L. Walters, as representatives from the city, and Miss Stewart Masson, L. A. Kells and Miss Jessie Priest as representatives from the Board of Education.

Fiction Favorite

Local residents are heavy readers of fiction according to library statistics. Total adult fiction books issued during the past year were 46,371 with 11,721 non-fiction books being read. In the boys' and girls' department fiction books issued totalled 13,623 with 5,869 non-fiction. There was a total of 3,474 borrowers, 2,413 adult and 1,061 juvenile.

Receipts of $10,919 were noted in the financial report, including $8,115 from the municipality. Expenditures included $2,401 for 1,401 new books for all departments, $4,632 for staff salaries and $1,224 for janitor.

Present stock of books at the library includes 8,916 adult non-fiction, 6,131 adult fiction and 4,235 juvenile books.

Staff members include Miss Olive Delaney as librarian, Miss Shirley Miles as librarian for the boys' and girls' department, and Miss Irene Moore as assistant librarian. Part time assistants are Mary Ann Emery, Sylvia Youdale and Lorraine Wood.

In the annual report reference was made to the service being afforded by the library through the Belleville Film Council. It was suggested that the library provide the additional service of a record collection. The work of the Camera Club was also mentioned.

Children Encouraged

The work of the junior department was reviewed by Miss Miles who indicated that children were being encouraged to take a greater interest in the library. Contacts had been made with the schools, the children of the various grades visiting the library receiving book talks, explanation of the arrangement of the library and instruction in the use of the card catalogue.

As result of this very few children left the library without memberships or application cards and the demand for books has accordingly risen.

The summer reading contest last summer was called the Red Feather Club, the winners being Marie Nash, David Ogilvie and Jaquelyn Day.

150 MINERS QUIT JOBS; SAY PONY HAS HALITOSIS

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 10 — (AP) — A pit pony's reputed bad breath has caused 150 coal miners near Newcastle to walk off the job.

They went home complaining the pony had halitosis. They were in full disagreement with their own and management representatives who smelled the pony's breath and proclaimed it free of odor.

The Daily Mirror said today the management had "offered to replace the horse or alternatively mix sweet-smelling musk with the chaff."

The miners haven't said yet whether they'll accept that.

Labor Bd. Rejects Applications For Certifications

Toronto, Feb. 10 — (CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board yesterday rejected an application by the United Electrical Workers (C. I. O.) for certification at the Corbin Lock Company plant at Belleville. The Board found the union called a strike prior to fyling its application and that the strike still was in progress when the application was made.

The Board also refused certification to the International Moulders and Foundry Workers (A. F. L.).

The judgment said the Board was not satisfied that in electing bargaining representatives the A.F.L. union had the approval of the majority of the employees at the Corbin plant.

Steel Production Shown in Film To Rotarians

An informative insight into the operation of the manufacture of steel through the medium of the motion picture screen, was given members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon on Monday.

The film depicted the entire functioning of the manufacturing processes from scrap iron to the finished product as done at the Atlas Steel Company's large plant at Welland, Ontario. Representing the company was Mr. Douglas Clinkhammer, who was introduced to the club by Rotarian Harold Sanders, of the Belle-Sargent Company here.

The picture which took some forty-five minutes to tell its story, pictured the interesting work of steel production. Fiery blast furnaces, the huge hammers, the snake-like red hot strips of steel being expertly handled by almost human-like machinery, and other interesting phases of the industry were pictured in detail.

From the dumping of scrap iron into the maws of red-hot furnaces to the many items of the finished product, the Rotarians were taken on an informative pictorial tour through the large 100-acre Welland plant of the company.

Mr. Clinkhammer, in a brief address prior to the showing of the picture pointed out the growth of his company from a small group of buildings to its present large dimensions. The general public, he said, is not acquainted with the growth and development and the work being done in their own country, by Canadian industry.

Three new members were introduced to the club during the luncheon. President Alex Nathan was in the chair with the community singing led by Rotarians John Deacon and Leo Riggs.

The president urged the members to concentrate on their choice for the new slate of officers for the coming year, who are to be elected in March.

Thos. A. Tucker Renovates Entire Front St. Store

Undergoing extensive alterations during the past two weeks, the Front Street store of T. A. Tucker and Company on Thursday will have its official opening with emphasis on a new department devoted exclusively to musical instruments and accessories.

However, the entire store has been done over with new shelving and arrangement of merchandizing making for an appearance of roominess that will be appreciated by this firm's many customers. Walls and ceilings have been re-decorated while marboleum in attractive coloring covers the floor.

But it is the new music department which will catch the customers' eye. This department situated at the extreme rear, of the store offers the very latest in musical instruments, pianos, radios and radio combinations, guitars, piano accordians and musical supplies and accessories.

All white merchandise, such as refrigerators, stoves, and washing machines and other electrical appliances will be shown in the front part of the store.

The new music department of T. A. Tucker and Company is the room formerly used as a tea room by Dickens. The same scheme of dark English wood finishing has been retained with draperies and special lighting adding to the general effect. Here the latest in radios and other musical equipment will be displayed.

Glenora Fish Hatchery Works At Full Capacity

Glenora, Ont., Feb. 10—(CP)—Whitefish, herring, lake trout, brown trout, speckled trout, and Atlantic salmon — millions of them — will be fighting for places in fishermen's creels this summer as a result of work now going on at Canada's largest government-operated fish hatchery here.

But the fish at present are just so many eggs — 65,000,000 — going through incubation in troughs and glass jars at the Provincial hatchery in this Eastern Ontario community.

The whitefish are hatching in glass jars filled with constantly moving water and will be ready for open water in March or April.

The trout, hatched in troughs of still water, will go to a "rearing station" at Warring's Creek, three miles west of Picton, until they are ready to be "planted" in streams throughout Ontario.

The hatchery at this community near Belleville occupies a large, stone building, originally a foundry, and later a wartime ammunition factory. It became a fish hatchery following the end of the war and is compete with its own water system and hydro - electric power, derived from a nearby lake.

Open Verdict Returned in Death Of Mrs. Flagler at Home for Aged

A coroner's jury probing the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Lena Flagler, aged inmate of the City Home for the Aged, destroyed by fire on January 24th in which Mrs. Mary Autrey, another inmate, also lost her life, returned an open verdict at the adjourned inquest held last night before Coroner Dr. Russell Scott.

The jury found that Mrs. Flagler came to her death at the Home for the Aged, Dundas Street, on the date mentioned from suffocation as a result of fire in the building.

Four witnesses were called by Gordon Robertson, representing the crown, and evidence adduced revealed that the cause of death was asphyxia; that the origin of the fire attributed to overheated furnace pipes, was believed to have been behind a brick wall to the rear of the furnace, that safety precautions were inadequate and that the heating system of the institution was not mechanically perfect.

Carbon Monoxide in Blood

Dr. J. J. Mackay, regional pathologist for the Attorney-General's Department here, stated that a chemical analysis of the blood of Mrs. Flagler revealed it to contain a concentration of 97 per cent carbon monoxide gas. The test, he said, indicated that death was due to asphyxia caused by carbon monoxide following inhalation of smoke.

Evidence of burns was apparent on certain parts of the body, he testified. "It is problematical whether or not the victim would have recovered from these burns if the asphyxia had not been fatal."

Archie Gilroy, superintendent of the institution, told the jury that at 8.30 on the night of January 24th he had conducted his regular nightly inspections of the furnace room and found everything in order. He had seen nothing unusual and had cleaned clinkers from the furnace and placed them on the cement floor. There was no rubbish in the cellar, and nothing to start a con-

Had Trouble With Furnace

"Before I came upstairs I touched a gauge on the furnace to give the fire a boost. I went to our rooms and my wife and I put sweaters on for it was cold and we sat down to wait for the hockey match to come over the radio," Gilroy said.

Recalled later, he testified that the gauge in question which is used to check excessive heat, "had not been working right. It had had a lot of repairs and was not in good working order."

"We had plenty of trouble with the furnace," Gilroy said. "A little while before the pipes had blown apart in two places; on top of the furnace, and where the pipes go through the wall. Plumbers had repaired the pipes all right, but the controls of the furnace were not in working order."

The witness related how five minutes after he left the cellar his wife smelled smoke. There were twelve people in the Home at the time. Mrs. Flagler and Mrs. Autrey occupied the same room at the north-west corner of the Home on the second floor. Mrs. Flagler, he said, was very active for her age but did not appear to hear very well.

Investigated Smoke Source

His wife, after smelling the smoke went to the front of the house, while he went down to the cellar. He opened the door and was met by smoke and flame. He rushed to open the door connecting the men's part and the women's part of the Home to facilitate their escape.

He turned back and heard "gagging and coughing." A voice said "Put out your hand, Mr. Gilroy, I can't see. I reached through the smoke and felt a hand. It was a maid and an inmate."

Gilroy then related how he had assisted four male inmates out of the burning building to the home of Walter Gerow on John Street. He testified that he could not get back to the room where Mrs. Flagler and Mrs. Autrey were staying, due to flame and smoke. He said that a metal fire escape was in evidence on the east side of the building in the women's part while a wooden stairs did duty as a fire escape on the south side, or men's part.

New Pipe

Questioned by the Crown, Gilroy said the pipe leading from the furnace to the chimney was a brand new galvanized one. He admitted that he did not know if there was any protection between the pipe and the floor of the rooms above. Electric wires were there but he could not recall where they were fastened. The pipe had a 7 or 8-inch clearance from the joists in certain places.

Fire Chief William Lynch of the fire department reviewed the incidents after receiving the alarm. He had been told after a number of inmates were taken from the building that there were two women in an upstairs room. He had sent men up ladders to the room indicated in the north-west corner but a search failed to reveal any one there.

Bodies Found

Flames and smoke then enveloped that part of the building and the firemen were forced to leave. He related the finding of the body of Mrs. Autrey at 12.30 a.m. January 25th and that of Mrs. Flagler after 8.30 the next morning. It was impossible, due to fire, smoke and ice, to recover the second body before that time.

According to Chief Lynch's testimony, the fire broke through the main floor about four or five feet from the location of the furnace. The pipe or stack of the furnace had a downhill slant of eighteen inches for a distance of 20 feet when it turned with an elbow and went into the chimney.

"The pipes were bound with a felt substance and with asbestos paper. I do not think much of this stuff, as I have had fires before when pipes insulated with it were only a few inches from the stack or fire pipe. This felt and paper is fire resistant but not fireproof unless it has air on both sides. In this case there was no protection between these pipes and the ceiling of the cellar."

Extinguisher Not Charged

Asked by the Crown if the Home had a fire alarm signal, Chief Lynch said he did not think so.

At this point Mr. Robertson turned to Mr. Gilroy and asked him if there had been a fire extinguisher in the Home.

"Yes," replied the superintendent, "but it was not charged."

Questioned further, Gilroy told the jury that he had seen insulation of the pipes smouldering near the furnace on a previous occasion.

Inspector Frank Gardner of the Fire Marshal's Department, Toronto, gave the jury his findings of an inspection of the building yesterday. The furnace and the stoker appeared to be in good condition, and he found very little burned in the furnace room. There apparently had been no accumulation of rubbish there. He had traced the smoke pipe from the furnace back twenty feet as it ran parallel to the main stairway, and only six inches from the joists above. The pipe sagged eighteen inches at the end of the twenty-feet where an elbow turned it in another direction through another part of the cellar for twelve feet and eighteen inches into the chimney.

Where Fire Started

The pipe passed through a brick wall directly in rear of the furnace, the inspector said. "And in my opinion, here is where the fire started. For five feet back from this wall, the joists are completely burned, which brings the point of fire breaking through the main floor above, at the spot where Fire Chief Lynch saw it."

"I feel," Inspector Gardner told the jury, "that the fire was caused by overheated pipes. I found the hot water pipes bound with felt and almost touching the furnace pipe in places." He had inspected the electric wiring and found it intact, although some was burned. There was no evidence of incendiarism, in his opinion.

Questioned further by Mr. Robertson, Inspector Gardner said it appeared the stoker had not been working satisfactorily and a smothered fire might have occurred with subsequent accumulation of gas resulting in exploded pipes. If this had not happened, the furnace door would have been blown off!

Had Made Inspection

Laurence E. Ludlow, provincial inspector of Homes for the Aged, said he had inspected the institution the day previous to the fire. "I found conditions, generally speaking, very fair," he said.

He had inspected the rooms and the basement and found no accumulation of rubbish, but he had not inspected the furnace or heating system. He was of the opinion insurance companies did this sort of inspection work.

Housing of blind and crippled people on second floors of Homes for the Aged is caused by the crowded conditions of these institutions all over the province, the inspector said. New homes will be constructed as one-storey affairs so as to remove the fire hazard. In most homes, however, he said, where crowded conditions are apparent it is difficult to house people as they should be housed. Wherever possible they are located on the first floor.

Window Instead of Door

He found that the exit to the fire escape on the east side of the Home for the Aged here had been a window, and not a door. "This should never have been left that way," he said. "All doors should open out to make egress easy. In this case the exit should have been a door opening out, instead of what was there.

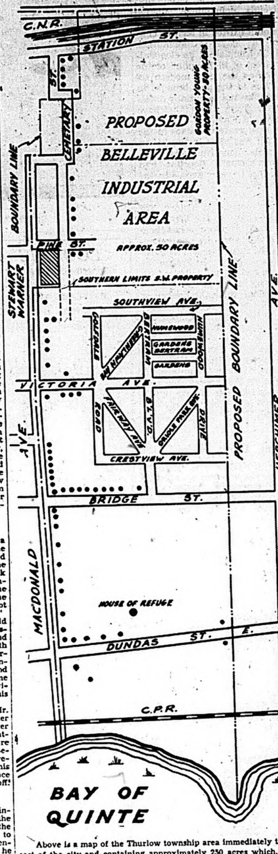
There was no alarm system in the Home, Inspector Ludlow said, adding that following the evidence given, he concurred with Fire Marshal Inspector Frank Gardner's findings. He strongly suggested that in the event of rebuilding, strong safety measures be taken.

Detective Sergeant Douglas Ellis was the coroner's constable while the jury consisted of Messrs. Ed. Thomas, foreman, William Ironsides, James MacDonald, Roy Kilbank and Hazen Stairs.

STUDY HEALTH

People should know a little about basic health principles. They should be able to tell when their bodies need rest or the care of a physician.

Proposed Annexation Area Eastern Limits of Belleville



Above is a map of the Thurlow township area immediately to the east of the city and containing approximately 250 acres which, it is proposed, to annex to the city of Belleville to provide for residential and industrial expansion.

As is indicated by the cut the proposed area lies immediately east of MacDonald Ave., the present limit of the city, and runs from the Bay of Quinte on the south to the Canadian National Railways on the north. The easterly limit of the proposed area is a line 500 feet west of Herchimer Ave.

At the south of the proposed annexation area and below Bridge Street is the Hastings County Home and farm comprising approximately 80 acres.

North of Bridge Street and extending to the southern limits of the Stewart-Warner-Alemite property is the area earmarked for residential building. This property is owned by Mr. Bertram Docter, who has the sub-division already laid out and approved. Building lots in this area will be sold individually by Mr. Docter.

North of this is the proposed Belleville Industrial Area comprising approximately 50 acres and again north of this the Gordon Young property which the city had voted to purchase. The area south of Pine Street extension and north of the southern limits of the Stewart-Warner-Alemite property is being made available for wartime housing.

City Council Strikes Rate Of 47 Mills, a Reduction Of Half-Mill From Last Year

City council at their regular meeting Monday evening struck a tax rate of 47 mills for 1948, a drop of one-half mill from the rate effective last year.

The general rate of 25 mills on an assessment of $13,174,315 will raise $329,357.87.

Schools including the public schools, the Collegiate and Vocational School and the Separate School will take $236,118.40 of the taxpayers' money, this amount to be augmented by the provincial grants.

Estimated expenditure of city money for the public schools system is $138,050.13, this amount to be raised by a tax rate of 11.7 mills on an assessment of $11,832,950. A total of $81,524. 92 will be raised for the Collegiate by a rate of 6.17 mills on a $13,213,115 assessment, while the rate for the Separate School is 11.7 on an assessment of $1.380,165 which will raise $16,147.93.

Many Local Improvements

The city's share of local improvements will cost $13,566.51 to be raised by rate of 1.03 mills on the general assessment of $13,174,315. A total of $24,894.43 will be raised for garbage collection through a rate of 1.62 mills on an assessment of $15,366,875. Assessment for hospitalization is 1.95 mills and for relief .53 mills.

Administration of Justice will cost the city an estimated $9,500 with the Board of Health to take $6,000. Grants will cost another $11,645 and city administration $39,500. Child Welfare will cost $10,000.

The fire department will cost $57,155 and the police department $58,180. The public works department and engineer's salary will cost the taxpayers $80,587. The Industrial Commission will take $4,000 and street lighting $13,500.

$336,348 Total Expenditures

The library will cost $8,502; market and city property $9,000; parks commission $6,628; regional planning and area planning board $4,000; tourist camp and publicity $2,000; accident insurance $2,050; discount on taxes $3,300; election expenses $1,500, and fire insurance $800. Total expenditures for the city will be $336,348.

Offsetting this will be receipts totalling $63,434 from fines and fees, licences, market dues, and provincial government subsidies of one mill on the assessment and one mill on roads.

City council ratified a decision of the local industrial commission to take up the option on the Gordon Young property this to enable the railway to proceed with the proposed siding to serve the Stewart - Warner - Alemite Corporation plant.

Before the vote was taken, however, Alderman Armstrong wanted to know exactly where the railroad intended placing the siding and how the siding would affect the land with regard to housing and industry. "The taxpayer is only committed for $25,000 for industrial sites and now we are proposing to purchase another 30 acres for $15,000," he said.

About 20 Acres Available

Alderman Allin as chairman of industry stated that from 15 to 20 acres would be available for wartime housing, while north of the Pine Street line would be retained for industrial purposes.

Alderman Clarke wanted to know where the city would get the money to purchase the Gordon Young property as only $25,000 had been voted for the purchase of the Docter property for industrial use. To this Alderman Allin stated the money would be obtained from the sale of property to industrial firms planning to locate in Belleville.

Mayor D. L. Storey stated it was imperative that the Gordon Young property be purchased or else there was grave possibility the city would lose an industry. "The city gave the industrial commission authority to purchase the Gordon Young property," he pointed out. "If you do not now agree, then throw the whole thing up."

Alderman Armstrong felt however that the area to be left for wartime housing would be too small. He said there were applications for 360 wartime houses and under the proposed arrangements there would be space available for only 75 houses.

Here Alderman Tice asked if Bertram Docter was reserving any of his property for private sale. To this Alderman Allin replied that Mr. Docter was reserving all his property south of the 50 acres to be sold to the city for industrial purposes.

Amendment Brought In

Mayor Storey pointed out that if the Gordon Young property were purchased the city could still do what it liked with the land.

Alderman Follwell brought in an amendment to the original recommendation asking that action on the Gordon Young option be deferred until the railway siding plans were finalized and approved. This, however was defeated and the original motion to purchase the property carried.

Approving the amendment were Aldermen Armstrong, Clarke, Duffy, Follwell, Hyde, Lazenby and Tice, while opposed were Mayor Storey and Aldermen Allin, Brown, Lattimer, Lloyd, Lummiss, Vanner and Wilbur.

A recommendation of last Thursday evening asking that tenders for storm sewers on Wellington, Sidney and Cathrine Streets be rescinded and new tenders called after the frost was out of the ground, failed to be ratified and the recommendation was withdrawn by Alderman Hyde.

Received Complaints

Two weeks ago the tender of Diamond Construction Company had been accepted for the work but it was intimated by Alderman Hyde that complaints from other contractors had been received claiming they had tendered for frost conditions.

"If we rescind contracts like this how are we ever going to get competition from contractors?" asked Alderman Armstrong. Mr. Hyde then withdrew his recommendation.

A special committee will be appointed to investigate a condition of roof leakage in the public lavatory built last year on the market square. Alderman Lloyd brought to the attention of council that the coping on the building was defective and that the trouble had developed into a leak in the roof.

Council voted to issue debentures for $35,000, the money to be used by the public utilities for the construction of the new water main across the Moira River. The money will be returned to the city out of utility profits.

Ask Indemnification

Also pertaining to the construction of the water main council voted to ask the public utilities commission to indemnify the city against flooding damage which may be caused as result of a type of coffer dam being placed in the river by the construction firm installing the main.

The matter of re-instatement of ex-city fireman Jack Grills came up for discussion when a recommendation to this purpose was tabled. It was brought out that Mr. Grills' physician had appealed to the Compensation Board ruling that Mr. Grills was physically able to return to work following the accident suffered during Old Home Week in a water demonstration.

Alderman Duffy stated that if the Compensation Board changed their ruling then Mr. Grills would automatically be re-instated. Other aldermen felt that Mr. Grills was still entitled to two weeks' sick leave and also two weeks' holidays and it was suggested he be granted one month's salary.

Given Compassionate Grant

Alderman Clarke felt that a month's salary should be given in form of a compassionate grant and this was agreed by council following a recommendation to this effect from Alderman Duffy as chairman of fire. The recommendation calling for re-instatement was withdrawn.

The local Junior Chamber of Commerce was given permission to erect banners in the city advertising the forthcoming barrel derby which is to be conducted by that organization. Frank Cormier, representative of the Junior Chamber, spoke to council on the matter.

Mayor D. L. Storey with Chairman of Public Works Alderman Hyde and City Engineer Charles Mott were named as delegates to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association to be held in Toronto late this month.

A special committee appointed to investigate into the allotting of tag days reported that they were of the opinion that too many appeals of this nature were being conducted in the city. They recommended that an effort be made to form one community chest drive under the management of a committee of business men. They also recommended that tag days other than those strictly charitable, such as the Poppy Day, be eliminated. A committee will be set up to endeavor to carry out the provisions of the recommendation.

Committee Named

A committee headed by Alderman Orliff Lloyd was appointed to interview J. L. Irvine regarding a request for a grant for the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association annual cheese show in the city. The matter of a salary increase for the city engineer was referred back to committee for discussion.

A public hearing conducted by the Municipal Board to hear opposition to the proposed annexation of certain areas in Thurlow township will be held on March 4th. The meeting is tentatively scheduled to take place at the town hall in Cannifton, but as the majority of the interested parties live adjacent to the city efforts will be made to have the meeting at the city hall.

Ash Wednesday

It seems but a short time ago since the world was celebrating Christmas and already that period of the year is at hand known as Lent which will lead the world up to Easter and spring. Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of the spring feast of the Christian Church.

The original fast of spring which preceded Easter was of 40 hours' duration that being the number of hours intervening between the death and resurrection of Christ. Then additional days were added, their number varying in different churches. In the first three or four centuries much latitude was allowed in the observance of Lent, Chrysostom who insisted on the prior necessity of good works and alms-giving.

Ash Wednesday is named after the ceremonial use of ashes as a symbol of penitence in the service for the day. The ceremony is of great antiquity, being confined at first to persons performing a public penance and later extended to the entire congregation.

Mental Health Figures

In the fight to preserve Canada's mental health, says the Health League, this country has hardly yet made a beginning. "We now stand where we stood twenty years ago with respect to many diseases which in that period have been brought under control or all but eliminated."

Patients in mental hospitals represent but a small part of the mental health problem and yet the numbers and the costs are enormous. In the year 1945 there were 48,056 patients in residence or 3,970 per million of the population. Another factor is that the annual rate of increase in patients is 1.53 per cent and is set against the annual rate of increase of the population of 1.24 per cent, this showing that the mental hospital population is increasing faster than the general population. The rates would be even more striking if the mental hospitals could take all persons ready for commitment.

The needs are urgent. Among them, as pointed out by the Health League of Canada, are included the following as deserving of immediate attention:

Provision of 10,000 new hospital beds; improved arrangements in mental hospitals to obtain, train and retain competent staffs; strengthened facilities in medical schools and universities for post-graduate training in psychiatry; improved facilities for psychiatric and mental hygiene training of social workers, expansion of the travelling clinic program; and extension of psychiatric and psychoneurotic out-patient treatment clinics in larger centres.

Also required it is indicated is the development of such non-medical auxiliary services as special opportunity classes for retarded school children and classes in home management, child training and human relations for young people and prospective parents.

Wintertime Enemy

Timely advice is given in the Cleveland Plain-Dealer in regard to protection against the "wintertime killer," carbon monoxide. Winter is the season when this enemy of man gets in its deadly work for the lethal gas cannot be detected by odor and people have to take caution to make sure that the air they are breathing is not contaminated by monoxide.

"Too many people are dying at the hands of this treacherous killer of the winter season because of carelessness; because the door of a garage in which an automobile engine was running was not fully opened and fastened that way; because someone parked too long in a car with the windows shut tight, and with a leaky exhaust pipe or defective heater exuding the fumes that enervate and rob the victims of the power to escape."

The Plain-Dealer draws attention to this fact as it points out to the reader, "So let it be remembered by everyone that the cold in this part of the country is never as lethal as carbon monoxide. Slight discomfort from a draft while sitting in a car with engine turning, or while working in a garage, is a small price to pay for protection from the wintertime killer."

A little amount of fresh air which enters the car may well be the factor that saves lives.

Various health agencies keep reiterating the warning against monoxide gas.

Other Times

There come times in history when people take a gloomy view of the world. It is not confined to this time which has had to fight the two greatest and most disastrous wars in history ,but can be found in past ages. Montreal Gazette points out that "rampant juvenile delinquincy, for example, is not unique to this era. Its causes are universal and it existed in identical circumstances in the days of Hammurabi. Sumerian writers complained as eloquently of the disrespect of ill-discipline of the rising generation as the most modern social worker. Wars in the past brought in their train conditions not essentially different save in degree from those that have succeeded two World Wars.

"There have been grave occasions in the past when despair was more justified than even the pessimists conceive today; moments when hope seemed hopeless and gloom rational. Ninety years ago — in the year 1857 to be exact — a contemporary editorialized:

'It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years — not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper — has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time . . . In France the political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud dark and silent, upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely . . .'

These words, says the Gazette might be equally valid ninety years in the future, "a thought that should inspire the uninspired to new effort, console the inconsolable, and stimulate the most lethargic to faith in the future and acceptance of their responsibilities of the present."

Master Race Can't Take It

That depraved assortment of psychopaths, neurotics, schizophrenics, egomaniacs, sadists and blustering bullies who once called themselves the master race continues to compile a record of ignominy and cowardice for future generations to contemplate.

Gen. Otto von Steulpnagel, who commanded the Nazi occupation troops in France and was accused of ordering the execution of French hostages, is the latest to choose suicide in preference to facing a war crime tribunal.

Adolf Hitler, Hermann Goering, Joseph Goebbels and Heinrich Himmler head the list of Nazi suicides. Others include Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, Robert Ley, Karl Westphal, Dr. Leonard Conti and Herbert Backe.

When these men were in power there was no limit to the barbaric cruelties they inflicted on persons who were helpless to oppose them. But when retribution caught up with them, they couldn't take it.

Propagandists of the future will have a hard time trying to weave heroic legends around the lives of these unsavory characters, says Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Inspection of Immigrants

The oldest health activity in Canada is the quarantine service. To prevent infections from entering Canada from abroad, 2,355 vessels carrying more than a quarter of a million passengers and crew members were cleared by this service during the last fiscal year. The federal government's Immigration Medical service last year examined 79,020 immigrants and 24,404 non-immigrants arriving at Canadian ports. Such vigilant protection keeps disease out of the Dominion.

MAN IN OVERALLS

Condemned to work with words was I.
And every time my motor stalls,
Helpless and ignorant, standing by,
I need that man in overalls.

Then as he bends beneath the hood
And sets aright what's wrong for me,
I wish such things I understood,
And think that wonderful is he.

I watch him as to work he goes,
To mend a wire or turn a screw,
And think: Now, what that fellow knows
I wish devoutly that I knew.

Under that hood he quickly sees
What I have never learned to see.
What bothers me, he does with ease.
I'd like to have such skill as he.

Oh, glad am I in trouble time
To see that smiling face appear,
Somewhat besmeared with oil and grime.
For then I know that help is near.

I hail him with a heart elate
When he responds unto my calls.
I envy him and think him great,
That useful man in overalls.

INFORMATION ROUNDUP

When was rice introduced into the United States?

Sir William Berkeley, royal governor of Virginia, made an unsuccessful attempt to grow rice in the colony in 1645 — only 38 years after the founding of Jamestown. The colonizers of the Carolinas did not overlook the possibilities of rice culture. "The Meadows are very proper for Rice," declared "A Brief Description of the province of Carolina," written in 1666, supposedly by Robert Horne. Some rice was raised but with little success in South Carolina within a few years after the first settlements were made about 1670.

According to tradition, successful rice culture in South Carolina dates from about 1683. In that year a vessel bound for Liverpool from Madagascar was driven from her course by storms and compelled to put in Charleston harbor for repairs. The captain, says the story, gave a few bags of rice to Governor Thomas Smith, who had been governor of Madagascar. One version of the tradition is that Governor Smith planted this Madagascar rice in his own garden. At any rate, the rice industry in America is supposed to have started with this seed.

Thomas Lynch, grandfather of the signer of the Declaration of Independence of the same name, made a fortune by developing a method of cultivating rice on the alluvial lands periodically flooded by tides. In 1691 the provincial assembly of South Carolina granted a patent to Peter Jacob Guerard, who had "lately invented and brought to perfection, a Pendulum Engine, which doth much better and in less time and labour huske rice, than any other heretofore hath been used within this Province."

In 1704 the British government placed rice on the list of "Enumerated Articles" that could be exported only to Britain, but in 1730 exportation of rice to southern Europe was permitted. Charleston exported 3,000 barrels of rice in 1718; 124,000 in 1724, and 140,000 in 1775. When the port of Boston was closed in 1774 South Carolina sent cargoes of rice to relieve the Bostonians.

Rice cultivation spread to North Carolina and Georgia, and the Southern Atlantic seaboard was known as "the rice coast." The rice barons built mansions in Charleston, Savannah, Georgetown and other southern towns. Rice cultivation greatly increased the demand for slaves. Truculent slaves in the border States were punished by selling them to rice planters.

The Federal blockade during the Civil War, the liberation of the slaves and other economic factors affected the rice business unfavorably and rice growing gradually declined in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia until today no rice is grown commercially on "the rice coast." Governor Duncan C. Heyward, the last great rice baron of South Carolina, abandoned rice growing in 1914 and other rice growers followed suit within a few years.

But rice cultivation in the United States did not die. Rice was grown in Louisiana as early as 1718. In 1889 Louisiana won the rice production leadership among the States of the Union and has held it ever since. Rice cultivation was introduced into Texas around the turn of the century, into Arkansas in 1905, and into California in 1912. Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and California now produce enough rice for domestic consumption and a large surplus for export. Although more rice is produced in the world than any other foodstuff and half the people on earth regard it as their chief staple, Americans have never been heavy rice eaters.

FIREMEN CHASE FIRE

Classes in Township Hall

At Ripley, Ont., a fire Sunday night destroyed the $25,000 continuation school. Classes yesterday for the 52 pupils were held in the township hall. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Loss was estimated at $4,000 in a fire Sunday in the Toronto home of Mrs. Martha Tilley. A fire in which damage was placed at $700 forced Mr. and Mrs. John Knible and their daughter, Elizabeth, from their Toronto home yesterday and a blaze in a public school in the Toronto suburb of Lakeview drove 486 pupils from their class rooms.

A sewer gas explosion was blamed yesterday for starting a fire in Fred Normandin's service station in Wallaceburg, Ont. Loss was estimated at $400.

Other fires reported since Saturday, with damaged estimates:

Winfleet Baptist Church, near Port Colborne, $25,000.

Moncton, N.B., Saturday, Kent theatre $100,000.

WOMAN MEMBER

Notice of Motion

First steps were taken for the re-establishment of the joint Indians Affairs Committee of the Commons and the Senate, with members accepting for Resources Minister Glen notice of a motion for the establishment of the body.

Mrs. Strum said she wished the cabinet ministers could have been replaced during the debate by their wives, who did the shopping.

She warned that the government was preparing for the same sort of statistics which were compiled when the youth of the nation was called to fight in the last war. No expense was saved to equip the fighting men ,but now food was being denied their children.

She chided bachelor J. A. Bradette (L—Cochrane) for an earlier speech in which he mentioned the new look, milk subsidies and new motor cars "practically all in the same breath."

"Those who do not know the facts of life should not be allowed to govern," she said.

Urges Reimposition

She urged the reimposition of subsidies and the fixing of price ceilings on essential foods at levels where those foods would be within the reach of all.

Mr. Ross said living costs would be decreased through tax reductions. He suggested that the budget be brought down immediately or that an interim budget be introduced to provide reductions in the eight-per-cent sales tax and the 25-per-cent excise tax on some commodities.

Mr. Harkness said that policies which would encourage production and tax reductions would assist in bringing down prices. Subsidies could be paid on a few select products. For instance, milk tickets for children and pensioners could be included in monthly family allowances or pension cheques.

Should Fix Profits

Mr. Kuhl said the committee was "superflous" in the light of powers already possessed by the government. The committee would serve to "show up" the C.C.F.'s theories on profits. He did not think the government should ask the House to share responsibility on the committee.

Mr. Gillis doubted if the committee would be able to prove anyone was profiteering, because under the country's present economic system anyone in business was entitled to charge all the traffic would bear.

"In addition to fixing prices and regulating wages, profits also should be fixed," said Mr. Gillis.

Mr. Hartt said the C.C.F. wanted controls and subsidies, but he wondered where controls and subsidies should start and where they should end. From what was seen in Britain and Russia, controls and subsidies were the road to national bankruptcy.

Mr. McCullough said the committee would serve no useful purpose because it would be "tied to the apron strings" of Prime Minister Mackenzie King. When it got on dangerous ground politically, the Prime Minister would pull the strings to get it off.

Mr. Jackman charged the government with profiteering, because it was extracting money heavily from the people at a time when taxpayers needed the money to meet living costs. The government could not distinguish between what it needed and what it merely wanted. His constituents were sick and tired of "this monkey business" and would prefer to spend their own money according to their own urgent needs.

ALLERGY IS A WIDE BLANKET

A reader said her fifteen year old daughter has had a cough for two years. The daughter has been through ——— Clinic, where she was given a number of tests.

"The report was that her chest X-rays are OK and none of the other tests showed up anything wrong, so the doctor finally told her it was some sort of allergy and that there was nothing more they could do about it. Now it seems to me that doctors are using the word allergy for almost anything they don't know about.

(Mrs. C.L.A.)

You said it, Ma'am, and I have said it in this column many times. In the pamphlet Relief for Allergy — available on written request if you inclose stamped self addressed envelope—I tell all I know or maybe a little more than I know about it and offer preventive suggestions which may or may not prove effective in your case but will do no harm to try in any case.

This mother did not mention whether her daughter's ears have been examined — not only the tympanum or ear drum but also the internal orifice of the Eustachian tube in the naso-pharynx or post-naval cavity. In and about the ear comparatively minor conditions may cause the most troublesome and obstinate cough.

Machine medicine such as this unfortunate child was vouchsafed when she should have had the benefit of a real physician's examination or advice.

Most of the "tests" included in the $30 deal are of some value when there is reasonable need of thing nor for diagnosing anything, but just to confirm or negate the doctor's suspicion or opinion.

This mother seems piqued because the foreman of the get-rid-of-'em department reported there was nothing they could do for the girl. Well, what did she expect? That they'd turn a crank and bring out a slip saying: Soon a Tall Dark Man . . .

Now I'm sorry, Mother, that I can't recommend some simple remedy which may help your daughter, as you hoped. The best advice I can offer you in the circumstances is implied in what I have already said: Keep away from the fascinating machinery, save the money you squander on unnecessary "routine" tests in such shops, and submit your troubles to an honest physician — that is, one who practices under his own name.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Double Barrelled Testimonial

No kidding, Doctor, in the past year I have had the happiest results from your advice. I had written at different times for your pamphlets on The Menopause and Calcium and Rheumatiz. Within a few weeks after I commenced taking my daily ration of calcium and vitamin D I experienced great relief from the distressing hot flashes and at the same time complete relief from the condition I called rheumatiz.

(Mrs. S. A. W.)

Answer—Thank you, Ma'am. Any reader who asks for it in writing (no clipping please) may have either pamphlet, if he or she incloses stamped self addressed envelope. If you ask for both, inclose ten cents, in addition.

Trade Name

In this column recently, I, Brady, inadvertently mentioned benzedrine. I should have called it amphetamine, for benzedrine, or least Benzedrine spelled with a capital B, is a or was then a trade mark, not a generic or common name. I'm sorry, but it is difficult to keep clearly in mind the status of such medicines. From time to time somebody lodges a protest, complaint or claim that I encroach upon his rights when I use what I assume is the common name for something which turns out to be still under patent or trade mark registration.

Cocoa Butter

Is it harmful to eat cocoa butter? I have a craving for it.

(Mrs. E. E.)

Answer—No.

Optometrists

I wonder if you are aware that there are three times as many optometrists in the United States as there are occulists in the United States, and that about 75% of all glasses fitted are fitted by optometrists.

(——— O. D.)

Answer — I am now! As you say, there are quacks or crooks in all trades, and some of the crookedness is legitimized, for instance by a special law which permits a charlatan to call himself Doctor in large type provided he adds a line in inconspicuous type explaining that it means something else than what the large type implies.

Liberal Leader Claims Drew Not Keeping Promises

Hensall, Ont., Feb. 10 (CP) — A straight fight between Liberals and Progressive Conservatives for the Huron seat in the Ontario legislature was assured today following the official nomination meeting.

Only the two candidates, Progressive Conservative Thomas Pryde and Liberal Benson W. Tuckey, who have been campaigning for the last two weeks were nominated at the meeting attended by upwards of 300 persons in the town hall here yesterday.

The C.C.F. previously announced it would not contest the by-election and no candidates for other parties or independents were put forward.

Huron electors vote Feb. 16 in the by-election called last month to fill the seat left vacant by the death in December of Dr. R. Hobbs Taylor of Dashwood, a Progressive Conservative.

Ontario Welfare Minister Goodfellow will speak tonight at Exeter in support of Mr. Pryde, 59-year-old Exeter manufacturer. Highways Minister Doucett is to address a Clinton meeting Thursday and Premier Drew is scheduled to speak at Goderich Friday.

Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Liberal opposition in the legislature, in a speech last night at Bayfield in support of Mr. Tuckey, 43-year-old transport line operator from Exeter, criticized the appointment of Mayor Robert Saunders of Toronto as chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Mr. Oliver said Premier Drew promised during the 1945 Provincial election campaign to take Hydro out of politics but in naming Mayor Saunders to the position he picked a "Tory mayor from Tory Toronto." A few hours earlier Mayor Saunders resigned from the mayoralty, effective Feb. 23, and left for Ottawa to be invested with the Order of the British Empire. Mr. Saunders becomes Hydro chairman March 1.

Party standing in the 90-member house is: Progressive Conservative, 65; Liberal 11; C.C.F. eight; Labor-Progressive party, two; Liberal-Labor, two; Independent, one; vacant one.

National Liberal Federation Makes Several Requests

Ottawa, Feb. 10 (CP) — The National Liberal Federation, in resolutions made public today, urged the government to consider increases in veterans pensions and give special attention to widows with dependent children where the present allowances are inadequate.

The resolutions, passed by the Federation's advisory council at the annual meeting here Jan. 20-21 and presented to the government Feb. 6, called for consideration of a change in the basic principle of pensions which would recognize the need for increases over amounts allowed by existing schedules in cases "where the pension awarded is established to be of necessity a living allowance."

The Federation also called for the maintenance and development "of a policy to the end that freer entry to Canada be permitted desirable immigrants in the interest of a greater national development."

Another resolution urged the government, in co-operation with the farm provinces, to continue and enlarge its policy of developing the natural resources of the country and to foster the development of research facilities both within the agencies of government and elsewhere.

The Federation felt also that the government should give its "strongest" support to the United Nations and that Canada should continue to strengthen the bonds of the Commonwealth consistent with the principles of world peace and Canadian National Welfare.

Encouragement to Universities and similar bodies to promote interest in civil service careers also was proposed.

The Federation also endorsed a resolution of "loyalty and devotion" to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, government head for 21 years and Liberal party leader for 29, who told the Federation at its meeting in January of his intention to retire from the party leadership next summer.

The Prime Minister asked the Federation to call a national convention and the advisory council passed a resolution to do this. The time and place of the convention have yet to be announced.

U.S. Govt. Won't Permit Soft Coal Spring Shutdown

Washington Feb. 10. (AP) — Cyrus S. Ching, Canadian-born chief federal labor conciliator, said last night the United States government won't permit a soft coal shutdown this Spring.

However, members of the Southern Coal Producers Association said Ching has practically handed John L. Lewis a loaded gun if a strike is what the United Mine Workers has in mind.

"Lewis comes into the negotiations with an ace in the hole," protested Raymond Salvati, a West Virginia mine official.

"If we cannot get together and his demands are such that we cannot concede them, the government would step in and grant Lewis what he wants.

"He knows that the only way the government can get coal is to give in.

Ching said flatly the United States "will not tolerate a coal stoppage."

If a strike develops, the Prince Edward Island native told the southern producers at a dinner meeting, "the government will step in".

Lewis already has taken what many coal operators regard as a possible first step to end his present contract April 1.

He has notified the operators a dispute exists over his proposed $100-a-month pension for miners 60 or older who have 20 years of service in the pits.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Producers Association says many operators believe Lewis will "drop the other shoe" around March 1.

THREE CHILDREN

When the main blaze was controlled, firemen prodded through ice-caked fallen timbers and rubble, beginning the grim task of recovering the bodies.

Firemen did not find the bodies of Greencorn and his daughter until seven hours after the second alarm. It was thought their bed had fallen through the floor. They were found huddled together underneath a mattress.

The tenement's four blackened and icy walls were left standing but the interior was gutted from basement to roof.

Just as the firemen arrived and before they had time to spread a life-net, Mrs. Barry, clutching her daughter to her, had stumbled through her smoke and flame-filled room and kicked out a window. Then pausing only long enough to make sure she had her child securely in her arms, she leaped.

She crashed into the ice-covered rail of the roofless verandah and then bounced inwards toward the flaming building. Firemen dragged the two to safety and they were immediately taken to the hospital.

At about this time Stephen David jumped through a second-storey window. He missed the rail and except for a glass-lacerated arm, he was unhurt.

Firemen, probing the debris, found the charred remains of the two Gaudet children on the only section of the third floor of the building which did not collapse. Mrs. Gaudet's body had fallen through to a second-floor section when the interior of the tenement gave way.

Mrs. Greencorn's body was found in a bed which was hanging over the edge of the second floor. It was believed Mr. Greencorn and their child had also been in bed.

Some believed that police are working on the theory Gandhi's assassination may have been part of a conspiracy to kill high government and political figures who oppose making India a Hindu religious state.

At 3 a.m. Wednesday a funeral urn containing Gandhi's ashes will be taken by automobile from Birla House, home of an Indian millionainre with whom Gandhi lived, to the funeral train.

The ceremony will be at a place known as Triveni angham. This is near Allahabad, 370 miles southeast of New Delhi. The Ganges, Jumna, and the suberranean river araswait, meet at Triveni Sangham and it is there Gandhi's son, Devadas, will commit the ashes.

At Allahabad, strong military forces, including mounted lancers and infantry will escort the urn four miles from the railway station to Triveni Sangham.

A thousand Indian soldiers will march ahead of an army trailer bearing the urn. Chief mourners will be immediately behind the trailer ,and behind them barefooted poets will march chanting prayers.

A fire that threatened the entire business district of Grimsby Sunday night destroyed the town's main industry, the basket factory of Hewson & Son. Damage was estimated at $125,000. Scene shows blaze at its height.
